In 1831, under the act of that year, a partial oversight and protection of the public timber lands was assumed by the solicitor of the treasury, acting through the regular agents of the department. This function was transferred in 1855 to the general land office, in the department of the interior, where it has since resided. Under this system cases of deliberate trespass were settled by payment of the stumpage value of the timber unlawfully taken, while cases of unintentional trespass were satisfied by actual entry, with the payment of customary entry fees. Express appropriation for the pay of special timber agents was not made until 1872, when $5,000 was appropriated, and this amount was continued annually thereafter until 1878. The ineffectual working of the system was recognized in that year by an appropriation of $25,000 to meet the expenses of suppressing depredations. Appropriations for this purpose were afterward increased to a maximum of $120,000 in 1893.

The same act which repealed the timber-culture laws contained a clause, whose insertion was largely due to the efforts of members of the American Forestry association, by which the president was authorized to set aside "any part of the public lands wholly or in part covered with timber or undergrowth, whether of commercial value or not, as public reservations, and the president shall, by public proclamation, declare the establishment of such reservations and the limits thereof." Under the provisions of this clause, which may fairly be described as the first marked step toward a national system of forestry, reservations in nearly all of the western states were set aside. The existence of 18,000,000 acres of forest reserves wholly without care or management by the government, was perhaps the primary cause which led the secretary of the interior, in February, 1896, to address to the president of the National Academy of Sciences a request for an investigation and report upon the "inauguration of a rational forest policy for the forested lands of the United States," and upon the questions which underlie it. In reply, Dr. Wolcott Gibbs recited the difficulties of the undertaking and the best means of surmounting them, and expressed his willingness to comply with the secretary's request.

The result of this correspondence was, on the part of the academy, the appointment of a committee of seven, of whom six were chosen from among its most distinguished and experienced members, the seventh being a professional forester, and on the part of the government, the appropriation of $25,000 to defray the committee's traveling and other expenses. All its members served without pay. After a summer spent in active examination of forest reserves, proposed and established, on the ground, the committee recommended as a preliminary step the segregation of 11 new reserves with a total area of somewhat more than 21,000,000 acres. These reserves were established by the president on February 22, 1897. The wording of the proclamation led many persons to believe that the lands reserved were to be wholly withdrawn from every sort of use and development, a belief carefully fostered by some who, for reasons of their own, were opposed to the reserves. No pains were taken to enlighten the public upon this point until the harm had been done. The report of the committee, whose appearance would have done much to set matters straight, was not submitted until May 1 of the same year. Vigorous and even violent attacks upon the president and the committee and its members became frequent in congress and culminated, after a spirited fight, in a provision of the law which suspended the action of the proclamation of the new reserves, except in the state of California, until March 1 of the succeeding year (1898). In the meantime public sentiment concerning the reserves underwent a remarkable change. A better understanding of their objects and a knowledge of the new law (act of June 4, 1897), which regulated their use in practical accord with the principal recommendations of the committee, spread throughout the west. A further official study of the reserves, while it suggested certain modifications of their boundaries, served to confirm their desirability as a whole, and an attempt to continue the suspension beyond March 1 failed completely. Instead, the estimate of the secretary of the interior for their care and preservation was more than doubled by the appropriation of $175,000 in congress for that purpose, and shortly after President McKinley proceeded to establish further reserves. The area of all the reserves established by him up to January 1, 1900, is 6,708,425 acres.

The work of the committee of the National Academy of Sciences, while it failed of much that it might have accomplished, nevertheless was the spring from which the present activity in forest matters was derived.

THE TRUTHFUL CHILDREN.

Collecting Tour of a Car Conductor in a Party Going to Coney Island.

"It's the street car conductors who have the fine opportunities to see the effect of letting others than the parents teach children to tell the truth," said a conductor on a Brooklyn car who had just had a struggle with a group of elders and youngsters going to Coney island.

There were four grown persons and seven children in the group, says the New York Sun, and they were bound out for a Saturday evening at the island, the children in clean white dresses and the adults brushed up after the day's work. The man at the head of the party first paid four fares. The conductor asked him who was to pay for the children and he forked over another fare for the tallest girl in the lot, who appeared to be at least 12 or 13 years old.

The conductor's palm was still extended. The man said that there was no more fare to pay. A man with him lost his nerve just there and tendered a fare for another of the children, and the conductor pointed to a third child and asked how old she was. The father shook his head and said that she was not seven. The mother kept still. Not so the child herself. She shook her head at her father and announced that she was seven. She was undersized and might have passed for less than six. But her fare had to be paid.

There was more head shaking when the conductor pointed to a fourth girl, but her nearest companion, the tall girl whose fare was first paid, declared with a reproving look at the man sitting next the head of the party that that girl was not entitled to half-fare privileges, and reluctantly another five cents was produced. The conductor went away, but presently returned from a reconnoitering expedition a few seats off, where two more children of the party had found seats, and he demanded two half fares. With a very tired expression, but without an effort at opposition, the two men of the party went down simultaneously into their trousers pockets and wearily extended handfuls of small coins toward the conductor for him to help himself, which he did, taking six cents from the hand nearest him. One small member of the party rode for nothing. The conductor smiled as he handed the change, four cents, to the man from whose hand he had taken a dime.

"You know if the car was mine," he said, pleasantly, "I wouldn't be so; I'd carry 'em and call myself lucky. But as it is it's different."

TROUT EAT YOUNG DUCKS.

Durango (Col.) Fish Hatcheries' Pets Taken Down Whole by Rainbow Trout.

In one of the cool, clear pools of the Durango fish hatchery swim some great trout of such remarkable voracity that young ducks have been seen to disappear down their capacious jaws. This is the story told by the Denver Post.

Game and Fish Warden Holland, who recently returned from a trip of inspection there, says the greediness of the big fish has caused keen disappointment among the hatchery employes. Wild ducks make their home there, and one day recently the employes saw two downy ducklings near the mother duck. Down in the depths of the pool lurk some huge trout whose keen eyes are ever watching the surface for grasshoppers, minnows, and food of all kinds. Rainbows they are, and as the ducklings scudded across the top of the pool the beautifully colored sides of the trout flashed brilliantly as they rose in haste from the bottom. The first one dashed so recklessly at the nearest duckling that he missed his aim and shot a yard out of water. There was a loud splash as the big fish fell back and, thoroughly scared, the soft-feathered birds began to paddle desperately for the shore. But fate was against them and they were not permitted to swim six feet.

Too late the men realized the danger of the tiny fowls. In another moment a slower but surer fish opened a wide mouth at the right moment and eagerly swallowed one of the two feathered fugitives. The other was caught by two trout at the same instant and dragged beneath the surface in the twinkling of an eye.

Down into the crystal depths went the duckling, and after an instant's choking all was still. The circles on the top of the pool widened until invisible and the tragedy was over

The mother duck, whose eyes had never left her young, darted above the spot where they had disappeared, with shrill cries and utterly disregarded the presence of the men, who, slowly retracing their footsteps, told a new yarn at the dinner table to the surprise and regret of the others who had also been watching for the appearance of the little ducks.

Semi-Newsy Items of Interest Gathered From Foreign Correspondents

The Troubles in Ashantiland. So preoccupied has England been with her troubles in South Africa, and later with her share of the world's troubles in China, that but comparatively little attention has been given to Sir Francis Hodgson and the troublesome natives of her African Gold Coast colony. England has as yet scarcely found out what the Ashantis are fighting about, and Sir Francis and his small garrison have been left very much to themselves to make the best of a bad predicament.

Trouble has been brewing for England among the Ashantis ever since the military expedition of 1895-6 captured Kumasi, the native capital, shortly after which the king and his principal chiefs were sent as prisoners into Sierre Leone, where they have since been confined. That expedition was undertaken for the purpose of putting the colony in condition for the working of its mineral resources, and since then considerable gold has been taken from its interior mines.

The rising itself was undoubtedly primarily due to the attempt of the governor, Sir Francis Hodgson, to seize the sign of native sovereignty, the famous golden stool; secondarily, to the question of taxation, and the fact that the wish of the natives to be free has always been strong. About March 31, when the seizure of the stool was attempted, saw the first bloodshed, and on April 10, or thereabouts, Kumassi was closely invested, and Sir Francis Hodgson sent an urgent message to the authorities asking for all the available forces to be sent to his aid. In response to this demand a relief party started, Capt. Middlemist and a portion of it arriving some five days after the investment. On the 29th of the same month the Ashantis made a daring attack on the fort, but were, fortunately, repulsed. On the same day Capt. Aplin, with a force of Hausas, contrived to enter the town after two days of the hardest fighting. Every officer of the little force was wounded, and there were no less than 135 casualties among the troops. May 24 saw the defeat, at Kokofu, of Capt. Hall and the advance guard of Col. Willcocks' party, resulting in his retreat to Esumeja. About four days later Lieut. Slater was killed at Kwisa while leading a Hausa scouting party. Later, on June 6, Col. Carter Wilkinson, from the south, and Capt. Hall, from the north, joined hands, but suffered defeat, with 100 casualties, at Dompoassi. In this engagement Col. Wilkinson was wounded. The latest news is that Col. Willcocks is at Prahsu, unable to move through lack of carriers. To make matters still worse, the river Prah is in flood. Col. Wilkinson is in a state of siege at Kwisa. Cape Coast castle, whence the advance of the relief column started, was formerly the capital of the British settlements on the gold coast of Guinea, and has a population of 10,000. The main fort is built on a granite rock, jutting out into the sea. Close by are two small outposts, Fort William and Fort Victoria.

ON THE ROAD TO KUMASSI IN ASHANTILAND.

The staple products and exports of the colony consist of palm oil, palm kernels, india-rubber and valuable native woods, in addition to the increasing output of gold. The colony has 688 miles of telegraphs, including three miles of cable. A government railway is now under construction from Sekondi on the coast to Tarkwa, and others have been surveyed from Tarkwa and Appam to the new capital at Kumassi. Other important public works looking to the rapid development of the colony are also under construction or are being considered. The area of the colony is about 40,000 square miles, and the population is near 1,500,000, of whom but about 500 are Europeans, and the remainder the native blacks.

Increased Railway Charges in Scotland. More than a year ago the railroads of Scotland began a systematic effort looking to increasing their revenues. Prior to that time there was practically no limit on the amount of personal baggage which passengers were permitted to take with them on either first or third class fares. About a year ago, however, an agrement was entered into by all the roads placing a limitation of 60 pounds of baggage on a third-class ticket and 120 pounds on a first-class ticket. Charge is made for overweight. At the beginning of this year a certain class of "season" tickets known as "traders" were increased 50 per cent. This has been followed by still another, which went into effect June 1 and increases the price of return fares 20 per cent. Third-class week-end tickets are increased from three to 20 per cent. The reason given in the main for these decided advances is the increased price of coal. The advance of $1.20 per ton which has taken place this year will mean an increased expense to one road alone of $1,650,000, estimating that this particular road uses 1,350,000 tons; and this line is not the largest consumer. In round numbers, it is estimated that it will cost the railroads of Scotland for coal this year quite $2,500,000 more than last year.

From the present outlook there does not promise, in the near future at least, to be any appreciable decline in the price of coal. The result is that all lines of manufactures have been affected in their profits, and very serious consequences are predicted if the extraordinarily high prices continue much longer.

Pay of Farm Laborers in Sweden. In Sweden the gathering of facts and figures relating to the prices paid the tillers of the soil was commenced only in 1865. Since 1877 reports have been issued yearly by the statistical bureau. The last refers to the year 1898 and shows that the average yearly wage of a farm hand was 204 kronor ($54.67) and of a woman servant 105 kronor ($28.14). The cost to the employer of the above-mentioned persons, counting their food, lodging and wages, is computed at 455 kronor ($121.94) for men and 252 kronor ($67.54) for women. The wages paid in the summer season to day farm laborers were 2.08 kronor (55.7 cents) for men and 1.18 kronor (31.6 cents) for women. During the winter season only 1.44 kronor (38.6 cents) and 0.84 krone (22.5 cents) were paid for men and women. These figures are the average. In many instances as high as 275 kronor ($73.70) has been paid for the year. The best price paid for farm labor is in the northern provinces. The figures named above are the highest that have ever prevailed in Sweden and indicate that the condition of labor is improving from year to year.

Insurance Statistics from Russia. The capital invested by insurance companies in Russia amounts to 418,000,000 rubles ($209,000,000). The number of persons insured in 1899 was 21,114, the insurance amounting to 71,000,000 rubles ($35,500,000). Of the above amount, 41,840,710 rubles ($20,920,355) was received by American insurance companies; the balance by Russian.

The Russian people are only beginning to realize the advantages of life insurance.

Horse and Dog Meat in Germany. On account of the high price of other meat, not only horse meat, but also dog meat, is used by people as an article of food in Germany. The new meat inspection bill (called here "a law to raise the price of meat") does not adequately protect the consumer against bad meat, but excludes many first-class products from the country.

According to the statistical year book of German cities, it appears that the consumption of horse meat is on the increase, and in Breslau, Chemnitz, Dresden, Leipzig, Zwickau and other places dogs are slaughtered for food.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

There will be several interesting races at the Plainfield Driving Park this afternoon when there will be a race between C. L. Wright's bay mare, Phil. Jenner's celebrated trotter, J. W. Johnson's black pacer, and C. C. Brower's horse "Semi-colon." Another race will be between David Smalley's "Ned Davis," and C. Fluckingers's bay pacer, of New York. It is also quite likely that there will be a race between C. L. Wright's "Arpansa," and C. C. Brower's "Edith L."

GOLF

A fine golf course is being laid out near Kenilworth Inn, Somerset county, and in a short time it will be opened auspiciously.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Bacteria.

Bacteria multiply rapidly and they do it in a curious way. A single one breaks itself in two, then each half grows until it becomes as large as the original. Not all evils multiply as rapidly as this, but defects of the eye increase rapidly enough to warn against neglect and prompt to such optical treatment as a free examination at Collier's will advise you of.

RUNAWAY IN CROWDED STREET.

Lively Runaway Caused on Park Avenue by an Impatient Horse.

Becoming impatient while standing on Park avenue, near North avenue, a horse belonging to Aaron Brower, of New Market, ran away shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. The animal ran down Park avenue, which, as usual, was crowded with vehicles of all kinds, narrowly escaping several of them. It turned into Front street and when near Somerset crashed into a wagon said to belong to Mr. Ackerman, of Clinton avenue. The latter wagon was overturned and a rear wheel dished. The driver escaped injury. Brower's wagon received a pair of broken shafts. The produce, with which it was loaded, was transferred to another wagon which the driver, Jerry Linbarger, had borrowed from P. M. French.

GOOD GOLF PLAYING BY W. J. R THIERS.

Defeated Wm. M. McCutchen for Green Committee Challenge Trophy 5 Up, 3 to Go.

WAS A GOOD ATTENDENCE.

THIERS WAS ALSO LOW MAN FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP WITH 94 NET.

Eight Cards Were Turned in Despite the Great Heat—Thiers Now Tied With M. T. Townsend for Green Committee Trophy.

When most Plainfield folk were sweltering in the heat of Saturday afternoon, a little crowd of golf devotes assembled on the links of the Park Golf Club and spent the afternoon on the course. Considering the temperature, the attendance was remarkably large. Many of the best players of the club are absent on their summer vacations.

The honors of the day were easily for William J. R. Thiers. Thiers won the green committee challenge trophy from Morgan T. Townsend the week before and this time had a chance to defend it. William M. McCutchen was the next on the list of challengers and Thiers defeated him 5 up and 3 to go. Thiers' score also counted for the president's cup and proved to be low score for the afternoon.

The match between Thiers and McCutchen proved quite close for the first round, Thiers being two up. McCutchen failed to keep up his usual steady game in the second and was defeated after completing "Desperation." The scores by holes in the match were as follows:

Thiers, out	4	7	6	3	5	4	7	4	7	—47
McCutchen, out	4	8	6	5	6	5	6	5	7	—50
Thiers, in	4	6	6	5	5	5	4	5	7	—47—94
McCutchen, in	4	5	7	6	7	7	6	6	8	—56—106

Thiers' victory for this trophy puts him tied with Townsend for the trophy with four wins each. Edgar I. Serrell is next on the list of challengers. Serrell has been playing good golf lately, keeping inside the 100 mark every time. Thiers has steadied down of late and Serrell will have to play his best to stand a chance of winning.

The standing for the green committee challenge trophy is now as follows:

Morgan T. Townsend	4
W. R. J. Thiers	4
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1

The usual weekly competition for the president's cup was held during the afternoon. Fifteen players registered and eight cards were turned in. The "duffer" class was not represented. Thiers was the only one to get his gross score below 100 and that won first honors for him. The course was in good shape and the putting greens fast. The great heat had its effect, however, on some of the players, who did not show up in their usual form.

The scores turned in were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
W. J. R. Thiers	94	0	94
George T. Rogers	110	15	95
S. St. J. McCutchen	113	15	98
J. D. Sandford	113	15	98
Townsend Bushmore	113	15	98
Wm. M. McCutchen	106	6	100
H. D. Hibbard	111	8	103
Charles A. Reed	119	15	104

The standing for the president's cup is as follows:

Morgan T. Townsend	6
Edgar I. Serrell	6
Wm. R. Faber	5½
Charles A. Reed	5½
George T. Rogers	4
W. J. R. Thiers	4
S. St. J. McCutchen	3 5-6
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Werth	3
Meredith Dryden	3
J. H. Simpson	3
W. de la R. Anderson	3
Allan R. Laing	3
H. D. Hibbard	3

Scattering—Herbert S. Rogers, Henry C. Wells, Gustavus W. Faber, Donald A. McGee, Wm. M. McCutchen, Charles B. Morse, J. D. Sandford and Townsend Bushmore.

OFF FOR DULUTH.

W. B. Rittenhouse Has Accepted a Position With the Highland Canal Co.

Walter B. Rittenhouse, of Sandford avenue, has gone to Duluth, Minn. He resigned his position as engineer of the paper mills of the International Paper Co., located near Saranac Lake, N. Y., to accept a better one with the Highland Canal and Water Power Co., of Duluth. He will assist in the construction of a power plant which will be even greater than the one at Niagara Falls. It will supply the city of Duluth with electric power which will be generated by turbine. Mr. Rittenhouse attended the Plainfield High School and then entered Stevens Institute where he graduated in 1898. His new position is a particularly excellent one for a young engineer. After the completion of the power house, he will probably locate permanently at Duluth to assist in the charge of the plant.

Locked Up for Safe Keeping.

William Bradfield was drunk Saturday night. The police found him wandering afar and locked him up for safe-keeping. Sentence was suspended on him this morning.

BIG FIRE AT ASBURY.

FIERY INTERRUPTION OF A SOJOURN AT THE SEASHORE.

Misses Yaeger and Graves, of Plainfield, Among Those Driven Out By the Fire.

Among the several hundred people who were thrown out of their boarding houses at Asbury Park yesterday by the great fire that visited that place, were Miss Marietta L. Yaeger, and Miss Mary Graves, of Liberty street, who went to the Park Saturday to spend two weeks. The fire broke out in the Opera House block about 6 o'clock yesterday morning and it destroyed about every building in the block, including the boarding houses and hotels. Miss Yeager and Miss Graves were stopping at one of the houses in the block, but very fortunately they were just far enough away from the starting place of the fire to have sufficient time to get out with all their belongings, and they suffered no loss. At the time most all of the people living in the block were asleep and it was not until the alarm of fire was given that they were apprised of the conflagration. There was a great deal of hunting afterwards for boarding places, and some of the people returned home.

Some of them lost all of their belongings and were obliged to get along as best they could. Others lost only a portion of their things.

An unusually large number of people went to the Park Saturday, apprehending a very hot Sunday, and they sought a sea breeze. In this they were disappointed, for a very hot land breeze was present all day, the people suffering intensely from the almost unbearable heat. However, the Park was full of people, and this fact made it very difficult for the boarders driven out by the fire to find other places to stop.

The Plainfield young women were able find another place where they will remain during the coming two weeks.

NEW FOUNDATION.

Work Will Have to be Done on Park Avenue That was Not Expected When Improvement was Started.

The improvement to Park avenue from Fourth to Front street is progressing. A little delay has been caused by the discovery that a new foundation will be necessary in the block between North avenue and Second street. The efforts of the street department will therefore be divided between Park avenue and Washington avenue.

When the wooden pavement on Park avenue was taken up many years ago, no foundation of large stones was put down, as was done from North avenue to the city line. It was found, after trying it with the steam roller, that the soil under the macadam is not sufficiently solid to warrant placing new macadam on it, especially as there is only room for a small depth of stone.

The block on Park avenue, between North avenue and Second street is being plowed up this morning and a solid bed will be made for the new macadam. This foundation will be available for any kind of pavement whenever it is thought best by the city to lay a permanent pavement on Park avenue. The best of the old material will be used as a binder on Washington avenue.

Washington avenue is decidedly in need of repairs and its improvement will be continued at once. A gang of the men from the street department are busy there today. New stone will be laid there with the old material from Park avenue as a binder.

Lecture by Mr. Kenney.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kenney, of North Plainfield, leave here this evening for Plattsburg, N. Y., to attend the Catholic Summer School which is held there annually. Mr. Kenney will deliver two lectures there this week. On Thursday "Experiments with Liquid Air," and on Friday "Compressed Air and its Uses." Experiments will also be made with compressed air showing its varied applications. The Summer School is largely attended during July and August by representative from all parts of the country.

Says He Was Assaulted.

A colored man named Parker, residing in the borough, appeared before Mayor Smalley yesterday and made a complaint against George Lewis, otherwise known as "Egg Plant" Lewis, also colored, and a resident of the borough. The complaint says that Lewis assaulted Parker in an uncalled for and unjust manner. His Honor set the hearing down for 7 o'clock tonight, and Parker's troubles will be heard at that time.

MANY PEOPLE SAW CRANFORD'S CARNIVAL

Largest Attendance on Record at Cranford's Big Summer Celebration on River.

THE PARADE WAS PRETTY.

NUMBER OF CRAFT IN LINE WAS SMALLER THAN USUAL.

Factional Fight in Cranford Boating Association was Responsible—The Awards and Judges—Special Transportation Facility.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, Aug. 13.—A great crowd, estimated variously from ten to fifteen thousand in number, swarmed into Cranford Saturday evening for the annual Venetian carnival and boat parade of the Cranford Boating Association held on the Rahway River. From point of numbers of spectators the carnival exceeded all previous efforts. The display of canoes, row boats and floats in the parade was very handsome, but was not equal to that of last season, but thirty-six craft of various kinds being in line.

Cranford is ordinarily a quiet little town with its staid aristocracy. For the young people one of the favorite enjoyments is the paddling and rowing on the river which winds beautifully through the centre of the place. There's a boat club which annually makes an effort. That is the occasion for a great gathering of folk from far and near, and it is then that Cranford assumes an activity which is not repeated until carnival night comes around again.

The unanimity of effort which usually is observable on the part of all Cranford at the river carnival was somewhat lacking this year. A split in the membership of the club resulted in one faction holding aloof from active participation, thus accounting for the decrease in the number of crafts in line. Those who did turn out made particular efforts and result was that the boat decorations were unusually handsome and elaborate.

Miles of Chinese lanterns bordered the river on either bank, while many of the residents, whose lawns face the stream, made extensive decorations. One specially handsome one, a huge umbrella of Chinese lanterns, caught fire just before the parade began and ended its career in a blaze of glory. Chinese lanterns, colored lights and candles were largely utilized. During the parade colored fire and Roman candles were to be seen on every hand.

Canoes predominated in the parade, which started at 8:15 o'clock and made the trip down the river and back, headed by Commodore Miller. The "Red Queen," M. E. Newcomb's canoe, in which was seated a young woman gowned in white with a background of red and bordered electric lights, was easily the best and was given first award for best decorated canoes. Miss Gertrude Hopkins and Arthur Hopkins, in a harvest scene, took second. William Nice was first of the row boats with a pretty combination of colored nights and greens. G. W. Traylor, with a boatload of pickanies and water-melons, was second. Freeholder E. K. Adams' float was first in its class. James G. Moore's lawn was classed as the prettiest. Second award went to E. W. Buckley.

The Jersey Central raiload provided special trains from Plainfield, Elizabeth, Newark and Bayonne and brought many visitors. There came near being a serious ending for some of the passengers. The crowd, waiting to depart, spread all over the tracks at the station. The people paid no attention to the approach of an express train, which shot through the crowd, narrowly missing a number.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company also made special arrangements to transport the crowds and every available car was used. The cars were sent out as fast as they were filled without regard to schedule. The facilities were not adequate, however, and many had to wait a long time for a car.

Thousands of other people came awheel and in carriages. Many of the streets bordering the lake were blocked with vehicles for several hours.

Damage by the Wind.

During the very heavy wind which preceded the thunder storm that passed around the city yesterday afternoon a number of trees in the borough and city suffered, and in some cases very large limbs were torn from the trees and blocked several streets. So far as can be learned the lightning did no damage in this vicinity.

WRECKED ICE WAGON.

TROLLEY CAR RAN INTO DESERTED VEHICLE NEAR WESTFIELD.

George W. Smith, of This City, Had His Head Injured by Flying Ice—Injury Not Serious.

A deserted ice wagon and a trolley car had an encounter between Westfield and Garwood Saturday evening, in which the wagon came off second best. A chunk of flying ice cut a gash in the head of George W. Smith, the well-known tenor of the First Baptist church, of this city, who was occupying a front seat.

The ice wagon had already had one thrilling experience. It belonged in Cranford and had been on a trip to Westfield. While returning the horses ran away. They broke loose from the wagon and left it standing on the trolley track. The driver went after the horses and the wagon was left to its fate.

The open car which left the Plainfield station at 7 o'clock was bowling along at a lively clip when the ice wagon loomed up in sight. The motorman was unable to stop the car in time and the crash followed. The wagon was wrecked but the fender was the only part of the car seriously damaged. The passengers were somewhat shaken up, but Mr. Smith was the only one injured.

Mr. Smith's injuries, which consisted of a cut on the forehead, were not so severe but that he was able to continue on his way.

To a Press reporter this morning Superintendent Adelmann, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, admitted that there had been an accident, but said that the damage was trifling. He said the motorman was not to blame. A passenger from Elizabeth, he stated, was slightly cut by a piece of ice. He refused to give the name. He also refused to give the name of the motorman.

CLOSED TIGHT.

Strict Observance of Liquor Laws Maintained in Plainfield Yesterday.

For many years Plainfield had the reputation of being the town where the liquor license laws were more strictly enforced than any other place in New Jersey, but recently it is understood that several places have been doing quite a large Sunday trade. Last week all the proprietors of licensed places in the city received a letter from Chief Kiely stating that reports had been made to him that the license laws were being violated. Chief Kiely warned all dealers in the letter that the law must be observed, and that if violations were detected the offenders would be brought into court. As a result it was impossible to get a drink in Plainfield yesterday, unless it was in some speak-easies that sprung up for the day. There were a large number of imbibers who did not know of the changed order of things, and as a result scores of men had to be turned away from the places that they had been in the habit of patronizing.

Bridget in the Toils Again.

The city jail has particular attractions for Bridget Coleman. She has visited there several times already by special request. Saturday night Patrolman Saunders gently but firmly invited her again. It was the same old story. Bridget was drunk and unable to care for herself so the officer locked her up over night. She was hailed before City Judge Runyon yesterday morning and paid her fine of $5 in preference to going to jail for thirty days.

Kilner Still off Duty.

Contrary to expectations, Jacob Kilner, a marshal in the borough, who had some trouble a week ago, did not return to duty yesterday, at the expiration of a week's suspension without pay. In the meantime, Special Marshal Baglin is doing duty in Mr. Kilner's placed. It is believed that the latter will return to duty in a few days.

Death of Westfield Woman.

The death of Mrs. Harriet Titus, wife of the late Lewis Titus, occurred at her home in Westfield Saturday night. Mrs. Titus was 60 years of age and was well known in Westfield and vicinity. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, North avenue, Westfield, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Annual Reports Presented.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Sabbath Tract Society was held yesterday morning. The annual reports to be presented at the coming anniversary week of the Seventh-Day Baptist denominational organizations at Adams Centre, N. Y., were approved.

Miss Mamie French, of West Seventh street, has returned from a pleasant sojourn at Lake Hopatcong.

SAM GOFF WAYLAID IN A GRAPE ARBOR.

Knocked Insensible by Someone Who Looted His Pockets of the Money He Had.

NO TRACE OF HIGHWAYMEN

THE VICTIM OF THE OUTRAGE UNCONSCIOUS FOUR HOURS.

The Police Notified After the Young Man Recovered so That He Could Tell a Coherent Story, but the Culprit Had Escaped Then.

Lying face downward on the grass in an unconscious condition Samuel Goff, of West Fourth street, was found by his father, John Goff, at midnight Saturday in the yard next to his home. The young man had been struck a cowardly blow from behind and left for dead by some unknown person. The motive of the deed was undoubtedly robbery, as all the small change in the young man's pockets had been taken.

The place where the assault was committed was in the rear yard of Mrs. Margaret Martin's residence, in whose barn the elder Goff stables his horses. One of the animals was in the barn about 10 o'clock Saturday night when young Goff started for the place to see if everything was all right. He was walking beneath the grape arbor in the yard when he heard footsteps behind him. Thinking it was some one belonging to the house he did not look around but kept on his way.

Suddenly he was struck a terrific blow on the neck, from behind with some soft weapon which he thinks was a piece of rubber hose pipe. He sank insensible to the ground and knew nothing more until he awoke in his bed nearly four hours later.

His groans had attacted the attention of his father and Cormack Muldowney as they came in the yard with the remaining horse at 12 o'clock. On looking under the arbor they were horrified to find the young man in the condition as before stated. Procuring assistance he was taken home and medical aid summoned. He finally came to his senses at 2 o'clock, but it was some time later before he could give a coherent account of what had happened.

When he explained the cause of his condition, the police were notified, but as the miscreant had not been seen they have very little to aid them in their search. The injured man is now able to be around but his neck is still very painful and a long black mark shows where the weapon landed. It is thought the elder Mr. Goff was the one for whom the blow was meant as he usually has the proceeds of the day's business with him when he comes home Saturday nights.

ORATORIO AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Summer School of Theology Brought to a Close.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, August 13.—Professor Frank Damrosch, assisted by a chorus of 500 voices, produced Handel's oratorio of "The Messiah" in the Ocean Grove Auditorium Friday evening to an audience of 5,000 people, who gave enthusiastic approval of the masterful rendition of the sublime composition. Mr. Damrosch's large chorus was the flower of the New York Oratorio Society and the People's Choral Union, of that city. The soloists were Miss Sara Anderson, soprano; Miss Grace Preston, contralto; Paul Dufault, tenor, and J. Baerenstein, bass.

Mr. Damrosch also had with him his own orchestra of fifty pieces. "The Messiah" brought to a close the Summer School of Theology, Dr. J. Embury Price, dean. The Foreign and Home Missionary Societies now have possession of the Auditorium.

Warren County Farmers' Picnic.

The third annual picnic of the Warren County Farmers' Association will be held in the county park at Belvidere August 23. The following list of speakers has been secured: S. A. Besson, of Hoboken; E. B. Voorhis, of Burlington, subject, "The Twentieth Century Farmer;" Mortimer Whitehead, of Flemington; O. T. Williams, ex Consul at Manila; Governor Atkinson, of West Virginia, and Robert D. Petty, of New York city. The Bangor band will furnish music during the day, and in the afternoon the Belvidere and Bangor baseball teams will have a contest. This is always the largest of the many picnics of the season, and usually attracts from 12,000 to 15,000 people to the county seat.

COST HIM JUST $20.20.

G. THORN'S SAD EXPERIENCE AT THE CRANFORD CARNIVAL.

Twenty Cents was for Carfare and Twenty Dollars was for Pickpockets Whose Victim He Was.

It cost Guillermo Thorn, of East Second street, just $20 20 to witness the carnival at Cranford last Saturday night. The twenty cents was for car fare on the trolley and the twenty dollars was just the amount which was in a wallet stolen from him. On account of the crowded condition of the car on which Mr. Thorn started for Cranford, he stood on the rear platform. Directly next to him were two rough characters. He is positive that these two men are responsible for the wallet's disappearance as he remembers at one time, one of the men called his attention to something on top of the car.

The wallet was in an inside vest pocket and it was an easy matter for the second man to unbutton the vest and remove the contents. He did not discover his loss until just after leaving the car when the thought came to him to see if his money was safe. He immediately felt in his pocket but the wallet was gone. It was then to late to look for the two strangers who had probably by that time made good their escape. Mr. Thorn seems to be rather unlucky in this respect, as he had two previous experiences with the light fingered gentry. Both these times the thieves secured watches, the last one being a valuable gold one of which he thought a great deal of.

REV. W. D. JOHNSON DEAD.

Death Due to Consumption—Was Pastor of Fillmore Avenue Baptist Church for Several Years.

Rev. William D. Johnson, of 215 Richmond street, died Saturday evening at his home after a long illness with consumption. For several weeks past he was confined to his room and his condition was such that his death was expected at any time. Mr. Johnson was for some time pastor of the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church. The congregation was at one time a flourishing one, and the place now used as a police station was occupied by the congregation for several months.

Mr. Johnson was a faithful and earnest worker and he did all that he could to make his church a successful one. After awhile members began to drop out and go to other churches and in a short time it was necessary to dispense with the services of a pastor, and since that time Mr. Johnson has been doing no pastoral work. Besides a wife, Mr. Johnson leaves four children.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 o'clock from the residence, 215 Richmond street, and at 1 o'clock from the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church. Rev. W. Hall, of Newark, will officiated, assisted by the pastors of the other colored churches in this city. Goodwill Lodge, No. 8, K. of P., of which the deceased was a member, will attend in a body. The interment will be in Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth.

Ran Away Down Hill.

A team of ponies, with a third in front as leader, belonging to E. S. Hooley, of Rockview avenue, were being driven down the Harrison street hill yesterday when the neck yoke of the pole broke, frightening all three. They ran down the hill despite the efforts of the coachman to stop them. On account of the steep grade on the Rockview terrace hill their speed was somewhat slackened, and the coachman was able to stop them. The only damage sustained was a few cuts on the leader's hind feet, caused by the pole striking him.

Camp Life Was Cool.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis and children, of West Fifth street, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gamble, of Plainfield avenue, and Miss Neuman, of Steiner place, returned late last evening after spending a week camping on the south shore of Staten Island. They found camp life quite cool and delightful and they were quite comfortable while their Plainfield friends were sweltering with the heat. They did some fishing and met with excellent luck.

Just a Plain Drunk.

Patrick Dunavan was arrested Saturday evening by Patrolman Higgins for being drunk. Too frequent indulgence had had its effects and he was helpless. City Judge Runyon suspended sentence on him yesterday morning.

The Youngest Doctor.

A sturdy little doctor has been added to Plainfield's corps of medical men. The little lad was born last evening to Dr. and Mrs. Ellis W. Hedges, of Watchung avenue, at Castine, Me., where they are spending the summer.

COL BRYAN MAY VISIT NEW JERSEY.

Chairman Gourley Arranging to Have the Candidate Make at Least One Speech Here.

STATE CONVENTION DATE.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS WILL BE CHOSEN SEPTEMBER 12TH.

Mr. Gourley Declares That He Believes the Party Standard-bearer Will Address Convention of Organized Clubs in October.

In pursuance of his determination to make as energetic a flight as possible in this State, during the pending campaign, Chairman William B. Gourley, of the Democratic State committee, is endeavoring to have William Jennings Bryan make at least one speech in New Jersey, and Mr. Gourley told a reporter that he had great hopes of having his wishes granted.

The Democratic Presidential candidate will not make the whirlwind campaign this year that he did in 1896, when he travelled thousands of miles and made hundreds of speeches before millions of people in the aggregate. Mr. Bryan will penetrate the "enemy's country," however, as some of his supporters are pleased to term the Eastern States, and it has been announced authoritatively that the Democratic standard bearer will make two speeches in New York State. Mr. Gourley, as a member of the National committee, is keeping in touch with Mr. Bryan's proposed programme, and as chairman of the State committee, Mr. Gourley is keeping his eye open in the interests of the New Jersey Democracy.

As soon as it became known that Bryan would speak in New York, Gourley asked that New Jersey be placed on the candidate's itinerary. The matter is not definitely settled, but the State chairman declares that it is reasonably certain that the candidate will speak in Jersey. If satisfactory arrangements can be made it is proposed to have Mr. Bryan's speech delivered at a convention of Democratic clubs to be held some time in October.

A call for the Democratic State convention to choose Presidential electors has been issued by Mr. Gourley. The convention will be held in Taylor's Opera House, Trenton, Wednesday, September 12th. Colonel E. L. Price will be temporary chairman, but no selection of a candidate for permanent chairman has been made, nor has it been determined who will be the principal orator of the occasion.

Democratic State headquarters will be opened in full blast in the Washington Hotel, Jersey City, next Wednesday.

PRINCETON WINS AT PARIS.

Takes the Grand Prix Medal, the Highest Award in the College Department.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Princeton, August 13.—News has been received here by Prof. William Libbey from Princeton's representative at the Paris Exposition that the jury of awards at the Exposition granted the Grand Prix medal to Princeton University, which is the highest award in the College Department. The news was greeted here with great satisfaction.

The exhibit was prepared here last spring by President Patton, Prof. Libbey, Prof. Andrew West and Moses Taylor Pyne, who were appointed a committee by the trustees of the university to do the work. It comprises a handsome water color painting of Nassau Hall, thirty-one educational charts, books by Princeton graduates illustrating Princeton life and relics from the museums.

Grand Street Parade.

The prettiest street parade ever seen in this city will be given about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning on the principal streets. Prof. Gentry's famous dog and pony show will give a street procession which will include all their handsome dogs and ponies, the comical monkeys, the tiny elephants, which wear clothes like a person, the military band, and an endless variety of novel and pretty wagons. The little folks should all be on hand to welcome the dogs and ponies and to admire them in their parade dress.

Helpful Sermons.

Yesterday at the First Baptist church Rev. Mr. Buchanan, of Pemberton, delivered two very interesting and helpful sermons to good-sized congregations. The intense heat kept many away, but those who attended were well repaid by hearing earnest words from the Gospel. Many expressed a desire to hear Mr. Buchanan again in the near future.

OLD RASTUS' FAIRY TALE.

To Which the Court Took Exceptions and Levied a Fine for Lying.

"Rastus Mullins," said the recorder to an old negro who was here when "Ole Abe sot de niggers free," "the officer states he heard you cursing and scotching for three or four squares away, and your wife says you got mad at her, tore up your Sunday-go-to-meeting hat, broke up nearly all the furniture in the house, run everybody out of the yard and then cursed till the air sizzled with profane pyrotechnics."

"Massah," replied old Rastus, relates the Atlanta Constitution, jerking his bald and white fringed head around until his smile beamed on all the assembly, "Massah, de ole nigger is bleeged ter 'fess dat he war mad as er zasperated yaller jacket dis mawnin', 'an' de ole nigger is bleeged ter git mad at some t'ings."

"Well, what made you mad this morning?" the recorder asked.

"Whut made ole Rastus mad dis mawnin', massah," replied the aged prisoner, "was bekase dis wife ob mine tol' dat census man some t'ings on old Rastus whut she oughter kep' her mouf shot erbout."

"Go on and tell me what she told the census man which you did not wish her to tell," said the recorder.

Old Rastus shook his head slowly a time or two, mopped his bald head with his bandanna, and said:

"Massah, dat wife ob mine tol' dat census man dat I war er great-grand-daddy; dat I smoked terbaccy, chawed terbaccy and drunk corn licker; dat I'se been 'scused ob stealin' chickens twiet, and dat I was er ungoldly an' enrijus ole fool nigger. But eben all ob dat nebber riled the ole man berry much."

"Well, hurry up and tell me what did make you mad?" the recorder told him.

"Massah," replied old Rastus, mournfully, "she at de las' ob hit tol' dat census man dat I war hankerin' atter watermillions outern der season, an'—"

"Rastus," said Recorder Broyles, "I was about to let you go, but I'll fine you $3.75 for that tale you are trying to stuff this court with."

The old man gazed in a mystified way around him and flashed the money from a tobacco sack as he mumbled:

"Dar now, Liza tol' me ter keep mer mouf shot er tell de truff erbout dem drams ob corn licker."

Notes on Washing.

Wash black lace with rain water, to which a teaspoonful of borax and a tablespoonful of alcohol has been added to every pint. Sew cotton on a bottle smoothly and wind the lace over it. Pull out the edge and baste it down on the bottle. Wash white lace with boiling water and borax soap, after first basting it on a bottle covered with white cotton. Let the lace dry on the bottle. Cream tinted lace should be dipped in weak coffee water.—N. Y. Tribune.

DE WET FLEEING.

Kitchener and Methuen In Close Pursuit Made Rear Attack.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The war office has received the following message from Lord Roberts, dated Pretoria, Aug. 11:

"The enemy is fleeing in front of Kitchener's and Methuen's forces. Early this morning he was trying to cross the railway at Wolverdeen Station, where he was engaged by Smith-Dorrien.

"Methuen on Aug. 9 fought a rear guard action near Buffelshock. He captured six wagons and two ambulances."

In spite of the fact that General Christian De Wet is in full flight South African telegrams announce a hurried exodus of civilians from Mafeking and that Lord Edward Cecil is preparing to stand another siege.

Mr. James G. Stowe, United States consul general at Cape Town, has left Johannesburg for that city. He received an enthusiastic send off.

Mr. John Stuart, Pretoria correspondent of The Morning Post, sends the following to that paper:

"The Boers say that President Kruger is contributing to the election expenses of Mr. Bryan between half and three-quarters of a million pounds sterling. They also say that Mr. Webster Davis, former assistant secretary of the interior of the United States, has received £25,000 toward the expenses of the American campaign."

SERIOUS NAVAL DISASTER.

Fifty Men Drowned by Sinking of French Torpedo Boat.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—During maneuvers of the French fleet off Cape St. Vincent a collision occurred between the first class battleship Brennus, flying the flag of Vice Admiral Fournier, commander of the fleet, and the torpedo boat destroyer Framee.

The Framee sank immediately. The accident was due to the fact that the Framee turned to the right when ordered to the left.

Details thus far received are very meager, but only a small portion of the crew, consisting of four officers and 58 men, were saved. It is believed that no fewer than 50 were lost, and great anxiety is felt here.

The Framee, which was of 313 tons displacement, was a recent addition to the French navy,

The Danube brought down $75,000 in gold.

The Strike at Marseilles.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 13.—The strike of the firemen of the Transatlantic Steamship company, which began yesterday, seriously interfered with the arrangements for the departure of the transports, only one, the Polynesian, getting away. The stokers of the others left the vessels. In the afternoon the strikers tried to prevent the Polynesian from leaving the harbor by blocking the harbor entrance with a number of barges. With the idea also of besieging her ten strikers entered by the scuttles and threatened the Polynesian's firemen with death.

CHINA SEEKS PEACE.

Emperor Kwang Hsu Appoints Earl Li to Negotiate.

A CONFIDENT MESSAGE FROM CONGER

Tells Chaffee He Is Able to "Hold on" Till Relief Force Arrives—No Peace Terms Until All of Our Demands Have Been Met.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Indications of the desire of China for a peaceful settlement of her present difficulties have been multiplying for several days. Official evidence of that desire was presented to the department of state yesterday. It was in the form of an edict promulgated by the emperor, Kwang Hsu, appointing Earl Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipotentiary to negotiate with the powers for an "immediate cessation of hostilities" pending a solution of the problems which have grown out of the anti-foreign uprising in the empire. Earl Li is to act directly for the emperor, and a fair inference is that whatever terms of settlement he may reach with the powers will be approved by the imperial government.

Secretary Adee, by direction of President McKinley, has presented to Minister Wu for transmission to his government the reply of the United States to the imperial edict appointing Li Hung Chang envoy to negotiate with the powers for a cessation of hostilities. The text of the reply will be made public today. In effect, however, it is a reiteration of the demands previously made by the United States upon China, coupled with a vigorous intimation that no negotiations will be entered into until the Chinese government shall have complied with those demands.

During the day only one dispatch that was made public reached any of the government departments from China. A belated message from Minister Conger was transmitted to the war department by General Chaffee. It expressed simply his ability to "hold on" until General Chaffee should come to his relief. All the power of this government will be exerted to get that relief to him and the other imprisoned legationers at the earliest possible moment.

Minister Wu was an early caller at the department of state. Shortly after 9 o'clock he made an engagement with Acting Secretary of State Adee to meet him at the department at 10:30. Promptly at that hour the minister's automobile stopped at the west entrance to the department, and Mr. Wu alighted and hurried to Secretary Adee's office. He presented to Mr. Adee a copy of the imperial edict which he had received Saturday night. It had been transmitted to him in the Chinese foreign office cipher, and its translation and preparation for submission to the department of state had occupied much of the night.

Minister Wu remained with Secretary Adee for three-quarters of an hour discussing the terms of the edict and the probable response to it of this government. Shortly before Minister Wu left the department Secretary of War Root joined the two diplomatists, but remained only long enough to obtain a copy of the edict and discuss it briefly with the Chinese minister.

Minister Wu expressed the belief that the edict presented a means of peaceful adjustment of the present trouble and that the request of the Chinese government for a cessation of hostilities pending peace negotiations was entirely reasonable.

Late in the day Secretary Adee made public the text of the edict in the following statement:

"The department of state makes public the following imperial edict, appointing Viceroy Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipotentiary to propose a cessation of hostilities and negotiate with the powers, a copy of which was delivered by Mr. Wu to the acting secretary of state this (Sunday) morning at 10:30 o'clock.

"An imperial edict forwarded by the privy council at Peking, under date of the 14th day of the 7th moon (Aug. 8), to Governor Yuan at Tsi-nan, Shangtung, who transmitted it on the 17th day of the same moon (Aug. 11) to the taotai at Shanghai, by whom it was retransmitted to Minister Wu, who received it on the night of the same day (Aug. 11).

"The imperial edict, as transmitted by the privy council, is as follows:

"'In the present conflict between Chinese and foreigners there has been some misunderstanding on the part of foreign nations and also a want of proper management on the part of some of the local authorities. A clash of arms is followed by calamitous results and causes a rupture of friendly relations, which will ultimately do no good to the world. We hereby appoint Li Hung Chang as our envoy plenipotentiary, with instructions to propose at once by telegraph to the governments of the several powers concerned for the immediate cessation of hostile demonstrations pending negotiations, which he is hereby authorised to conduct for our part for the settlement of whatever questions may have to be dealt with. The questions are to be severally considered in a satisfactory manner and the result of the negotiations reported to us for our sanction. Respect this.'

"The above is respectfully copied for transmission to your excellency to be communicated to the secretary of state for his excellency's information."

While it is conceded by the Washington officials that the conference of plenipotentiary authority upon Earl Li to negotiate with the powers for a settlement of existing troubles is a step in the right direction, it by no means is assured that the United States government will consent offhand to open negotiations with the distinguished viceroy. The demands of this government upon China have been made plainly and without equivocation. They cannot be misunderstood. Assuming that the Chinese government is acting in good faith, the demands are reasonable and can be complied with readily.

As transmitted to the imperial government by the acting secretary of state through Minister Wu, the demands in brief were:

That the Chinese government give assurance that the foreign ministers are alive and if so in what condition.

That the ministers be placed in free communication with their governments, firing upon the legations cease and all dangers to their lives and liberty be removed.

That the imperial authorities place themselves in communication with the relief expedition, so that the legationers may be liberated, foreigners protected and order restored.

Until these demands have been acceded to it is regarded as highly improbable that the government of the United States or any of the European governments, all of which have made practically the same demands upon China, will consent to a "cessation of hostile demonstrations," which are being conducted, at least so far as this government is concerned, with the sole purpose of succoring the besieged legationers in the Chinese capital.

Minister Wu is inclined to take an optimistic view of the situation, but it can be said authoritatively that his view is not shared in fully by the Washington officials. There is no disposition evident today to abate by one single jot the demands which have been made upon China. A strong hope is expressed, however, that the Chinese government will accede to the demands eventually and perhaps very soon. This hope is based upon the edict appointing Earl Li to sue for peace. To this extent, it may be said, the view of the officials here is optimistic.

No reply, at least no direct reply, has been received yet to the memorandum transmitted to the Chinese government through Minister Wu by the department of state. It may be that the imperative demands contained in the memorandum induced the promulgation of the edict delivered to this government. But the edict in itself is not accepted as a reply to those demands.

The attitude assumed by the diplomatic representatives of European governments in Washington is sufficient evidence that the powers will press vigorously the demands which they have made upon the Chinese government. To Peking the allied armies will go, it is declared frankly, unless every demand is acceded to and all possible reparation is made by China for the outrages already committed. Negotiations looking to any other settlement of the disturbance in China will not be considered seriously.

CHINESE SUBTERFUGE.

Want Foreign Ministers to Hasten Departure.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The tsung-li-yamen forwarded through the Chinese minister in Paris, Yu Keng, a message to the French government complaining of the "tardiness of the foreign ministers in Peking in replying to the offer of the Chinese government to conduct them under escort." The message proceeded to say that the tsung-li-yamen declined to be responsible for any casualties which might follow these delays and insisted that the European governments order their representatives to leave Peking.

To this communication M. Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs, sent the following reply:

"No order to depart from Peking will be given to our minister so long as the route is unsafe. If a casualty occurs, the responsibility will be entirely with the Chinese government. Its strict duty is to protect foreign ministers even more than its own.

"If it be true that the Chinese government has great difficulty in defending them and in defending itself against rebels, it should order its troops to stand aside before the allied forces. This would render free the road from Tientsin to the capital and would accomplish the work of protection which is incumbent.

"The Chinese government should understand that the only means of proving the sincerity of its designs and of limiting its responsibilities is a cessation in the placing of obstacles in the way of such an arrangement."

The French foreign office received yesterday from M. Pichon, French minister at Peking, what is evidently the delayed dispatch which he referred to in the first message received from him, published here last Thursday, as "my cipher No. 1, dated Aug. 3." It is as follows:

"From June 20 to July 17 Chinese troops besieged, fired upon and bombarded us. Four legations have been burned and that of France three-quarters destroyed. We still hold out, thanks to the heroic defense of the Franco-Austrian detachment. Our loss is 16. The general loss is 60 more and 110 wounded.

"All the missions in Peking have been burned save the Pei-tang mission, which is standing, but the condition is uncertain. Despite anguish and privations the personnel of the legation is in good health.

"The bombardment ceased on July 17. Offensive works, Chinese barricades and intermittently shots continue without victims.

"The government is attempting indirectly to negotiate with us for departure, but we cannot leave without some protection other than that of the government.'

"Our forces, ammunition and provisions are almost exhausted. The interrupted attacks may recommence and place us at the mercy of the Chinese government.

"On July 19 I received a telegram which I was not allowed to reply to in cipher."

Legationers Get No News.

ROME, Aug. 13.—The Italian foreign office has received the following dispatch from the Italian minister in Peking, Marquis Salvago Raggi, dated Aug. 5: "Shots exchanged between the defenders of the legation and the Chinese. One killed and two wounded. We have no news from the allies since July 30. We hope they will not delay advance to Peking."

Diseases Among Live Stock.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Advices to the department of agriculture report that the foot and mouth disease is very prevalent among live stock throughout almost all of Europe except Norway, Sweden and Holland, and importation of animals from European countries, principally Germany, France, Austria, Belgium and Switzerland, is being prohibited by this government. A special permit from the secretary of agriculture is required for the entry of all those animals subject to contagious disease, and applications for permits from the countries where the dreaded disease is prevalent are being refused by the department.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 13.—It is reported that several persons were killed and 40 injured by the wrecking last evening four miles east of this city at Iowa Station of the west bound fast passenger train on the Southern Pacific road leaving here at 5 p. m. The trucks of the engine left the track, and the entire train was ditched except the sleepers. There is no telegraph office at Iowa, and details are lacking. Arrangements have been made to bring the dead and injured to this city over the Kansas City, Watkins and Gulf road, which crosses the Southern Pacific near Iowa Station.

KILLED AT CROSSING

Eleven Persons Dead, Eleven Others Badly Hurt.

LOADED OMNIBUS STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Accident Occurred Near Slatington, Pa., on the Lehigh and New England Road—Only Three Escaped Uninjured.

SLATINGTON, Pa., Aug. 13.—Eleven persons were instantly killed and 11 others, several of whom will die, were seriously injured last night in a grade crossing accident three miles east of this city by a passenger train on the Lehigh and New England railroad crashing into an omnibus containing 25 persons. All the dead and injured were in the omnibus, and but three escaped uninjured.

The dead are Eli Remaley, aged 70, of Slatington; Mrs. Eli Remaley, his wife, aged 65; Mrs. James Kern, their daughter, aged 32; Samuel Mummy, aged 60, of Walnutport; Mrs. Samuel Mummy, his wife, aged 58; Mrs. Elias Sourwine, a widow, aged 53, of Slatington; Mrs. William Kane, aged 51, of Walnutport; Miss Carrie Smith, aged 22, of Walnutport; Mrs. Tilghman Kuntz, aged 35, of Walnutport; Mrs. James Minnich of Walnutport and one yet unaccounted for.

The injured are Miss Distler of Walnutport, who will die; the 3-year-old son of Mrs. Kern, who will die; Harry Minnich, aged 10, of Slatington, who will die; Mrs. William Resch, hurt internally and may die; Louis Kuntz, seriously, may die; Miss Carrie Nagle of Walnutport, internal injuries and may die; George Minnich, who will probably die; Bryan Walp of Walnutport, who may die; Miss Lizzie Jones of Walnutport, who will die; Miss Alice Nagle, who will recover, and one unidentified, who may die.

The accident occurred about 5 o'clock. The omnibus, driven by a man named Peters, was returning to Slatington from a funeral the occupants had been attending at Cherrysville. The coach belonged to Henry Bittner of Slatington, and the dead and injured were nearly all relatives of Sophia Schoeffer, at whose obsequies they had been present. The train was a special and consisted of an engine and one car. At the point at which the collision occurred there is a sharp carve in the road, and the omnibus came along at a good rate of speed, the occupants being unconscious of any impending danger. As the bus swung around the curve the engine and car came in sight. It was too late to stop either the omnibus or the train, and as the driver of the former whipped up the four horses to cross the track ahead of the train the latter crashed into its middle. The occupants were thrown in all directions, bruised and bleeding. The 11 dead were killed outright. Physicians and a special train were sent for, and the injured were taken to South Bethlehem.

No watchman is employed to warn teams or pedestrians of any approaching train, and those living in the vicinity state that it is impossible to hear an approaching train. A peculiar feature of the accident was that the horses drawing the bus escaped unhurt.

The convention will be in session at least four days and probably the entire week. Three hundred delegates will be in attendance. The questions to be considered are the readjustment of the existing wage scale, reduction in the price of powder and the enforcement of the semimonthly pay law.

Dangerous Mosquitoes.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 13.—Reports received from Nigeria, where the scientific expedition recently sent out by the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine is operating, show that the parasite which causes elephantiasis has been discovered in mosquitoes. The leaders of the expedition believe that the experiments which are now being carried on to stamp out malaria by preventing mosquito inoculation can be applied to elephantiasis, which is so prevalent among natives of tropical countries.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—We guarantee Brazilian Balm to cure hay fever.

—Another popular lie nailed. Hay fever can be cured. Brazilian Balm cures it every time.

RUNNING BAREFOOT.

Precautions to Be Taken When the Children Take Their Barefoot Holiday.

One of the delights of childhood is that of running barefoot. There seems to be an instinct, inherited perhaps from savage ancestors, which impels a child to throw off the foot-covering and walk about in all the delightful freedom of unshod feet.

Mothers who indulge their children in this respect are wise. Many of our instincts may safely and even beneficially be yielded to in moderation; and this is one of them. One of our "weak spots" is the foot, and we are, perhaps, oftener predisposed to colds and other maladies by damp and chilled feet than by anything else. Whatever tends to toughen the feet, therefore, makes the individual so much the less liable to disease, says Youth's Companion.

Mothers are often perplexed as to how far they may safely indulge their children in this longing for going barefoot. They cannot feel that it is safe to let a boy or girl run about barefoot on wet grass, play with bare feet in damp sand, or continue to go out without shoes and stockings when a cold and wet day breaks a hot spell. It might not be prudent to let a child begin in this way in the early spring, after having been in shoes and stockings, and perhaps rubbers, all winter. But before the summer is over all such anxiety may be put aside.

Of course there are certain precautions that should be taken, for the human foot cannot safely be neglected, like the well-protected paws of a cat or dog. The child should not be allowed to run about in the neighborhood of barns, blacksmith and carpenter shops, and other places where there are likely to be rusty nails, splinters of wood, broken crockery and the like; nor should he go far afield over rough ground, where he would probably get stone bruises.

When first beginning his barefoot holiday the boy should put on thin socks and light, easy shoes or slippers at dusk, and should go footclad on really cold days. After tramping in mud and wet his feet should be bathed in cold water, dried and "socked" as soon as he comes in the house.

A summer of this freedom from shoes, with its toughening of the feet and the system in general, will ensure for the child a winter practically free from the "snuffles"—but he will need shoes of a larger size in the autumn.

HART FAVORS HASTE.

Stay In Peking Inconvenient and Unsafe—Sheng Has Fears.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—"The sooner we can be got out of this the better, for it is inconvenient for the Chinese government and unsafe for ourselves." This is a message received last evening from Sir Robert Hart, dated Peking, Aug. 5, and sent in cipher to the Chinese maritime customs office in London.

Commenting upon it The Morning Post says, "It would seem to indicate that the Chinese government is anxious for the safety of the foreigners or at any rate anxious to get them safely out of Peking, while Sir Robert Hart evidently expects that they will get out sooner or later."

Sheng, director general of railroads and telegraphs, according to a Shanghai dispatch to The Standard, expresses grave fears for the safety of the members of the legations when the defeated Chinese troops return to the capital.

The Austrian naval commander reports to Vienna that the allies decided to rest for three days after the taking of Yangtsun.

A dispatch to a news agency from Tien-tsin says:

"Junks and stones block the river beyond the advanced posts of the allies for a considerable distance, but the dryness continues, and the country is in good marching order, subsidiary dikes having made the enemy's damming ineffective.

"It is believed that some 500 have been added to the expedition by the increase in the number of the British naval brigade."

Korea, according to a Seoul dispatch, consents to Japan sending troops there to provide for emergencies.

General Grodekoff reports to the Russian war office the occupation of Santchau and the passes across the Chingan mountains. Orders have been issued for the formation of two additional Siberian army corps. A semiofficial Shanghai telegram published in St. Petersburg describes the sending of British troops to Shanghai as "without the least necessity."

The reception of the message from the Italian minister in Peking effectually disposes of the report that he had started for Tien-tsin.

Fire at Glens Falls, N. Y.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The most destructive fire since the burning of the Glens Falls Portland Cement company a year ago this month resulted in a loss of over $100,000, partly covered by insurance. The fire originated in the workroom of Heffron & Linehan, shirt manufacturers, occupying the third floor of the A. S. Rugge collar and cuff factory, and spread from there to the building occupied by the Glens Falls Electric and Gas company and D. Robertson & Co., manufacturers of shirts and ladies' waists. The Central House, the Park hotel and the McGregor Park Music hall were then attacked by the flames. A carpenter and blacksmith shop and several barns and outbuildings were completely destroyed. That no loss of life occurred is remarkable for the reason that the hotels were crowded with guests who are here to attend the grand circuit meeting which opened today.

Escaped From Boxers.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—Charlotte A. Hawes, a Presbyterian missionary, and Margaret Chalfant, daughter of Rev. Frank Chalfant, who is now in China, have arrived here from Vancouver, B. C., en route for Pittsburg. Miss Hawes and Rev. Mr. Chalfant were besieged in the Wei-Hsien mission, about half way between Peking and Shanghai, by Boxers, but made their escape. Mr. Chalfant is now at Tsing-Tao awaiting instructions from the American Presbyterian board. Miss Hawes fears that the native Christians who are at Wei-Hsien will be massacred.

Fifty thousand veterans will march through the Avenue of Fame, thence through the beautiful arches and Court of Honor, passing the reviewing stand, where they will be greeted by President McKinley and other distinguished guests.

Pennsylvania Town Suffers.

HANOVER, Pa., Aug. 13.—Sixteen buildings were destroyed by fire here yesterday, the loss being estimated at from $40,000 to $50,000, partly insured. The heaviest losses are on the Hotel Obold, the J. C. Tanger Hardware company's warehouse and the Shriver livery stable. The other structures destroyed were dwellings, stables and warehouses. Thirteen horses were roasted alive.

Heavy Fighting In Colombia.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 13.—There was heavy fighting last week south of Cartagena, Colombia, according to mail advices from Colon. The rebels lost heavily and retreated. Letters from Colon say the rebels were rallying and that an attack by them was feared there at an early date. The writers describe the suffering of the people as very great.

Comacho left Washington on the train, accompanied by two servants. They were on the train reaching Jersey City at 6:30.

National League Games.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Three games were scheduled for yesterday, but only two were played, the Cincinnati-New York game being broken off in the fifth inning by rain. At St. Louis the Brooklyns defeated the home team by a score of 3 to 2. At Chicago the Pittsburgs took an easy victory, the score standing 6 to 2.

TRAIN ROBBER IN JAIL

Express Messenger Lane's Murderer Confesses.

STOLEN MONEY WAS RECOVERED.

Mystery of the Shocking Crime on the Pennsylvania Road Last Friday Night Was Quickly Solved by Detectives.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13.—Charles R. H. Ferrell, a former employee of the Adams Express company, has been arrested in this city and has confessed to the killing of Messenger Charles Lane and the robbery of the way safe of the Adams Express company on the Pennsylvania east bound train which arrived in this city at midnight Friday. One thousand dollars of the money which he had stolen was recovered.

Ferrell was to have been married on Thursday next to Miss Lillian Costlow, daughter of Patrick Costlow, an engineer on the Pennsylvania line. He had been discharged from the employ of the Adams Express company about three months ago and had not since been able to secure employment. He confessed that the motive of the robbery was to secure money of which he felt in great need on account of his approaching marriage. The money recovered he had given to Miss Costlow to keep for him, saying that it was money he had saved from his earnings. He was at the home of his affianced and in her company when placed under arrest.

The robbery had been carefully planned, and it included the murder of Express Messenger Lane. He had no accomplices and no confidants. He knew Lane well—in fact, they were friends, and he relied upon Lane's confidence to help him execute the crime. He knew that considerable money was always carried by the messenger on Pennsylvania train No. 8 between St. Louis and Columbus and that he was certain to secure a large sum if he robbed the way safe on that train. Having provided himself with a Smith & Wesson six shooter, 38 caliber, he went to Urbana Friday morning and waited for No. 8. When the train arrived there, Ferrell went at once to the express car and told Lane that he was out of money and asked permission to ride to Columbus with him. Lane consented, never for a moment suspecting the treachery of his pretended friend. For a short time after the train left Urbana they chatted pleasantly. Lane sat in a chair in the end of the car, with his back slightly turned. When Ferrell had finally nerved himself for the crime, he drew his revolver and stepped up behind Lane unobserved and fired three shots in rapid succession into the messenger's back. Lane rolled off the chair on the floor on his face, and Ferrell quickly fired the remaining shots at the prostrate body. Lane was unconscious, but Ferrell, fearing that the wounds already inflicted would not cause death, took Lane's revolver and fired two more bullets into the body.

Ferrell then took the key to the way safe from the pocket of the dead messenger, opened the safe and placed Lane's revolver inside, where he could reach it easily in case he was detected and needed it to defend himself. After he had taken out all the sacks containing the money packages, money orders and way bills he placed them in a small satchel and waited until the car arrived at Plain City, when he slipped off the train. He walked about for a few minutes to regain his composure and then inquired for the hotel, which he found after a short time, a belated citizen directing him to the place. He secured a room and retired for the night without registering, a fact of which the landlord took no notice at the time as he was half asleep.

It was at Plain City last Saturday night that City Detectives O'Neil and Dundon obtained the clew that led to Ferrell's apprehension. They had been at the hotel at daylight, while Ferrell was sleeping in an upper room, and asked the proprietor if any strangers had registered or had been seen about the hotel. The proprietor said that he did not remember having seen any stranger. Later in the afternoon the detectives again asked the proprietor if he had seen any strangers about, and he remembered then that a man who had forgotten to register had staid at the house over night and had gone away on the early morning train to Columbus. The detectives at once searched the room and were rewarded in finding Lane's revolver where he had secreted it. They also found several way bills that had been overlooked by Ferrell in his hurry and excitement while making up the express package.

Chief of Detectives Kelly and Detectives O'Neil and Dundon then set to work to run down the mysterious stranger, who, they had became convinced, was an ex-employee of the Adams Express company. Suspicion soon rested on Ferrell, and information secured in regard to his movements during the last three days was considered sufficient to warrant his arrest. The detectives first went to his boarding house and were informed that he was probably at the home of his sweetheart on the east side. They at once went to the Costlow residence, where they found Ferrell conversing with the young lady. He excused himself and accompanied the detectives to the city prison. On the way to the station the detectives told Ferrell what he was wanted for and what they knew, and he reluctantly admitted that he had committed the crime. At the police station a written confession was taken by the chief of police.

Through British Eyes.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Times in a long editorial dealing with the economic position of the United States, as evinced by the allotment of the war loan, traces the progress during the last four years of the reduction of the American debt, but maintains that the United States has not yet ceased to be a debtor nation. It refers to the abundance of capital accumulating in America, adding, "Nothing could suit the Americans better among the non-American securities than the obligations of the British government."

Thousands For Missions.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Aug. 13.—The Christian alliance convention under the leadership of the Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson of New York was concluded last night. The annual collection for foreign missions resulted in the raising of $42,058, largely in pledges, whose donors have a year in which to make their payments. Dr. Simpson preached a strong missionary sermon.

Plenty of Spell-Binders.

Although "money talks" in a National polical campaign, there is to be talk ad libitum from the orators also. Senator Nathan B. Scott, of West Virginia, who has charge of the Bureau of Speakers at Republican National headquarters, can show a book in which he has entered the names of 2,500 applicants for places as Republican "spell-binders," and before the campaign is fairly on its course this number will have been increased to more than 5,000.

Twelve hundred of these men have already been employed, and three times that number will be in readiness to speak when the work of looking up their qualifications has been completed.

The cost of these speakers, though enormous, does not terrify a National committee well-supplied with funds. The average price demanded is $125 a week and expenses, some receiving less than that amount and several more.

A few of the more noted speakers give their services to the party free of charge, but not so those who make speaking their profession. Figuring that each of these speakers may be in the field for an average of four weeks, and that each may spend, in expenses, an average of $25 a week, one arrives at the conclusion that it will cost the National Committee something more than $2,000,000 to make use of less than 4,000 speakers.

To New Jersey Senator Scott will send about 25 men, but the State committee will have 150 out. Throughout the middle and western states the number will be larger, and each locality will receive men best suited to speak on the topics likely to interest its inhabitants.

Various are the methods adopted by these "spell-binders" to attract their audiences, and a man who can talk effectively to laboring men, to miners, to foreigners or to Anarchists is as much prized as one who can make smooth and logical speeches to a more exacting audience.

The dictates of fashion may not have relaxed enough yet to give the "shirt-waist man" free sway in places of precise manners, but that fact has not prevented the Mayor of Camden from issuing a proclamation to the local police force which will result in making the "shirt-waist cop." In such hot weather as has been experienced during the past week there is no class of men who are compelled to suffer more than policemen who do patrol duty during the daytime. There is an unwritten law that policemen should look austere and weighty, and as dress is one of the important aids to such an appearance the cops are more frequently attired for looks than comfort. Hereafter a changed order of things is to prevail in Camden. Mayor Hatch has issued an order permitting all policemen on hot days to divest themselves of the usual heavy coat with which their portly forms are enwrapped, and to patrol their beats in thin shirts, thus avoiding the sweltering that the regular uniform induces. Thus will Camden set the pace.

Young Mr. Coler has laid down the gauntlet to old Mr. Croker. Now we shall await developments with more than passing interest. The Tammany chieftain has made it plain that he does not want Mr. Coler to become the Democratic candidate for Governor in New York this fall, and as Mr. Croker regards himself as some pumpkins in the political management of that State it will be interesting to see just how far he will go towards carrying out the desire. On the other hand, too, Mr. Coler, who has made quite a reputation as a fighter, declares that he does not intend to be "driven out of politics" by Mr. Croker. Taking sides with Mr. Coler is the Hon. David B. Hill, a past-master in the art of Empire State politics for these many years. Mixed-up in the situation is all the rest of the big and little fry politicians—some on one side, some on the other. Over here in New Jersey we all look on and wonder what will be the outcome?

David Brown, of Woodbridge, it is said, will probably be the Republican Senatorial nominee in Middlesex county. Theodore Strong, Edward Hicks and Milton Edgar, of Metuchen, are mentioned, but Brown seems to be after it. Should Brown get the nomination "Fred" Weigel, City Attorney of New Brunswick, may be his opponent.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Repeated complaints have been made of the sewage disposal beds of Plainfield, and sometime ago citizens of Dunellen appealed to the State Sewage Commission for relief. It was alleged that the disposal works were not operating properly and that crude sewage of a dangerous character was polluting the brook adjoining the disposal works, which runs through Dunellen. Examination of the works was made by the State Commission, and it was found that the filter beds were not operating properly, and were apparently insufficient. They needed a number of improvements, and the whole system required extension. A letter was addressed to the Plainfield authorities, stating the complaints and the need of improvements. The Plainfield authorities say they will have remedies applied, and asked that a reasonable time be granted for that purpose. This will probably be given, but, as the complaints are of long standing, it is likely that the Sewage Commission will require early and thorough measures to remove all cause for criticism.—Newark Sunday Call.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

This sad case is reported by one of our rural contemporaries in its Stevensville correspondence:

"Mrs. James Snyder died Tuesday night of last night after a painful illness of several days, the result of a severe cold contracted by getting wet which induced cerebro-spinal meningitis. Between an old valvular affection of the heart and the depression from implications of cervical sympathetics, the leakage dammed the blood back on the lungs from which she died. Digitalis, and ice to the back of the neck were powerless to clear up the duskiness of the complexion, or relieve the engoeged capulary circulation. The interment was made Friday."

There is a matter that calls for the early attention of the Mayor and Borough Council and that is the street signs in the borough. There is only one thing which gives the borough advantage over the city in this respect, and that is the borough has the signs and the city has not. The manner in which the borough signs are located makes them practically useless, for in nine cases out of ten they are erected the reverse to what they should be. One case was mentioned yesterday by a person who was wandering about the borough looking for an address. He reached the corner of Watchung and Grandview avenues, and there he found a sign. The part that should point to Grandview avenue leads one to believe that Watchung avenue is that avenue, and vice versa. This is true in any number of cases in the borough, and if the officials desire to be up-to-date they want to have the signs changed.

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Aug. 13.—For the second time Saturday, the Benedicts attempted to get their ball team together and this time they were more successful. Seven members showed up and with the assistance of two outsiders they crossed bats with the Bachelors on the Lincoln avenue grounds. The game was a very exciting one and was intermixed with considerable kicking on the part of the Benedicts at the umpire's decisions. The latter team was defeated, however, by a score of 11-9. The battery for the Bachelors was Baron and Craig, and for the Benedicts, Rinehart and Humpston. The umpire was Charles Boice, Sr. The Benedicts are still confident of their ability to defeat the Bachelors and are clamoring for another game.

A committee of four men from a Rahway church came to the borough a few nights ago for the purpose of witnessing the working of Taylor's acetylene gas plant. If everything is satisfactory they may order one for their building. A gentleman from Somerville who saw the lights some time ago has ordered a plant for seventy-five lights placed in his residence.

Automobiles are beginning to be quite common in the borough of late. At one time Saturday there were four machines at Taylor's Hotel. Hardly a day goes by now but what one or two are seen on the borough's fine streets.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Aug. 13.—The river carnival held at Cranford Saturday evening was attended by a large number of the residents of the village. A number made the trip by wheel but the large majority had to endure the hardships of the trolley service which could not begin to accomodate the Plainfield delegation, and when the cars reached the Plains every available inch in the cars was taken up and you could hang on the best way you could or stay at home. A few decided that the latter course was the safest so gave the trip.

FROM HER STANDPOINT.

She Could Write About Matrimony, But in Practice Was Somewhat Lacking.

"Henry!"

"Yes; I'll be there in a minute."

She bit at the end of her penholder and frowned as if in deep thought. The sentence she was trying to frame in her mind would not, apparently, assume a satisfactory form. Twice she dipped her pen in the ink, and twice she hesitated, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

"Henry!" she cried again, in the sternest tones at her command.

There was a lively hustling about in the adjoining room, and Henry, after a moment's suspense, replied:

"I'm coming. I've got your dog almost washed."

She rose and walked impatiently about. She was a tall, finely-proportioned woman, with a jaw that turned at a right angle below her ear, and a chin that protruded far forward into space. Her bearing was erect, she was elegantly dressed, and she moved as one who was always obeyed.

"Henry!" she called, for the third time, stamping angrily upon the floor and clenching her plump white fists.

At that moment a little, weazened man, whose coat was threadbare, who was run down at the heels, whose whiskers looked as if about half of them had at various times been pulled out and scattered abroad, and who trembled as if in fear, presented himself.

"Well," she said, "you've got here at last, have you? Oh, how you do exasperate me sometimes! If it were not for my ever-present self-respect I should feel like taking you by the scruff of your scrawny little neck and flinging you into the alley. I suppose you think when I call you that I do it merely to hear the sound of my own voice or to develop my lung power! Where's the dog?"

"H—he's in the—"

"Don't stand there drooling like an idiot! Why don't you speak up as if you had something to say? If you didn't rub the dear little thing good and dry and he catches cold I'll never forgive you. You are such a stupid ass that it is almost criminal to allow you to care for the poor creature without being watched. Now run down to the drug store and get me ten cents' worth of lime drops. Here's the money!"

He stood on tip-toes and extended a hand for the silver piece, so as to keep his face and whiskers out of her reach. When she had permitted the dime to drop into his palm he hurried away. Then, seating herself at the desk, she resumed the writing of the tenth in her series of brilliant articles on "Successful Marriages" for the Monthly Home Jollifier.

FUNERAL MARCH LUNCHEON.

Peculiar Method of a Chicagoan of Passing Time While Awaiting His Order.

His manner is the reverse of the somber and funereal. In fact, he is round, fat, jolly and talkative. Judging from his appearance and his words, he enjoys life, is reasonably successful and has no complaint to offer. May be he is an American Mark Tapley, who really needs something heart-racking to equalize the bubbling spring of good humor. But he certainly delivered himself of a singular combination when he ordered his luncheon, says the Chicago Chronicle.

It was in one of those places where business men "bite pie" and kindred things. Rows of stools face counters, while in the middle Senegambians walk about and occasionally drop things to the floor. He blew in literally, for a nasty wind chased him when he opened the door. He was humming to himself as he dodged the street filth borne on the wings of the breeze. A little thing like that could not dampen his cheerfulness. He sailed to a stool, assembled himself on top and then grinned approval at the waiter, who got right back at him.

"What's yours to-day, sir?" asked the waiter.

"Same old bill, Sam," was the breezy retort.

"Coffee and rolls, Mr. ——?"

"Coffee and rolls, Sam. Had a good morning this morning. Been too busy to think. Nice day, isn't it?"

Sam went for the coffee and rolls, and the cheerful man looked about him and beamed on all and sundry present and accounted for. Then, as if unconsciously, he resumed his song where he had left off. His nearest neighbor stopped the mastication of a sandwich and gazed in surprise. He saw the most rotund, cheery, individual he had met in days, with his arms folded across an ample waist, gayly chanting a funeral march. The somber music, irresistibly suggestive of tears and woe, seemed to give the fat man exquisite pleasure. He sang away in a subdued voice, stuck cleverly to the score and gambolled merrily through to the dismal end. He disposed of his coffee and rolls, waved a hand and smiled brightly upon an acquaintance, picked up his check and, still singing Chopin's saddest tune, paid his bill and departed. As he went out of the door a wild gust of wind cast back into the cafe a strain from that funeral march.

Caramel Custard.

Boil one cupful sugar with half cupful water till the sugar begins to turn light brown, then pour it into six custard cups, equally divided; turn the cups on all sides, allowing the caramel to form a lining on the inside. Mix at the same time one quart milk with six eggs, four tablespoonfuls sugar, one teaspoonful vanilla extract; pour this into the six cups, set the cups in a pan of water and bake till the custard is firm. Remove and set it for several hours on ice. In serving turn each custard onto a plate and serve (the caramel forming a sauce).—Ledger Monthly.

The organist of one of the principal Methodist churches in Hartford, Conn., says: "I was troubled with gastritis and nervous dyspepsia for two years. I would go to bed at night feeling perfectly well and wake up next morning with a splitting sick headache. I would be so hot at times that my flesh seemed burning up and flashes of light and darkness would come before my eyes. These spells continued sometimes for a day and a half and while they lasted I was so stupid I hardly knew my own name. I commenced taking Ripans Tabules, and before I had used three dozen of them they made me entirely well. I take a Tabule occasionally now just to keep my stomach in order when it shows any slight indication of a disposition to rebel."

ORIGIN OF THE "BOXERS."

Founder of the Society Was a Robber Chieftain Under Sentence of Death.

The secret societies to which the present difficulties in China are charged known to Europeans as "the boxers," is of very recent origin. Its founder was a robber chief, Tscher Lung Teng, in 1899. He was under sentence of death for his many crimes. The Chinese paper published in New York gives this account of the organization:

"The Chinese are persuaded to join this sect by being told that the society controls many powerful and wonderful magic formulas, which make the owner proof against sword or bullet. In a very short time the sect has grown immensely and spread over many provinces. The leaders even gave out that the members need not fear the shot from cannon.

"The first murders were committed on Roman Catholic Christians, but by the middle of September no distinction was made between these and Protestant Christians. After the the missionaries had telegraphed to the American consul at Tientsin for help and Governor Yu of Shan Tung had sent 100 governmental soldiers out against the boxers, they suddenly vanished. But on October 11 the leader again gathered nearly 1,000 of the sect around him and issued a proclamation, signed with his full name in which he says: 'The fist of patriotism and peace in the empire will elevate the Manchu dynasty and extinguish all foreigners.'

"Government troops sent out against them suffered defeat constantly and the misdeeds of the rebels multiplied from day to day. A battle was fought near Len-Lo-Tien between the soldiers and the 'boxers,' in which the government troops lost 300 men and the rebels 200. But many of the wounded of the latter pretended not to have been members of the sect, but peaceful country people who were shot by the government soldiers. The result of this defeat was the dismissal of the governor of the district, Tschwang, which caused great satisfaction to the 'boxers,' who arranged special jubilee days to celebrate this event.

"Since then the 'boxers' have become more and more daring in their attacks upon missionaries, and the sect is spreading constantly to all near-by districts.

LAST WORDS MADE TO ORDER.

John Quincy Adams Never Spoke Dying Message That Has Been Attributed to Him.

"Not long before his death I called on Dick Thompson, for so he is best known, and I listened with unusual interest to his political reminiscences, dating from 1848, when he was in congress, and running on down to his retirement as secretary of the navy department," said Congressman Landis, of Indiana, to a New York Sun writer. "I had asked him about John Quincy Adams when the latter was a member of the lower house. After he had answered, he said:

"'Landis, I haven't much longer to live, and I want to make a little confession to you. It is not important, perhaps, but I am the only one living who knows the secret, and I think I shall feel better to know that I have told it. I was in the house when John Quincy Adams had the attack which resulted in his death two days later. I was one of the four who carried him into the speaker's room. He never regained consciousness. After his death we who had carried him out of the house met and questioned one another until each confessed that he had not heard Mr. Adams say anything after we picked him up. In those days the last words of great men had an interest which does not attach to last utterances in this age. And so it was agreed that inasmuch as Mr. Adams had no chance to say anything for himself we would make some last words for him, commensurate with his worth.

"'I was selected to formulate something suitable. It was no easy task, but I finally reported as his last words, "This is the last of earth." One of the four who helped to carry him out replied, "I am content." These last words were not intended to be credited to Mr. Adams. The member who said, "I am content," meant that he was satisfied with my report, but I did not so understand him at the time. I thought that the words were intended as a sort of amendment and added them. As they seemed quite appropriate we concluded to let them stand, and there they are as they have been quoted for 50 years.'

"Mr. Thompson was not a destroyer. He was not the man to mar, jostle or change, but he assured me that he wanted to be put right on this last words business, as he called it, and I tell you the story as he told it to me. I suppose Mr. Adams spoke some last words somewhere, but they were not the same which you and I have heard about in our time."

Pavement-Sore.

"What is the matter with you?" asked the unicorn.

"Oh, I'm simply tired out," replied Pegasus.

"I should think it would be very tiring to your wings, these long flights of yours."

"My wings? Huh! They never tire. It's my feet that are sore. This fellow Austin, that's been riding me lately, couldn't get me off the ground."—Catholic Standard and Times.

FADS OF THE SUMMER GIRL.

AS NOTED BY MAUD B. ROBINSON.

Summer is beyond doubt the season for fads. The pretty girl must busy herself with something, and when the all desired man is scarce—and he sometimes is at summer resorts—she has at least one or more hobbies to fall back upon. Even when men are adoring and plentiful a fad is a good thing, the girls say, because it brings out your individuality.

What could be more modest and unassuming, for instance, than the new heart pins used as fichu clasps? It is no longer the fashion to wear your heart on your sleeve. You wear it on your breast, a sizable silver or gold affair, very plain to see. On its face initials are engraved, jeweled if you are rich. Your own? I wonder at you! There would be no daring in that, and the summer girl, above all, is daring. No, the initials are those of the favored man.

It has been suggested, and probably by some crusty old bachelor, that these initials should be engraved on slides for the benefit of the summer girl, so that every time she forms a fresh engagement she may not be put to the expense of a new pin. Some other man has suggested that they be made of crystal and the initials painted on the surface, but that would never do, because the summer girl's heart is anything but transparent, and she wouldn't want it even to be represented as such.

But really, when you come down to it, does the modern girl care so much for men? There is another class of beings which receives much more of her attention.

"For whom are you embroidering that stunning handkerchief?" demanded the Harvard sophomore jealously. He had been vainly begging her to make him a sofa cushion.

The object of his adoration shifted her position so as to bring into notice the buckle on her patent leather slipper; then she smiled sweetly at him.

"For my dog," she murmured.

"Great Scott!" gasped the man and was unable to proceed further.

Yet this is, alas, too true! And, as the fashion comes from Paris, it goes without saying it is the correct thing. Behold the dog risen to the dignity of a laundry bill, for, of course, he must have a fresh handkerchief every day. And what for? Why, to wipe his eyes when they become "teary" with cold or excitement and to dust off his paws before he enters miladi's drawing room, for, unfortunately, the civilized dog still goes barefoot. Shall it be long, though, before your dog is requested to leave his shoes at the door, as you are your umbrella?

However, to return to the handkerchiefs, they are worn in a little pocket in the left hand side of the blanket, where, I regret to say, they give the dog quite a lopsided effect. A plain square of linen would never do, of course, so Fifi or Fifine's name appears in one corner most elaborately embroidered. One Parisian countess has actually had her pet dog's handkerchief embroidered with her coat of arms.

Speaking of initials, the girl who is afraid of getting lost will rejoice at the prospect of a new label she can fasten to herself. In the old times there were the "Marjorie," "Susie" and "Bessie" pins which made one ache to call the girl by her first name; then followed the dog collar belt, with its silver plate, worn oftentimes crooked in the back, said plate informing the world at large of the full name of the wearer and, I was going to say, the number of the license.

Now the new thing is a little more modest; it consists simply of the initial of your last name, but it can be made very large indeed, as it forms the entire buckle of your belt. Consider the luxury of wearing an "S" almost as large as those used in the headlines of the yellow journals—and of seeing the face of the man opposite you in the car wrinkle in agony as he tries to guess whether your name is Simpkins or Simpson.

Speaking of ornaments, the up to date girl this summer will be covered with snakes, grasshoppers and beetles, not in reality, but all the fashionable jewelry runs to crawling, creeping things. A friend of mine says he saw a girl with a cut steel snake coiled at the base of her collar, a plump gold grasshopper perched on the end of her hatpin and a jeweled lizard chained among the laces on her breast. And yet a woman screams when a cricket steps on the edge of her gown! He could not help wondering what would happen if all these things came to life.

It is the fad now to have a photograph of only part of your face, the eyes being preferred. In fact, books are being sold to contain these photographs; they have plain linen covers bearing the embroidered legend "Eyes I Have Known," and guessing parties at which these photographs are exposed are the order of the day. One bold, bad young thing went somewhat further. She filled her book with photographs of mouths and passed it around for private circulation among her friends. The title she altered to "Lips I Have Known." Unfortunately, one day it fell into the hands of her chaperon and then, they say, dreadful things happened.

Another fad is to keep collections of the beginnings and endings of letters—you place them in a book in the order received. This is sometimes amusing when you have had friendships which were short and swift or letters which ranged from "Dear Miss Blank" to "Darling" and then by easy stages back again.

Perhaps the most foolish and daring fad was that of a summer girl I once heard about and as it points a terrible moral—and I am fond of morals—here it is:

This girl possessed what she called a "scalpbook." Only her intimate friends were allowed to see it. It contained a hair from the head of every man who had ever proposed to her. Whether she had obtained them by violence or cajolery no one ever knew; but, as she was a summer girl of several seasons, it is probable that it was by the latter method.

She was one day showing this book to a very dear friend when "the man" entered the room. I say "the man" because at the time there was no other man in the world for her. He had seen the book before she had a chance to put it away, and at the sight of the hairs neatly ticketed and arranged naturally his curiosity was aroused. The friend gigglingly explained.

When she had finished there was a dead silence. It became so oppressive that she nervously got up and began to admire some bric-a-brac at the farther end of the room.

Then the man leaned over the unfortunate originator of the fad and spoke in excessively cool, well bred tones. "I think," he said, "you will excuse me if I don't join the collection." And, picking up his hat and cane, he took his departure for good and all.

The worst of it is the girl declares he is the one man who wouldn't have gone into her book.

Royal Needlework.

The Duchess of Cleveland, who is now 81 years of age, has always been an accomplished needlewoman. In her boudoir at Raby castle there are numerous specimens of her beautiful work in the shape of chair coverings in cross stitch as fine as tapestry and suggestive of paintings. The old housekeeper who used to show parties of sightseers over Raby—one of the best preserved feudal castles in England—when asked if the duchess was musical, would reply indignantly, "Oh, dear, no! Her grace is a very industrious lady. She worked all these," pointing triumphantly to the embroideries and evidently considering music in any form the worst style of idling.

ART IN ARCHITECTURE

Designed and Written Especially for This Paper

EACH house illustrated in this paper is designed to meet a special want, and to come within the cost of construction named in the article. The cost of building, of course, varies somewhat according to where it is to be built.

This model home of nine rooms, besides a reception hall, bathroom and pantry, will cost $2,500. The cost estimate includes the house to be built in first-class shape throughout, and entirely modern. Porcelain bathtub, exposed plumbing, with hot air furnace. The rooms are all of a good size, conveniently arranged and very pleasant, being amply provided with light. There is a full basement with cement floor under the entire house. Here are located the fuel bins, vegetable cellar, ash pit and the usual conveniences found in the basement, such as outside entrance, and so forth.

On the first floor, the front stairs are treated with newel posts, balusters and balustrade, the closet being beneath. The kitchen arrangement is very convenient, and the pantry is equally accessible from the kitchen and dining-room. The dining-room has a china closet, wherein are inclosed shelves and drawers. One of the features of the first floor is the way in which the rooms open up together, wheih gives more room and pleasant views from one room to the other. The second floor is provided with five very pleasant chambers, each fitted with ample closet accommodations. The bathroom will be found to be very nicely located, and is readily accessible from any of the chambers. A linen closet in the hall is well fitted with shelving for the linen.

The finish of the entire house is intended to be of pine or poplar painted; all floors being of pine. For the exterior of the house a most pleasing effect is obtained by the use of simple detail. The spacious porch extending clear across the front lends a most attractive and inviting appearance. The gable roof treatment, projecting over the bay, gives a characteristic effect. The finish of the exterior of the first and second stories is intended to be of siding. Gables and roof of shingles. The exterior should be painted a bronze green, with white trimmings; an olive green stain for the shingles on gables and roofs. The composition carving should be painted a raw Sienna color. For the construction of the house, the basement wall should be 18 inches thick. The exterior of the walls of the first and second stories is to be sheathed over the studs; then building paper, well laid on, over which the siding or shingles are laid. The house is both back plastered and face plastered. Double floors are intended for both first and second floors, with building paper between. Building paper is also used on the roof, between the roof sheathing and the shingles, thus giving a very warm house.

The height of the first story is nine feet six inches; second story nine feet; basement seven feet. The down spouts and gutters are of galvanized iron. Where the chimneys are shown above the roof they will be veneered with red pressed brick, capped with a smooth sandstone cap, using a wrought iron chimney brace for supporting tall chimney. Exterior painting is three-coat work. American glass throughout, excepting where art glass is shown. The two mantles are of a neat design; hearth and facing of tile. Al hardware to be of a good and substantial kind. The sink in the kitchen is porcelain lined. The house is piped for furnace and gas, and wired for electric bells. The building when finished must be left by the contractor clean and ready for occupancy.

It is curious to note that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century, B. C. A bank is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

IS EASY TO SHAVE.

Barbers Like to Operate on the President's Face.

Bryan, on the Other Hand, Has a Beard Like Stubble—Tonsorial Artists Discuss the Merits of Statesmen.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"I GUESS I have shaved Maj. McKinley from 500 to 1,000 times," said Henry Wilson, a well known colored man who has been a barber in this city for a quarter of a century.

"For almost 12 years, while he was a member of the house of representatives, Maj. McKinley lived in the hotel where I was head barber; and he always came to my chair, except when there happened to be several ahead of him, and he could not spare the time to wait. The major shaved himself a good part of the time, and I kept his razors in order for him. He shaves himself altogether, now that he is in the white house.

"You know I am something of a talking barber; that is, I know so many public men and they always talk to me, so that I have got into a habit of talking a great deal to them. I soon found that Maj. McKinley did not like to be talked to while he was being shaved. He was always kind and courteous and willing to spend a little time in conversation before being shaved, or afterwards, when he had time, but usually he was busy thinking, and he did not care to listen to a barber's talk.

"The major is easy to shave, although one has to be very careful. His skin is strong, but it is fine and delicate. Any careless barber would blister him or injure the skin in some way. His beard is strong and he likes a close shave, and that requires going over the face two or three times."

Alec Thomas is a colored man who has had charge of the barber shop in the cloak room on the republican side of the house of representatives for 35 years. He says: "Maj. McKinley often came to me to be shaved when congress was in session, although he usually was shaved at the hotel. Very often when his committee held early sessions, and he could not wait for his turn at the hotel, he would come to the capitol and have me shave him before his committee met; or, if other congressmen were ahead of him, he would come to me after the committee had adjourned, and I would shave him while the house was in session. What Henry Wilson has told you is correct. he likes a close shave, and he does not like to listen to the chatter of a barber."

John Willaims is a colored man who has had charge of the barber shop in the cloak room on the democratic side of the house of representatives for 15 years or more. He says: "I was at the hotel and had occasion to shave the major a number of times before I got this place. Very soon after I came here I met the major and asked him to come to my chair, but he smiled, shook his head, and replied: 'John, you are on the wrong side of the house,' and he went over to the republican cloak room for his shave.

"While William Jennings Bryan was here," continued Williams, "I shaved him frequently. He is a hard man to shave. His beard is tough as stubble, and he likes a close shave, too. His beard takes the edge off of a razor very soon. It is as hard as plowing. But he is a jolly big boy, and we all liked him here. He was talkative and full of fun. He never tired of listening to a barber's talk, and he did a good deal of talking himself, too. When he first came here William M. Springer, of Illinois, told me that the young man was a genius and an orator, and that he would make his mark in the world. When Mr. Bryan left congress I thought that Mr. Springer had been mistaken, because he did not make his mark in the house, any more than others before and since have done. But when he jumped into fame I remembered what Mr. Springer had said of him. Mr. Bryan was here several times since he left congress and I shaved him. When he has been in the capitol sometimes, even when he did not want a shave, he would come in here and say: 'Hello, John, how are you?' and shake hands with me."

"YOU ARE ON THE WRONG SIDE."

"We barbers in the cloak rooms have shaved very many men of national reputation," said Alec Thomas. "I shaved Speaker Henderson scores of times. He has a large face and a stiff beard, and it requires great care to shave him right without hurting him. His skin is as tough as his beard, and yet it is very thin and easily injured. I always shaved him with the grain twice with lather, and then I used warm water to go against the grain. He is very generous with his 'tips' and that goes a long way with a barber when he has a hard beard to contend with.

"I shaved Speaker Carlisle and Speaker Crisp, but usually they went to the democratic side. John Williams can tell you all about those gentlemen, and also about Mr. Bailey, of Texas; Mr. Mills, of Texas; Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, and other democratic leaders. John also shaved Speaker Randall for many years. The republican speakers, Colfax, Blaine and Reed, wore beards, and Speaker Henderson is the only republican speaker who shaves."

John Williams says: "Speakers usually have their servants and barbers at their homes, and hence I did not shave Speaker Carlisle very often, because he was speaker for so many years. But Mr. Crisp was a representative for a long time before he was elected speaker, and I shaved him very often. He was an easy man to shave, and always very amiable to the barbers and to everybody else. In fact, he was a lovely character and was absolutely without enemies; and that is something that cannot be said of any other public man. He was always kind and gentle in manner and speech. We barbers can tell more about the real character of men than can be told by the men who associate with them on terms of equality."

"It is strange how men change," said Alec Thomas. "Some of the great men in the house of representatives sink out of sight when they are elected to the senate. For example there was James F. Wilson, of Iowa, who was a forceful leader while he was here. He was chairman of the judiciary committee and prosecuted the impeachment charges against President Johnson. But after he was elected to the senate, where he remained 12 years, he did nothing notable, and seemed to be contented in the life of dignity and apparent inactivity which he led. Senator Allison, of Iowa, was the same way for a long time, but he gradually arose until now he is the senate leader.

"There are some exceptions to this rule. Senator Morrill, of Vermont; Senator Frye, of Maine, and Senator Carlisle, of Kentucky, stepped right to the front when they went to the senate, and they kept to the front, too. Senator Burrows, of Michigan, is another man who kept well to the front from the time he left the house and entered the senate; but these are exceptions. If you look over the list of senators who formerly served in the house, without mentioning their names in print, you will notice that fully 40 or 50 men who were prominent here are obscure in the senate. I don't know what there is about the senate that changes them, but I know the fact very well."

Henry Wilson tells a good story about a nephew of Senator Voorhees. Henry was special barber for Senator Voorhees for many years, and always went to his residence on Sunday mornings. The senator's nephew was in the habit of going on occasional sprees, usually on Saturday nights. He is a good business man and writes a good hand, but on one occasion he was in a dreadfully nervous condition on Sunday morning, and he wrote a note to Senator Voorhees, saying: "Dear Senator: Please send me your barber." The handwriting was so rocky that the senator misunderstood the request and sent back a note saying: "Dear Paul: I haven't a Bible in the house."

"There is one thing observable here," says Alec Thomas, "that I do not understand. Quite a number of republicans have themselves shaved on the democratic side of the house, but not a democrat ever has a shave on the republican side. Ben Butterworth always went to the democratic cloak room for a shave. Joel Heatwole, of Minnesota, goes on the democratic side now; and there are others. I sometimes think that the democrats are more partisan than the republicans, for there can be no other cause for their exclusiveness. The barbers on both sides are negroes, and they are without politics and without votes. It is very singular, and I don't know how to account for it."

There are no barber shops in the senate cloak rooms. On the ground floor there is a barber shop which is used exclusively by senators; and no one else is permitted there. In the basement of the senate wing there is a barber shop for employes. Inasmuch as nobody is permitted in the senators' barber shop, there is no gossip there concerning the statesmen who patronize it. Everybody can get service in the house barber shops, and sometimes representatives are obliged to wait while employes or strangers are being shaved. The committee on rules will make the house barber shops more exclusive when congress meets again in December next.

Although President McKinley shaves himself now, Henry Wilson keeps his razors in order, cuts his hair and shampoos him when called upon. John Williams expects to be the white house barber, he says, "when Bryan is inaugurated." Henry Wilson says that John Williams will have to wait for his job "until McKinley's second term is over."

SMITH D. FRY.

THE FIRST CAMP MEETING.

A Century Ago There Was a Tidal Wave of Religious Enthusiasm.

It is just 100 years since the first camp meeting originated. It was the result of the most phenomenal wave of religious enthusiasm which ever swept over America. It began in Kentucky and Tennessee, and the phenomenon, which was known as the "jerks," seems to have been fully authenticated. No building then erected could accommodate the crowds that concentrated from all parts of the adjacent country. This necessitated the camp meeting, says a Nashville correspondent of the Chicago Record.

In 1799 a sacramental meeting was held in the old Red River Baptist church near Port Royal. Elders Hodge, Rankin, McGready and John McGee were present. After a fervent address by Elder Hodge the emotions of the vast crowd became uncontrollable.

Two aged ladies, Mrs. Pacely and Mrs. Clark, commenced tremendously vociferating sentiments of praise. Despite the attempt of the preacher to continue singing, the shouting increased. The minister, descending from the pulpit, passed along the aisles vehemently exhorting. The clamor and confusion increased tenfold; screams for mercy were mingled with shouts of joy; a universal agitation pervaded the multitude. Suddenly individuals began to fall prostrate to the floor as if dead, where they lay for some time unconscious and unable to rise.

The elders were so surprised and astonished that they retired for a conference. They concluded that nothing could be done, arguing that if it were the work of the devil it could not last, and if of God any effort to control it would be vain. They reentered the house and found nearly the entire congregation on the floor. Two or three at a time began to rise, shouting praise for the evidence of sins forgiven. The excitement was so intense that the preachers could not attend the demands upon them. Hundreds professed to have been converted that day. This was the beginning of the religious movement which, on account of the strange bodily exercise and agitations attending upon it, was looked upon as the most wonderful event of the times.

The next meeting was held at Muddy River church, a few miles north of Russellville, Ky., where similar scenes were witnessed. The people came in all kinds of vehicles, from distances as far as 100 miles. Long before the hour of preaching there were present three times as many as the house could seat, and a constant stream of people kept pouring in. A temporary pulpit was erected in the woods, and seats for the multitude were made by felling large trees. As night came on it was evident the crowd did not intend to disperse. Some took wagons and hurried to bring in straw from the barns. Some fell to sewing the wagon sheets together and others to cutting forks and poles on which to spread them. Counterpanes, coverlets and sheets were also fastened together to make tents and camps. Others were dispatched to town and the nearest houses to collect provisions and cooking utensils to prepare food for the multitude. In a few hours night came on, fires were made and hundreds of candles were lighted and fixed to trees. This was the first camp meeting in the world.

THE DEADLIEST ACIDS.

One Whiff of Prussic Acid Kills Instantly — Others Nearly as Bad.

The discoverer of prussic acid was instantly killed by inhaling one whiff of his own handiwork. Pure prussic acid is never sold or handled. It kills, not in three minutes or half an hour, but the instant it enters the lungs as a gas. The mixture ordinarily sold as prussic acid is 98 parts of water to two parts of the drug. Even in this form it is very deadly, says Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Atrophine, though it has no harmful odor, is so deadly that as much of it as would adhere to the end of a moistened forefinger would instantly cause death.

Cyanide of potasium has a pleasant smell, which is not injurious, but a small quantity swallowed kills at once.

Pure ammonia, if inhaled, would cause death almost as quickly as prussic acid.

Nitric acid will burn wood, eat through iron plates and destroy whatever it touches. A carboy was once broken in an acid factory. Everyone ran away, leaving the acid to amuse itself by setting fire to its surroundings. Soon, however, it was seen that the building would be destroyed, and hundreds of people lose their employment, on which four men volunteered to put out the fire in the acid room. They succeeded and came out feeling apparently unharmed. Five hours later all were dead.

Too Far Gone.

Utterly Ridiculous.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Clinton Avenue ball team crossed bats with the St. Mary nine on the Washington avenue grounds Saturday and, to the astonishment of the majority of the large crowd who witnessed the game, the latter team was defeated. The score was 10 to 5. The battery for the Clinton Avenue's was Squier and Boisterle and for the St. Mary's, Montrose, Barry and Keene.

Over confidence in their ability to defeat the Garwood A. C. cost the Pond Tool Works a game with that team last Saturday at Garwood. At their end of the sixth inning the score was 15 to 3 in favor of Ponds. When the game was finished the Garwoods won by a score 19 to 18. Owens and Doyle, the Pond battery, played an excellent game, but received poor support from the field.

Lawyer Murphy, of the firm of Murphy & Blatz, who returned this morning from a pleasant stay at Greenwood Lake, demonstrated that he is not only a good lawyer but a good fisherman as well. He brought home with him three 3-pound black bass which he caught himself.

A LITTLE WONDER.

Ten year-old David Smalley Drove "Ned Davis" a Mile in 2:29 Without a Break.

The racing enthusiasts and horsemen present at the matinee races at the Driving Park Saturday witnessed a remarkable exhibition of horsemanship on the part of David Smalley, Jr. The little fellow, who is only ten years old, is an excellent driver and has often asked permission of his father to drive his pacer, "Ned Davis." His request has always been met with refusal, however, until last Saturday, when, in a joking manner, J. W. Johnson remarked that he would give David a silver cup if he could drive "Ned Davis" a mile in less than three minutes. This was just the chance he had been waiting for and he declared he could do it. He was placed in the sulkey and to the astonishment of the race track veterans he went the mile in 2:29 without a skip or break. He could not have lasted much longer, however, as on the last turn he was too weak to reply to the encouraging shouts of the spectators. David's feat was the talk of the day and he will now receive his silver cup.

The regular scheduled events on the track resulted as follows:

FIRST RACE.

"Albert L.," Charles C. Brower....2 2
"Myrtle Twig," Thos. Brantingham.1 1
Black Pacer, John B. Osborn.....3 3
Time—3:26¼; 2:29½.

SECOND RACE.

"Fairmount Maid," C. L. Wright..1 1
"Semicolon," C. C. Brower.....3 drawn

Time—2:31½; 2:31.

THIRD RACE—ONE MILE ONLY.

"Linola," Woodbrook Stock Farm..1
"Lida Mack," Philip Jenners.....2
Time—2:37.

The day's events ended with a running race of a half mile between "Jack" and "Dandy," which was won by "Jack" in 1:02. In a quarter mile dash "Dandy" won in 28¾.

Will Stay in Lockup Seven Days.

Henry Bodenheimer, of the borough, who has from time to time been a figure in various kinds of trouble, is once more in the lockup. Saturday evening he indulged too freely, and he made a disturbance about his home and became abusive. He was arrested and locked up and this morning Mayor Smalley gave him a hearing. He also gave him seven days in the borough lockup and fined him $10. His Honor has been very indulgent with Mr. Bodenheimer, but patience has now ceased to figure with the Mayor.

Poles Not Reset Yet.

The poles of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company which were removed by property owners on Washington avenue, Dunellen, last week, have not as yet been reset. It will probably be done inside of a week, however, as the residents do not object to the poles being set, but they want them where they will not block their driveways.

THE "ESCULAPE" LAUNCHED

Boat Built by Dr. Buchanan and Wilbur Randolph Now in Service on New Market Pond.

The famous boat recently built by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan and Wilbur Randolph, of the Borough Power and Navigation Company, was launched last Saturday at New Market under most favorable auspices. As the boat was placed in the water, three cheers, with plenty of tigers, proceeded from a hundred voices and filled the air. The boat was decorated with the National colors, and with Old Glory floating to the breeze the boat glided into the water and started on her trial trip, which was in every way a success.

Dr. Buchanan, a stockholder of the company, was assigned the task of naming the boat. After due deliberation he selected the name "Esculape," which was the name of the great medical discoverer. The launching took place about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and as the officials of the company made various trips on the lake, they were the envy of the hundreds of people who lined the banks and watched the party enjoy themselves. After much study and forethought the company decided to use steam as the propelling power.

This was considered better than electricity, as there is no place at New Market to charge batteries if they should give out. In a few days the officials of the company will take their families out riding on the lake and thus the season will be opened.

Object to Fertilizer Odors.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 13—The Central Railroad of New Jersey appeared as a defendant Friday in Elizabeth Police Court on a complaint made by Dr. E. R. O'Reilly and a number of other property owners at Elizabethport, that the railroad company was obstructing the tracks on Broadway with fertilizing material, the odor from which in hot weather is objectionable. It is claimed the odor has sickened persons living in the neighborhood. The suit against the company has been brought under a city ordinance. It is claimed the Central Railroad was given the use of Broadway for the purpose of laying tracks on the street for the transportation of passengers and merchandise and not for storage purposes. After the case was called, by request of the railroad company, the trial was adjourned until next Friday.

COOL WEATHER HERE.

Hot Wave Swept Away by a Lively Hurricane—Little Damage Done in Plainfield.

Life is once more bearable. The warm wave lost its hold on this section yesterday afternoon and drifted away before a fierce young hurricane which did all kinds of damage in the immediate vicinity of New York. Branches, large and small, were torn from trees all over the city and borough but no other damage of consequence has yet been reported here.

According to the official thermometer of Weather Observer Neagle, the highest point reached by the mercury Saturday was 98 degrees. Unofficial thermometers went up as high as 103 degrees in the shade. At 1 o'clock Neagle's thermometer registered 96 degrees. Then came the gale and the rain and the mercury dropped nearly twenty degrees in as many minutes.

Today the temperature is comfortably low and everybody is properly thankful. Showers have continued at intervals since the break in the hot weather but clearing conditions are promised for tonight and tomorrow is promised to be fair and cool. Another warm wave, of small deminsions is en route, however, and will be felt here Wednesday.

WATCHUNG AVENUE IS NEARLY FINISHED.

Street Commissioner Gavett Will Soon be Called Upon to Pass on Improvements.

GRADING IS ALL DONE.

IF RED GRAVL APPEARS MORE TOP DRESSING WILL BE NEEDED.

Arlington Avenue Macadam Has Not Been Approved by Street Commissioner as Top Dressing Appears Defective.

The lowering of the grade of Watchung avenue, roadway, curbing and sidewalk, is all finished and Contractor Conover is putting the finishing touches on the new macadam. This work will be done before the week is out unless Street Commissioner Gavett should require any of the work to be done over.

The change is a decided improvement to Watchung avenue, and, when the improvements to the railroad property are completed, that thoroughfare will be far better than ever. The foundation for the old roadbed was lowered and a new upper surface laid. Before the top dressing was laid, a quantity of red sand and gravel was used as a binder for the larger stone. If this works through the fine top dressing, it will be necessary to put on another coat of fine stone. Otherwise, the street will be ready very soon.

The crosswalk across North avenue has been moved nearer the corner, where it should have originally been placed. The trolley tracks have been given a much more symmetrical curve than before, and the largest cars of the North Jersey Traction Company can pass under the bridge without trouble.

This improvement has been made entirely at the expense of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, but under the personal supervision of Street Commissioner Gavett who will insist on the work being done according to agreement before he will issue a certificate accepting it for the city.

Street Commissioner Gavett has not yet issued a certificate accepting the new macadam on Arlington avenue for the city. The foundation and the centre layers were placed satisfactorily, but the top-dressing has not yet been put in satisfactory shape. This will have to be done before the city approves of the job.

KILLED BY EXPRESS TRAIN.

Unknown Man Meets Instant Death at Elizabethport.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 14—An unknown man was struck and instantly killed by a train at 7:35 o'clock Sunday night on the Central Railroad at the Schiller street crossing, Elizabethport. The man was hurled about thirty feet by the locomotive of the express. His skull was fractured and his face crushed in. He was about forty years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and was dressed in a blue striped outing shirt, gray-mixed trousers, blue stockings, black laced shoes and a black derby hat. He wore a black moustache and has black hair.

No coat was found on the body and it is thought he had it on his arm and that it was carried away on the pilot of the locomotive, which did not stop. His hat was not found until yesterday morning, some distance from where the body was picked up. The remains were taken to Smith's morgue. Nothing was found in the pockets.

Jesse Lawson Interested.

A call has been issued for the annual convention of the National Afro-American Council to be held in Indianapolis, Ind., Tuesday, August 28th. There will be a discussion of questions affecting the interests of the negro race, an election of officers and such action as may be deemed best for the protection and advancement of the Afro-American people. The chairman of the sub-committe in charge of the convention is Jesse Lawson, a former Plainfielder, who graduated from the Plainfield High School and has a host of friends in this city. He holds an important position in the pension bureau at Washington.

Of Interest to Farmers.

The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture was held at the courthouse at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. President Fitzgerald called the meeting to order. An interesting and instructive address was delivered by Professor John B. Smith, of New Brunswick. The subject was "Wheat Enemies." Franklin Dey, the State secretary, was also present and gave an address. The farmers throughout the county were well represented.

NEIGHBOR AS DETECTIVE

MAN WHO WAS BEING WATCHED DIDN'T LIKE SUCH CONDUCT.

So He Chased the Sleuth With a Club—Latter Then Caused His Arrest.

For sometime past Andrew Sheelock, who lives near Greenbrook tanks, has been keeping open house. His friends to the number of forty or fifty have been gathering each Sunday to partake of Andrew's hospitality. The majority of it consisted of liquid refreshments for which they had to deposit a small sum, as Andrew said, "to pay him for his trouble." The fact that he was selling liquor was learned by Jacob Hoffman, who lives near him. Someone informed Sheelock that Hoffman was collecting evidence to indict him and the former swore vengeance.

Last Sunday he saw Hoffman near his home and beckoned for him. Hoffman refused to come and Sheelock started after him, as the former says, with a club in his hand and threatening to kill him. Hoffman ran to his home and locked the doors, but his pursuer turned back.

Yesterday he appeared before Justice Storms at New Market and swore out a warrant for Sheelock's arrest on a charge of assault and battery. Sheelock was arrested and in default of $50 was committed to the county jail. He had been in but a short time when his bail was furnished by his brother who lives at Bound Brook and Shielock was released.

TROLLEY DEAL GOES THROUGH.

Route Between New York and Philadelphia Now Secured.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 14—The purchase of the iron bridge spanning the Delaware river between this city and Morrisville by J. B. Shaw & Co., of Boston, assures the consummation of the deal planned to establish a trolley line between Philadelphia and New York.

J. B. Shaw & Co., of Boston, and the Philadelphia Street Railway Co. are here declared to be one and the same. Offices will be opened here this week in the Forst-Richey building, and a representative of the company will be on hand. Engineers will start on the work of building the line between this city and Frankford at once.

E. H. Gay & Co., of Boston, have taken the bonds of the company. The Philadelphia Street Railway Company also own a majority of the bonds of the Morrell Trolley and Turnpike, although there is little likelihood there will be any connection between that system and the through line. The principal backers of the company are said to be Mr. Shaw and ex-State Treasurer Trumble, both of Boston.

The bridge purchased by the syndicate spans the Delaware at the head of Trenton Falls, or tidewater. It is a solid structure, built by the Phoenix Iron Company. It has paid its owners 8 per cent. on their investment.

MAKES THEM WHIRL AROUND.

Curious Disease That Attacks Poultry of Farmers in This Vicinity.

Farmers living in the vicinity of Avon Park and Oak Tree are complaining of a peculiar disease which has attacked their poultry. It is different than any disease they have had to deal with and they are unable to explain it.

The affected fowl, while apparently in good health, suddenly becomes dizzy and starts to turn around. It then falls to the ground in a rigid condition and dies. When picked up the feathers come out. Great numbers of them have died within the past week, and it is still ravaging poultry yards.

Pockets Picked at Cranford.

Robert I. Richardson, of Second place, was among the many Plainfielders who attended the carnival at Cranford last Saturday night, and after the celebration he went to look for his pocketbook which contained some money and his commutation ticket, and learned that it was missing. Mr. Richardson believes that it was taken while he was enjoying the festivities at the carnival, although he has no recollection of anyone attempting to go in his pockets. The loss necessitated the purchase of another commutation ticket. Mr. Richardson has no idea that he will ever get his pocketbook and contents back and has charged it up to profit and loss.

TO EXPLORE THE VEIN.

SMALLEY BROTHERS WILL THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATE.

If There is a Favorable Outcome it is Probable That a Company will be Formed.

Encouraged by the favorable reports received from the mining experts who have assayed the ore found in the vein disclosed in their stone quarry, Smalley Brothers are preparing to go ahead in a vigorous manner and explore the vein for some distance in order to determine whether or not the copper and iron already in evidence exists to a great enough extent to pay to mine it.

The specimens of ore already found assay ten per cent copper and eighteen per cent iron, as stated in The Press yesterday, and if this per centage is found to exist deeper into the vein the "find" would be a decidedly valuable one. It is considered highly profitable to work ore which supplies but two per cent copper, so that if, on further investigation, the vein did not pan out quite such a large percentage of copper it would still pay big profits to operate it.

The interest of the Smalley Brothers has now been thoroughly aroused by the reports and they are determined to carry their investigations to a point where they will be able to determine pretty thoroughly the value of the find. If the investigation is favorable, then it is probable that a company will be formed and a select number of stockholders taken for the purpose of raising capital to provide the costly facilities needed for modern mining enterprises.

NICE WEATHER NOW.

Weather Observer Naegle Promises to Keep Away Hot Wave For a Few Days.

Weather Observer John Naegle says that the people of Plainfield will be able to enjoy life for a few days without any warm wave to bother them. While the temperature will not be low, he says that no severe heat may be expected here for several days, and that the evenings will be particularly delightful. Yesterday was positively chilly at times, the mercury never rising above 79 degrees. Three-hundredths of an inch of rain fell during the day. The showery conditions have now disappeared and clear weather with moderate temperature is assured for a short period at least. Another hot wave is said to be gathering strength in the northwest and may wander in this direction later in the week.

Rebuke to Lawyers in Divorce Cases.

Vice-Chancellor Pitney, of Jersey City, yesterday delivered a sharp lecture to lawyers who do not make a proper effort to serve papers on defendants in uncontested divorce cases, and said that in future lawyers would have to present affidavits showing what they have done to have the notices served. He cited one instance where the defendant lived in Essex county, and the papers were served on a man of the same name in Union county. The lecture was suggested by the application of a lawyer to have a divorce case reopened because his client had not received notice of the fact that proceedings had been instituted.

Used a Knife.

Frank Gulick was committed to the county jail at Somerville late Saturday afternoon by Justice Compton, of Peapack, on a charge of atrocious assault upon Elias Apgar. There has been trouble between the two men for some time. They met at the hotel Saturday afternoon and renewed the quarrel. Gulick, who, it is charged, was under the influence of liquor, drew a large knife and stabbed Apgar, who was quite severely injured.

Bitten by a Spider.

Ernest Austin, the well-known bootblack, is confined to his home with a very painful enlargement of the lips. He believes that he was bitten by a spider. Austin worked nearly all day Sunday, and thought little of the trouble, but finally he had such pain that he was obliged to give up and go home and call a doctor. It is only with the greatest difficulty that he is able to eat.

MAYOR'S KIND ACTION.

HAS UNFORTUNATE MAN ADMITTED TO THE HOSPITAL.

Poor Cobbler Was in Hard Luck—Now Receives Good Treatment and Family to be Cared For.

Those who have occasion to pass the office of Justice Nash on Park avenue have noticed the little shoe shop next to him closed for some time. The tools have been in the same position for the past six weeks, but no sign of the proprietor could be seen. Although the reason for his absence has been known to a few, the majority of the passersby have been puzzled as to his whereabouts.

The reason has just been made known through the kind-hearted efforts of Mayor Rockfellow in having Max Garfinkle, of East Fourth street, taken to the hospital. Six weeks ago, while apparently in good health, Garfinkle was suddenly taken ill while at work in the shop. He took to his bed and it became necessary to procure a doctor. It was then discovered that he was suffering from a tumor. On the advice of his friends the patient consented to go to New York for treatment. He entered the Mt. Sinai Hospital, where an operation was performed, but without success. He remained there until last week when he returned home. He was greatly distressed at the condition of his family and, although a sick man, attempted to arrange to have a friend continue his business for their support.

His condition was made known to the Mayor, and, although his case is said to be incurable and it is against the rules of the institution to admit him, he was taken to the hospital. He will now have the best of treatment and everything possible will be done to cure him. Provision has also been made for his family who were in almost destitute circumstances.

MISS M'LOUGHLIN DEAD.

Had Lived in Plainfield for Thirty Years—An Attendant at First Baptist Church.

The death of Miss Margaret E. MacLoughlin, daughter of the late John G. and Abby A. MacLoughlin, of Jersey City, occurred about 5 o'clock this morning at her home on Somerset street. Death was due to dropsy with which disease Miss MacLoughlin had been a sufferer for some time past. She had been confined to her bed since Thursday of last week. From that time she grew rapidly worse.

Miss MacLoughlin was a native of Jersey City and came to Plainfield about thirty years ago, living here ever since. She had a host of friends in this city and the borough who will learn of her death with deep regret. She was an attendant at the First Baptist church. The funeral services will be held from her late home, 258 Somerset street, Thursday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. Interment will be private.

SALOON-KEEPERS ANXIOUS.

Fear League of Citizens is Preparing to Prosecute.

Saloon keepers in New Brunswick are on the anxious seat. Announcement has just been made that for a month past detectives employed by the New Brunswick Anti-Saloon League have been securing evidence of violation of the Sunday-selling law, and have obtained enough to secure the indictment of nearly every saloon-keeper in town.

The League was organized last spring and consists of every minister in the city, Prosecutor John S. Voorhees and other county officials and a number of laymen active in the cause of temperance.

To Nominate Fowler's Opponent.

The Democratic Congressional Committee of the Eighth District has decided that the convention for the nomination of a Congressional candidate will be held in Bayonne Tuesday, September 11th. Councilman Andrew T. Gill, member of the Congressional committee as representative from Bayonne, has secured Arlington Park, Boulevard and West Fifty-first street, for the convention. The primaries will be held the first week in September, although the date of the convention is still open to correction.

Lewis Fined $2.

George Lewis, colored, of the borough, was arraigned last evening before Mayor Smalley on a charge of assault preferred by a man named Parker, colored, also of the borough. The assault, it is alleged, took place last Saturday night, and after the Mayor heard the evidence he was convinced that Lewis was guilty. A fine of $2 was imposed and paid.

—The Central will run another popular excursion to Mauch Chunk next Sunday. The fare from Plainfield is $1.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK.

SMALLEY BROTHERS TO PUT UP THREE-STORY BUILDING.

Will be Located on the Old Thompson Property on North Avenue—To be Built With Stone.

Plainfield is to have another fine business building. It is to be built by Smalley Brothers on the lot purchased by them on North avenue, known as the Thompson property, from the First National Bank nearly a year ago.

As is well known, the property is finely located for business purposes and since the building that stood on it was burned down nearly two years ago many have wondered why a new structure was not put up. After Smalley Brothers got hold of the property it was expected that it would be built on at once, but only recently have the new owners considered it advisable to build. Now, however, they have plans under way which will result in the construction of a fine building.

It is intended to put up a three-story business block, the principal part of which will be constructed of stone taken from the quarry of Smalley Brothers in the Notch. Already a large quantity of stone intended for that purpose has been blasted and cut into blocks so that it can be trimmed by stone masons in shape for building purposes without much trouble. A remarkable feature about the accumulation of the stone for the building is the fact that they have nearly all been prepared by Mayor Smalley, himself, who, armed with a heavy sledge-hammer, has worked at odd moments for several months past breaking up great masses of rock into stone properly proportioned for building purposes.

It is intended to utilize the first floor of the new building for store purposes, and to plan the upper floors for offices and lodge rooms.

KLINER QUITS AS A COP.

Suspended for a Week as Discipline, and Now Refuses to Go Back to Duty.

It has been learned since yesterday that Jacob Kliner, who was a marshal in the borough, and who had some trouble with the officials a little over a week ago, has decided that he will not return to his position. Mayor Smalley suspended Mr. Kliner for a week without pay for insubordination, and it was believed that at the end of the week he would return to duty, as he had expressed the opinion that he was in the wrong. Even as late as yesterday, Mayor Smalley said that he believed that Mr. Kliner would return. It is now learned that the ex-official passed his badge over to Chief Marshal Campbell last Saturday informing him at the time that he had decided that he would not return to duty. Chief Campbell made no reply, but simply took his badge and listened to what he had to say. He afterward reported to Mayor Smalley what had taken place.

BEAT HIS WIFE.

Wanted the Money That Had Been Saved to Pay the Rent With.

Because she would not give him her rent money, John Habberman, of West Second street, kicked and beat his wife. Habberman had been in a North Plainfield resort a few nights ago and had lost his money gambling. Wishing to continue the game and not having the means with which to do it, he went home and attempted to take the money Mrs. Habberman had saved for rent. When she objected he committed the assault. Mrs. Habberman swore out a warrant for her husband's arrest and he was arranged before Justice Nash yesterday. He waived examination and was held in $50 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Trouble About Fence.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey is meeting with some difficuulty in fencing in the line through Glen Gardner. If the company builds the fence according to survey, it will cut off considerable property belonging to the residents holding lots abutting against the tracks. The property holders assert that the line, as purchased of the Eveland estate, covers the strip which the company claims. It is thought that if the railroad company attempts to build the fence or string the wires an injunction will be served. So far the fence has been built to the Glen Gardner depot.

SHIRT WAIST MEN WIN.

ASBURY PARK HOTEL GUESTS NOW LIVE IN FINE COMFORT.

Proprietor of Coleman House Sets the Example and Many of His Patrons Follow Suit.

Shirt waist enthusiasts now form a very important part of the summer colony in Asbury Park, and new converts are being made every day. The contagion has spread to the Coleman House and was introduced Sunday by Frank B. Conover, the proprietor.

When Mr. Conover came downstairs Sunday morning wearing a spotless shirt waist and flannel trousers he looked the most comfortable man in the house. Half a dozen patrons asked him if he expected to appear in the dining room for breakfast in the new dress, and Mr. Conover replied that he didn't see why he shouldn't. In the first place, the garments were cool and comfortable, and if women could wear shirt waists there was no reason why men should not don them.

"All right; if you're going to wear 'em so are we," said half a dozen in the same breath. The news spread rapidly that Mr. Conover was an advocate of the new style. Ten minutes later at least twenty shirt waist men walked into the dining room behind Mr. Conover. Every one wore an immaculate snowy white shirt waist and presented an appearance which called forth a batch of compliments from everybody in the room. Mr. Conover believes that the wilted looks which the men have worn of late on account of the extreme hot weather disappear.

Right in line with the Coleman's policy comes the West End, with a shirt waist club of about one hundred members. They made their initial appearance in the dining room on Sunday and were greeted with continuous applause.

NEW TROLLEY LINE.

Runs From South Amboy to Raritan, Distance of Thirty Miles.

The Sayreville-South Amboy branch of the Somerset and Middlesex Traction Company was opened for business Saturday. The branch is four miles long, and connects with the South River-New Brunswick branch of the system, giving a continuous line from South Amboy, on the shore of Raritan Bay, to Raritan, via Sayreville, South River, Milltown, New Brunswick, Bound Brook and Somerville, a total of thirty miles.

The line is to be extended from New Brunswick to Perth Amboy, via Metuchen. Both systems connect with the Plainfield-Elizabeth line, giving a continuous trolley line to Newark and Jersey City.

JR. O. U. A. M. OUTING.

Patriotic Order to Celebrate American Day by the Sea.

Thursday of this week will be American Day and everywhere in the State the Junior Order of United American Mechanics is making elaborate preparations for a trip to Asbury Park, where the day will be celebrated. Up to Saturday twenty-six special trains on various railroads had been chartered to carry the council members and their friends to the famous seaside resort.

Fireworks and a great carnival on Wesley Lake in the evening, and dancing in the Asbury Park Auditorium both afternoon and evening, will be the features of the day at the Park.

The "Black Hole."

"Black Hole," on the High Bridge branch of the Central Railroad, where the fatal wreck occurred a fortnight ago, derived its name from a colored family who lived nearby about forty years ago and used it for bathing purposes. About that time an old German committed suicide there, and his body was buried along the bank of the stream. It is said the family became superstitious and ceased bathing there. A stone marks the resting place of the suicide.

To Arrange for Field Day.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, will meet next Monday evening for the last time before the annual conclave and field day at Asbury Park, Wednesday, August 29. Final arrangements will be made at that meeting. It is expected that Trinity Commandery will have at least fifty Sir Knights in line for the parade and they will be preceded by LaVere's band, of this city.

DESERTED HIS BRIDE, BUT KEPT HER COIN.

But The Vengeful Bride Has Finally Secured His Arrest in City of Camden.

PLAYED SAME TRICK BEFORE

POLICE SAY THAT WATISLORF VINNEPSKY HAS ROBBED OTHERS.

Mary Vilcovi Left a Good Position Here to Wed Her Polish Lover at Perth Amboy—He Fled With $404 and Gold Watch—Was Run Down.

Mary Vilcovi was in hard luck. She lost both her lover and all her hard earned savings in one night last July. The lover's name was Watislorf Vinnepsky. He was arrested in Camden this morning, charged with grand larceny, and the police say that Mary Vilcovi is only one of a number of lone young women whom he has made love to only to rob them.

Mary Vilcovi is a Polish girl who came to this country several years ago and began a career as a domestic. She was a hardworking girl, avoided the vanities of life and carefully put by her cash. Then Watislorf Vinnepsky, handsome and gallant, appeared on the scene. He told the young woman that he was sent to her by Valenti Gylansky, of Richmond street. Gylansky says that it it a lie and that he never knew or heard of Vinnepsky.

The courting of the Polish maid was fast and furious. Mary gave up her position as domestic in a household on East Front street and went to Perth Amboy where it was planned that they should be married by the Polish priest there. Before leaving, Mary gathered together her property, $404 in cash and a gold watch. The priest in Perth Amboy told them that three weeks would be necessary for the publishing of the banns. The couple agreed to wait.

The next night, Vinnepsky slipped away and vanished. With him went the $404 in cash and the gold watch, so the young woman claims. The story of the desertion of the wouldbe groom with his bride's property was exclusively told in the Daily Press at that time.

Mary Vilcovi's tender passion for the handsome young Polander was changed to a wild desire for revenge. She reported her loss to Chief Burke, of Perth Amboy, and he tried to run down the man but without success. He suggested the advisibility of consulting a lawyer so Mary Vilcovi returned to this city and went to see Attorney William Newcorn.

Mr. Newcorn took charge of the case and put the matter in the hands of Chief Kiely who has been working up such clue as he had. With the assistance of the police departments of Newark, Jersey City and Camden, he discovered that a young Poland had been making vigorous love to unprotected young women in this section and had the peculiar habit of disappearing just before the wedding with the bride's valuables.

It is said that Vinnepsky is no other this same young man and that he already has a wife and children living in Philadelphia besides a number of fiancees through New Jersey. Vinnepsky has a half-brother who runs a hotel in Camden. He went there last night. A warrant was issued for his arrest some time ago by Justice H. E. Weaver, of South Plainfield. The charge was grand larceny. This warrant was countersigned by Recorder Knowrey, of Camden, and one of the officers of the latter's court given the warrant to serve this morning. Lawyer Newcorn received word this morning that it had been served and Vinnepsky was a prisoner. He will be brought to Elizabeth or New Brunswick in a few days.

They Struck It Rich.

It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising firm as L. W. Randolph secured the Agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvelous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. They give free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung troubles. A trial proves its merit. THE NEW BONDS.

All Demands Being Met For the New Two Per Cents.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—With the exception of a comparatively small amount of coupons the bureau of engraving and printing is now able to meet all demands for the new extended 2 per cent bonds due in 1930, and as a consequence the secretary of the treasury has discontinued the issue of temporary bonds, and hereafter the permanent issue will be given in exchange for all surrendered threes, fours and fives, which are covered by the act of March 14, 1900.

About $236,095,000 of the original amount already has been converted into the new 2 per cents, and it is expected that before the offers cease entirely fully one-half of the whole amount will have been extended at the new rate. By this transaction the government has netted a saving of about $10,000,000.

The comptroller of the currency has sent notices to all banks having old 2 per cent bonds on deposit to secure circulation that by the terms of the law circulation can be secured only on the deposit of interest bearing bonds. As the interest on this class of bonds ceases on Aug. 18 (next Saturday) these banks, 225 in number, are requested to substitute interest bearing bonds on or before that date. There are between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 of these old twos still in the treasury vaults awaiting exchange.

The "Antis" to Meet.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—The congress of the Anti-imperialist league will be called to order tomorrow morning in Tomlinson hall by Senator Henderson of Missouri, and he will introduce ex-Governor Boutwell of Massachusetts, who will preside over the meetings. There will be no set programme for the first session. A number of short speeches will be made relative to determining what is the best course to pursue. Governor Boutwell is opposed to placing a third ticket in the field and will use all his influence to prevent the nomination of a third ticket and likewise the indorsement of Bryan and Stevenson. He believes strong resolutions denouncing imperialism should be adopted and then the meeting should adjourn.

No Disturbance In Asiatic Turkey.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—It is announced at the Turkish legation, on the strength of advices from the Turkish government, that the recently published news of "disturbances" in Asiatic Turkey was erroneous. It is said the report grew out of some trouble between the authorities of Saganik, district of Sassun, and some Armenian brigands in the neighborhood. Troops were sent in pursuit of the brigands, and the latter, under the leadership of one Antranik, took refuge in a small chapel. When their surrender was demanded, they opened fire, killing two soldiers. Thereupon the imperial troops returned the fire, killing some of the brigands. Subsequently the survivors were captured.

Cavalry Horses Stampede.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 14.—The greater part of Jersey City was set in an uproar last night by a stampede of 25 horses of the Fifth United States cavalry. The horses, after kicking out the sides of the pen in which they were confined, ran through a large part of the city, clearing everything out before them, and finally dashed across the Hackensack meadows. Later 20 of them arrived in Kearny and aroused all the inhabitants there from their beds. While the mounts were crossing the tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad there a train running at full speed crashed into them. Eight of them were killed instantly.

Shaved Lincoln's Slayer.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 14.—Thomas C. Lawler, who figured in the arrest and identification of J. Wilkes Booth as the assassin of President Lincoln, is dead here, aged 58 years. The day before Booth committed the crime Mr. Lawler, who was proprietor of the National hotel barber shop, shaved the actor and cut his hair. Booth gave him a pass to attend Ford's theater the next night, but Mr. Lawler was unable to leave the shop, and so he did not witness the assassination. He was taken on board the monitor after Booth had been shot to identify the remains.

Cuban Outlaw Killed.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Aug. 14.—Parejita, the well known bandit, has been killed at Palma Soriano, about 20 miles from Santiago. He was shot by a corporal of the rural guard under command of Colonel Vaillant. This outlaw, who was a Cuban mulatto, had been terrorizing the country for several years. He was a thoroughly desperate character and had committed numerous murders. In his possession was found a Springfield rifle which was identified as the property of a private of the rural guard recently murdered.

Prohibition Candidate Hurt.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—John G. Woolley, candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket, is suffering from a painful injury to one of his shoulders, the result of falling down stairs at his home. Mr. Woolley was starting down the steps from the third floor when his foot slipped on the hard wood floor. It was found that the upper arm bone had been wrenched from the socket, and some difficulty was encountered in getting it back to its right position.

A Record Ocean Trip.

BREMEN, Aug. 14.—The North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, Captain Englehart, which sailed from New York on Aug. 7 for Bremen, has made the record passage of any steamer sailing from Sandy Hook to Cherbourg, covering 3,184 knots in 5 days 19 hours 44 minutes. Her average speed was 22.79 knots per hour. The vessel's daily runs were as follows: 500, 524, 532, 533, 541 and 22 knots.

Loyal Smiths to Meet.

TOPEKA, Aug. 14.—There will be a novel convention near Newton next Friday. John Smith has invited all the Smiths in central Kansas who believe in sustaining the flag in the Philippines to be present, partake of his hospitality and assist in a flag raising. He has four sons in the Philippines. There are over 500 Smiths in Harvey county alone.

England's Premier to Rest.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Acting under his doctor's advice, Lord Salisbury, the premier, has gone to Schlucht, a health resort in the Vosges, where he will stay a month. He will, however, retain the conduct of foreign affairs by means of the telegraph and messengers.

Plainfield proof for Plainfield people.

That's what follows here.

Surely no better backing can be had than the following statement from Mrs. R. A. Martin, of No. 70 Jackson street, who says: "I had pain in my back and loins for about a year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain but they strengthened me in other ways."

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's fine store.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. PORTO RICANS WANT WORK.

Delegation Gets Prompt Satisfaction From Governor Hunt.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 14.—More than 100 laborers, with their wives and children, reached this city yesterday after two days of weary marching, without food, from San Lorenzo, a distance of 27 miles. The procession, made up of all shades and conditions, led by a colored woman with an American flag and carrying banners on which were inscribed the words "Give Us Work," marched quietly through the city to the executive mansion, where a halt was made.

The spokesman then called upon Civil Governor Hunt and explained that the object of the visit was to ask the government to open a road between Caguas and San Lorenzo, thus enabling the laboring classes of the district to get a livelihood. He pointed out that at present there was no work of any kind in that district and that the people, who were wholly dependent upon their daily earnings, were without bread and suffering.

Mr. Hunt replied sympathetically and promised that the government would do all in its power to relieve the situation. The delegation immediately retired, well pleased with the interview, and the procession left the city an hour after it had entered and began the return journey.

Orders were promptly issued for work to be begun on the road today and for the employment of as many persons as possible who might apply from the district. The spokesman of the deputation had said that there was no expectation of gratuitous government assistance, but merely a desire for work. Official investigation shows that the district in question is very badly off and that no work of any sort has been in operation there for some time.

It is pointed out that these conditions are partially due to the old system of government relief supplies, which had a tendency to pauperize the recipient and to lead many to believe that the government would indefinitely support the poor in idleness.

More Changes at Elmira.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The board of managers of the Elmira reformatory today began a three days' session, during which it is expected several more of Superintendent Brockway's friends will tender their resignations at the request of the managers. Sensational stories are afloat that Acting Superintendent Robertson and Assistant Superintendent McDonnell have resumed the punishment of prisoners in a form more severe than that which obtained under the Brockway regime. Acting Superintendent Robertson says that it is true that some of the incorrigibles have been punished and that all prisoners who refuse to obey the rules of the institution will be properly taken care of in this direction by the management.

To Investigate Mail Tubes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The postmaster general has issued an order directing a general investigation as to the cost of construction, operation and utility of all pneumatic tube systems for transmission of mails and including all facts bearing upon their use. This investigation is in accordance with the requirements of the last postal appropriation act and is designed to enable congress to determine whether the pneumatic tube service should be owned, leased, extended or discontinued by the government and also to determine the cost at which the government may acquire existing plants or necessary patents.

A Change In Garrisons.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The post at Fort Myer, Va., which has been deserted practically since the departure of Major Kingsbury's squadron of the Sixth cavalry for San Francisco for transportation to China, is now the home of a squadron of the Fifth cavalry, composed of Troops I, K, L and M, commanded by Colonel William A. Rafferty, which arrived there yesterday. These troops have been stationed in Porto Rico since the cession of that country to the United States. They were brought to New York on the transport Sedgwick, which arrived on Saturday morning.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Solace, bringing home the sick and wounded from China, has sailed from Yokohama for Guam, which will be her first stopping place on her homeward trip. The Glacier has sailed from Cavite, Philippine Islands, for Sydney. The Texas is at Bath, Me., and the Kentucky and the Massachusetts are at Squirrel island.

Butler to Stump For McKinley.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 14.—The Evening Post, a local Populist paper, says that Chairman Marion Butler will take the stump for McKinley. Vice Chairman Edmiston was asked about this matter and declined to talk. "In the absence of definite information," said Mr. Edmiston, "I cannot say nothing about Senator Butler's future course."

To Buy United States Cars.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Aug. 14.—The Chilean congress has voted $2,500,000, Chilean currency, for a cargo of cars, the greater portion of which will be purchased in the United States. Tenders have been invited for building the great iron bridge over the river Maipu.

AGUINALDO UNEASY.

Dares Not Seek Amnesty and Moves About Constantly.

HAS VIOLATED THE LAWS OF WAR.

Major Del Pilar Desires to Become a Good American Citizen—Manila Public Service Being Classified. Native Outlaw Sentenced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Copies of Manila papers received at the war department contain a letter purporting to be from a personal friend of Aguinaldo, which states that the Filipino chief does not take advantage of the amnesty proclamation because some time ago he gave orders to his followers to break up into guerrilla bands. The amnesty order excepts those who violated the laws of war, and it is stated that Aguinaldo fears that he would be in the excepted class should he undertake to surrender under the amnesty proclamation. The letter is dated at Biach-No-Bato, which is said to be the present provisional headquarters of Aguinaldo. It is stated, however, that Aguinaldo never stays more than one night in a place and only a few hours in any one locality. He allows no one to come near except his most intimate personal friends.

A dispatch in one of the papers, dated at San Pedro, states that Major Del Pilar, who recently surrendered, says he wishes to become a good American citizen and intends to accept the American terms offered to his people. He said he would like nothing better than to raise a regiment of native Filipinos to serve in China.

A board consisting of five army officers has been appointed to make a report upon a classification of all persons employed in the public service in Manila. This is for the purpose of establishing a proper uniformity in the compensation of such employees. Another order promulgates a tariff on state timber and issues instructions for its application. It is intended for the utilization of the forest products of the Philippine Islands to the best possible advantage.

Copies of orders received at the war department announce the sentence of Jacinto Ebron, a native who was charged with "insurrection against the government of the United States of America." Ebron was sent to the penitentiary for five years. The order states that Ebron was a member of a band of armed outlaws operating in Cagayan province, Luzon, which committed various outrages upon the whole population and kept the people in a constant state of terror.

Furmin Camit, convicted of manslaughter in Iloilo, was sentenced for ten years.

Body of Missing Man Found.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14.—The dismembered body of a farmer named Joseph Schaeffer, who lived near the line between Baltimore and Howard counties, has been found in the Patapsco river, near Woodstock, Md., and the police are confident that murder has been done. Schaeffer disappeared from his home in February last, and nothing had been heard of him since that time until Saturday, when the head and trunk of his body were found in the river by some boys who were swimming. Later both legs were found near the same spot, and the police say an examination of them indicates that they were cut off near the hips with a blunt instrument. They were still covered with portions of the trousers Schaeffer wore when he left home, and in the pockets were 6 cents, all that was left of a considerable sum Schaeffer had with him when last seen. The dead man started from home to cut wood, accompanied by a negro who had helped about the farm on previous occasions, and neither of them has been seen alive since.

Exports and Imports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The July statement of the imports and exports of the United States issued by the bureau of statistics shows the imports of merchandise to have been $63,536,253, of which $21,884,068 was free of duty. The total amount is over $3,000,000 in excess of July, 1899. The exports of merchandise during the month aggregated $100,413,501, an increase over the corresponding month last year of more than $5,500,000. The gold imports for the month were $4,944,764, an increase of about $2,000,000. The exports of gold amounted to $3,269,159, an increase of about $663,000.

Belmont's Yacht Wins.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14.—With the end of the main boom dipping in the crests of the seas as she rolled across the finish line between the steam yacht Nourmahal and Brenton's reef lightship at 3:45 yesterday afternoon, August Belmont's 70 foot sloop Mineola finished first in one of the best races ever sailed over the Vineyard sound lightship course of 38 miles. She won the $500 Astor cup for sloops by a margin of one minute and six seconds. Cornelius Vanderbilt's Rainbow was the second boat.

The Wedding Is Off.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—Rosslyn Ferrell, the confessed murderer of Express Messenger Lane, was taken this morning to Marysville, Union county, in which his crime was committed, for trial. At noon Sunday the quartet rehearsed the music for Ferrell's wedding. He was present and complimented the singers. At that very hour the detectives were preparing the programme for his capture. Ferrell had even ordered the wedding invitations.

Legislature Dissolved.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 14.—The Newfoundland legislature was dissolved yesterday, a general election being ordered for the end of October next, when a bitter campaign is expected. AMERICA'S ANSWER TO CHINA.

Relief Expedition Must Enter the Capital Unmolested and Escort Foreigners to Place of Safety Before Peace Is Considered.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The American commander in China in a dispatch of just three words received at the war department late yesterday afternoon sent a thrill of exultation and expectancy throughout official quarters by announcing his arrival at Ho-Si-Wu, only 33 miles from Peking, last Thursday. The last heard from him before this was at Yang-tsun, which had been captured after a hard fight, and word of his movements since then had been eagerly awaited. Thursday he was 18 miles beyond Yang-tsun. Lang-Fang, the place where the ill fated Seymour expedition met its fate and turned back, had been left behind. The battle of Yang-tsun was fought on the 6th, and the advance on Ho-Si-Wu was accomplished on the 9th, a march of 18 miles in three days. This was four days ago, and at the same rate of progress Chaffee is even now fairly within striking distance of the walls of Peking. It was a consummation which the war department had awaited calmly, and, stirring as the news was that the American force was now nearing the gates of the imperial city, Secretary Root and Adjutant General Corbin evinced no surprise, as it accorded with calculations, although the advance has been more rapid than was expected.

Word of the advance soon spread throughout official quarters, and in the enthusiasm of the moment a report got about that this was the day for the actual arrival at Peking. But the war department had not a word of the advance beyond Ho-Si-Wu. It was deemed hardly likely the march to Peking should have been made since last Thursday. At the rate of progress, six miles a day, made from Yang-tsun to Ho-Si-Wu, about 24 miles would have been covered in the last four days, and up to yesterday this would still leave the international forces nine miles from Peking. Viewed from any standpoint the advance to Ho-Si-Wu was of the utmost importance not only strategically, but also in showing that communication was open back to Chefu, that the expected opposition from Chinese hordes had not been sufficient to prevent the steady forward movement.

Brief as the dispatch is, it conveys much information beyond that specifically contained in its few words.

Although it is not stated what force has arrived, the war department accepts it to mean that this is the international force which first took Pei-tsang and then Yang-tsun. It has gone steadily forward along the left bank of the Pei-Ho river, keeping on the main road, which skirts the river bank. At Yang-tsun the railway crosses the river and branches off to the west. Now the forces have left the railway far in the rear and are depending upon the highway and the river. Ho-Si-Wu is a place of considerable size and the largest town between Tien-tsin and Ching Chia Wan. The latter place and Tungchow are the two cities of considerable size in the line of advance after leaving Ho-Si-Wu. It is surrounded by orchards and gardens and is not a place likely to have afforded an opportunity for strong defense. It is the highest point on the Pei-Ho river, where the river water is depended on, as the native wells are the source of supply on the balance of the route to Peking. As it has taken five days for General Chaffee to report the advance to Ho-Si-Wu, it is evident that wire communication is not open to the front. This was hardly to be expected, and the safe arrival of the message at least shows that a certain measure of communication is open. One of the chief sources of congratulation among officials is that the fancied hordes of China have not materialized or at least have not prevented the international column from drawing close to the gates of Peking.

The reply of the United States government to China's overtures of peace was made public early in the day, showing the firm and final position that had been taken. While expressing satisfaction at this pacific step, the reply states that it is evident that "there can be no general negotiation between China and the powers" so long as the ministers and legationers are restrained and in danger. Then follows a specific statement of what the United States expects as a condition precedent to a cessation of hostilities—viz, that a body of the relief force be permitted to "enter Peking unmolested" and escort the ministers back to Tien-tsin. The text of the American reply is as follows:

"Touching the imperial edict of Aug. 8 appointing Li Hung Chang envoy plenipotentiary to conduct negotiations on the part of China with the powers and the request for a cessation of hostilities pending negotiations, communicated to Mr. Adee by Mr. Wu on Aug. 12, 1900, the government of the United States learns with satisfaction of the appointment of Earl Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipotentiary to conduct negotiations with the powers and will on its part enter upon such negotiations with a desire to continue the friendly relations so long existing between the two countries.

"It is evident that there can be no general negotiations between China and the powers so long as the ministers of the powers and the persons under their protection remain in their present position of restraint and danger and that the powers cannot cease their efforts for the delivery of these representatives, to which they are constrained by the highest considerations of national honor, except under an arrangement adequate to accomplish a peaceable deliverance.

"We are ready to enter into an agreement between the powers and the Chinese government for a cessation of hostile demonstrations on condition that a sufficient body of the forces composing the relief expedition shall be permitted to enter Peking unmolested and to escort the foreign ministers and residents back to Tientsin, this movement being provided for and secured by such arrangements and dispositions of troops as shall be considered satisfactory by the generals commanding the forces composing the relief expedition."

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. —The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

NEELY CASE TANGLED.

Extradition Delayed Through Unexpected Legal Complications.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Through a legal complication as peculiar as any that has ever been laid before the United States courts Charles F. W. Neely, accused of misappropriating thousands of dollars in connection with the administration of the postal department of Cuba, was not made subject to an order of extradition yesterday, and his case is more complex than ever.

Judge Lacombe of the United States circuit court came to this city yesterday to sign an order for the extradition of Neely to Cuba. He did not sign it, however, because he found that John D. Lindsay, Neely's counsel, has applied to Judge Wallace for a writ of habeas corpus for his client and that Judge Wallace had denied the application and had issued an order remanding Neely to the custody of United States Marshal Henkel pending an appeal to the supreme court of the United States. This appeal was made on Friday last.

ONLY TEN DAYS' FOOD

Minister Macdonald Says Situation Is Desperate.

DARE NOT TRUST CHINESE ESCORT.

General Massacre Probable—Two Hundred Women and Children at British Legation—Americans' Heavy Loss at Yang-tsun.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British consul at Canton, says The Daily Telegraph's correspondent there, has received the following message, dated Aug. 6, from Sir Claude Macdonald, British minister in Peking: "Our situation here is desperate. In ten days our food supply will be at an end. Unless we are relieved a general massacre is probable. The Chinese offer to escort us to Tien-tsin, but, remembering Cawnpur, we refuse the offer. There are over 200 European women and children in this legation."

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, wiring yesterday, says, "The allies at noon Saturday were within 20 miles of Peking."

As General Chaffee's report, which is the only authentic news received here regarding the advance, located the international forces about 40 miles from Peking on Friday, it seems probable that this Shanghai report is optimistic. It is scarcely likely that the allies could advance 20 miles in as many hours.

A Yang-tsun dispatch, dated Aug. 7, giving details regarding the capture of that place, says:

"The Russians and French held the left, the British the left center, the Americans the right center and the Japanese the extreme right. The British and Americans advanced on the village at a rapid rate for 5,000 yards and under a severe shell and rifle fire. The Russians opened, and the British-American advance became a race for positions, culminating in a brilliant charge.

"The heaviest loss of the day was sustained by the Americans, the Fourteenth infantry having 9 killed, 62 wounded and several missing. The Bengal lancers unsuccessfully attempted to cut off the Chinese retreat."

Another Yang-tsun special says: "Owing to a mistake British and Russian guns shelled the Fourteenth United States infantry during the night, wounding ten."

Commenting upon this occurrence, The Standard says: "It is melancholy to learn that the losses of the Americans, who seem to have borne themselves with conspicuous gallantry, were increased by a deplorable error, in consequence of which one of their regiments was pounded by Russian and British cannon."

Once more the press of England remarks upon the ability of the American government to secure news ahead of the rest of the world. "It is to General Chaffee," says The Daily Mail, "that we are again indebted for news from the front. Not a single dispatch from Sir Alfred Gaselee has thus far been issued by the war office."

No Boer Cash to Aid Bryan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Touching a dispatch from Pretoria and printed in London, under date of Aug. 10, in which it was stated that President Kruger is contributing between $2,500,000 and $3,750,000 to the election of William J. Bryan and also that Webster Davis had received $125,000 from the same source as a contribution for the Democratic campaign fund, Charles D. Pierce, consul general and treasurer of the Boer relief fund, and P. Lauter Wessels, special commissioner of the South African Republic in this city, yesterday gave out a denial of both statements, adding to the denial the following: "The Boers have other and better use for their funds. England is in desperate straits for the 'sinews of war' when she will resort to such despicable means to influence the American people against the Boer cause, where fully 95 per cent of the citizens are in our favor."

Worrying About New York.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—In the course of its financial article this morning The Daily Mail says: "Strange to say, the pivot of the international money market is now New York. The export of gold to Europe, which New Yorkers talk about so condescendingly, amounted last week to fully $5,000,000. As much more is likely to be shipped this week, and the New York reserves are likely to be depleted to the extent of $50,000,000 by the end of August. It is a question if New York can stand it safely."

Wise Italians.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 14.—The Northern Italian league of this city has voted to take no part in the coming celebration in memory of King Humbert. One of the members gave the following reason for this action: "Our society does not intend to participate in commemoration services. We are American citizens, and we hold that we should respect our naturalization papers and the great republic to which we look for protection."

SALINA, Kan., Aug. 14.—An intensely hot wind has been blowing over central Kansas, and vegetation has withered rapidly. TENNILLE, Ga., Aug. 14.—The Southern railway train from Augusta was wrecked here. Thirteen people were badly hurt. Others were less seriously hurt. All of the injured are doing well. The train broke in two on a steep grade, and the two sections collided. There was an excursion from Tennille to Savannah, and a large crowd of excursionists was on the train.

Aim For Local Option.

A number of worthy gentlemen of New Jersey, many of them ministers of the gospel, have organized what is to be known as the New Jersey Local Option Committee, whose aim and purpose it is to enable voters to regulate the issuance of liquor licenses in their own particular communities by a majority vote. In an explanation of the movement, it is stated to be non-political and undenominational. In a letter from the committee we are informed that "is no wise a party movement, but a plan in aid of good citizenship. It is not a movement to regulate the issuing of liquor licenses by the vote of the State or county, but to settle the question by the majority vote in each city, town, township, borough or village. It aims to bring the question home to the voters of every community, and give them the legal right to decide whether there shall be saloons or not."

As a means of getting its ideas into practicable form a bill has been drawn which it is proposed to have introduced in the Legislature at the next session. The committee urges that the bill represents the home rule principle pure and simple, for each community, on the license question.

The chief features of the bill provide for submitting to the legal voters of each municipality, once every three years, the question whether licenses shall be granted for the sale of intoxicating and brewed liquors in each municipality. The will of the voters is to be expressed at the regular election for municipal officers, and on a separate ballot from that containing the names of candidates for local offices.

A comparison of the total appropriations of the first session of the Fifty-sixth Congress, $710,150,862.88, with those of the last session of the Fifty-fifth Congress, $674,981,022.29, shows an increase of $35,169,840.59. Appropriations for the army show an increase of $33,789,891.49; fortifications, $2,473,726; the navy, $17,040,947.09; the postal service, $8,023,100; sundry civil expenses, chiefly river and harbor contract work, and for the census, $16,933,984.59, the Indian, agricultural, diplomatic and other branches of the service, $2,664,963.91; and permanent appropriations, including interest and sinking fund for the public debt, $2,034,000. On the other hand, there appear reductions of $15,531,841.94 because of the passage of no regular River and Harbor act, $9,917,581.65 in deficiences and $24,942,288.90 in miscellaneous appropriations, making a net increase of $35,169,840.59.

An ordinance having for its object the regulation of the use of automobiles and similar vehicles has been adopted by the Board of Aldermen of Morristown and approved by Mayor Fox. It provides that no conveyance "driven or propelled by power" shall be run in any of the streets of the town at a speed greater than eight miles an hour and that all such vehicles shall be equipped with lights that can be seen 100 yards away at night and with bells "which when rung may be heard 100 feet distant." The penalty for each and every violation of any of the sections of the measure is to be a fine of $10. The adoption of the ordinance shows that Morristown understands that automobiles have come not only to stay, but to go at a high rate of speed.

Chairman William B. Gourley, of the Democratic State comittee, in his call for the convention to be held in Trenton on September 12th for the selection of Presidential electors, figures that there will be 1,089 delegates in the convention and that 545 votes will be necessary to a choice. The following apportionment of votes has been made for the several counties, based on the vote for Governor in 1898: Atlantic, 28; Bergen, 63; Burlington, 42; Camden, 82; Cape May, 16; Cumberland 33; Essex, 170; Gloucester, 20; Hudson, 172; Hunterdon, 29; Mercer, 57; Middlesex, 45; Monmouth, 57; Morris, 42; Ocean, 23; Passaic, 63; Salem, 18; Somerset, 24; Sussex, 21; Union, 57; Warren, 27.

When the Democratic convention for the Eighth Congressional district meets it will not be necessary for the delegates to go out on a still hunt looking for some one to nominate, as has been the case during the last few years. Two aspirants for the nomination of Congressman will be on hand at any rate. They are Edward S. Wilde, of Glen Ridge, and Frederick W. Park, of Cranford. Mr. Wilde is a veteran campaigner, and if he is nominated he will devote nearly all his time until election day in stumping the Eighth district as Congressman Fowler's opponent. Mr. Park, young and aggressive, also promises to conduct a lively canvass if he is named.

The season for silly political stories has commenced with great vigor. Following closely upon the report that the Filipino Junta is to contribute a cool $5,000,000 to the Democratic campaign fund comes the statement, made by a London correspondent, that Oom Paul is to send $2,500,000, more or less, to Mr Bryan's managers. At that rate we suppose that not less than $10,000,000 will be reported as coming from the Boxers.

Dr. Leslie D. Ward says there is no foundation for the report that he is organizing a Republican demonstration at Asbury Park, as reported upon the authority of local Republican politicians. Dr. Ward said he was not engaged in that sort of work and had no desire to be. It is understood that President McKinley will be unable to visit Asbury Park.

It is announced that Senator Foraker, of Ohio, will be the speaker at the mass meeting to follow the convention of the State League of Republican Clubs, to be held in Jersey City September 13th. Mr. Foraker will prove a great political drawing card.

Section 5, of Article VI of the State Constitution of North Carolina provides that among the classes of voters disqualified from office holding in that State shall be "all persons who shall deny the being of Almighty God."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Some idea of the immense number of Plainfielders who have been enjoyed the hot weather by the seashore or in the mountains or country can be gained by the statement of the fact that one letter carrier in the local post-office reports eighty-one families on his route as being out of town. When the same condition prevails to a greater or lesser degree on all the other mail routes it can easily be estimated that a large number of Plainfielders are finding recreation and rest elsewhere than at home.

Last week Friday C. M. Raybert, T. S. Armstrong and E. A. Enander, of this city, went to the fishing banks from New York on the Steamer Albert Foster. They had great expectations as to how many fish they were going to catch and bring home to their friends, but not one of the brave fishermen got a bite all day long. They were eye witnesses to the sad drowning accident whereby a young man on their boat fell overboad. The boat was travelling so fast that it could not get back in time to save him. This accident cast a gloom over the entire party of pleasure seekers and little else was done the rest of the afternoon.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

BICYCLES and MOTORS

SONG OF THE CYCLER.

Sun on the upland and dew on the clover—
Gold on the heights and green shadows below;
With the gray mists of the morn hanging over
All the wide marshes where rush-grasses grow;
Beauty behind us and beauty before us,
Everywhere beauty to see and to feel!
Sing with the lark in the blue heaven o'er us—
Good-by to worries and work when a-wheel!

I am a gypsy, a blithe-hearted rover!
Kin to the winds and the woodland am I—
Free as the hawk floating silently over,
Bathing his wings in the blue of the sky.
Free as the fancies that come all unbidden,
As, with my comrade whose sinews are steel,
Mile after mile of the green earth is ridden—
Care to the winds, and be glad when a-wheel!

Blithe blows the breeze from the valley before us,
Pause to take breath on the crest of the hill,
Under the pines that are singing in chorus
Songs that are echoes of wind and of rill.
Earth smiling heavenward, and all that's above it
Sweet with the beauty we see and we feel—
Life is worth living when men learn to love it
Under blue skies and the spell of the wheel!

WHEELS AND THE LAW.

Cycling Paper Urges Wheelmen to Work for Sidepaths Instead of Good Country Roads.

The decision of the Massachusetts supreme court that the bicycle is not a carriage is worthy of the space news papers have given it, yet it is not novel, being but a reiteration of the Michigan opinion in the case of Leslie vs. the city of Grand Rapids, in which case, as in the Massachusetts action, the court decided that cities and towns are not required to keep their highways in condition for safety in cycling. The Massachusetts opinion, however, touches one new point in declaring that it is because the bicycle is not a "carriage"—inasmuch as it cannot be used on all roads and at all seasons—that cities and towns are given the power by statutes to lay out, construct and maintain bicycle side paths; and this item is well worth to cycling all that the decision seems to cost in other respects.

If the Michigan and Massachusetts opinion but becomes a precedent in a few other important states, and the wheelmen are thereby made acquainted with the fact that they have no remedy in the law for damages sustained in riding over common roads, the result cannot fail to be an enormous national sidepaths movement that must in the end be productive of interstate paths, forming an endless network of safe and rideable wheelways the country over.

In view of the noncarriage decisions noted above and the several findings declaring side paths legislation to be constitutional, which serve to establish permanently the fact that wheelmen need not look for safety on common roads but are entitled by law to special paths of their own, there seems to be no alternative but for the riders of bicycles to accept what is theirs and to put forth their efforts in extending cycle paths. Of course, good roads are well enough, but why, adds the Cycling Gazette, waste effort in spreading the good roads gospel the benefits of which will accrue only to those who pay for the paths? This is the selfish view, but it strikes us that cyclists have already been unselfish a sufficient length of time.

BEER AUTOMOBILE.

Thirsty Chicagoans Want Their Summer Beverage Delivered Faster Than at Present.

Chicago is famous for its remarkable efforts to be unique; and Chicago has just decided that its beer is not being delivered fast enough. Therefore, a steam beer truck has been invented, and, if it works well, the self-propelling beer wagon will soon be a common sight in the Windy City.

A Chicago brewery will, within a few days, have one of these, capable of carrying six tons of beer, in service in the downtown district. It will be the first of the kind to be operated in Chicago, and the experiment will be watched with interest by students of new methods of transportation.

AUTOMOBILE BEER WAGON.

The cost of the vehicle will be $3,500. The truck was designed by T. A. Dull and E. J. Shrader, and is said in several important features materially to differ from anything in the line of steam or motor wagons heretofore conceived. By its use more rapid delivery is hoped for by thirsty Chicagoans.

A gentleman who delights in the game of whist and believes in playing it quietly and making it somewhat a matter of business recently, while visiting a sister one evening, took a hand in a family game and had for his partner the said sister, who is his very opposite in temperament and enjoys cracking jokes and making pert speeches. As the game wore on the brother became irascible and almost exasperated by her continued laughter and light talk. He called out emphatically at last, "Come pay attention to the game, don't laugh so much;" and she answered, "What you want is a Ripans Tabule; take one and you can laugh, too." She thereupon took out of her pocket a vial of the Tabules and gave him one, which he swallowed as a sort of penance for his petulance. A few weeks after a friend who had been present at the card party meeting him on the street, asked, after the usual greeting, "How about the Ripans?" His answer was, "First rate," and then he said seriously, "That Tabule was swallowed as a joke, perhaps, but Ripans Tabules and I have become friends. I perceived a benefit from that one, so I bought some and have continued their use. They have garnished me from top to bottom. I guess I don't talk and laugh as much as Amelia does, but I laugh more than I used and feel in better spirits all the time."

DAINTY SUMMER DISH.

Full Directions for Preparing Tomato Salad Parisienne, a New Hot Weather Delicacy.

Scald six round, ripe tomatoes of equal size, and remove the skin. Cut from the stem side a round piece two inches in diameter, scoop out the seeds, dust the shells with a pinch of salt, fill with cracked ice and leave on ice for three hours.

For the filling, boil a live lobster, weighing about two pounds, for fifteen minutes in a court bouillon made with four quarts of water, one gill of vinegar, one sliced onion, four sprigs of parsley, two cloves and one bayleaf. This must boil ten minutes before the lobster is put in. Allow an extra five minutes if the lobster weighs over three pounds. When cooked split the shell, remove the meat, cutting the latter in pieces a quarter-inch thick. Slin thin enough sour pickles to make two tablespoonfuls. Cut in small pieces the bottom of two artichokes which have previously been cooked for 40 minutes in plenty of salted boiling water and cooled. Have at hand also one quart cooked string beans. Cut in small pieces enough for four tablespoonfuls, reserving the balance with which to garnish. Put the four articles in a bowl and season with a half-teaspoonful salt, two pinches pepper, one salad-spoonful vinegar, two of olive oil. Mix gently, put on ice for an hour, then turn the salad into a strainer to drain, and put on ice for thirty minutes before returning to a cold bowl. Make with the yolk of an egg and two gills of olive oil a good stiff mayonnaise. Put aside two tablespoonfuls for the top of tomatoes, and mix the rest with the salad. Empty the tomatoes, drain, fill with the force meat, add the reserved mayonnaise and put on each a shrimp or lobster claw. Serve with the string beans dressed with a French dressing around them. Cold chicken or ham may be used instead of the lobster.—Harper's Bazar.

CLEVER ARRANGEMENT.

How a Country Mason Constructed an Effective Fireplace at Merely Nominal Expense.

This simple and inexpensive but effective fireplace was built by a country mason out of common brick, those making the arch being knocked out to a point before placing them in position. The projections on either side serve as seats when the fireplace is used by placing cushions upon them, or they hold tall jars of flowers in the summer. The upper part of the chimney, which shows in the room of the ceiling, is conical in form, with a three-sided projection just back of a broad wooden mantel, which extends around it. The bricks were first painted an artistic sage green with common paint, and afterward finished with the same color in enamel, while the wooden mantel was stained the same shade of green.—N. Y. Tribune.

INEXPENSIVE FIREPLACE.

To Restore Faded Silks.

Faded silks can be restored by being sponged with weak ammonia water and afterwards rubbed with a soft cloth. Old black silks are improved by a sponge bath of spirit and water, and cloth dresses by being brushed with blue water. After the gown has been beaten and dusted thoroughly, dip the bristles of a clothesbrush into blue water and brush the dress quickly. To remove grease spots from a skirt of woolen or other material use benzine. Unpack the hem or band of the skirt and lay a piece of flannel or blotting paper beneath the soil; above it put a second piece of blotting paper, and on this rest a hot iron until the stain is removed.—St. Louis Republic.

How to Keep Tins Bright.

When tins are hard to wash, where food has burned on, like baked fish or oatmeal, put the dish on the stove, filled with cold water and a half-teaspoonful of baking powder, and let it boil, and your dish will wash readily and the odor of fish will be gone.

AN INDIAN HEIRESS.

Little Kiowa Girl Inherits the Fortune of a Millionaire Whose Life She Once Saved.

Annie Trueheart Dillion, a pretty Kiowa girl, about 14 years old, daughter of Black Wolf, a noted chief of his tribe, is sole heiress to the entire fortune of $1,000,000 and more left by John Dillion, a rich cattle man, who about seven years ago was saved from death at the hands of a half-breed assassin by this little girl. The girl's education is to be begun at once under the care of the bishop of Monterey.

Dillion was born and reared in Ireland, and when he came to America he went to Texas and worked on a ranch in that state as laborer and cowboy. By careful management he became rich.

One night he attend d an Indian dance and drank more than was good for him. He had a great deal of money with him, and about all he remembered afterward was that late in the night he was seized with a sudden desire to lie down in some secluded spot, where he could enjoy a night's rest undisturbed. He supposes that he went to his buggy and got a blanket and sought a place that pleased him. Late in the night the old Texan felt something pulling at his arms, and when he opened his eyes he found that a little Indian girl was trying to wake him. As soon as the child saw that his eyes were open she whispered:

ANNIE TRUEHEART DILLION.

"Dillion, now you go putty quick. Hawk heap bad man. Putty soon he come. Him got big knife—kill white man—take hoss—take heap money. Me hear him talk. Him heap drunk. You go now."

The child ran away, and Dillion slipped from under his blankets and rolled them together. After placing his hat at one end of the roll and his boots at the other he crawled away a short distance and laid down under a tree to watch for further developments. He did not wait long before he saw a man cautiously approach the pile of blankets. The drunken assassin was deceived by the hat and boots. He thought that his victim was at his mercy, and he drew a big knife from his belt and drove it into the roll of blankets with all his strength. The next instant Hawk sprang into the air with a wild yell and fell dead across the blankets, with a bullet in his heart. Dillion had killed him.

The old Texan never afterward was the same man. He continued to attend to his business and make money, but it was easy to see that there was a cloud on his mind. He never suspected his friend, Black Wolf, or any of the Indians of the village of having aided or abetted the assassin. He became attached devotedly to the Indian girl who had saved his life, and he finally got the chief's consent to let him educate her and make her his heir. She was to be given to him when she became 14 years old, but he died a short time ago, and now the girl's future and fortune are in the hands of important persons. John Rodgers, of Presidio, who was in the millionaire's employ for nearly a quarter of a century, is the executor of the will, and he says that the Indian girl will inherit a fortune of $1,000,000 in cash that is with a safe deposit company in New York, and, besides this, when she is of legal age, or when she marries, she will come into possession of a fine ranch in the Rio Grande that is well stocked with cattle, and one of the prettiest haciendos in old Mexico.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

DR. JOHN F. HILL.

Republican Candidate for Governor of Maine Lives in the Old Blaine House at Augusta.

The republican nominee for governor of Maine, Dr. John F. Hill, is one of the best known men in the Pine Tree state. He lives in Augusta, and represented that city in the assembly in 1889. In 1893 and 1895 he represented Kennebec county in the senate. In 1896 he was a presidential elector.

Though Dr. Hill is a graduate of Bowdoin medical college, he has devoted little time to the practice of medicine. Since associating himself with the publishing firm now under the name of Vickery & Hill he has given his time and energy to its affairs. But he has other interests as well. His share in the electric railroad development of his state has swelled to generous proportions his private income. Besides, he is director and trustee of several financial institutions and is a large real estate owner. Two leading hotels in Augusta are among his holdings.

DR. JOHN F. HILL.
(Republican Nominee for Governor of Maine.)

For two years Dr. Hill has lived in the house occupied so long by James G. Blaine and his family. The legislature once attempted to buy this historic homestead, with a view of making it the executive mansion. Dr. Hill has a long lease of the estate. Thus it happens that the intention of the legislature will be carried out after all, and James G. Blaine's old home will become in effect at least what the legislature intended.

At the previous state convention Dr. Hill was prominently mentioned as a candidate for governor. But his ill health at this time would not permit him to accept, and at his own earnest solicitation his name was withdrawn. At the recent convention he was nominated by acclamation.

PRINCE KUROPATKIN.

Czar's Minister of War May Assume Command of the Russian Troops Now in China.

Gen. Alexei Nicolaievitch Kuropatkin, who, it is said, will be sent to China as the commander in chief of the Russian forces, is the Russian minister of war, and is probably the most trusted, most powerful and most faithful servant of the czar. Long ago, when Kuropatkin was a young man, he was sent into Turkestan with the Russian advance, and spent his youth in high adventure and in winning for himself honors, decorations and promotion. When he had served his apprenticeship in the marches, bivouacs of the east, he returned to Europe and resumed his studies in the schools. At Paris he won the Legion of Honor, and was the first Russian officer to do so. This was in 1874. The following year he went to Kokand, fought in the Pamirs—the "roof of the world"—and in the country of Kublai Khan. He rode 2,500 miles on horseback, came back, wrote a book and won the gold medal of the Geographical society. He entered the war with Turkey as a lieutenant and emerged from it as a colonel. "For God, the czar and country" was the motive of all his deeds, and this faithfulness was not without its effect. Slowly he rose on the ladder of advancement, until in 1898 he was made absolute master, under the czar, of the armies of all the Russias. Kuropatkin's rank will probably give him command of the allied forces in China.

GEN. ALEXEI KUROPATKIN.
(May Be Sent to China as Comander of the Russian Forces.)

The Growth of Mormonism.

The Mormons have at present 1,623 young men employed as missionaries in America and Europe. Their greatest successes are in the slums of large cities, where the miserably poor hear gladly the Mormon gospel of thrift in this world and eternal blessedness in the next. The leaders are jubilant over the 22,000 new converts gained for their church the last year, and prophesy that within a few years they shall control the entire west and the western provinces of Canada, where the faith of the Latter Day Saints is taking deep root.

A GARDEN PARTY.

Particulars to Be Observed When Such an Affair Is Undertaken.

There is a slight difference in the wording of garden party invitations. The majority of people still adhere to the stereotyped form of "At home four to seven;" some few make the invitations more elaborate by requesting the pleasure of their guest's company at "a garden party" on such-and-such a date, day and hour; again, others add "garden party" in the corner of the at home cards, but in all cases when large functions are given the full-sized at home cards are used; on all other occasions, when the guests number under a hundred, the ordinary or average size cards are in use. It is customary to put the names of husbands and wives and the names of the daughters on the same cards, separate cards being sent to the son or sons of a family in each case. The words "and party" are not put on the cards as in the country, as they would have no significance in town. Where an invitation includes two members of a family, and one only is able to attend, it is not unusual for that one to take a relative in place of the one invited, and to mention this when introducing the stranger to the hostess, companionship being desirable on these occasions, and this is generally understood.

Garden party amusements are a wide question, and are regarded under various aspects. Up-to-date hostesses consider that some novelty in the amusement line should be forthcoming, and they endeavor to secure it. Failing something new and original, a band is generally resorted to as being likely to give pleasure to the greatest number, and to sit under the trees on a sultry afternoon and listen to the strains is a welcome change from the crowded thoroughfares of town for an hour or so, says the Philadelphia Press.

At town garden parties refreshments are invariably served out of doors, actually in the open air, which is far preferable to the hot atmosphere engendered in tents of all kinds. The refreshments are usually served on different tables. On one long table ices and strawberries; on another claret cup and other iced drinks, also hothouse fruits, grapes, peaches, etc.; and on the longest of the tables tea, coffee and all the small confectionery, cakes and sandwiches, appear. In some houses a different plan is followed, especially when the ground-floor rooms are easy of access through French windows, or through a large entrance hall communicating with the gardens—that is to say, a double arrangement for refreshments is made. Tea, coffee, ices, fruit, strawberries and cream, and the attendant delicacies in the way of ornamental cakes and sweets, are given in a dining-room or library as well as out of doors, or the tea and coffee are served in the house, and strawberries and cream, together with other fruit, ices and iced drinks, are given out of doors, served on large and small tables. When possible small tables are placed in the vicinity of the larger ones to accommodate parties of four. And again, when a tent is used on account of doubtful weather, these small tables are a great convenience in the matter of serving, and of comfort to the guests.

ESTIMATE ON BRIDGE WORK.

That Was What He Wanted But He Went to the Wrong Place for It.

There were still a few cinders on his collar as he climbed the iron stairway of a down-town building, says the Chicago Evening News.

"Good morning!" he said, as a tall gentleman in gold eyeglasses responded to the bell. "I was told that you do practical bridgework?"

"Yes, sir, we do."

"Well, I am county clerk down home and I thought I would get your estimate."

"What kind of bridge work do you wish, sir?"

"Well, you see we want some kind of a bridge across a 200-yard creek."

"Across a creek?"

"Yes, and we don't wish anything very expensive. About how much would an iron span cost?"

The tall gentleman in gold eyeglasses smiled. "I think you have made a mistake."

"Well, we don't want a common wooden bridge. Plenty of carpenters down home would do that kind of work."

"You don't understand me, sir."

"No, I don't! I always thought a man would like to get a contract in his line."

"But I don't do that kind of work."

"Too small, eh? Just build bascule bridges. Well, I guess I'll have to go where they ain't so independent. But what in thunder is that racket? Man caught in the elevator?"

"No, sir, a man having his tooth pulled."

"Tooth pulled?"

"Yes, sir; this is a dental company."

"But they told me you did bridge work."

"So we do; dental bridge work. Here, take a few of our cards down home."

But the man with the cinders on his collar had vanished.

Potato Corks.

Potato corks are always appreciated when the tubers are getting old. Boil some potatoes and make them dry and floury, mash them finely and moisten them with butter and a little egg. Season with cayenne and salt and a suspicion of nutmeg. Make them into corks, flour lightly, brush over with egg and bake in a quick oven.—Boston Globe.

HOUSEHOLD BITS.

A Budget of Brevities Which May Be of Service to the Busy Housewife.

A johnnycake so cheap that even the impecunious housekeeper can afford it, and so delicious that the critical wayfaring man will not turn up his nose at it, is made as follows: Stir together one tablespoonful each of drippings (chicken oil preferred) and sugar. Add one beaten egg, a saltspoonful of salt and one cupful of sour milk, into which one-half teaspoonful of soda has been beaten until it stops "purring." Lastly add corn meal and flour in the proportion of two-thirds meal and one-third flour, taking care that it is not too stiff. It should be thin enough when poured in the pan to flatten out easily. Bake in a hot oven, says the Washington Star.

A delicious tea punch frequently served at that feminine function, the five o'clock tea, is made in this wise: Add to the juice of three lemons and three oranges the pulp and juice of a shredded pineapple and one pint of sugar. Let the mixture stand until the sugar is dissolved. Pour one quart of boiling water over one tablespoonful of Ceylon or any good tea and let it stand until cold. Strain, add to the fruit, pulp and juice, together with one quart of apollinaris water and one box fresh strawberries used whole. Pour over a block of ice in punch bowl.

When eggs are used in the breakfast pancakes this way of adding them to the batter makes all the difference in the world with the lightness and delicacy of the cakes: Instead of beating the eggs, whites and yolks together, beat the yolks first until lemon-colored and thick and stir well into the batter. Then, just the last thing before baking, fold, not stir, in the whites, which have been beaten until stiff. This leaves the air cells of the whites intact, and the cakes will be as light as foam.

Rhubarb canned with equal quantities of pineapple and cranberries is recommended as a delicious combination. Pale green and pink effects for the popular color teas may be obtained by canning young and tender pieplant with the skin on.

An effective cement for mending cracks in a stove or oven is made by using wood ashes and salt in equal quantities mixed with water to a paste. This soon hardens with the heat, making a surface almost as firm as the original.

The best treatment for a cambric or gingham shirt waist that has been faded with the strong alkali soap used in laundries is to slip it carefully in a weak bath of vinegar and water, rinse well and iron it smooth at once.

A small sponge saturated with oil of lavender and hung near the bed of a handkerchief moistened and laid near an invalid's couch will be found an efficient aid in driving away intrusive flies.

The application of a bit of soap on the point of a lead pencil to a creaky hinge will cure its stiffness and silence its complaints.

A cupful of milk added to the water with which an oilcloth or oiled floor is to be washed gives them a luster like new.

To prevent the fringe of towels and doilies from breaking and wearing off, snap the article when the fringe is damp.

Eating freely of watercress for several consecutive days will remove tartar of long standing from the teeth.

All green vegetables keep their color better if boiled rapidly and left uncovered.

THE SERVANT GIRL IS HUMAN.

And Should Be Treated with as Much Consideration as Other Mortals.

"In looking after your servant do not overlook the fact that she is a woman, and very human, with all the likes and dislikes, the love of pleasure, rest and recreation possessed by other human beings," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal. "If she has not had the advantage of education and knows but little of the world, remember that she is so much the more to be pitied. Women, as a class, from lack of proper training, are not businesslike. The housewife retains the responsibility of all the detail work rather than give it over to her servant; hence the lack of interest and responsibility on the part of the average maid. If the housewife would but allow her servant to become responsible for the great bulk of the detail work much confusion would be avoided. Persons become responsible only by having responsibility placed upon them, and servants, as a rule, feel the importance of their work according to the trust which is reposed in them and the responsibility which is placed on them."

Useful Bon Voyage Gift.

If you have ever noticed how forgetful and bewildered people become when packing a satchel you will not smile at the useful little parting token a quick-witted niece gave her aunt. It was simply a card some four inches long and three inches wide, on which was neatly written an enumeration of the necessary and desirable articles that should go into a satchel. Besides a full list of toilet implements it included soap, scissors, court plaster, corkscrew, needles, thread, clothes brush, twine, boot laces, collar buttons, small mirror, address book and pencil.—Woman's Home Companion.

Temper.

The worst temper in the world is the unrelenting, hard, unresponsive temper, which plumes it itself on never forgetting an injury.—Ladies' Home Journal.

In Slugging Matches.

The quick movements of a pugilist are apt to be sluggish.—Chicago Daily News.

YOUNGEST LION TAMER.

Six-Year-Old Girl Wields an Almost Incredible Influence Over Her Wild Pupils.

Stella is the six-year-old daughter of Robert Aginton, manager of the Atlantic City zoo. She has been familiar with wild animals since she was a tiny baby, but the lions alone seem to hold her interest, says the New York World.

The child is a fragile, pretty little thing, almost a baby still in speech and demeanor, but the influence she wields over the lions is wonderful.

Her first experience came last year. She begins the education of all the zoo lions. When the babies are two weeks old they make their first appearance in public, and are turned over to Stella. The child takes them just as she would a basket of kittens and sits and plays with them until they learn to love and obey her. She reaches into their little cage where they lie cuddled up asleep, drags them out by the nape of their necks and then has a grand romp with them.

This is preliminary to the lesson she gives them each day. She first plays that they are naughty children and stands them in the corners, then they are forced to perch in chairs and look grave and wise.

She plays grandmother, and the biggest baby is dressed in a cap and spectacles.

Then follows a hilarious half hour, when Stella makes the lazy cub jump through hoops and walk about on their hind legs. It is great fun for Stella, and the cubs soon learn that her word is law.

After she has had them for about two weeks they respond eagerly to her call and trot about after her in the most affectionate fashion.

When they are three months old cub lions commence to grow savage. They claw and snap viciously at their keepers. Stella has successfully managed her charges past this stage, and several of the older lions at the zoo, who are viciously inclined toward the men, have never attempted to molest the child.

Shortly after she began to train the baby lions, Stella was painfully wounded by an African cub, so much so that her parents vowed that she should never go near a lion again.

But Stella was undaunted, and seems to have forgotten the incident entirely. So fearless is the child that she begs to be admitted to the cages containing the four immense African lions. She watches their performance with great delight, and vows that she is going to be "The Lady of the Lions" some day.

Stella's present charges are dangerous ones. Their father is Wallace, the man-eater, who has a record of seven men. The mother is the famous Juno. So the cubs are the finest specimens of the full-blooded African lion.

SAMUEL R. VAN SANT.

Noted Grand Army Man Nominated for Governor by the Republicans of Minnesota.

Capt. Samuel R. Van Sant, republican nominee for governor of Minnesota, is an exceedingly popular man in that state.

Capt. Van Sant was a candidate for the nomination two years ago, receiving 400 votes, but was defeated. Disappointed ambition did not sour him, however. Defeat, indeed, seemed to lend redoubled activity to his labors for the success of the ticket, and at last his warm adherents have the satisfaction of seeing him as their standard bearer. His nomination was by acclamation.

Capt. Van Sant is an enthusiastic member of the grand army. In 1894 he was elected senior vice commander, and in 1895 traveled more than 20,000 miles, attending camp fires, encampments, reunions, etc., of his comrades. He gave his patriotic services to the union cause in the civil war, and his business career has been signalized by sterling integrity. He is a man of abounding energy, and he will give his opponent a lively fight.

A ROYAL ROMANCE.

King Alexander of Servia Is Forced to Put Guards About His Betrothed's House.

The announcement is made by King Alexander of Servia of his betrothal to Mme. Maschin, formerly lady in waiting to Queen Natalie, caused a sensation throughout Servia and a commotion in Vienna. She is of obscure birth and 12 years older than King Alexander. The Servian ministry upon learning of the betrothal promptly resigned. The match is regarded in Belgrade as preposterous and a menace to the state. Feeling is so strong that the king has placed a guard around Mme. Maschin's house, fearing that an attempt might be made to abduct her.

It is evident that Alexander, after years of effort and always meeting with rebuff, has at last given up hope of securing a bride from one of the royal houses of Europe. If general reports may be accepted, the young king is, morally, very much like his father, Milan. He is low and depraved in his taste and disposition, and has been involved in many entanglements, with the result that his wooing even among the minor royalties has always been unsuccessful.

The kingship of the royal house of Obrenovitch is of the vintage of 1882, and the royal houses of Europe do not seem to consider it quite ripe for use yet. The founder of the line was old Miloch, a swineherder, who became prominent in the struggle of the Servians against the Turks and treacherous murdered his rival, Kara George. In 1870 Miloch's father married the widow of a man named Obren, and when, in 1880, the swineherder was elected prince he took the name of Obrenovitch. It is doubtful if either he or his father had any family name. When, after a stormy reign, old Miloch died in 1860, he was succeeded by his son, Michael. Michael was assassinated in 1868, and was succeeded by a grandson of old Miloch's brother, Yephren. This grandson is the royal blackleg, Milan, who has disgraced the memory of the swineherds, his grandfather and great-uncle. Milan abdicated in 1889, and his son, Alexander, after a regency of several years, in January, 1894, when only 17 years old, seized the government by a coup d'etat and assumed full control.

GERONIMO IS INSANE.

According to Recent Report Famous Chief of Apaches Has Become a Raving Maniac.

The famous old Apache chief Geronimo, who has been a federal prisoner at Fort Sill for the last ten years, has become a raving maniac. Even his cunning has deserted him. He now requires constant attention to keep him out of mischief.

It cost the United States much more than a million dollars and the lives of several hundred soldiers to put Geronimo behind the bars. For almost a half century he led his braves on repeated raids into Mexico and against the white settlers in the far southwest. His name was feared in all the states and territories south of Colorado. In 1882 Gen. Nelson A. Miles and the late Maj. Gen. Lawton set out to run the wily old chief to the ground. For nearly four years he led them a merry dance over the mountains and deserts of New Mexico and Arizona. Finally they cornered him and the remnant of his band in a deep ravine in the mountains, and after starving the Indians almost to death succeeded in getting them to surrender. The prisoners were at first sent to the government military post at Mount Vernon, Ala., but so many of them died there of consumption that the survivors were sent ten years ago to Fort Sill.

The Automobile in Germany.

The automobile industry, though still in its infancy in Germany, is being rapidly developed, and, in the opinion of the United States consul at Leipsig, is destined to become an important factor in the manufacturing industries of the country. The large amount of capital and energy which is being expended upon this branch of industry indicates that the German business men have great confidence in the future of automobilism.

ANOTHER ABANDONMENT.

People Living in Vicinity of Richmond and East Sixth Streets Much Wrought Up Over it.

Another case of desertion has come to the attention of the Plainfield police. Heretofore there have been several individual cases but the last was of a wholesale nature. Six abandoned ones were found yesterday morning in the vacant lot at the corner of Richmond and East Sixth streets.

One of the residents in that vicinity noticed a colored man walk into the field Monday evening with a bundle in his arms. He carried it tenderly. A few minutes later he reappeared and hurried away but without the bundle. From the direction of the field, there came very faint and sorrowful wails. Then the residents knew that another horrible crime had been committed right before their very face and that the inhuman criminal had fled and was in a fair way to escape justice.

No investigation was made that night but yesterday Roundsman Mattox hurried to the place and found five little ones, some white and others colored, sprawling out in the grass. Their cries had ceased long ago. Five litte kittens lay heaped in the grass.

J. H. McVey, the well-known hotel man on North avenue, has under consideration a proposition to dispose of his hotel business. The prospective purchasers are Joseph T. Hibbard and Frederick W. Jones, of New York. Mr. Hibbard has for some time past been the manager of the "Herald Square Cafe" near the Herald Square Theatre, New York, and both he and Mr. Jones are experienced men in the hotel and cafe business. They have made a proposition to Mr. McVey, and the matter is now under consideration. Mr. McVey has made no plans for the future in case he should sell out, but he would probably take a much needed rest. The matter will be settled in a few days.

MIDGET ANIMALS.

Fine Parade of The Gentry Show This Morning—Everything Nice and Clean.

Every small boy and girl in the city who could get there lined up along the curb this morning to see the street parade of Gentry's Dog and Pony Show. A prettier array of little ponies than was shown would be hard to find. They were energetic, well-groomed little creatures and made a fine showing with their gay trappings. They pulled a band wagon, several cages of monkeys, chariots full of all varieties of canines who watched the crowd with joyful expressions and numerous wagging tails. Then there was a miniature police patrol and some tiny fire apparatus, all equipped with youthful drivers.

COLORED BOY ACCUSED.

Howard Lowry Charged With Theft of Watches From Woodhull & Martin's Store.

A case of watches disappeared from the show-window of Woodhull & Martin's big store in the Babcock building, West Front street, early last spring. Two lads came into the store and while one made a trifling purchase at a counter, thereby keeping the attention of the clerk nearest the window, the other carefully relieved a case of watches of its contents. A number of other articles were stolen in a similar manner.

This morning Roundsman Mattox placed Howard Lowry, colored, aged seventeen years, under arrest on the charge of grand larceny. Chief Kiely has been investigating the thefts at Woodhull & Martin's ever since he came into office, and now believes that he has brought the real culprit to justice.

There are several more lads in the city, who, it is alleged, took part in the plot to rob the store and their arrest will soon follow that of Lowry's. Lowry will be arraigned before Justice Nash this afternoon.

CARRIED GUN ON SUNDAY

JUSTICE COLLINS IMPOSED FINE OF $20 ON OFFENDER.

Afterwards Suspended Sentence—"Count" VanNess Complaining Witness.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 14—The case of Game Warden Hawkins, of Roselle, against Edward Verity, of East Front street, charged by J. K. VanNest, a neighbor, with carrying a gun on Sunday, July 15th, was tried last evening before Justice Collins, of this place, and proved to be quite exciting. "Count" VanNess was on hand to prove that his neighbor, Verity, carried the gun on the Sabbath day, and Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, of Plainfield, was present to represent the defendant.

The hearing brought out the fact that Mr. VanNest was trespassing on the defendant's property against his will, and that Verity thought by showing a gun he could scare the plaintiff off. The fact that Mr. Verity carried a gun was sufficien for Justice Collins to impose a fine of $20, the limit prescribed by law.

Lawyer Hetfield showed conclusively that Mr. VanNest had no business on the defendant's property, and was clearly guilty of trespassing. When ordered to go off the property he should have gone, and the fact that Mr. Verity was carrying a gun on his own property, should not influence the court to impose the fine prescribed by law. Mr. Hetfield said that the court should not apply the provisions of the law in this case, when the circumstances were so plain that it was only for the purpose of driving Mr. VanNest off his own property that he carried the gun.

After the $20 fine was imposed Warden Hawkins had a talk with Justice Collins. The latter instead of insisting on the payment of the fine, suspended sentence.

PLAINFIELD MAY NOT GET COMPANY.

Princeton and Orange Likely, it is Said, to be Taken Into the State Guard.

TWO COMPANIES DISBANDED

GOVERNOR VOORHESS FAVORS ORANGE BEFORE PLAINFIELD.

There is an Armory in That City, and it is Thought That Union County is Well Enough Represented in State Guard Now.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 15. — Orders were issued yesterday disbanding the Montclair and Newton companies of the Second Regiment, National Guard, and it is thought that companies from Orange and Princeton will be named in their stead. The reason for the wiping out of the Montclair and Newton companies is their failure to make a satisfactory showing at the recent encampment of the regiment at Sea Girt.

Colonel Gillmore, the commandant of the regiment, who is an old army officer and a stickler for the best discipline, expressed himself as much displeased with the two companies at the time of the encampment, and as a result the State military authorities decided to wipe them out. Governor Voorhees is known to look kindly on the proposition to give Orange a military company, because of the fact that when the old Second Regiment was abolished, that town was left without representation in the National Guard. Then, too, Orange has an armory, and the Governor thinks it would be well to attach a company from such a well equipped place to the Second Regiment.

A strong effort has been made to have a company of Plainfield young men substituted for the Montclair company, but the impression obtains that Governor Voorhees believes that Union county is already sufficiently well represented in the new National Guard.

That the Newton company will be replaced by one from Princeton seems to be assured. In fact, a company is already being recruited in the university town, and it is proposed to have Professor Libbey for its captain. Professor Libbey took an active part in recruiting a company from the students during the Spanish-American War, and has always been interested in military matters.

The new company will, of course, be composed of young men from the town proper, and not of students. The fact that Princeton is now connected with Trenton by trolley is being urged as one of the reasons why it would be desirable to have a guard company there. The regimental headquarters are in Trenton and a battalion of the regiment is also located here. It is expected that within a short period Trenton will have an armory and the location of a company at Princeton would bring it within easy access of the armory.

Governor Voorhees also issued an order yesterday abolishing the National Guard ambulance corps, which has had its headquarters at Jersey City. Under the old guard law this corps was required to accompany all regiments and brigades when encamped at Sea Girt. The First Regiment, however, always had an ambulance corps of its own, and never impressed the State corps into service. The new guard law does not call for an ambulance corps, and for a year past the existing corps has been inefficient. It is proposed to have a detail from each regiment to act as an ambulance corps in the future.

Birch Bark Models.

Several birch bark models of trout taken from Lake Edward, Canada, during June by A. B. Blair, of Scranton, Pa., and W. H. Shaw, of this city, are now on exhibition in the show windows of J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store on Park avenue. They are fine large specimens.

On account of ill health J. M. Smalley has decided to give up business and has sold his meat market on Watchung avenue to Jeppe Sorensen, who has been in his employ for some time. Mr. Sorensen was formerly in business on Richmond street.

COPYING THE RECORDS.

WORK IN THE COURT HOUSE WILL TAKE NEARLY TWO YEARS MORE.

Force of Thirty-five Clerks at Work Every Night—Record of Every Piece of Property.

The task of copying the real estate records of the county is proving a stupendous one. The work is being done by the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark.

A corps of 35 clerks is at work every night in the county court house, and when the work has been completed a most exhaustive index will have been prepared.

During the daytime another force is at work in the new building of E. C. Woodruff on Broad street. Here 20 young women transcribe the work done by the night force.

A record is being made of every piece of property in the county, and when prepared and indexed the title company will have the most complete and exhaustive work on the subject in existence.

As now progressing, there seems to be work ahead for another year at least and perhaps two. The work will cost between $35,000 and $50,000 before it is completed.

The force of clerks at work in the court house is drawn from Elizabeth, Newark, Toms River, Atlantic City and other places. Several of them have resigned on account of the bad effect on the eyes.

The work is commenced at 6 o'clock in the evening and continues until 12. At that time one-half hour's recess is taken and then the work goes on until 6 o'clock the next morning. This is made necessary, as during the day the records are almost continually in use.

As soon as the extracts are made they are taken to the day force and recopied. From there they are taken by experts and compared with the records on file in the court house. After they have been approved they are bound in book form and returned to the fidelity company for printing.

When completed every piece of real estate in the county will have been searched and an indexed record will be on file, so that a prospective purchaser can investigete the title of any property in a few hours. At present an exhaustive search takes days and sometimes weeks to prepare, and the cost is often very heavy.

CONCERTS FOR BOROUGH.

Excellent Progress is Being Made to Raise Funds so That the Band Can Play.

Excellent progress is being made among the borough citizens in raising necessary funds to give a series of band concerts in the borough. The recent article in The Daily Press had the desired effect and many persons came forward and offered various sums to start the subscription lists. Most everyone who has been asked concerning the concerts have evidenced a desire and willingness to contribute toward the enterprise, and there is no good reason why the concerts should not be given.

There is fully as much enthusiasm among the boroughites as one will find in Plainfield, and the success attending the city concerts has thoroughly awakened the neighbors across the brook, who believe that they can give concerts with as much success. Every business man in the borough is willing to contribute, realizing that they will be a benefit to them. The officials are also glad for an opportunity to give their share towards the scheme. Those who are engineering the affair have not yet selected a spot to give the concerts, but several locations have been offered, anyone of which is excellently adapted for it. The trolley will be a means of bringing people from outside to the borough and it is believed that fully as many people will attend the concerts as have been in attendance npon those given in this city. It is also believed that enough money can be raised to give at least four concerts, once a week, and no doubt the Queen City Band will play under the same arrangements in the borough as they have been doing in the city. Everyone in the borough is enthusiastic over the concerts and it will give the people of the borough a happy diversion from the round of sameness.

To Get Rid of Mud.

In connection with the proposed plans of widening Somerset street, between Green brook and Jackson avenue, the borough officials have in mind special treatment for that portion of the street in front of the Public School, where the trolley company has a switch. It is hoped that the street may be so fixed at that point that the present surplus of mud, etc., may be overcome.

LOOKING FOR HARRIS

Two New York Detectives Spent Yesterday Afternoon With Chief Kiely Looking for Alleged Murderer.

Two officers of the New York detective force were in town yesterday afternoon looking for Arthur Harris, the colored man charged with the murder of Policeman Arthur Thorp in New York Saturday evening. Edward Martin, the colored porter at the North Avenue station, declared that he saw a man answering the description of Harris at the station Sunday afternoon. Chief Kiely accompanied the detectives on their trip through the town, but a diligent hunt failed to get any clue of the man they wanted. Harris' parents lived at Cranford and it was believed that he went there and then came to Plainfield the day after the murder was committed.

Following the services at the church the remains were taken to Elizabeth, where they were interred in Evergreen cemetery. The members of Goodwill Lodge, No. 8, K. of P, had charge of the services at the grave which were conducted according to the ritual of the order.

SUICIDE DUE TO THE HEAT.

Farm Hand at Lorraine Ends His Life With a Bullet.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 15—John K. Trussell, a farm hand, was found dead Monday night at Lorraine in an outhouse on a farm there. A revolver was tightly clutched in his hand and his head was resting in a pool of blood. He had evidently been dead over an hour when discovered.

The man was thirty-nine years old, single, and had worked over three years in the village. He had been acting strangely for the past week and complained of pains in his head. It is believed that he was driven insane by the intense heat, to which he was greatly exposed. The body was removed to Higgins' morgue at Elizabethport.

JEWELS WORTH $500 STOLEN LAST NIGHT

Country Home of William Wilson in Westfield Visited by Daring Burglars.

GUEST WAS THE VICTIM.

JEWELRY HAD NOT BEEN CONCEALED BY OWNER.

The Thief was Seen Leaving the House by Mrs. Hutchinson, Who Suffered the Loss, but Too Late to Prevent His Escape.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, August 15—Burglars entered the large country home of William Wilson on Rahway avenue, a short distance from this place last evening, and helped themselves to $500 worth of diamonds and jewelry belonging to Mrs. William R. Hutchinson, of New York, who is a guest at the home of her father, Mr. Wilson.

There is a house party at Mr. Wilson's residence among which are a number of wealthy people, including the Hutchensons. It was rather warm last evening and the house was left wide open, as there had been no trouble heretofore from burglars. The burglars evidently made their entrance through an open window on the ground floor. The women of the party had removed their jewelry at night and had taken no pains to conceal it.

Mrs. Hutchinson was awakened at midnight by a strange sound. As she looked up, she saw a shadowy form disappear through the doorway. She gave the alarm and the members of the household investigated. She was the only one to miss anything. A valuable gold ring, set with an opal and surrounded by ten diamonds, was gone. On the inside was engraved "Will to Hattie." There was also missing a garnet ring, a garnet and diamond breast pin and a pair of diamond drop ear-rings.

On the same bureau from where the jewels were stolen, there was a diamond necklace and gold watch in a case which were left untouched. A number of valuables were to be found in other rooms, but they were left undisturbed.

The loss was reported to Detective John M. C. Marsh and he is investigating. He declares that he has a clue and expects to run the criminals to earth in a short time.

BITTEN BY AN INSECT.

Lottie Campbell's Face Badly Swollen as a Result of Contact With The Bug.

Lottie Campbell, aged 11 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Campbell, of Avon Park, is very ill at her home and a consultation of physicians was held last evening, when Dr. Keeney, the attending physician, called in Dr. Zeglio on the case. Under the present treatment it is confidently believed that the young girl will recover.

Several days ago she was bitten in the face by some kind of a poisonous insect, producing a form of erysipelas. Soon afterward the side of the face bitten began to swell and the girl suffered much pain. A physician was then called. Under the treatment prescribed the trouble did not disappear, and finally the other side of the face became affected. One eye was closed by the swelling and there was danger of the other one being affected. The girl's condition was such yesterday that a consultation was deemed expedient and a change in treatment it is believed will effect a cure.

WHEEL IS GONE.

Fred Pope Left His Bicycle Out All Night—Now Somebody Else Has Taken Possession.

Fred J. Pope, of East Fifth street, left his wheel out all night. This morning he hasn't any wheel. Somebody else has Pope's wheel and the former owner is a trifle anxious to find out who that somebody is. It was an Eldridge wheel and was left leaning against the side of the house last night. That ended the career of the bicycle so far as Pope is concerned. The loss has been reported to the police, but, like other bicycle thefts, there is no clue to the thief.

DRIVER INJURED.

More Details Concerning the Collision Between Trolley Car and Ice Wagon Near Garwood.

The circumstances of the collision between the ice wagon and one of the trolley cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, near Garwood, was somewhat different from those first stated in The Daily Press. The ice wagon was not a deserted vehicle but was making its way from Garwood to Cranford. The wagon belonged to Iceman Wheeler, of Cranford, and was driven by Henry Peterson, of Cranford, whose father, Christopher Peterson, was frozen to death at Cranford last winter. The car crashed into the wagon from behind and upset it, Peterson falling beneath the wagon, where he was pinned until the passengers lifted up the wreckage. He was seriously injured. The car was in charge of Motorman Andrew Fitzsimmons and Conductor Frank Hubert, both of whom live in this city.

J., and accepted a call to the Pilgrim chapel of the Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, N. Y. He succeeds Rev. E. H. Byington and is the assistant to Rev. Dr. H. P. Dewey. Concerning him, the current number of the Congregationalist says: "He is young but of good presence, has a telling and pleasing voice and his opening words in the morning were modest, yet fitting and hearty. A large congregation greeted him. He is from the Presbyterians and studied two years at Princeton and one at Union." Rev. Mr. Taylor's new charge is of the Congregational denomination.

WORKING THEIR PULL.

EMPLOYES OF THE CITY CONSTANTLY IMPORTUNING COUNCILMEN.

Heads of Departments do Not Like the Practice and it May be Curbed in the Future.

For sometime past there has been a growing evil in this city that has more than once threatened to disorganize some of the departments in the city, and the officials, finally realizing this, have taken firm steps to put a stop to it. The practice referred to is that of employes of the city continually chasing about to see the Councilmen, who happen to be on such committees as they are interested in. It is known that men assigned to various kinds of work have almost refused to do as they were told, and have said that they would have things "fixed" through their friends in the Council. This sort of thing has been worked to such an extent that recent decisive action was necessary, and no further trouble is looked for.

Members of the Council have been bored almost to death by this incessant wire-pulling, and they have been stopped on the street, at their homes, and in fact anywhere they happened to be. Out of respect to the importuning ones, they have been obliged to listen to various tales of woe. The practice grew to such an extent that the officials realized that unless it was stopped at once there would be no end of trouble ahead.

The Councilmen say that men are selected as heads for the various departments and they are held responsible for what takes place in their department. If the men have any greivance they must go to the head of that department and state it, and not bother the Councilmen. It can readily be seen that if the practice referred to was allowed to go on, it would only be a question of time when the head of the department would not be recognized and his influence would be entirely lost. The Councilmen who select the various heads have implicit confidence in them, and they want the men to understand that they are to obey the head at all times. Recent action has impressed this upon the employes of the city, and it is believed that the practice mentioned has effectually been stopped.

SPORTING BLOOD UP.

Carter Thinks He Can Beat Jackson, and Jackson Thinks He Can Beat Carter.

James Carter, the colored elevator man at the Babcock building, and Ormstead Jackson, colored coachman and gardener, could not agree on one thing and that was their relative abilities as wheelmen. The argument finally resulted in a race in which Carter came out victorious. Since that time Carter's friends have amused themselves in trying to tease Jackson. The latter decided that he could stand it no longer and challenged Carter to another race. This race was ridden yesterday noon and resulted in a victory for Jackson.

The two wheelmen started at the corner of Front and Richmond streets and went over the Scotch Plains-Fanwood course, finishing at Richmond street and South avenue, a distance of about six miles. Jackson finished twenty yards ahead and made the distance in a little over sixteen minutes. A challenge for a third race was immediately presented and it is likely that the two riders will meet again.

Carter was so sure of beating that he offered to put up his dress suit and high hat against $2. His friends persuaded him, however, to put up a cash equivalent. Jackson now says that he is ready to race for a purse from $5 to $25.

May Identify Railroad Victim.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 15—The body of the unidentified man who was killed on the Central Railroad Sunday night, has been viewed by several persons at Smith's morgue, and yesterday a man who called there declared his belief that the dead man belonged in Harlem and was a member of a well-known family there. The caller was not positive in his identification, but said he felt nearly so and started for New York to bring a couple of persons from Harlem who can fully confirm or disprove the supposed identity of the dead man. It is now the opinion of the police that the man committed suicide by throwing himself in front of the express.

NEIGHBORS SAY SHE BEATS THE CHILDREN

Stories of Alleged Cruelty of Housekeeper, Mrs. Schmidt, to Little Children.

HER ARREST IS LIKELY.

REPORTED TO SOCIETY FOR PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO CHILDREN.

Society Was Notified a Month Ago and a Cessation of the Alleged Troubles Followed — Neighbors Say Brutality Has Been Resumed.

Serious charges are made against Mrs. Schmidt, the housekeeper at the home of John Rempius, who lives at 425 Webster place, and is employed as a machinest in the Scott Press Works. The neighbors claim that she has cruelly maltreated the three little children, all under ten years of age, who have been left in her care. They say that she shows particular cruelty to the smallest of the three, a little girl barely over two years of age. The case was reported to President Charles Place, of the Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, a month ago and the woman was warned. Now that the neighbors report a recurrence of the old troubles, the society will act promptly in the matter.

Rempius was formerly a coachman for D. N. Groendyke, of Washington Park. He was industrious and careful and saved up enough money to buy a little house of his own on Webster place. He is of rather small stature, and is about thirty-five years of age. He married a young Irish woman, and they had three children, two boys and a girl. A year ago the wife died and Rempius says that he had great trouble in securing some one to take charge of the little ones while he was away at work. Finally a Mrs. Schmidt, a German widow, came from over the mountain and was installed in the motherless home. It wasn't long after that that the neighbors began to talk.

According to the stories of the neighbors, and they came from all parts of that vicinity, the housekeeper thrashed the children at frequent intervals. Their screams and cries, it is said, could be heard almost a block away. Some of the neighbors state that they saw her through a window clubbing the little ones in an inhuman manner.

At last the attention of Chas. Place, president of the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, was called to the case. He immediately notified the woman that the beating must cease or else the society would take active steps to see that it did. As a result Rempius, his housekeeper and the three children called on Mr. Place one evening. That was a month ago. The man had nothing to say, but Mrs. Schmidt did. She declared that she had never beaten the children and had really been a better mother to them than their own mother had. The youngest, she said, was a naughty, obstinate child.

The children, when questioned, carefully watched the housekeeper and made prim little speeches to the effect that they were treated very kindly.

The case was then brought to the attention of Chief Grant and he promised to issue a warrant for Mrs. Schmidt's arrest. It came just at the time of his resignation, however, and no action was taken. His successor, Chief Kiely, sent Roundsman Mattox to the place but Mrs. Schmidt assured him that the stories were all base slanders.

For several weeks there were no further reports of trouble at the Rempius household. The neighbors said all was quiet except when Rempius himself returned and that several times his housekeeper had beaten him. Lately, however, some of the people of that vicinity, who have said nothing heretofore, have declared that the beating has been resumed and that such cruelty is outrageous. The attention of Mr. Place has again been called to the case, and this time the society will act promptly. A warrant will probably be issued at once and the case reviewed in Justice Nash's court.

TOO LIVELY FOR MR. BRADLEY.

Asbury Park Founder Stops Secular Songs on Sunday Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Aug. 15. — Founder Bradley has put a stop to secular music on the beach at the regular Sunday night concerts. Sunday night he picked up one of the programmes that was being distributed on the boardwalk and found among the selections that were to be sung "The Green Above the Red," "I Can't Tell Why I Love You, But I Do," and "In Good Old New York Town." The vocalist was to be Ernest R. Ball, of New York.

Mr. Bradley was as mad as a hornet and declared in positive terms that such music didn't go Sunday nights on his boardwalk. All the programmes were confiscated, in order that there might be none lying around yesterday morning the founder got up at 4 o'clock and made a thorough search to gather up those that had been overlooked. Mr. Ball came in for a share of criticism and he is not likely to be seen again at the Sunday night concerts.

Newark, August 15.—During the recent hot, dry spell the condition of the Passaic river became fouler than ever before, and Saturday night and Sunday people literally were driven from their homes along the banks by the pestilential odors that arose.

Conditions appear to be growing gradually worse, and property owners along the banks are endeavoring to devise some scheme by which, through the courts, they can stop or mitigate the pollution nuisance.

CONGER WIRES AGAIN

Washington Officials Refuse to Publish Message.

WHAT IT DOES NOT CONTAIN.

Anxiously Awaited News From Chaffee and the Relief Expedition Fails to Arrive—Difficulties In Way of Entering Peking.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—At the close of yesterday at the state department the following official announcement was bulletined:

"The department of state announces that a message from Minister Conger has been received, but of uncertain date and not in reply to the telegram sent to him on Aug. 8. It will not be made public."

This came at the conclusion of a period of intense expectancy and yet one devoid of any actual developments save in the foregoing meager announcement. Minister Conger's message was received in Washington shortly before noon, coming first to the Chinese legation by the usual route through Chinese officials. It was in the American cipher, without date and signed with the minister's name. It was at once transmitted to the state department and conferences began between Acting Secretary Adee and Secretary Root. Throughout the afternoon, however, the state department maintained an unaccountable reticence concerning the subject, declining to admit that the message was in hand. The suspense was cleared up at 4 o'clock by the above announcement. It was stated authoritatively that while the message was of a confidential character and for that reason could not and would not be given out, yet as a means of allaying possible misinterpretation it could be said that the dispatch showed neither a better condition nor a worse condition on the part of the legationers at Peking. It did not indicate whether Minister Conger has or has not received any messages from this government. Nothing was contained in the message which will cause any change in the instructions to General Chaffee. In fact, it was stated in this same authoritative quarter that the only additional instructions sent to General Chaffee since he left Washington were those of a more specific and explicit nature, which the developments in China and the information received by the war department necessitated.

Throughout the day word was anxiously awaited from General Chaffee as to the development of the military situation near Peking, but not a word came, nor did Admiral Remey send anything on the situation. The last heard from General Chaffee he was at Ho-si-wu, and according to all calculations he must now be very near Peking unless events have occurred to delay the advance. The officials are taking into account that an advance even up to Peking leaves much to be accomplished in a military way. It was stated yesterday by an official who has lived in Peking that nothing short of the heaviest artillery could make any impression upon the walls of the imperial city. He said light artillery would be of no avail, and for this reason the advance of a flying column even up to the walls of the city could effect little if a stubborn defense were determined upon. The walls are some 50 feet high and wide enough on top for two coaches to pass abreast. From an offensive standpoint the walls afford opportunity for planting guns, while from a defensive standpoint they could not be breached except by the use of very heavy projectiles.

Although the situation admits of the prospect of an assault upon Peking, yet government officials were decidedly more hopeful yesterday that a solution of the Chinese problem would be found without recourse to such heroic measures. The improved feeling is based largely on the belief that China, realizing that her sacred capital is about to be besieged by the armies of the world, will yield everything and that the legationers will be delievered on the terms of the allies.

The attitude of the United States concerning the landing of British troops at Shanghai has been made known to the foreign governments through their representatives here. This has had the effect of practically eliminating the United States from the question. Neither the French nor the German government is disposed to accept calmly the landing of British troops, and it is understood that strong representations, both from France and Germany, are now being made at London. As summed up by a well informed diplomat, these representations in effect are that for every British marine landed at Shanghai France and Germany also would land a marine. It is felt, moreover, that the issue involved relates not only to Shanghai, but virtually to the control of the entire Yang-tse Kiang valley, known as the Paradise of China.

NEARING PEKING.

Paris Dispatch Brings Allies Within Sixteen Miles of the City.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The only news which takes the advance upon Peking further than Ho-si-wu comes from Paris. The London morning papers contain nothing to confirm the French report that the allies are within 16 miles of Peking, although a Chefu dispatch is printed saying that they were within 27 miles of the goal on Saturday.

Confirming the report of the arrival of the international forces at Ho-si-wu, The Daily Mail's correspondent adds:

"The Chinese offered little real opposition. The arrival of the allies frustrated a determined attempt to divert the course of the river. The heat is intense, but the health of the troops is good."

A St. Petersburg special says:

"The latest news from General Linevitch, commanding the Russian troops in the province of Pe-chi-li, is that the allies, after the capture of Yang-tsun, took one day's rest and then, on Aug. 7, a vanguard was formed consisting of one Siberian regiment, one regiment of Sotnia Cossacks, three battalions of Japanese infantry, one Japanese sapper company and an American mounted battery.

"In spite of the condition of the road this column proceeded by forced marches about 11½ versts toward Peking, encountering at Man-tuang, about 49 miles from the capital, a Chinese detachment which fought for an hour and a half. Finally the Chinese threw down their arms and fled in a panic.

"When this news was sent back, all the allies started forward in three columns, with Cossacks in front and on the flanks."

A special dispatch from Shanghai, dated Aug. 13, says numerous reports from Peking dated Aug. 8 have arrived there describing the situation at the Chinese capital. It appears the Chinese are again desperately attacking the legations, which had very few defenders left. It is also alleged that Prince Tuan and 100 officials have left Peking and that the news of the capture of Yang-tsun caused a heavy exodus of the residents.

Finally, it is said that the execution of Cheng Yin Huan, the Cantonese who was special embassador of China to Queen Victoria's jubilee, has created widespread terror, and it is believed to be a fact that Yu-Lu, the former viceroy of Chi-li, was killed in battle at Yang-tsun.

Praise For the Japanese.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15.—The following dispatch has been received from a correspondent with the allied forces, dated Pei-tsang, Aug. 5, and forwarded by mail to Chefu and Shanghai:

"The glory of today's fighting belongs to the Japanese. They did all the hardest fighting. The Americans were in reserve and had no casualties. The Japanese, advancing across the plain, had no shelter and flanked the Chinese from their strong mud walls and trenches extending five miles. The feature of the battle was the magnificent Japanese cavalry charge, which resulted in the capture of ten field guns. The Chinese retreat was orderly, and they left but few dead on the field. The correspondent counted 200 dead or wounded Japanese. The British loss was two men killed and a few wounded. The British naval brigade guns and two big Russian guns had a duel with the Chinese guns which resulted in silencing the latter. The Russians found the plains east of the river flooded and joined the main army west of it."

Cloud Bombardment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—To protect their vineyards against the ravages of hailstones the vine growers of southern France attack approaching storm clouds with volleys of fire from powder charged cannon until the cloud is finally dissipated and the danger to their crops averted. This practice of shooting at the clouds originated in Italy and was known in France over 100 years ago, says United States Consul Covert, at Lyons, in a report upon this subject to the state department, but it is to be more extensively employed this year than ever before. Fifty-two cannon, manned by 104 cannoneers and their chiefs, have been distributed over an area of 2,500 acres of rich vine land. This "bombarding of the heavens" is almost invariably successful, and all places in France heretofore ravaged by hail, it is said, are to be provided with storm attacking artillery.

Smallpox Among Indians.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Indian Agent Getchel wires as follows from the Devil's Lake reservation, North Dakota: "Brenner wires 24 cases smallpox in hospital. Others are quarantined at home. Doctor wants trained nurse. Must issue full rations. Wire instructions. Letter to follow." The scene of the outbreak is about 100 miles from the agency and the smallpox is among the Turtle mountain Indians, who are on a separate reservation but under the jurisdiction of the Devil's Lake agency. Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones has wired the agency authorities to take all steps necessary, including the employment of a trained nurse. The department also has shipped vaccine virus to the reservation.

May Name Woodruff.

ALBANY, Aug. 15.—Congressman James S. Sherman of the Oneida district, passing through here, said that mention of his name as a candidate for governor was without authorization. He said Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff will probably be the choice and is entitled to the nomination. This statement has much significance in view of the fact that the newspaper controlled by William Barnes, chairman of the executive committee of the Republican state committee, prints a column editorial in which it says, "If the convention should deem it wise to select Timothy L. Woodruff as its candidate for governor, it will make no mistake."

Chairman Butler's Denial.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 15.—The Independent, a local Populist paper, yesterday telegraphed Chairman Butler of the Populist national committee for a denial of the report that he would take the stump for McKinley. The following telegram was received in reply, dated Raleigh, Aug. 14: "Report unqualifiedly false. I am for Bryan and the People's party nominee for vice president. I am in favor of the committee nominating a candidate on Aug. 27. I am not a Democrat. I am not a Republican. I am a Populist. I was not for Stevenson in 1892 and am not for him now."

Tired of Waiting For Pension.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—Frank Atkinson, 24 years old, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head in his room at the Germania hotel. His body was found yesterday. During the war with Spain Atkinson served on the cruiser Columbia until invalided home with his left side paralyzed by an enemy's bullet. He applied for a pension, but as time passed and it was not granted he became despondent, and it is believed that his failure to hear from the government caused him to end his life.

High Death Rate at Ponce.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Assistant Surgeon King, the marine hospital service official at Ponce, in a report just received says that in Ponce city and surrounding country for the two weeks ended July 28 the enormous death rate has slightly increased. There were 216 deaths against 70 births during this same period. An investigation into the remarkable mortality is being conducted by the superior board of health.

Gold Found In the Caucasus.

ODESSA, Aug. 15.—The Oural, a mining journal, announces the discovery of rich auriferous sands in the neighborhood of Schemacha, in the Causasus. There has been a great rush of miners and prospectors to the place, especially from the petroleum wells of Baku and Grozri. Two poor peasants made the discovery, and they will probably soon be millionaires.

French Firemen's Strike Spreads.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 15.—The strike of the firemen of the Transatlantic Steamship company, which began here Sunday morning, is spreading, the number of strikers being already 500. Some civilian travelers are awaiting the departure of various vessels, as well as 600 officers and troops of the China expeditionary forces.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. INSURGENTS ACTIVE.

Heavy American Losses Last Month In Panay.

GARRISONS CONTINUALLY HARASSED.

Amnesty Proclamation Fails to Accomplish What Was Expected. The Filipinos Are Using Smokeless Powder.

MANILA, Aug. 15.—Reports from the Visayas islands show that there has been increased activity among the insurgents during the last six weeks.

The American losses in the island of Panay last month were greater than in any month since February last.

General Mojica in Leyte and General Lucban in Samar are harassing the garrisons, shooting into the towns during the night and ambushing small parties, firing and then retreating upon the larger bodies. The rebels possess an ample supply of ammunition and are organized to a considerable degree.

The Americans have garrisoned three towns on Samar island, two of which shelter a tenth of the original inhabitants, who suffer from the continual "sniping" of the rebels from the surrounding hills. The third is without any native inhabitants, the rebel outposts, a mile away, preventing their return to their homes. General Lucban punishes the islanders who have any relations with the Americans. Cebu is likewise disturbed.

Barring those who have taken the oath of allegiance to the United States the rebels are imprisoned in Manila. When amnesty was proclaimed, it practically was without effect, and the expectation that the proclamation would accomplish much in the unexpired time is daily diminishing.

Several minor engagements occurred last week in Luzon. The rebels used smokeless powder, which they must necessarily have obtained by filibustering.

Senator Ingalls Dying.

ATCHISON, Kan., Aug. 15.—A number of the friends of ex-United States Senator John J. Ingalls have been notified that Mr. Ingalls is dying at Las Vegas, N. M. His son has left for his bedside. Ellsworth Ingalls, the eldest son, who is at Sioux Falls, has been notified and will start immediately for New Mexico. Ralph Ingalls, another son, is now serving in the Philippines as a regimental commissary. Mr. Ingalls has suffered from throat trouble since March, 1899, when, on the advice of physicians, he gave up his work at Washington and removed to Atchison with his family. He placed himself under the care of a specialist, but grew no better and was advised to go south. He traveled through Arizona and New Mexico. Two months ago he prepared to return home. Physicians were consulted and advised against his leaving Las Vegas. Soon thereafter Mrs. Ingalls joined her husband and has remained constantly at his side. From time to time in the past year reports that Senator Ingalls was seriously ill were circulated, but they were invariably denied both by the patient and his family. Mr. Ingalls is 67 years old.

National Party Meets.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 15.—The first day's session of the National party convention was devoted entirely to addresses, no formal action being taken beyond the appointment of a committee of three to confer with the anti-imperialists, whose convention opened this morning. The sentiment among the "independents" was strong against the candidacies of both McKinley and Bryan and seemed to indicate that a third ticket would be the outcome of their convention, although there is also a desire to combine with the anti-imperialists if possible, and there is scarcely a possibility of the anti-imperialists nominating a ticket. The convention of the "independents" was called to order yesterday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms by Thomas M. Osborn of Auburn, N. Y.

That Bond Sale Again.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Truth, Mr. Henry Labouchere's paper, replying to some of the criticisms upon the placing of a large portion of the exchequer loan in the United States, says: "We can see nothing derogatory in selling the bonds to America. It is an indication of the enormous growth of wealth in the United States. Nor would we be surprised if, in view of their continued prosperity, our American cousins were to act as our bankers in the future in a good many instances. We can see no harm in such a relation."

Abductors Caught.

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 15.—William and Mary Patterson of Wilkesbarre, Pa., accused of abducting little Hazel Patterson, the 11-year-old daughter of Mrs. Will L. Maloney, were taken into custody at Waukegan after an exciting chase. The child was recovered. The prisoners are said to be the brother and sister of the child's father. They refused to tell why they took the child from its mother.

A Forger Pleads Guilty.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 15.—F. S. Whittaker, who a month ago was one of the most respected business men of St. John, has pleaded guilty on 13 counts of uttering forged paper and was sentenced to serve five years in Dorchester penitentiary. Losses in speculations impoverished him, and he sought relief from financial stringency by forging his friends' names. He raised $50,000 in this way.

New Steel Lake Steamers.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—J. C. Gilchrist, the well known vessel owner, has contracted with the American Shipbuilding company for the construction of five steel steamers, to be completed by the opening of navigation next season. Each will have the capacity of 5,000 gross tons and will cost $235,000, making the total of the contract more than $1,000,000.

Jury Exonerates Baldwin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The coroner's jury in the case of Ralph Miller, who was killed in a boxing bout with Victor Baldwin, both of Richmond Hill, Queens borough, about a week ago, has rendered a verdict exonerating Baldwin from all blame.

Committee on Revision Meets.

SARATOGA, Aug. 15.—The Presbyterian general assembly committee on revision has met and organized. Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey, moderator of the assembly, is chairman of the committee.

NEED THEIR SOLICITOR BADLY.

Absence of Lawyer Miller Causes Rival Towns to Clash.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Vineland, Aug. 15—Vineland and her sister city, Millville, are in a strange predicament owing to the absence of their regular legal adviser, just as they are on the verge of a legal battle over the sewerage system, which Vineland is about to establish, and which Millville is afraid will be drained into the Maurice River, from which the latter place gets a pure water supply. Lewis H. Miller, who was elected solicitor of both Millville and Vineland, is now abroad enjoying the sights at Paris.

Millville has appealed to the State Sewerage Commission and threatens an injunction against Vineland's proposed sewer disposal field, and the Vineland Borough Council, in defiance, has purchased the objectionable land with the determination of putting the sewer bed there.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

DIED AT THE AGE OF 92.

Romance was Connected with the Marriage of This Veteran.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 15.—John Amer, considered the oldest man in this city, died at his home in New street Sunday night from the results of old age. Mr. Amer was born in May, 1808, in Philadelphia. He came to this place when a young man and opened a hat store. In 1878 he retired.

Mr. Amer was married twice. His first wife died and he married the second one in a romantic manner. He was a soldier in the Civil War and was injured in battle. He was taken to Philadelphia and placed in the Chestnut Hill Hospital. A patient named Woodruff was also in the hospital and occupied a cot next to Amer.

One day Woodruff's mother, a widow, called to see her son, and Amer and Mrs. Woodruff were made acquainted. The two became quite friendly, and after Amer recovered they were married. That was in 1866.

Mr. Amer was prominent in church circles here. He was connected with the Methodist church and was a great temperance worker.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

RAILROAD KING DEAD

C. P. Huntington's Sudden Demise In Forest Camp.

THE MULTIMILLIONAIRE'S CAREER.

Started In Life Without a Dollar and Left Vast Interests Scattered From Ocean to Ocean, the Value of Which Is Fabulous.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Collis P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad company, is dead at Pine Knot lodge, his luxurious camp in the Adirondacks near Racquette lake. He was in his seventy-ninth year. Death resulted from heart disease.

Mr. Huntington, with Mrs. Huntington, went into the woods last Thursday afternoon and seemed to be in excellent health.

Apparently well on retiring at 11 o'clock Monday night, he was taken suddenly with a choking spell, which was quite common with him and which was not thought to be serious, but he became worse. As soon as the seriousness of the attack was realized a messenger was dispatched to the neighboring camp of Governor Lounsberry for a doctor. Mr. Huntington died without regaining consciousness, not more than ten minutes having passed between the attack and his death.

CAREER OF MR. HUNTINGTON.

Mr. Huntington started in life without a dollar and died worth so much that his possessions could be estimated only indefinitely as "worth millions." He was intimately connected with the business life of the entire country, as his belongings were scattered from ocean to ocean. The monumental work of his career was the building of the Central Pacific railroad. With all his wealth, he never ceased to labor, and death found him still one of the virile forces of finance.

This man, whose life story seems like a romance, was born at Harwinton, Conn., Oct. 22, 1821. He was of the same family that produced Samuel Huntington, signer of the Declaration of Independence, president of the Continental congress, governor and chief justice of Connecticut. The family also gave to the world Bishop F. D. Huntington and Daniel Huntington, the famous painter. The father of Mr. Huntington was a farmer and, like many another Yankee, made little articles of novelty for sale during the winters to help out.

When as a boy of 14 the future millionaire quit school, his father agreed that if he would support himself entirely thereafter he might have for himself all he could earn. This offer was taken up, and the boy came to New York at once and bought enough goods on credit to set up a store near home.

While carrying on his little business as a youth he traveled much through the middle states and the south. At 23 he went into business with his brother at Oneonta, Otsego county, this state. He was married soon afterward. In October, 1848, the brothers made a shipment of goods to California, and next spring Collis followed. He joined the army of gold hunters by way of the isthmus. He lingered on the isthmus for three months and then proceeded to San Francisco and from thence to Sacramento. In the latter city he decided to make a start and, in company with Mark Hopkins, set up a hardware store in a tent.

That store made a fortune for the partners and is today one of the institutions of the city under the firm name of Huntington & Hopkins.

It was in this store that the plans for a transcontinental railroad were originated and perfected by Mr. Huntington, and his partners, Leland Stanford and Charles Crocker, all united in paying the expenses of a preliminary survey across the mountains. In 1856 these men organized the Central Pacific Railroad company, with Mr. Stanford president and Mr. Huntington vice president. In that capacity he went to Washington and put through congress the bill authorizing the construction of the road and contributing bonds to help in the construction. The day the bill was signed he telegraphed to his partners:

"The bill has passed, and we have drawn the elephant."

Before the charter could become available the company had to raise $1,000 a mile. This money Mr. Huntigton got in this city at once by the use of his wonderful credit. He and his companions then began the construction of the road and completed with private capital enough mileage to make the federal bonds available.

With this road as a nucleus Mr. Huntington designed and built the entire California system, which has now over 9,000 miles of steel tracks. He also built an Atlantic system that, with the Southern Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio, forms a continuous line between Newport News and San Francisco of 4,000 miles.

Not satisfied with the conquest of a continent, Mr. Huntington made his road a world influence by extending it by steamships from Newport News to London and from San Francisco to China.

The Huntington tomb in Woodlawn cemetery is probably the most splendid private one in America. It is said to have cost more than $300,000. It crowns the crest of the hill and overlooks the New York Central tracks and the beautiful Bronx valley. Although finished several years ago, it is tenantless, and the body of the great designer of roads will be the first to repose in it.

Mr. Huntington had one son, who is about 30 years old and a noted student. His first wife, who was Elizabeth Stoddard, daughter of a farmer and a playmate of his youth, died in 1883. She was buried in Woodlawn cemetery, Roscoe Conkling and other celebrated men serving as pallbearers.

A year after her death Mr. Huntington astonished his friends by marrying again. The ceremony was performed by Henry Ward Beecher, the bride being Mrs. A. D. Worsham, who survives him.

In addition to his other vast interests Mr. Huntington enjoyed the reputation of being one of the largest, if not the largest, single landholders in this country. Of his entire real estate holdings the property owned by him in cities was only a small part. He also held title to large farming tracts as well as to vast undeveloped areas in California, Kentucky and West Virginia and in Mexico and Guatemala.

Compared financially with some of his other enterprises, Mr. Huntington's operations in New York city real estate seem insignificant, yet considered by themselves they were of considerable magnitude.

Some of the holdings were acquired several years ago, and at the time of his death he owned vacant property on Manhattan Island worth several hundred thousand dollars besides several large tracts in the Bronx.

Perhaps the largest real estate deal in which Mr. Huntington ever engaged in in this city was the purchase of the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy-second street, a plot fronting 127 feet on the avenue and 200 feet on the street. John N. Golding, the broker who conducted these negotiations for Mr. Huntington, said that the prices for which the various lots and plots were resold amounted to $900,000.

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Two thousand members of the New York State Granges were here yesterday. It was "Grange day" on the river, and thousands of other guests thronged to the park. Lieutenant Governor Woodruff and other state officials were present. Mr. Woodruff was the chief speaker. He spoke of the state fair, the excellence of the order known as the Grange and also of the the strength and growth of the National Grange. He talked at length of the United States as a commercial nation and its transportation facilities. He referred to the commercial possessions in the east and spoke of commercial expansion and commercial contraction.

Professor Hilprecht's Discoveries.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Mail advices to The Daily News from Constantinople, dated Aug. 8, announces the arrival there of Professor H. V. Hilprecht, head of the University of Pennsylvania expedition to Nippur, after having discovered the library of the great temple, with over 17,000 tablets dealing with historical and literary matters, not one of them of later date than 2280 B. C. "The unexplored remains of the library," says the correspondent, "will require five years for excavation. If those parts prove as rich in results as the portion already found, there will be no example in the world's history, not even in Egypt, of so complete a recovery of the records of ancient civilization."

Democratic Convention Date.

SARATOGA, Aug. 15.—Despite the fact that there is but a handful of politicians of the Democratic party here yet these things have been definitely determined upon: The Democratic state convention will be held at Saratoga on Sept. 11. The nominee will be any other man that the up state Democrats may choose to name except Comptroller Coler of New York. Augustus Van Wyck's name will not be considered as a candidate for governor. William F. Mackey of Buffalo and John B. Stanchfield of Elmira are two of the names from which the actual candidate will be selected.

Bryan by Phonograph.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—William J. Bryan spent part of yesterday afternoon talking into a phonograph. He recited the peroration of his Indianapolis speech, beginning, "Behold a republic" and a paragraph in which he declared what he would do with the Philippines were he elected president. The plan of the Democratic national committee is to have a large number of phonograph rolls made from the recital and send them all over the country, so that every one can have the chance of listening to Colonel Bryan speak without the speaker being present.

Favorable Conditions In India.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The following dispatch has been received from the viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, by the secretary of state for India, Lord George Hamilton: "The favorable conditions continue. Rain is falling generally throughout the country. The total number supported in all the famine stricken provinces is still large, owing to the backwardness of the crops, the restricted demands for labor in the fields and high prices. About 6,149,000 persons are receiving relief."

Want Chief Clarence to Return.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 15.—Three delegates from the Mosquito territory of Nicaragua have arrived here to request the exiled prince, or Chief Clarence, a former ruler, now a pensioner of the British government, to return to "his country." They complain of oppression and injustice on the part of the Nicaraguan government. The chief has, it is said, communicated with Lord Salisbury on the subject.

COMING EVENTS.

August 19--Robert E. Speer, of New York, will speak on the subject of "Personal Purity," at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p.m. Good music.

Company of National Guard.

According to the report sent out from Trenton in connection with the announcement of the order disbanding the Newton and Montclair companies of the State Guard, Plainfield stands a poor chance of being selected to fill one of the vacancies. It is stated that Princeton will surely be permitted to fill the vacancy caused by the disbandment of the Newton company, and that Orange, so far as can be learned, is regarded with more favor than Plainfield as being the place from which to recruit the company to take the place of the Montclair company.

It may be that this is not exactly so; possibly, if the real truth was known, Plainfield's chances may be best. At least, it is to be hoped so. The movement for the organization of a company of National Guard in Plainfield has met with popular approval, as is evidenced in the willingness of more than enough young men to enlist in the organization to fill the quota required in the formation of such a company. The military spirit has always been conspicuous in this city, and if a company of the National Guard was formed here it could be filled with the flower of Plainfield's youth especially fitted for such service. Plainfield is large enough to make it reasonably certain that it would never be necessary to disband the company on account of its membership falling to a low point or because of the lack of interest manifested in the work and duty of the National Guard.

True, differing from Orange, Plainfield has no armory. But it seems to to us that is scarcely essential for the organization and maintenance of a creditable company of the Guard. Plainfield, though, can undoubtedly furnish a hall that will be amply sufficient in size and appointments for drill work, which, together with the other advantageous features of the city in respect to a military company, should commend the city to the careful consideration of Col. Gillmore and Governor Voorhees in choosing the place to fill the vacancy in the Guard.

The Democratic State convention is an important affair, but it is not so important that it has the right of way over the annual outing of the Robert Davis Association, of Jersey City. Through some mistake the State convention was called for September 12th, the same day that the Davis Association had selected for its affair. If the State convention is held on the same date as the outing the former event would probably be marked by a notable absence of Hudson county Democratic workers. As it will not do to slight such Democratic lights as are to be found in Hudson county, or permit them to slight the State convention, State Chairman Gourley will undoubtedly arrange the date for the convention for a day or two before or after that already set. The same blunder was made a few years ago, and the State committee rectified it by changing the date of the convention.

For the past four years Union county has had one of the best Republican organizations in the State. No point that would lead to political advantage has been too small or to big for the organization workers to shirk in the effort to build up a vigorous, effective Republican machine. Now Chairman Codding, to whose indefatigable work is due the splendidly equipped committee in charge of the county affairs of the G. O. P., is busying himself in preparation of inaugurating one of his characteristically energetic campaigns in aid of the Republican standard bearers. It is intended to organize campaign clubs throughout the county and thus get the rank and file of the party in as close touch with active political work as it is possible to. A big outing, to take in the party workers from all sections of the bailiwick, is also planned.

Campaign headquarters for the New Jersey Democrats will be opened today in Jersey City. Chairman Gourley intends devoting his whole time from now until election day in pushing the Democratic fight in New Jersey. Mr. Gourley has become convinced that it is not among the impossible things to carry New Jersey for the Democrats this fall, although he realizes that if such a result is achieved it will be through a persistent and thorough fight from stem to stern in the political machine of which he is the chief engineer.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

In some parts of New Jersey the golden rod is the dominant wild flower of the day. No other untrained blossom can compete with its abundance. Even the wild carrot is subordinate to it now, and when the yellow flower is in full bloom its preponderance will be more marked even than it is now. So far, few of the blossoms have acquired the brilliant yellow glow that comes with their maturity. Many of the buds are still pale and hard, and the lacy, graceful blooms have not yet acquired the deep tones of color that will come to them later and make the golden rod, even more than it is in these mid-August days, the wild flower that monopolizes the fields until the colors of autumn on the leaves make it a detail of the landscape.

Among the long line of hack horses which stand daily in front of the North Avenue station while their masters wait for fares there is none more intelligent or knowing than the little mustang "Doc" owned by John Kennedy. "Doc" knows any number of tricks, some of which would do credit to horses trained for stage purposes. One of the latest which he has acquired untaught is that of getting a drink whenever he needs it from the newly erected fountain opposite the station. There are lots of times when "Doc" wishes a drink that his master does not choose to give it to him or does not know of it. But since the fountain has been put up he does not need any one's assistance. He now walks out of the line and passing to the end goes across the street as carefully as if some one were driving him. His thirst quenched he again turns and takes his place in the line with a scornful look at his less intelligent companions. On account of the hot weather the past few days his trips to the fountain have been quite frequent, but they never fail to secure a crowd of interesting spectators. "Doc" has a deadly hatred for dogs and never fails to show it to any unlucky canine who comes near him. He was being driven down Park avenue near Second street a few days ago, when a dog ran barking in front of him. "Doc" stopped with a jerk and bending down, seized the barker by the next. The next minute, after receiving a thorough shaking, doggie was sent flying through the open doorway of a store to the astonishment of the proprietor and his clerks. With an angry toss of his head "Doc" then resumed his journey. The little animal has become so attached to his owner that he and his brother William are the only ones who can drive him or even go near him. But he seems to take delight in doing little tricks no matter how many are watching him.

THEATRICAL.

Stillman Music Hall will open its regular season on Tuesday evening, August 21st, with those inimitable Irish comedians, Murray and Mack, in their new comedy, "Finnigan's 400." In "Finnigan's 400" Murray and Mack and company have a vehicle exactly fitted to their unctious style of comedy. As Timothy Finnigan, the Irishman, who is anxious to enter society's select few, "the 400," J. W. Mack is said to have a role which fits him to a nicety, while Mr. Murray as Conor Casey, the friend of Finnigan, the wealthy Celt, is at his best. The easy drive of fun which permeates every minute of "Finnigan's 400," and the complications which arise from Finnigan's attempt to enter the "400" all turn into laughs as natural as can be and the audience is carried through two hours and a half of it before they realize it. In this, the third edition of this popular farce, we are promised the largest and strongest company of comedians and pretty girls that ever appeared in this organization. There are many up-to-date, bright and crisp specialty introductions, plenty of bright, breezy music, and in fact every possible adjunct which goes to make up a high-class musical farce comedy.

Preußen.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Das Reichsamt des Innern trifft energische Vorkehrungen zur Unterdrückung des Handels mit medizinischen Geheimmitteln, auch solcher, welche seit Jahrzehnten ohne Anstoß verkauft werden durften.—Bei dem Sommerfest der Berliner Arbeiter-Sängervereine, das wie üblich in dem Vorort Weißensee stattfand, ereignete sich ein bedauerlicher Unfall, indem auf dem See in Folge Kenterns eines Bootes die Arbeiter Gustav Koth, Friedrich Meißner und Alexander Kretschmer ertranken.—Verhaftet wurde durch die hiesige Kriminalpolizei der nach Verübung von Wechselfälschungen in Höhe von etwa 500,000 Mark flüchtig gewordene und steckbrieflich verfolgte 33jährige Stuckateur und Bauunternehmer Heinrich Mertens aus Düsseldorf, auf dessen Ergreifung eine Belohnung von 1000 Mark ausgesetzt worden war.

Kunow. Dieser Tage fand hier eine große Versammlung von Bürgermeistern und Gemeindevorstehern statt, um über den Bau einer Kleinbahn von Glöwen nach Pritzwalk zu berathen. Alle in Frage kommenden Gemeinden beziehungsweise deren Vertreter gaben im Prinzip ihre Zustimmung und versprachen die freie Hergabe von Grund und Boden zu dem Bahnbau. Die Mittel zu der Bahn sollen durch ein Finanzkonsortium aufgebracht werden.

Strausberg. Bei dem neulich hinter dem Schützenhause veranstalteten Wettschwimmfest stürzte plötzlich die mit Menschen, meist Frauen und Kindern, stark besetzte Bootsbrücke ein, und etwa 20 Frauen und Kinder fielen in's Wasser. Hilfe war glücklicher Weise rasch zur Stelle, und man glaubte, alle Verunglückten gerettet zu haben, als sich leider schließlich herausstellte, daß ein 14jähriges Mädchen ein Opfer der Katastrophe geworden ist.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Die als Hebamme thätige Ehefrau des Schutzmanns Heinrich hat sich und ihre beiden Söhne im Alter von sieben und zehn Jahren durch Einathmen von Kohlendunst getödtet. Da weder Nahrungssorgen noch unglückliche Ehe vorlagen, ist man geneigt anzunehmen, daß ein plötzlicher Anfall von Geistesstörung die Frau zu dieser That geführt hat.

Emden. Anläßlich des 25jährigen Jubiläums des Oberbürgermeisters Fürbringer brachte der jüdische Gemeindevorstand, an seiner Spitze Herr Jakob Pels, der gleichzeitig auch Bürgervorsteher ist, seine Glückwünsche dar, auf die der Herr Oberbürgermeister erwiderte: „Ich nehme besonders gern Veranlassung, auf die dauernde Harmonie hinzuweisen, die stets zwischen den Einwohnern christlichen und jüdischen Glaubens in Emden geherrscht hat, und ich möchte lieber sterben, ehe die giftige Pflanze des Antisemitismus in Emden Wurzel faßt."

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Frankenberg. In unserer Stadt, in der gerade ein landwirthschaftliches Fest gefeiert wurde, entstand Nachts in der Nähe des Festplatzes ein Feuer, das sechs Gehöfte in Asche legte.

Volkmarsen. Vom Blitz getroffen wurde das hiesige Bahnhofsgebäude. Ein Telegraphenbeamter, am Apparat beschäftigt, wurde betäubt und ein alter Mann, der sich unter einen Weidenbaum geflüchtet, getödtet.

Wiesbaden. In der Generalversammlung des nassauischen Heilstättenvereins für Lungenkranke wurde mitgetheilt, daß das verfügbare Vereinsvermögen zur Zeit 214,535 Mark beträgt. Mit Errichtung der Heilstätte in Naurod soll Anfang September begonnen werden.

Provinz Pommern.

Stettin. Der Reichstags- und Landtagsabgeordnete für den Wahlkreis Randow-Greifenhagen, Landrath von Manteuffel, ist im Alter von 67 Jahren hier gestorben.

Demmin. Neulich Morgens beim Frühstückessen erstach ein Buchbinderlehrling in der Werkstatt nach kurzem Wortwechsel den Buchbindergesellen Krase aus Sanzkow mit einem langen Papierschneidemesser. Der Getroffene gab nach wenigen Minuten seinen Geist auf. Der Lehrling wurde verhaftet.

Lauenburg. Ein Feuer, das am späten Nachmittag bei dem Bäckermeister Koch in der Stolperstraße austrach, ging bei herrschendem Nordostwinde mit rasender Schnelligkeit auch auf die anliegenden, aus Fachwerk bestehenden Gebäude, theils Stallungen, Speicher und Wohnräume, über; in einer halben Stunde standen circa 15 Gebäude in hellen Flammen. Die schnell herbeieilende freiwillige und die Pflichtfeuerwehr erwiesen sich dem entfesselten Elemente gegenüber machtlos. Auch hier am Klosterplatz belegene Familienhäuser sind ein Raub der Flammen und die 50 darin wohnenden Familien obdachlos geworden. In Folge des schnellen Umsichgreifens des Feuers war nur wenig zu retten, so daß besonders die Arbeiterfamilien sehr gelitten haben.

The fat undertaker,
Who plants by the acre,
Poor victims of cough and cold,
Is sighing and crying,
For we've all stopped dying
Since Brazilian Balm was sold.
And for those who desire
Not just yet to go higher
It is worth its weight in gold.

WHITE IN FAVOR.

It Continues to Be Worn For Gowns and Accessories.

It is an unfortunate thing that the light, delicate tints, so cool and appropriate for summer wear, should be so easily defaced by the sun and sea air or other dampness. Soft pinks, blues, greens and lilacs become almost obliterated or fade into a dull, yellowish tone that is far from attractive. White alone is unchanged, except by being soiled, and then it is readily laundered and made as good as new. It is extremely fashionable, as it has been for several seasons past, and in wash goods, both thick and sheer, and in mohair, serge, etamine, voile, flannel and cashmere, is immensely worn. These wool fabrics are, some of them, washable, and those which are not are readily susceptible to dry cleaning processes. A curious fancy is the use of such white trimmings as nainsook and organdie embroidery and insertion upon colored costumes of woolen materials.

YOUNG GIRL'S GOWN.

Today's illustration shows a young girl's gown of light blue voile. The skirt is accordion plaited and around the foot is a deep application of white luxeuil lace. The accordion plaited blouse has a guimpe of embroidered nainsook, with clusters of tucks running horizontally. A bertha of luxeuil lace encircles the guimpe. The sleeves, which terminate at the elbow, are horizontally plaited, and a white ribbon is crossed around them and tied at the edge. The belt is also of white ribbon. The hat of ficelle straw is draped with white tulle, which veils a crown of blue flowers. A bouquet of the flowers is placed under the brim.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Items Concerning the Wardrobe of the Period.

For costumes of the more elaborate order are foulard, silk canvas, embroidered mousseline de soie, linon and similar light fabrics. Foulard, especially, is greatly worn. There are also thin, crapelike silk materials having printed designs, notably large dots, which are very soft and attractive.

With gowns of transparent tissue, like linon, mousseline, grenadine, etc., it is well to wear a separate underdress consisting of a plain, tight bodice and a skirt trimmed only with plaitings or ruffles at the foot. The same silk underdress will serve for several different outer gowns, or there may be two underdresses which are used interchangeably.

CLOTH COSTUME.

White alone and black and white in combination are still very fashionable. A favorite trimming for hats is composed of two large choux, one white, the other black.

A picture is given of a gown of blue cloth. The skirt opens at the side over a panel of white cloth, the two edges being connected by white cords and small gold buttons. The bolero is made with creves of white cloth to match the skirt, with a similar decoration of cords and buttons. The collar and revers are of white cloth braided with gold. The sleeves are stitched at the shoulders. A full chemisette of cream surah is worn. The straw hat is trimmed with a wreath of gooseberries and foliage.

A Brooklyn woman, whose husband is connected with one of the Trust Companies of that city, was a sufferer from dyspepsia, and induced to try Ripans Tabules. She says that the effect on her was immediate. They helped her right away, and she was surprised to note what an appetite she had, and became curious to learn what the Tabules could be made of to produce such a result, and so quickly. She laughingly said that her husband threatened to bring suit for damages—because since she began taking the Tabules his grocery bill had increased three dollars a week.

LOSING A RAILROAD TICKET.

A Traveler Tells What Happens When One Mislays the Pasteboard in Holland.

While standing on the platform at Middleburgh in that early morning I found I had lost, or mislaid, as it proved, my ticket, value sixpence, says the Gentleman's Magazine. After the usual ineffectual search, turning out pockets, etc., it seemed shorter to tender the amount tout bonnement and go one's way. But by this time the officials had gathered and were whispering ominously. The "headsman," or head man, put back the coin loftily, and said, in his jargon: "Have to pay plenty more." What did he mean? But it seems that to lose a ticket on a Dutch line is high crime—a presumption that you are fraudulently trying to travel about without paying your fare, and it is punishable by fine. On this occasion it was fixed at five shillings. A large sum. There was no help for it, so paid it was.

Later in the day it was of course found. I returned to "get back the money." I found it hard to get into the station, but there was a door with "Head of the Station" inscribed. We rang, the door was opened; here was a fine stair and all the signs of a private dwelling. Presently came down a gentlemanly old gentleman in uniform, the real head, who received us good-naturedly, took the ticket and led the way to the platform, where we met our other friend, whom he directed to refund, and so the incident closed.

CHURCH MENDICANTS.

Spider-Like They Spin Their Delicate Webs for Prey in the House of God.

"When the spiders have spun their web of delicate filaments, and have stretched it from corner to corner of the church, it is amazing how many flies, not all of them simple, they have caught, and how much spoil they have obtained," writes Ian Maclaren, of "The Genteel Tramps in Our Churches," in Ladies' Home Journal. "The wardrobes of the church, both of men and women, are at their disposal, and every month you are reminded of some old friend when you see our mendicant. Their house rent is paid in turn by a set of good Samaritans, each of whom believes that he is the only one who has ever been allowed to do this kindness, and who does it under promise of secrecy lest shrinking natures, poor but proud, should be hurt. Some kindly doctor in the district gives his attendance, as is usual with those men, without money and without price. Medical comfort in the shape of cordials, jellies, fruit, delicate food, pour into the house. They obtain loans from almost everybody, rich and poor, which are asked in every case in circumstances of a last extremity and with a perfect agony of shame."

Humor of the Alchemists.

The Evening Standard says the alchemists are no longer in fashion, and Nansen, Raleigh and Roentgen have taken the places of Hermes, Geber and Flammell. It seems farcical that men could have lived with the sole object of seeking after the "lapis philosophorum" or the "elixir vitae." The science of chemistry owes its beginning to them, but what monotonous and uninteresting lives they led. Throughout their works there is never a glimmer of wit, though atrocious exaggerations are frequent, and here and there one comes across real treasures of unconscious humor. They all asserted that they could prepare the stone or the elixir, and, having invested them with supernatural properties, they regarded themselves as superior mortals and possessed of qualities different from those of other men.

Seen at a Fashionable Newport Garden Party

A New Corset Cover—Millinery Novelties—Charming Summer Gowns—Black Corsets

HAS it ever been your misfortune to see a black corset worn under a thin gown? One would naturally think that at Newport one would never find any of these incongruities, and especially such vile taste as this, and yet it was only a couple of days ago that I saw a fashionable woman, not of the ultra fashionable, to be sure, but still far enough up the scale to be classed among the 400, at an afternoon garden party wearing a thin gown of flowered organdie, and underneath it and a very thin corset cover, a black corset.

Black corsets and dark underwear are among the things that are tabu among women of fashion. They may be nice, and they may be economical, but it is the latter which prevents their becoming fashionable. They savor too much of a saving of underwear, and the fashionable woman does not desire to be considered economical at the expense of absolute cleanliness of body and clothing. Merchants that cater to the fashionable trade will tell you that they have but few calls for either black corsets or dark underwear, and in fact they are not always carried in stock.

A LIMERICK LACE ROBE.

If it is ever your misfortune to see a woman wearing a black corset under a thin gown just notice the markings of it on the gown. Every stay will show through both the gown and the corset cover with a brilliancy that will surprise you.

I did not start out to write a dissertation on the evils of the black corset, but if the truth must be told it is a hard matter to realize just what I did start out to write. These hot summer days—hot even though they be tempered by the breezes of old ocean—are not conducive to serious thought and hard work, much as one desires to do either. But they are conducive to ideas. One can get more ideas in an hour's time than one could write about in a week if one but had the energy to put them together. I confess that I have not.

OF SOFT SILK IN A SEA GREEN SHADE.

But let me again go back to corsets while speaking of ideas, for they offer a new one. The corset covers with which we have been familiar for so many years have been intended for service only. Now comes an innovation in this line in the shape of a corset cover intended for show instead of for service, and which is worn over the serviceable garment. They are the daintiest affairs imaginable, of the sheerest lace and lawn. They are low cut, have but a strap over the arm and reach just about to the waist line. Their daintiness can be easily discerned through the thin dress bodice which is the reason for their being worn.

In millinery ideas the all-white hat seems to be holding an undisputed sway, which promises to continue to the end of the season. There is one noticeable thing about the all-white hat, and that is that it is becoming to both light and dark women. The blond can wear it without fearing that it will not match the yellow tints of her hair, for pure white will go with blond hair much better than either cream or yellow shades. As for the brunette she never questions white, for it is always pretty with dark hair.

Those charming sailor hats, trimmed with great knots of ribbon in the pastel shades, which were so common early in the season have both disappeared, though one still sees an occasional specimen of them trimmed with a twist of the new-figured silks or muslins around the crown. At the garden party where I saw the black corset I also saw some three or four of these hats, and at the same time I saw a dozen or more of the now-fashionable all-white hats.

But black corsets and hats were not the only noticeable things at this garden party. It was a really fashionable affair, though an unusually large one, given by Mrs. George Gould, who is paving her way into society by a series of elaborate entertainments. There were gowns, and charming ones at that. It was a brilliant display of the best the season has given us, both in the way of thin materials and styles. To prove this statement here are a few of the best ones seen.

One of them was a handsome affair of Limerick lace in ivory with a pattern of wild roses. This was made with a square decollete with pointed revers of lace, and the lace draped across the front, giving a round bodice effect. The sleeves were cut in a deep V just above the elbow.

One of soft silk was a novel, yet pretty, affair. It was of a sea-green shade, and was combined with white silk. The skirt had an opening at each gore, with white silk revealing, and laced with sea-green silk cord, caught just below the hips and just below the knees with rosettes of black velvet. A surplice bodice of white silk with the sea-green silk fastened at the shoulder with a buckle, and just below the bust line with black velvet rosettes. Elbow sleeves of white silk finished at the elbow with a rosette.

CHECKED SILK WITH GUIPURE EMBROIDERY.

The hostess wore a Frenchy affair of checked silk made up with guipure embroidery over white satin. The skirt had the checked silk in shallow scallops around the bottom, edged with narrow ruchings of black velvet. Under this falls a deep accordion plaiting of cream mousseline de soie. At the left side was the guipure embroidery over white satin in a novel design from the waist line, ending in a deep point at the bottom of the skirt. It had a round bodice, with a mousseline de soie shirred in the deep yoke effect, with lace beading put on in military fashion with black velvet ribbon run through.

SARAH DAVIDSON.

Little Wretch.

Most of the stores in the remote business sections of the city are constantly annoyed by children of the neighborhood coming to the door and asking for cards, empty boxes and similar articles. The clerks are, of course, down on the youngsters, and the warfare never ends. The other day a small boy poked his head in the door of a West side store and called out:

"Say, mister, got any empty boxes?"

"No," said the clerk, not very politely.

"Got any cards?"

"No."

"Got any almanacs?"

"No."

"Got any empty bottles?"

"No."

"Got any sense?"

"No!—yes—no—yes—you miserable little wretch!" and the clerk flew at his tormentor, but the latter had fled.—Boston Traveler.

Chicago Is Now Seeking After the Beautiful in Many Ways

It may sound sacreligious, but it is coming to be a recognized fact that business men of Chicago are reaching a point where they may pause, now and then, in the race for wealth and position and draw a long breath. It is not to be denied they have accomplished marvelous things. In a phenomenally brief period of time they have made a city the chief characteristic of which is "bigness." The colossal feature has been the greatest source of pride, and "Time is Money" has been the favorite motto. Of late years, however, a reaction has come, and many business men who are still young have discovered that it is "all in a lifetime anyway," and that they may rest on their oars, as it were, and enjoy the scenery. Artistic things are creeping in alongside the "big" ones. A significant feature of the city's progress is the development of the suburbs into ideal residence districts.

Mr. Farson's Oak Park Barn.

It is the opinion of Mr. John Farson, head of the banking firm of Farson, Leach & Co., that "a man owes something in a private way to the community in which he lives." Citizens of Oak Park, where Mr. Farson lives, will agree he has done his share in this respect. "I believe," said Mr. Farson, "that the people's tastes for beautiful architecture on their own premises needs cultivation. In fact, I'm a crank on the subject." Mr. Farson has shown the people of Oak Park that a barn is not necessarily an ugly arrangement of building material.

His own barn is a thing of beauty and utility. The horse stalls are arranged in a circle, so that the animals face each other; the carriage room is elegantly fitted up and well filled with vehicles of every description, and the suite of rooms set apart for the coachman is furnished with a bath and with every convenience one would expect to find if the rooms were a part of a well-appointed house.

A Valuable Cow.

There is one thing about Mr. John Farson's barn that for a long time sorely perplexed the residents of Oak Park. Over the door of his barn is the motto: "The Home of Experience." In the breast of the first resident who noticed this motto the germs of curiosity began to disseminate. In a short time the entire community was on edge. It certainly was a nonpluser until Mr. Farson explained to a delegation of his townsmen that "Experience" was his cow—a sister of the one that took the prize at the World's Columbian exposition.

Have No Excuses for Being Late.

One of the barn's conveniences, for which the people of Oak Park should be devoutly thankful is a huge clock with a double face—a dial on each street. The clock is a wonderful piece of mechanism. Its strike is a silvery chime which is heard for miles around. It tells off the hours, half hours and even quarters. The small boys in Oak Park are denied the use of the threadbare excuse: "We didn't know what time it was." Mr. Farson's clock is always before them. At night its dials are illuminated by electricity.

Mr. Farson is very partial to the national colors, and in the evening his home is a blaze of red, white and blue incandescent lights. The color scheme of the house itself is as nearly perfect as it could be made by the use of Bedford stone, Roman pressed brick and a red tile roof. To enhance the blue effect two great blue-tinted lamps like moons guard the porch entrance. From a tall flagpole in the yard waves the stars and stripes every day in the year when the weather will permit.

Mr. Farson's name is a familiar one, not only in the business and financial world, but in the religious world, and through it all he is known to his friends as a "jolly good fellow." No wonder Mr. Farson was mentioned as a possible running mate for President McKinley.

The Chicago Library.

That the Chicago public library fills a great void is patent to anyone who takes the trouble to watch the stream of humanity that pours through its doors. It is one of the ideal places to study human nature. Club women who have "papers" to write beseige the desks of the assistant librarians. They take up lots of time, but they are so nice about it that the clerks who attend them have no complaint. Besides, the clerks are paid for this very thing, anyway.

A Professional Pedigree Hunter.

In the reference department a room is reserved for people who write, and the latter keep the attendants on an endless quest for books. Here one sees the professional pedigree hunters. They look live venerable sages. They pour over books day after day and never leave the building so long as the doors are open—at least such is the impression one gains. If you see one of these men pause for a moment, tilt back in his chair and begin fishing in his pockets, it is only a sign that he is hungry. Soon you will see him produce a piece of oiled paper containing, possibly, a slice of bread. He munches his lunch in silence and resumes his work.

The assistant librarians of a large library must literally "know everything," for they are called upon to answer a great variety of questions. Among the subjects upon which people have sought information are: "Pictures of the Devil," "Philosophy of Red Hair," "Origin of 'Taking the Bull by the Horns,'" "Exact Shade of the Green in the Shamrock," "The Vestal Virgin Compared with the Modern Church Woman," etc. All of which goes to prove that the American people are a studious and philosophical race.

The Booster Club.

Chicago is a city of clubs, but it is to be doubted if there exists among business men another such an one as the Boosters' club, which has but recently sprung into existence. Chicago's prominent men of affairs are joining the new club at a rate that must certainly appall anywhoare counting on receiving jobs as census takers during the millennium. The object of the club is a commendable one and is couched in the following words: "The discouragement of unkind criticism; to push and uphold fellowmen; to encourage and boost everything public spirited, praiseworthy and laudable."

Helping One Another Upward.

It is the boast of the Boosters' club that it has no secret code and customs, no secret passwords and handshakes and no secret emblems. Its motto is "If you can't say anything good about a fellowman, keep your mouth shut."

Of course, what we have really needed all along has been a non-gossip club of this kind for business men. However, when you come to think of it, why should women, in this age of progressive ideas, be excluded from any club with so elevating an ambition. This is a question which presents itself to the fair-minded. Nevertheless, the club's constitution distinctly states than "any white male is eligible to membership." In the absence of any further provision it will be inferred that women must still continue to find solace in the deliberations of the Sewing circle, Ladies' Home circle and other circles of small circumference.

As yet the new club is without a club house, but it is to be hoped that the future will find them provided with this requisite.

Those Naughty Boys.

It now transpires that certain Chicago youths of tender years have so forgotten their inherited sense of modesty as to indulge in nude bathing on the lake shore. In short, they have presumed to make a swimming hole of Lake Michigan and have found great joy in "going in" with no covering save their birthday clothes, much to the horror and disgust of certain residents who are reported to watch the misdeeds of the youngsters through opera glasses.

Watch Them Through Opera Glasses.

In view of this condition of affairs, we who remember kindly the old swimming holes in the creek, and who have occasion to behold daily scores of dirty-faced urchins, cannot forbear to bow our respects to Lydia Avery Coonley Ward for her view of the situation. Evidently she is a sensible woman, for she tells us that: "The disposition to bathe is a thing to rejoice in, and since we have few public bathhouses, and many who need the refreshment are without private bathrooms, why should they not use the great lake which Heaven has furnished as a free sanitorium as well as a natatorium?"

Why not? we echo. We note with pleasure that this new-found champion of boys' rights is not ashamed to emphasize her position in the matter by signing her name in full, so that he who runs may read. It is just such large-hearted people as Lydia Avery Coonley Ward that make this old world go round. Lydia certainly touches the right note when she intimates that it is a false step of delicacy that approves woman's low-necked evening dresses and is offended by the sight of a few ghostly forms dancing in the sand off across the broad expanse of the Illinois Central tracks. She adds that, at any rate, it were easy for kindly souls to look the other way.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

KEEPS THINGS SECRET.

New Telegraph Instrument Whose Messages Can Be Read Only by the Man at the Wire.

Edwin F. Van Vechten has in his office in Milwaukee a telegraph instrument that is hoped to prove a great aid in teaching the deaf, and at the same time make it possible for the deaf to become telegraph operators. Besides this it is expected to furnish railroads, governments, or others using telegraph instruments with a practically secret service.

The new instrument is one designed by George H. Landgraf, an instructor in the Menasha high school. The principle upon which it operates is the same as that of any standard telegraph instrument now in use. Instead of the receiver tickling forth the sound loudly, as is customary in order to communicate the message to the ear of the operator, its ticks cannot be heard, but the message is communicated along a short wire to a delicate sounder incased in a small hard rubber cylinder. By placing this sounder in the ear the message can be plainly and distinctly heard as it is ticked off, although no sound can be heard by one standing but a few feet away. This instrument would make a telegraph office noiseless, and a telegraph operator strolling into the place would not be able to hear messages that are frequently desired to be kept from inquisitive ears.

Still another interesting feature about the instrument, the value of which will probably not be known until after it has been more extensively experimented with, is the touch communicated by the sounder to the teeth. By placing the end of the rubber cylinder between the teeth the repeated ticks or blows may be distinctly felt, and one who knew the telegraph code could easily read the message sent by the communication thus received. The ticks are clearly defined, and not confused, and it is expected by Mr. Van Vechten that deaf and dumb persons may, after learning the code, be able to use the knowledge to financial advantage, inasmuch as they would be as serviceable as those who could hear plainly.

The instrument has been applied to a small "bridge," or arch, upon a telegraph wire, the wire being cut underneath the bridge, and the messages sent have been plainly heard by attaching the sounder to the ear.—Chicago Tribune.

LIFE-SAVING BUOY.

An Invention That Will Add Much to the Safety of Travelers on the Briny Deep.

The invention here shown speaks for itself, and its advantages in saving lives in case of a wreck can easily be seen. It is designed either to occupy a place among the equipment of a vessel or to be stationed near dangerous rocks along the coast, and not only provide a means of support for those in the water, but also carries a supply of food and water to maintain life until aid arrives. There is a central department in which the food and water are placed, to which access is gained through a water-tight door. At the bottom of the float is a ballast chamber which prevents overturning in a rough sea, and to further aid in supporting the float at the top of the water a number of separate air chambers are provided around the outer edge, with ribs to distend them and lessen the liability of puncture. Around the buoy, just above the water line, a cable is suspended, and the ladder provides a means to reach the lookout at the top, where a flag and bell are in use as signals. A patent on this life-saving appliance has been granted to G. F. Abraham, of Baltimore, Md.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Briquettes Made of Sawdust.

In the large sawmills of Joseph Fialla, in Austria, the sawdust is utilized by being made up into briquettes; these form a good combustible for boiler furnaces or household use. The sawdust is impregnated with a mixture of tarry substances and heated to the proper temperature; it is then passed over a plate of iron heated by steam, from which a screw conveyor takes it to the screw press, where it is compressed into briquettes of the required size. The press turns out 19 per minute, weighing two-fifths of a pound each and measuring 6 by 26 by 1½ inches. The calorific power is about the same as that of lignite, with but four per cent. of ash. The factory turns out more than 6,000,000 briquettes a year; the cost is about 16 cents per thousand, and the selling price reaches $1, leaving a considerable margin of profit.

LIFE and WORK of Washington Irving

A Sketch of the "Father of American Literature" and His Rise to Success

WASHINGTON IRVING'S literary career presents a marked contrast to that of many other celebrated authors, and it is a fact to be proud of that he was not only the father of American literature, but the first American writer who gained a European reputation solely on the ground of his literary ability.

He was not obliged to serve a long apprenticeship, and then wait for recognition, as his talent was recognized before he was 20, and at 26 he was famous.

He was born in the city of New York April 3, 1783, and was the youngest of 11 children. The revolutionary war was just over and Irving's mother, imbued with a spirit of patriotism, insisted that the child should be named Washington. Six years later when President Washington came to New York to assume the reins of government, a servant of the Irving family followed the great man into a shop, and pointed out the lad to him as his namesake. There was nothing of special significance in this at the time, but the "father of his country" reached out his hand caressingly, and placing it on the head of the boy blessed him, little thinking that one day the lad would be his biographer.

In order to fully appreciate Irving's great talent one must know something of the surroundings in which this talent was developed. At the time of his birth New York was a rural city of about 26,000 inhabitants many of whom were slaves. The city clustered about the Battery, and did not extend northward quite to the site of the present City Hall park; beyond that, and for several years afterwards, were only country residences, orchards and cornfields. The city had been half burned down during the war and emerged from it in a dilapidated condition. The embryo New York had its gallows in a gorgeously painted Chinese pagoda. There were the stocks and the whipping post and the debtors' prison, all of which Irving pictures in his droll way. There was a marked separation between the Dutch and English residents, though the Irvings seem to have been on terms of intimacy with the best of both nationalities.

WASHINGTON IRVING.

Irving's father was a deacon in the Presbyterian church, a sedate God-fearing man, but with the strict severity of the Scotch covenanter he was serious and without sympathy in the amusements of his children. Naturally the children stood in awe of their father, and his cold discipline would have been intolerable had it not been for the warm-hearted sympathetic mother. Irving was full of vivacity, drollery and innocent mischief, but he always had delicate consideration for the feelings of others. These beautiful qualities made him a favorite all his life.

As a boy his frail health prevented close application to work, and therefore his school education was desultory, being over at the age of 16. He was always a dreamer and a saunterer, and his scribbling propensities were exercised in composition of childish plays.

At the age of 16 he entered a law office, but he was a heedless student and never acquired either a taste for the profession or much knowledge of law. At the age of 19 he wrote a series of articles for his brother's paper criticising the theaters of the day. He signed himself Jonathan Oldstyle. These articles were crude in style, but were humorous, and consequently widely read. This was really his first attempt for publication.

In 1804 Irving's health was so delicate that his brothers determined to send him abroad. When he took passage the captain remarked: "There's a chap who'll go overboard before we get across."

A few weeks made a great change in Irving's physical condition, and he traveled all over Europe, being received in the best society everywhere. He not only made hosts of friends abroad, but he also met many Americans. Among the number were Allston and Newton, who were also to have a career.

He dabbled in art awhile, and at one time thought seriously of remaining in Rome to study painting. In 1806 Irving returned to America greatly invigorated, and in November of the same year he was admitted to the bar, although he really had done but little to deserve the distinction, and he never seemed to think of giving his life to the legal profession. Society more than ever attracted him, but it was fully ten years later that he settled upon a definite plan for his life work.

In 1810 he went into business with his brothers as the silent partner. Five years later he went to Europe a second time, little dreaming that he would be gone for 17 years. Business at home was a failure, and the firm made an assignment. At last Irving had found his incentive—necessity.

He went to work on the "Sketch Book," and with the aid of Sir Walter Scott it was published, attracting wide attention in England and America, particularly "Rip Van Winkle." Byron pronounced "The Broken Heart" one of the finest things ever written.

We now see greater actiivty. In 1822 came "Bracebridge Hall," and two years later "The Tales of a Traveler."

While traveling in Spain he conceived the idea of writing the life of Columbus and devoted himself closely to his task. Soon followed "The Conquest of Granada," and "The Alhambra." In 1831 he was called to London as secretary of the American legation, but the following year returned to America, where his name was a household word.

Not long after this he purchased a tract of land on the Hudson and fitted up a home which he called Sunnyside. After a trip in the west and southwest he wrote "A Tour of the Prairies." Political honors were offered him on every hand, but he declined everything so that he might be free to write.

In 1842 he was appointed minister to Spain, and though he disliked to leave his beloved home he could not well refuse, and he sailed for Europe a third time.

However, he could not carry on his literary work as he had hoped and he tendered his resignation in 1846.

It was not long before the "Life of Washington" appeared, and Bancroft and other critics paid him the highest praise.

On November 28, 1859, he passed quietly away, and was laid to rest in Sleepy Hollow amid the scenes he loved so well. A whole volume might be written about his love for good women and little children, his faith in his fellowmen, and his kindly sympathies for even the lowest. The sweetest chapter would be the story of his love for Matilda Hoffman, and his life-long devotion to her memory.

One thing is certain, he has left us a priceless legacy in the romance with which he has invested the Hudson, and his books are full of a sweetness and charm of humor without any sting which makes him beloved as "the father of American literature."

TALKING TO FARMERS.

James E. Martine the Principal Speaker at the Flemington Fair Grounds Today.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, August 15.—The Farmers' Alliance of Hunterdon county is holding its ninth annual picnic on the Hunterdon county fair grounds, on the outskirts of Flemington, today and tomorrow. These picnics have grown in popularity every since they began on Packer's Island nine years ago. Then it was nothing more than an ordinary gathering of the tillers of the soil who had congregated to shake one another's hand and discuss farm topics in all its branches. The facilities for handling the immense crowds which soon began to gather at the annual picnics were inadequate, and the promoters were forced to hunt up larger quarters. The Hunterdon county fair grounds were secured, and from year to year new features have been added in the way of exhibits, until now the gatherings present the appearance of a county fair.

The principal address today will be made by James E. Martine, of Plainfield.

Tomorrow's corps of speakers are James Kelm, Oscar Jeffrey, Mrs. William H. Boole and John S. Crosby. Mr. Jeffrey will look after the interests of the Republican party, while Mrs. Boole will speak for the Prohibitionists.

REMOVING THE WIRES

Too Much of a Strain on Trolley Poles on Front Street.

Workmen in the employ of the Street Railway Company were this morning removing the network of wires at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, which have been a source of trouble to the car crews for some time. On account of the heavy strain the poles have bent over until there was five feet of slack in the main wire. It has been impossible to keep a trolley pole on the wire while going around the Somerset street curve. New poles will be placed on the corners seven feet in the ground. Commencing at 10 o'clock tonight the linemen will shift the main wire and remove the guard wires for some distance both sides of the switch.

A Maine Excursion.

The annual September party conducted by A. V. D. Honeyman will this year visit the Rangeley Lakes and the White Mountains. They will be absent nine days, spending the greater part of the time at Rangely, one of the most delightful spots in Maine, and famous for its hunting and fishing. Bethlehem will be the stopping place in the White Mountains, and various excursions will be made from that point. The party is about made up to its full complement, and will start Sept. 3.

WANT DR. LIVERMORE.

He May Become Pastor for the Seventh-Daptist Church of New Market.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, Aug. 15.—The resignation of Rev. Martin Sindall as pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tendered sometime ago on occount of account of ill-health, will take effect September 1st. The members of the church and congregation regret exceedingly that Mr. Sindall is to leave them, but they trust he will speedily regain his health and strength so that he may continue his labors.

The question of a successor to Mr. Sindall has not yet been definitely settled, but the members of the church are hoping that Rev. Dr. L. E. Livermore, of Lebanon, Conn., a former pastor of the church, can be prevailed to accept a call to the church. At present Dr. Livermore is visiting at this place, and the members hope that he will decide to become their pastor before he returns to Connecticut. Twice Dr. Livermore has been the pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, and it was always with deep regret that he departed from the church. His health for a few years past has been poor, but he has regained it and is feeling much better. At his present place of residence he has been doing out door work and has about fully regained his strength. Strong pressure is now being brought to bear to have him return to New Market, and it is not at all unlikely that he will.

LIKE AN ARCH.

Roadbed on Park Avenue Found to be in Bad Shape When it was Plowed Up.

The action of Street Commissioner Gavett in having Park avenue, between North avenue and Second street, plowed up and a new foundation laid, has been fully justified by subsequent events. Contractor C. M. Meeker, who is doing the work for the city, found several soft places in the roadbed in the location of the trenches which were dug there. The surface of the road had hardened into an arch, while the rest of the earth in the trench had settled leaving a sink hole or soft place just under the roadbed.

The roadbed has now been plowed up and the upper coating of stone is being carted away. The large foundation stone, of which there are a few, will be used in rebuilding the foundation. The portion of Park avenue, between Fourth street and North avenue is nearly completed and is available for traffic. Park avenue, north of North avenue, is blocked and will be so for several days.

The steam roller worked on Park avenue this morning but has since paid a visit to Watchung avenue where it is now engage in rolling in the new covering of stone. The best of the smaller stone from Park avenue is being used as a binder.

Death Due to Apoplexy.

Mrs. Mary M. Plath, wife of Kenyon Parson, of 607 West Front street, died very suddenly last night from an attack of apoplexy. Mrs. Parson had been enjoying her usual good health, and the attack was a severe blow to the members of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Parson and their niece came from Brooklyn in July and leased John Haviland's house at 607 West Front street, until September 1st. Mrs. Parson was highly esteemed by the few people with whom she became acquainted, and her death caused sincere and deep regret among them. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the late residence at 5 o'clock.

Man Nearly Frozen in an Ice Box.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 15—Albert Fritzel, a waiter, employed in William Wussler's resturant in Broad street, had a narrow escape from being frozen to death with the thermometer above 90 degrees in the shade. The waiter went into the icebox in the place to get a sirloin steak, and while hunting for it the door of the ice chest accidentally closed, making Fritzel a prisoner. Fifteen minutes later Wussel entered the place, and missed the waiter. He found him lying on the floor in the ice box unable to speak. One of Fritzel's feet was partly frozen, and three toes may have to be amputated.

TAKEN FOR MURDERER

PEOPLE THOUGHT WM. DAVIS WAS ARTHUR HARRIS.

Davis Proved to be Only a Petty Offender Who Tried to Own the Town for a Time.

The rumor spread rapidly around town yesterday afternoon and evening that the Plainfield police had captured Arthur Harris, who is charged with the murder of Policeman Robert Thorp in New York City Saturday night. Patrolman Myers was seen to arrest a man on West Front street during the afternoon who considerably resembled the description of the alleged murderer.

Myers' prisoner proved to be no murderer nor, as far as is known, is there any criminal charge against him. The trouble with him was that he was drunk and did not take full cognizance of his actions. Further more he wanted to fight and, having read of Harris' act, told how he could go and do likewise. Myers locked him up for the night.

This morning Myers' prisoner was arraigned before City Judge Runyon and gave his name as William Davis. He is a chef, and is employed in this vicinity for the summer. He went to New York to see his family and returned yesterday. He admitted that he had drank too much but his memory failed him concerning what happened during the afternoon.

Roundsman Flynn testified in court that the same man had been reported to him as having made threats against the police in various parts of the city. Flynn was summoned to a home in the West End a few days ago by a woman who said that Davis had taken possession and refused to vacate. The man was gone, however, when the officer appeared.

Judge Runyon sentenced the man to pay a fine of $8 or go to jail for thirty days.

PETER VAN ARSDALE DEAD.

A Faithful Member of Trinity Church—Sixty Years Old.

In the death of Peter V. VanArsdale, aged about 60 years, a most worthy citizen and exemplary Christian has passed away. Mr. VanArsdale died yesterday afternoon at his home on the Jones farm, between Avon Park and South Plainfield, after an illness of about six weeks with typhoid fever.

His illness commenced with a slight fever, and just a time when he was thought to be improving nicely, a cold was contracted. This produced a relapse and from that time Mr. VanArsdale continued to grow worse.

The deceased was a constant attendant and faithful member of Trinity Reformed church. It was often remarked that he never missed the Sunday services.

He will be greatly missed at the church. He is survived by a widow, a sister-in-law, Miss Wilhelmina Vroom, of Lawyer Charles Moffett's office, and a nephew, Rev. Henry T. Jones, formerly pastor of Marconnier chapel.

The latter will conduct the funeral services to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence. Interment will be in the family plot, near Somerville.

Ran Wild for a Little Ways

A horse attached to a delivery wagon belonging to Drake & Mundy, made a dash for freedom yesterday, and for a time succeeded. He was being driven along West Second street near Madison avenue, when he suddenly shied and ran on the sidewalk. The harness gave way and the animal dashed down Madison avenue and turned into Front street. He was captured opposite Music Hall by John Goff, Jr., who pluckily ran out and grasped him by the bridle. The only damage was that sustained by the harness.

TO HOLD GRAND BAZAR.

MRS. FLORENCE H. HALL REQUESTS JERSEY WOMEN'S ASSISTANCE.

Affair to be Held in Madison Square Garden in New York in December Next.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, this city, sends the following letter to club women in and about New Jersey to incite effort toward the grand bazar, to be held by the National American Woman Suffrage Association:

Dear Fellow-Worker for Equal Suffrage—The National American Woman Suffrage Association has arranged to hold a grand bazar in Madison Square Garden, New York city, during the week beginning Monday, December 3. Each State is expected to furnish a booth, and New Jersey will, I hope, be able to provide an attractive display, since none of us wish our beloved State to suffer by contrast with other States.

Will you not help us by making at least one article, and by asking your friends to assist you?

The National Association advises us to have all articles of superior quality, each of its own kind. Novelties are always desirable, and in December many persons will be purchasing Christmas presents. The National further suggests that the demand is for cheap rather than costly articles, for useful rather than fancy ones. Yet we need some beautiful things. Aprons, dusters, washclothes, sofa cushions, bags of all sorts, calendars, handkerchiefs, canned fruits, are among the articles suggested. Fruit is so abundant and cheap in our State that a number of ladies will make jellies and preserves for sale. If you can sell fruits, flowers, vegetables, or, indeed, goods or work of any sort, "from a silk dress to a house and lot," beforehand to you neighbors or friends, and so raise money for the bazar, you will bring double work by stimulating interest in advance and by causing the nimble penny to turn over often.

Let each one of use do according to our strength and ability but let every one do something to help on the great and just cause, which we love so well. Here is an opportunity which may not come to us soon again, for New York city is at our very door, and every woman can do something for a fair.

Yours faithfully,
Florence Howe Hall.

P. S.—Articles may be sent to Dr. Mary D. Hussey, 142 Arlington avenue, East Orange, N. J.

THE JUNIORS' EXCURSION.

In Spite of the Threatening Weather 500 Went to Asbury Park.

In spite of the threatening weather 500 people accompanied the Juniors on their excursion to Asbury Park this morning. The train was composed of ten cars, nine of which were well filled. A large number came from Somerville and Dunellen. A special trolley car had been chartered to bring those from Westfield who intended to go, as the railroad company would not stop the train at that place. The excursionists will have an opportunity of enjoying the beautiful carnival on Wesley Lake this evening, as the train does not leave for home until 9 o'clock.

Valuable Property for Sale.

A genuine bargain in real estate will be offered next week Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at 2 o'clock, when David D. Smalley and Mary Adelle Galletti, subscribers, will sell at public auction that valuable property 114-116 Somerset street corner of Manning avenue, consisting of a store, an apartment house, a large barn and vacant lot. This property has one of the best locations in the borough, and is so situated that it is especially well adapted for business purposes. At the same time the apartment house is in excellent condition and is so arranged that a family is not disturbed in the least by business conducted in the store adjoining. It is on the line of the trolley and handy to all important places. The terms will be made known the time of sale. Reed & Coddington are attorneys in the case.

Drinking Fountain Cleaned.

The public drinking fountain on North avenue has been thoroughly cleaned and new cups attached. On June 16th the fountain was given to the city so that the Loyal Temperance Legion is no longer responsible for anything concerning it, but inasmuch as no one was employed to clean the fountain Spencer Conway was engaged at the expense of the Legion to do the work this time.

Jumped the Track.

A car on the Fourth street line jumped the track at Monroe avenue about 8 o'clock last night and blocked the line for some time. It took nearly two hours of hard work before the car was replaced.

MUSIC HALL TO OPEN.

MANAGER MAZE EDWARDS WILL GIVE EXCELLENT CLASS OF PLAYS.

House Has Been Thoroughly Renovated and is Now in First-Class Condition for Opening Tuesday.

After a thorough cleaning and renovating, the Stillman Music Hall will open its season next Tuesday evening. Manager Maze Edwards is expected home the day previous. Although it's rather early for the regular opening of the theatrical season, a few well-chosen plays, of not too heavy a character will give the last of the summer visitors a pleasant means for passing an occasional evening.

During the absence of Manager Edwards this summer the theatre has been left in charge of Michael Muldowney, who proved a very capable lieutenant last season. This month Muldowney has started a thorough cleaning of the premises, which is now completed. Just before last season's opening the house was completely redecorated, so that no improvements of that nature were needed this season.

The floors have been scrubbed, the seats overhauled and repaired where needed and everything put in first class shape for the opening performance when "Finnegan's 400" will be given. New carpeting has been laid in the aisles and the paint and interior decorations cleaned until they look as bright as new.

No announcement has yet been made by Manager Maze Edwards as to his plans for the fall and winter. He will probably give something of an idea as to what they are as soon as he returns. He has already stated, however, that he will present an excellent class of performances in this city during the winter, and, with the proper support from the people, will give many of the leading dramas which are on the stage today.

In writing to his assistant, Muldowney, Mr. Edwards gives the welcome news that he has arranged for the production of "The Christian," in which Viola Allen made such a wonderful success last season, and that it will be given here December 15. It will be presented by a strong cast of players. Although Miss Allen will not appear, part of the original cast will be in the performance.

SENATORIAL BOOMS.

Thousands of Farmers Listen to Spellbinders on Picnic Grounds—Mr. Martine Heard.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, N. J., Aug. 16—The ninth annual picnic of the Farmers' Alliance of Hunterdon county opened yesterday. The 7,500 farmers came in farm wagons, peach wagons, spring wagons and wagons that had no springs, everything that would get to the grounds.

A large number of politicians were present, William C. Gebhardt, of Clinton; L. H. Trimmer, of German Valley, and George F. Martens, of New Germantown, were present and started their booms for Sentorial honors.

Assemblymen Oliver Blackwell, of Ringoes, and Warren C. Loudenberger, of Junction, were also at the picnic, but, as they are to be returned to the Assembly, according to party rules, they gave way to the Senatorial hustlers.

Senator John R. Foster presided and introduced John V. L. Pierson, of Glen Ridge, a Populist, who spoke of "Money Restricted and Unrestricted." He was followed by J. R. Kelm, of Jersey City; Erastus E. Potter, of Port Oram; John S. Crosby, of New York; James E. Martine, of Plainfield; Mortimer Whithead and John Monteith, of Newark.

Last evening addresses were made by Rev. A. L. Wilson, of Bound Brook, and Erastus E. Potter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Orange, August 16.—A strike was begun yesterday in the hat factory of Brennan & Carr, at Orange. Sixty men employed in the making department went out. The men demand an increase in wages, which the firm is not disposed to grant. The officers of the National Board of the United Hatters of North America will try to effect a settlement of the dispute tomorrow. In the hat factory of Fred Burg & Co., where a strike of six months only recently ended, another misunderstanding has arisen and the makers quit work yesterday.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

A pretty home wedding took place yesterday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Boice, of New Market, when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Alvira Boice, was made the wife of J. Alfred Wilson, son of John Y. Wilson, of Dunellen. The house, which was decorated in a tasty manner with ferns and potted plants, was filled with the relatives and friends of the young couple.

CLAMBAKE OF O. C. M.'S.

DINNER WAS TWO HOURS LATE AND THEN STORM INTERRUPTED.

Storm Drove Some of the Guests Away—Committee in Charge of the Affair.

The long-expected clambake under the auspices of the Omer C. Moore Association was enjoyed yesterday afternoon at Mountainside Grove, near the end of the Somerset street trolley. There were fully one hundred members and friends present and everyone had a good time. "Nat" Astfalk, of Elizabeth, was the caterer, and he was to have had the dinner ready at 3 o'clock. It was two hours later when the diners sat down, and when the dinner was half eaten the enjoyment of the affair was somewhat spoiled by the visitation of a thunder storm. Some of the guests became frightened and went home. Those that remained succeeded in completing their dinner. The menu was all right.

The officers of the association who managed the affair were William J. Mattox, chairman; Joseph C. Blimm, treasurer; Francis E. Whiteside, secretary, and they were assisted by the following persons on the committee: J. J. Crousse, Dennis Carney, Isaac Taynor, Charles McGinley, J. E. Flannery, William Barbour and Morgan Turton.

Among the dignitaries present were City Judge Runyon, Collector F. H. Smith, Postmaster E. H. Bird, Dr. O. L. Jenkins, Councilmen J. F. Buckle, B. Frank Corlell, Freeholder William A. Westphal and Chief T. O. Doane.

It is announced that among the most distinguished guests who have signified their intention of honoring with their presence are: Hon. Wm. McAdoo, William B. Gourley, chairman of the State Democratic committee; Robert Davis, of Jersey City; Congressman Salmon, of Boonton; Hon. James J. Bergen, of Somerville; General R. A. Donnelly, of Trenton; Hon. Leon Leon Abbett, of Jersey City; James E. Martine, of Plainfield; Congressman William Sulzer, of New York, and Mayor Seymour, of Newark.

The committee further states that special efforts are being put forth to have as guest David Bennett Hill, of New York, who had been booked for the occasion. If Mr. Hill could in any way find it possible to be in attendance, to him would be accorded the honor of being the principal speaker.

The first meeting of the Union county Democratic committee since last spring will be held in the Dix building Friday evening, when plans for the work of the campaign will be discussed. The members of the committees from the various wards and townships have also been requested to be ready with the recommendations for the Democratic election officers.

John Kean, the junior United States Senator from this State, who has been named by Chairman Mark Hanna, of the National Republican committee, as one of the advisory members of that body, is a native of Union county. He was born at Ursino, in the house in which he now resides. Mr. Kean has studied law and has been admitted to the bar, but he has been so busy looking after his numerous financial interprises that he had no time to practice law. He served two terms in Congress, representing the Eighth Congressional District, but was defeated for Governor in 1892 by George T. Werts. Mr. Kean is interested in numerous financial and business concerns, banking, trolley, lighting, water and steam railroads. As a member of the State Republican committe Senator Kean has been active and liberal.

It is said to be probable that State Senator George Greeley Smith, of Lakewood, will be selected as one of the Republican Presidential electors from the Second Congress district, and that John H. Pitney or Howard Frothingham may be selected by the Fourth Congress district for the same place on the same ticket. There seems to be no doubt that John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Insurance Company, will be one of the electors-at-large.

The outing of the Franklin Murphy Association September 10th, will be attended, it is announced, by many of the most prominent Republicans in New Jersey. The home of the association is in Jersey City, and ex-Judge J. Herbert Potts is the treasurer of it. He said yesterday that the outing would be one of the greatest Republican meetings of the kind that New Jersey had ever known.

REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE.

Senator Stokes Summons the County Chairmen to Meet Him at Trenton Friday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 16—Senator Stokes yesterday issued a call to the chairmen of the Republican county committees of the State, summoning them to a conference to be held at the Republican Club, this city, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to have the county committeemen and Senator Stokes, who is the acting head of the State committee, get into closer touch.

Already Senator Stokes has had the public pulse felt on the coming National election, and he is quite sanguine over the outlook. The working people of the State are manifesting a spirit of contentment unusual in a Presidential year, he says, and this is interpreted by the Cumberland Senator as a most favorable sign that they are satisfied to let well enough alone. Further than this, the reports that have come in from the various counties indicate that the young men among the voters are with McKinley, which is also regarded as significant. Senator Stokes is a firm believer in the workingmen and young voters of all callings, and is naturally very hopeful over the outlook.

B. & O. AND THE CENTRAL

A RUMOR THAT THE FORMER ROAD WOULD CONTROL LATTER.

Representative of the Controling Interests Denied That There was Any Deal On.

Coincident with an advance of 5½ points in the stock of the Central Railroad of New Jersey Wall street heard rumors yesterday that the company was about to pass under the control of the Baltimore and Ohio through the purchase of the stock held by the interests identified with the First National Bank. A representative of the controlling interests denied positively that any deal with the B. and O or any other interest had as yet been arranged which would mean a change in the control. He added:

"That the control may some time change hands is quite possible, in fact, quite likely, in view of the tendency toward concentration that exists in the railroad business as elsewhere. The Jersey Central has never been in better condition both physically and financially, and its prospects now are better than ever before in its history. It has in its treasury a total, all told, of $12,000,000 of good securities, for which there has been no use and which are unpledged. Included among the securities are $4,500,000 of the company's own 5 per cent. bonds that are now selling at 122, and about $6,000,000 of Lehigh and Wilkesbarre 4½s. The company has also waterfront property at Jersey City the value of which is very great.

STATE HEADQUARTERS.

Democrats Are to Assemble at the Washington Hotel, Jersey City.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Aug. 16.—William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, visited this city yesterday to open the Democratic State headquarters here in the Washington Hotel. It will be several days before the bureau is in working order, as furniture and necessary equipments must be installed. By the first of next week Mr. Gourley expects to begin making daily visits to the headquarters to direct the affairs of the campaign in person. Secretary W. K. Devereux will also be in daily attendance, and the intentions are to get down to the active business of the campaign as soon as things are in order.

Railroad Victim a Bayonne Man.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 16—The body of the man who was killed on the Central Railroad here last Sunday was identified last night by his wife as that of Patrick Hoey, thirty seven years old, who resided in Bayonne. Over a week ago he secured a job at the Linden race-track helping to take down the buildings there, and went to board with Mrs. Adams, on Elizabeth avenue. His wife went on a visit to her relatives in Harlem, and while there read of her husband's death and recognized the description of his clothing.

FREAKS OF LIGHTNING.

REMARKABLE "STUNTS" ON AN OLD TREE ON WEST FRONT STREET.

Trolley and Electric Light Wires Also Disabled by the Storm Last Evening.

During the thunder storm that visited Plainfield about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon a severe flash of lightning performed great "stunts" on a tree on the Harburger property, on West Front street, opposite the Serrell property. The tree is composed of three good-sized branches, all of which centre in a large trunk at the base. It has stood there for years, and many a man in this city can tell stories of how he received thrashings for stealing chestnuts from this clump of trees.

The peculiar part of the bolt was that it struck the first and second branches from the southeast about ten feet from the top about the same time, and then jumped to the third branch, where it followed a dead limb a distance of several feet and passed off on the trolley wire a short distance away. The lightning confined itself to this circuit, about twenty-five feet from the ground, and it affected the dead parts of the tree almost wholly.

At the time, Herbert Martin, of West Front street, was going home and he had just passed the tree. He was partially stunned. Alvin E. Hoagland, who lives nearby, was standing in his yard, and he also was slightly effected by the bolt. Afterward he went up the tree and made a close examination of the lightnings work.

The heavy storm last evening caused considerable trouble to the electric light wires, a number of circuits being out for some time. The corner of Front street and Park avenue was plunged in darkness for two hours by the failure of the arc light to burn. The arc lights at the depot also failed to burn for sometime. A live wire fell on Sycamore street between Fifth and Sixth street, but was discoverd in time by Sergeant Frederickson before any damage resulted.

WANTED TO BE KILLED.

Crazy Dock Watch Hollow Man Offered $5 to Any One Who Would Shoot Him.

Neighbors of Mrs. Theresa Hoffmeister, who lives in Dock Watch Hollow, Warren township, are aroused over the actions of her nephew, Jacob Hoffmeister, and threaten to have him arrested, as it is feared, unless he is restrained, he will kill his aunt and himself. Mrs. Hoffmeister is the widow of the late Louis Hoffmeister, and the little place on which she lives is under process of foreclosure. Both the widow and Jacob contemplate buying the property. The latter has been despondent and acting queerly for some time, and Saturday offered $5 to anyone who would shoot him. In the evening he went to Mrs. Hoffmeister's and demanded of her what money she had in the house. When she refused to comply he seized the gun, annd she fled out into the night. He pursued her and shot at random, but she, fortunately, escaped injury. Jacob is now in possession of the premises, and the neighbors are momentarily expecting a tragedy.

TROLLEY WIRE FELL.

Discovered by Moterman Who Had Electric Current Cut off.

A section of the main wire of the street railway, several blocks in length, fell on Somerset street at 11 o'clock last night just as car No. 7 had passed under. It was discovered by the moterman who ran the corner of Front and Somerset streets and cut off the power before any accidents could happen by people coming in contact with the live wire. The repair gang was hurriedly summoned and worked until after 1 o'clock before the trouble could be repaired sufficiently to allow the stalled cars to move.

Zinc Mining Company Formed.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 16—The Republic Zinc Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday with the clerk of Union county. The company is capitalized for $100,000. The incorporators are William A. Adair, Henry Keale, Daniel Carroll, Robert Goeller and Harvey L. Wheelock, all of this city. The company will conduct the mining of lead and zinc in Missouri and Kansas.

VINNEPSKY IS IN JAIL.

HE WILL HAVE A HEARING BEFORE JUSTICE WEAVER TOMORROW.

Mary Vilcovi Identified Him as the Man Who Promised to Marry Her and Stole Her Money.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 16.—Watislorf Vinnepsky is now locked up in the Middlesex county jail in this city pending a hearing before Justice Weaver, of South Plainfield, which is to take place tomorrow morning. For the convenience of all the interested ones, Justice Weaver has agreed to to come to this city and have the hearing here instead of requiring the authorities to take the prisoner over to South Plainfield.

Vinnepsky has little to say at present. He was brought here Tuesday evening from Camden by Roundsman William Mattox, of the Plainfield police force, and has since retain a lawyer to represent him in the case. Mary Vilcovi, the young woman who claims that Vinnepsky promised to marry her and then robbed her of $404 in cash and a gold watch, came here yesterday in company with her lawyer, William Newcorn, of Plainfield, and possitively identified the prisoner as the young man who courted her in Plainfield a month ago.

The warrant, on which Vinnepsky was arrested, was issued by Justice Weaver and the charge was grand larceny. The hearing has been set down for tomorrow morning. It is understood that the defence will try to prove that the money and gold watch was given to the young man by his betrothed in an outburst of generosity. In case the prisoner is held for the Grand Jury, there is little likelihood of his getting at liberty as he will find it impossible to raise any large sum for bail.

WON NAVAL CADETSHIP.

Congressman Fowler Announces That Albert Leeds Stillman, of this City, Passed Best Examination.

Congressman Charles N. Fowler has announced that yesterday he recommended to the Navy Department, the appointment of Albert Leeds Stillman, of Plainfield, as cadet to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Roland R. Riggs, of Glen Ridge, was the alternate. As has been his custom in the past whenever there has been a vacancy in either of the United States academies, Congressman Fowler arranged for a competitive examination which was held August 11th, at Elizabeth, under the charge of W. R. Marsh, headmaster of Pingry's School. Stillman made the best showing and Riggs was next. Stillman has been living at the home of William M. Stillman, of West Seventh street.

OIL STOVE IN A BLAZE.

Three Little Children Were in the House Alone With It.

A boroughite passing along Park place near Somerset street yesterday morning was attracted by the children's screams coming from the house opposite Grace M. E. church. Looking around he saw heavy black smoke pouring out of one of the windows. He hastened to the house thinking that the dwelling was on fire and the lives of the children in danger. He learned that the parents of the children had gone away for awhile leaving three children aged about 3, 5 and 6 years all alone, and an oil stove was left burning. The stove was blazing fiercely and the children did not realize their danger until the room began to fill with smoke. The man threw the stove out doors and extinguished the blaze, and thus rescued the children from what might have been a terrible fatality. This happened about 8 o'clock and a few hours later the mother returned unconscious of what had happened.

No Word From Missionaries.

No further word has been received from the missionaries of the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination, who are quartered at Shanghai. The officers of the missionary society of that denomination cabled the little party to act at their own discretion whether or not to leave China. If the party should vacate their quarters in Shanghai, word will probably be sent to the headquarters of the society at Westerley, R. I., and to this city.

PROBING BELMAR TANGLE.

Collector McDermott Floated Borough Notes After They Were Paid.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, August 16—The investigation before Expert Stevens into the tangled affairs of the borough of Belmar, consequent on the disappearance of former Collector Charles McDermott, who left a shortage of $39,000, was resumed yesterday. Councilman Richardson admitted that he signed notes as renewals for McDermott when the original notes had been paid. Mayor Jackson testified that a note he had loaned McDermott as his individual note was converted by the latter, by adding the word "Mayor" to his name, to a borough note.

Counselor Wainright, who had custody of the borough report, refused to produce it when asked to by opposing counsel. When told that proceedings would be brought to compel its surrender the report was produced.

The committee is now investigating a settlement made by the borough with McDermott's bondsmen whereby the latter were released on payment of $8,000. The bondsmen have been subpoened for Wednesday to explain this settlement.

ALLIES EACE PEKING.

Said to Have Reached the City Monday.

BUT SHANGHAI NEWS IS DOUBTFUL.

Chinese Officials Profess to Be Ready to Produce Foreigners, but Will Not Yield Native Christians. Russia's Independent Move.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—"The allies are reported to have reached Peking Monday," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, wiring yesterday. He adds:

"Chinese official news confirms this statement, but without details."

A Paris message repeats this, but the statement, especially as it emanates from Shanghai, must be accepted with considerable reserve.

Other London morning papers, basing their remarks upon Washington dispatches, which, with the exception of the foregoing from Shanghai, form the latest news regarding the advance, are divided in opinion, some holding that the allies must already have reached Peking and others preferring to believe that the relief will not be accomplished until the end of the week.

Telegraphing from Yang-tsun Aug. 6, a Daily News correspondent says:

"Sir Alfred Gaselee hopes to keep the enemy running and to follow him right into Peking."

Ngan-ping was occupied without firing a shot, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express from that place, dated Aug. 11. "It is believed," the message adds, "that Generals Tung Fuh Siang, Ma and Chung are intrenching, 40,000 strong, at Tung-chau. The allies may avoid Tung-chau, pursuing the route northwest from Chang-kia-wan. Tung-chau appears to be about 12 miles from Peking."

A dispatch to the same paper from Shanghai, dated yesterday, says that the officials profess to be willing to hand over the foreign ministers, their families and servants, but will not permit the departure of native Christians.

"The Russian government," continues this telegram, "has notified Li Hung Chang of its willingness to receive M. de Giers outside the walls of Peking, thus avoiding the entrance of the Russian force. This independent action is calculated to embarrass the allies seriously. Japan demands that General Yung Lu shall meet the allies outside the city gates and deliver the ministers and all the native Christians."

The Chinese minister in London, Sir Chih Chen Lofeng Lu, is quoted as saying:

"The powers must not press too hard on Peking. If you defeat the Chinese soldiers, it will not be possible to control the soldiery. They may turn and rend the legations. I do not believe the legations' food supply will be stopped so long as the powers refrain from attacking Peking and negotiate for the surrender of the ministers."

The Times has the following dispatch from Shanghai, dated Tuesday:

"The viceroy has withdrawn his opposition to the landing of British troops on condition that this does not entail the presence of other forces, but instructions have been received from the British government that disembarkation is to await further orders. The fact is generally known that Great Britain is hesitating. The public, official and unofficial, is unanimously of the opinion that withdrawal at this stage would be deplorable and would produce the worst results."

GOVERNOR WOOD'S TRIP.

On a Tour of Inspection Through Cuba He Gives Good Advice.

PUERTO PRINCIPE, Cuba, Aug. 16.—Governor General Wood and his party, who left Havana Monday evening on the Viking for a trip around the island, arrived here last evening by way of Nuevitas. At La Minas, about half way between Nuevitas and Puerto Principe, General Wood was met by the civil governor of the province, the mayor of the city and other officials, who accompanied him to the Union hotel, where a reception, largely attended by officials and representative citizens, was held.

In the course of a speech in reply to the welcome tendered him General Wood laid stress upon the necessity of a combined effort upon the part of all the conservative elements of the community to send to the forthcoming constitutional convention earnest men, capable and of lofty character, who would have the future welfare of Cuba at heart. The reception was of a thoroughly cordial nature.

The sugar crop in this part of the island is large wherever the plantations are operating. There is no yellow fever here.

Big Cut In Steel.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 16.—The Commercial Gazette today says: "Structural steel prices have been cut $8 a ton by the organized producers. No formal meeting was held, but the change was arranged over the long distance telephone Tuesday, and the reduced prices go into effect at once. The reduction is a sweeping one, covering all beams, channels and shapes produced by the trade. Prices are thus brought relatively close to those in other lines of steel which have not only reached rock bottom, but have begun an upward movement through heavy buying. This unexpected reduction by the beam pool places the prices on beams and channels up to 15 inches at $1.50 per 100 pounds as against $1.90, the price Tuesday. Prices of all other structural products change relatively."

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The Nashville has arrived at Chefu, where she will remain a short time as station ship. The Yorktown has sailed from Chefu for Taku. The New Orleans has sailed from Cavite, Philippine Islands, for Woosung. The Buffalo has arrived at Cavite. The Mayflower has sailed from Boston for San Juan, Porto Rico. The New York has arrived at Newport. The collier Saturn, loaded with coal for the ships in China, sailed yesterday from the Norfolk yard. She will touch at Singapore.

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 16.—Miss Emma Graves, a schoolteacher of this city, and her niece, Lizzie Graves, aged 8 years, were drowned at Riverside Park, below Newcastle, Del. The child fell from a pier into the Delaware river. Miss Graves plunged overboard to save her, and both sank.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. Oh My Poor Back!

Thousands upon thousands suffer from weak and lame back and do not know the cause. Keep this fact firmly fixed in your mind. When your back begins to ache, your kidneys have become infected with disease, and when your kidneys are affected, your very life may be in immediate danger.

Watch your kidneys; they are the keystone of the arch of health. With good, healthy kidneys you should not know a sick day from any cause, because they are so vital to the general health.

Dr. Holtin's Kidney Tablets are beyond doubt the surest cure for any and all forms of kidney and bladder ailments now before the public. They are made from the private prescription of a physician who thoroughly tested them in his practice, and with them saved hundreds of lives. They are purely vegetable, easy and pleasant to take, and can readily be carried about with you, thereby enabling you to take them at exact intervals—a rule so necessary to be observed in ailments of the bladder and kidneys.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's fine store,
430 WATCHUNG AVENUE.

A LIBERTY CONGRESS

Small Attendance at the Anti-imperialist Convention.

MR. BOUTWELL'S STRANGE VIEWS.

In Addition to Other Alleged Misdemeanors the McKinley Administration Is Blamed For the Trouble In China.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 16.—The first day's sessions of the liberty congress of the National Anti-imperialistic league were somewhat disappointing so far as the attendance of delegates was concerned. About 300 accredited delegates were present. In spite of the small attendance the speeches of Edwin Burritt Smith, the temporary chairman, and George S. Boutwell, the permanent president, brought forth much enthusiasm. The public meeting in the evening was much better attended, and the reading of Bourke Cockran's letter was the signal for tremendous applause.

But the greatest demonstration of the convention so far came in the afternoon when the venerable George S. Boutwell, governor of Massachusetts and secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President Grant, concluded his address as permanent chairman with the declaration that he had turned his back on the Republican party and would support Bryan for president.

D. C. Tillotson of Kansas, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported in favor of George S. Boutwell for permanent chairman. Temporary Secretaries Winslow and Mize were made permanent.

Governor Boutwell was accorded a great demonstration when he took the gavel. He said in part:

"Having in mind many of the honors that I have received from my countrymen in times passed, I shall, when this day is gone, have no more favorable recollection of any one of them than I shall of this. This is a historic occasion. If the peril of this country is what we think it is, if the question before you and before your countrymen is the question of the continuance of the republic, then no graver question has ever been committed to an assembly of men or to the country. We are opposed to imperialism. We are in favor of a republican form of government. We respect the teachings of our ancestry, the glory of the history they have left to us, and standing between the past and the future it is our duty to transmit to posterity the principles of the fathers and the institutions that they founded. That is your mission today as the representatives of 45 states of this Union.

"I charge that the policy upon which this administration has entered will mean the abandonment of the principles upon which our government was founded; that it will change the republic into an empire. The first of the means before us for the preservation of the Union, if our allegation is true, is the overthrow of the administration.

"I am not able to explain the motive of Mr. McKinley in taking this policy. I believe he is the master mind in his cabinet and that nothing transpires except that which he himself has originated. And he has carried it through thus far without interruption. He interpreted the protocol with Spain contrary to its language and framed the treaty of Paris according to his own ideas, and he has since interpreted his powers upon his own theory as to what he was authorized to do. He is the one person responsible for what has been done."

After treating the Philippine and Cuban questions the speaker took the government to task for the Chinese trouble. He said:

"The troubles in China have been aggravated and the missionaries and embassadors of the various governments have been put in peril by the policy of the United States. Is it not true that in the last ten years there have been statements again and again that it was the purpose of the various states of Europe to partition China? When we entered the Philippines, it was an additional menace to the Chinese empire, and it has led to the revolution in China and put the missionaries and embassadors in peril of their lives. Instead of being a fortunate circumstance, the fact that we were in the Philippines was the chief occasion of that revolution in China. I ask, is General Chaffee or General Grant to be put under the lead of a prince of the house of Germany, or, on the other hand, is the government of the United States to take upon itself the peril of allowing one of its officers to take command of the troops of England and France and Germany and be responsible for all the mistakes? If we had treated China in the month of June as we would have treated Great Britain under similar circumstances there would have been no peril. If a rebellion should occur in London and our minister there should be in peril of his life, would we send a force up the Thames river to bombard London? No, we would appeal to the different nations through diplomatic channels before engaging in a military undertaking. Was it a declaration of war when we trained our guns upon the citadels of the Chinese empire? Who authorized it? Under the constitution congress alone can declare war. Can the chief magistrate make war in the absence of a congressional declaration of war? I suppose if I said anything in extenuation of the Chinese policy some one at Washington or elsewhere would say that I had spoken against my own country, but I want to say that the American people will speak for liberty and for justice even though their words may inflame the fires of liberty the world over. China has followed the maxim, 'Use that which is thine own, so as not to injure others.' That contains every provision of the decalogue. Through centuries the Chinese empire has gone on, while Assyria and Rome and Carthage have withered and died—died because they took into their possession that to which they had no right.

"How is the overthrow of the administration to be accomplished?" concluded Mr. Boutwell.

"In my youth I had no disguises. I turned aside and left the Democratic party when it surrendered to slavery. In my age I leave the Republican party, now that it has surrendered itself to despotic and tyrannical motives. I helped create the Republican party, a party at that time of justice and principle and honesty. I now believe it is a party of injustice and despotism, and I will help to destroy it. And how? There is but one available means, and you know what that is. I am for Bryan. I am for Bryan in spite of what he may believe concerning the currency or finances of the country.

RACE RIOT IN NEW YORK.

Whites Set Upon and Beat Negroes to Avenge Policeman's Death.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A race riot of formidable proportions broke out last night on the west side. A mob of white men, which grew with great rapidity from a few score to many hundreds, raged through the district, and negroes, regardless of age or sex, were indiscriminately attacked. Scores were injured. The police reserves from the West Forty-seventh street, West Thirtieth street, West Thirty-seventh street and West Twentieth street stations, numbering 400 or more men, were turned out. It took their efforts, combined with as many more policemen on regular patrol duty in the four precincts, to restore order.

Clubs were used until the policemen were almost exhausted. Revolvers were emptied into the air and in one or two instances fired at the upper stories of the negro tenements, from which the negroes defensively fired bricks, paving stones and other missiles. That many negroes were not killed outright is miraculous, for the mob at times was frenzied.

For over an hour the streets for blocks were filled with a rioting, shouting mob. It was a scene one very much the same order as took place a few days ago in New Orleans. New York has seldom had its equal. The shouting of the men, the shrieking of the women, the lamentations of the children, the shooting of revolvers and crashing of windows all made a perfect pandemonium.

The police were only half hearted in their work. Some of them even went so far as to quietly encourage the whites in their disorderly work.

The trouble grew out of the death of Policeman Robert J. Thorpe of the West Thirty-seventh street station, as the result of a murderous assault by a negro early on Sunday morning at Eighth avenue and Forty-first street. Thorpe was attempting to arrest a colored woman, when Arthur Harris and another negro attacked the policeman with razors. They literally slashed the policeman into ribbons. He died the following day.

ACCIDENT AT PARIS.

Thirty-five Injured by a Street Car Collision.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—A serious car accident, resulting in injuries to 35 persons, occurred last evening about half past 7 at the corner of the Boulevard des Batignoles and the Rue St. Petersburg. The lines cross at that point. Two cars, one driven by electric power, approached the intersection and, being unable to stop, collided at right angles, the horse car turning over and causing the wildest confusion inside. The top was crowded with passengers, who were thrown into a heap and cut in the hands and faces by broken glass.

The accident was witnessed by a crowd of holiday makers, the occasion being the Assumption fete. The onlookers raised a cry of terror when the cars collided with a terrible crash.

A quarter of an hour elapsed before it was possible to clear the interior of the horse car of wounded, the helpers expecting every moment to find some of them dead.

Fortunately there were no fatalities, and none of the injured is likely to succumb. The injuries consist mainly of cuts, bruises and sprains. Most of the victims are women and children. There were no Americans in the accident.

Active at a Hundred.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Mrs. Mary Shepherd of 17 Davis street, this city, has gone to Albany to spend two weeks with her son, John Shepherd, a machinist employed in the New York Central shops at West Albany. She made the journey by the train all alone. Mrs. Shepherd is 100 years of age. She is as active and self reliant as a woman of 50, living all alone in a little house which her husband left to her with a competency on his death a number of years ago. One of her latest accomplishments was to clean her house throughout without assistance.

Seeking Platt's Relatives.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The department of state is advised by Mr. Stowe, consul general of the United States at Cape Town, under date of July 9, that one Julius Platt, an American citizen, was killed by the explosion of a soda water tank at Bulawayo, Rhodesia, September, 1899. Mr. Stowe says that the deceased is reported to have left considerable property and inquires whether the department of state is able to ascertain the whereabouts of any of Mr. Platt's relatives in the United States.

This Socialist Has Trekked.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Consternation was caused yesterday among hundreds of small depositors by the appointment of a receiver for the real estate and loan bank business of Frank A. Stauber, a socialist leader and prominent in the Northwest side. Stauber left the city July 29, and his present whereabouts are not known even by his daughter, who remained behind. His daughter estimated Stauber's debts at $150,000, with possible assets of $50,000 in real estate, which, however, she says, is largely mortgaged.

Grecian Warship to Visit Us.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The United States is soon to receive a visit, the first in the history of the country, from a warship of the navy of Greece. The second class cruiser Nauarchos Miaulis sailed from Piræus, Greece (the port of Athens), on the 17th of July on the first voyage of any Grecian war vessel across the Atlantic. The Grecian consul general in this city, Mr. D. N. Botassi, said that he expected to see the vessel drop anchor in New York harbor not later than the first fortnight in September.

Huntington Funeral Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The body of the late Collis P. Huntington arrived at the Grand Central station at a quarter to 6 o'clock last evening. The body was brought here in a private car. With it were Mrs. Huntington and the intimate friends of the dead financier. The body was at once taken to the family residence at 2 East Fifty-seventh street. The funeral of Mr. Huntington will occur tomorrow.

For Dublin's Poor.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Baron Iveagh, according to The Daily Mail, has decided to supplement his generosity to the poor of Dublin by demolishing the congested tenement district around St. Patrick's cathedral and substituting modern artisan dwellings, the rents of which will be devoted to the maintainance of the premises. It is estimated that the cost of the undertaking will be between £60,000 and £100,000.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. Clayton, of Trenton, is a guest of Mrs. I. L. McVoy, of East Front street.

J. M. Smalley, of Somerset place, left yesterday afternoon for Moscow, Pa., where he will seek rest and recreation for his health.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Governor Grants Requisition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, August 16—Governor Voorhees yesterday granted the requisition of Governor Roosevelt for Mrs. Emma Sergeant, of East Orange, who was arrested at Asbury Park and who is wanted in New York on a charge of uttering checks by or on several large stores. There was a hearing in the case before Governor Voorhees, it being contended that the woman was not a fugitive from justice, as the indictment was found when she was a resident of this State.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DEMOCRATS AT SARATOGA.

Meeting Today of the State Committee—Leaders Interviewed.

SARATOGA, Aug. 16.—Richard Croker said last night: "I am not discussing gubernatorial propositions. The meetings have no bearing on that situation. The delegates to be elected will settle that matter."

David B. Hill said: "I don't anticipate any trouble at the meeting over the gubernatorial situation. Of course if any question is raised in the committee I shall take part in the discussion."

To both of the leaders this question was put:

"Will you go into the state committee on proxies?"

The same question had been propounded before, and both had answered, "No," but last night Mr. Croker said:

"I may go in," and Mr. Hill said:

"I have not determined."

So if the leaders do not change their minds again in the next 12 hours there will not be any serious controversy. There is every evidence that Bird S. Coler cannot obtain the nomination for governor, because Kings county hangs firmly with Mr. Croker, and there is no indication of a break. Evidently understanding this, Mr. Hill and his lieutenants are talking up Mr. Danforth and paying little or no attention to suggestions about John B. Stanchfield or William T. Mackey. The Erie county people, however, are very active in the lobby, while the Hill people conferred in their rooms, and Mr. Mack, Senator La Roche and other supporters of Mr. Mackey's candidacy hover about Richard Croker and ex-Senator Murphy. A disturbing element in the fight of Erie county for the nomination was the appearance of former Lieutenant Governor William F. Sheehan as a strong adherent of Bird S. Coler and the intimation that there would be a split in the Erie delegation.

Saratoga, Sept. 11, is the place and date decided upon for the holding of the state convention, and there is little prospects of a change, although Eugene D. Ward, P. E. McCabe, William H. Buckley and Congressman Glynn are working hard to get Albany selected.

Gossip about a state ticket naturally circles about any decision made by Mr. Croker of New York or Mr. McLaughlin of Kings. Mr. Croker is quoted as follows:

"A Greater New York candidate will not be named for governor. Any up state man that the state Democracy selects who can poll a good vote is acceptable to us."

DIRECT MESSAGES FROM CONGER.

Contents of Dispatches Not Made Public—Disclosures Might Endanger the Legations—Chaffee Still Nearer Peking.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The tension on the Chinese situation is intense, for it is appreciated by officials that the crisis has reached an acute stage which cannot be continued many hours without bringing word of momentous import determining, either for good or evil, the entire course of events. It is a time of extremest anxiety, of watching and waiting, with only meager and fragmentary information as to the military and diplomatic phases. One of the new developments is the statement that messages are being received from Minister Conger which are not transmitted through any of our officials in China or through the Chinese minister here, but directly at the state department. These messages come by way of Tsi-nan. Some of them cannot be fully deciphered, and for this reason the statement cannot be definitely made that the dispatches sent by the government to Minister Conger are received by him. So far as the messages have been deciphered there is no indication that Minister Conger received any information or dispatches from our state department. Nothing can be learned of the contents of the dispatches received, although it is stated that there are quite a number from Minister Conger, some coming from the consular officers and General Chaffee besides those which came direct. The message transmitted through Minister Wu was entirely deciphered in the department.

During the course of a conversation between Secretary Root and Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German charge d'affaires, Mr. Root gained considerable information concerning the route which has yet to be traversed by the allied armies. Baron Sternberg told him that Tung-chow was a very strong place and if the Chinese army should make a stand at this point the international forces would find it quite difficult to overcome the forts and walls. While it is not known what resistance may have been or will be made to the advance at Tung-chow, Secretary Root and other officials would not be surprised to learn of a very serious battle at that place.

It is expected that the German force now on its way to China will land in the vicinity of Lin-yu, which is directly east of Peking.

Word came early yesterday to the navy department that General Chaffee had reached Matow, about 20 miles from Peking. This occurred Friday or Saturday, though the dispatch from General Chaffee, sent through Admiral Remey, was not sufficiently definite to locate the exact time of reaching Matow. But in any event three or four days have elapsed since then, and there has been time for a still further advance toward the imperial city. The feeling among officials was shown in the extreme circumspection thrown about all messages relating to China, and it was announced both at the state and war departments that any communications from Minister Conger or the United States consuls concerning affairs in China would not be made public. It was explained that this was in no way due to any desire to keep from the public information of an important character, but was based solely on the fact that the crisis involved so many possibilities of extreme hazard to the 800 legationers in Peking that the greatest caution must be observed against disclosures which would further imperil those in danger.

The actual developments yesterday consisted of the Remey dispatch heretofore alluded to and one from Consul General Goodnow at Shanghai. The state department declined to make known the contents of the Goodnow dispatch. This opened a wide field for conjecture, the most generally accepted view being that Mr. Goodnow had advised against the plan of delivering the legationers outside the city of Peking.

The cipher experts were busy with a dispatch from Consul Fowler, at Chefu, which was so unintelligible that it had to be returned to the telegraph company to be repeated. So far as it could be deciphered it appeared to repeat a message sent by Minister Conger to Fowler, telling the latter that the situation was becoming more critical at Peking and that the Chinese authorities were seeking to compel the legationers to leave the city under Chinese escort.

The statement was made last night on reliable authority that the Peking government would designate some high official to meet the commanders of the allied armies at Tung-chou and agree with them on some measures for the safe conduct of the members of the foreign legations in the capital. Information to this effect was received here yesterday.

It is not at all unlikely that the meeting already has taken place if General Chaffee has pushed on to Tung-chou. The suggestion was made last night that this proposal of the Peking government may be an important feature of the Conger dispatch which the officials of the state department declined to give out for publication, as well as of dispatches received in European countries and which the governments are keeping secret. General Chaffee has been informed of the contents of the latest Conger message, so that he is in possession of all the facts. For a long time the imperial government has been urging the departure of the ministers, but the diplomats, fearing the inadequacy of the proposed Chinese escort, have declined to accede to the request of the Chinese authorities. With the allied army but a dozen miles away, however, the situation would be completely changed.

COMING EVENTS.

August 19—Robert E. Speer, of New York, will speak on the subject of "Personal Purity," at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p.m. Good music.

The New Jersey political writer in the New York Press is Howard Tindell, formerly a New Brunswick newspaperman. As such he has an intimate knowledge of the political situation in Middlesex county. His editorial utterances are generally tinctured with optomism for the Republicans, and in view of this the following observation from his column in today's Press will be interesting: "Senator VanCleef, of Middlesex, hasn't the ghost of a show for Congress. He doesn't want the nomination, either. He wants to return to the Senate, and his chances are good, too, unless the local Republicans settle their grievances. Everybody recalls the condition of affairs in Middlesex three years ago. VanCleef was not the choice of the Democratic leaders for Senator; they thought the Republicans could win out easily, but there was internal dissension among them and VanCleef got the benefit of the split. He made a fairly good Senator and has little to apologize for. The man who opposed him must have his party behind him, or there will be no use of his running. This is cold fact."

Senator John Kean is quoted in an interview as being impressed with the idea that over-confidence has a strong hold on the Republicans in New Jersey, and that unless they bestir themselves that may be greatly surprised at the results on election day. "The people in my State," he said, "think they are going to be successful without any reason for thinking so unless it is because four years ago we won. They have got to be aroused and made to feel that things are not accomplished except by work. They have got to work. I think without doubt that it is the sentiment of the people of New Jersey that McKinley will be re-elected; they seem to think that it is going that way. They have not been aroused to the importance of the occasion. Of course it is early with us, as yet so many of our people are away for the summer either to the mountains or the seashore."

That County Clerk Frank Somers is not going to secure a renomination for a second term to that office in Somerset county without a struggle is assured now. Former Sheriff W. H. H. Wyckoff has determined to enter the canvass for the Republican nomination in opposition to Mr. Somers, and the former's friends are commencing to work among Republican voters in aid of his candidacy. Mr. Somers is personally very popular in Somerset county, but if Mr. Wyckoff makes a hard fight, as it seems likely that he will do, the present incumbent will find himself compelled to do some hustling in order to secure a renomination.

Chairman William B. Gourley, of the New Jersey State Democratic committee, announced yesterday that he could not change the date for the Democratic State convention which is set for September 12th, the same date selected by the Robert Davis Association, of Jersey City, for its annual outing at College Point. Mr. Gourley said it was not within his power to change the date.

The appointment by Senator Hanna of Colonel William Barbour, of Passaic county, and United States Senator John Kean, of Union county, as New Jersey members of the National advisory committee, is an-

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

An enthusiastic golfer of this city went on his vacation the other day and carried with him his caddy bag full of golf clubs with the intention of pursuing his favorite sport at the summer resort where he was bound. He carried the clubs with him into the sleeping car which was to bear him to his destination. The colored porter on the car eyed the clubs critically as he stowed them away for the night.

"What are those things anyway?" asked the porter, "I've seen lots of fellers carrying those with them this summer." It was explained that they were golf clubs. The golfer told how the little gutta percha sphere was driven away many yards with the aid of the clubs and was waxing quite enthusiastic in the description of his beloved game.

"Humph," muttered the colored man after he had heard the golfer's explanations, "I'd rather peddle fish than play that game."

A trip out into the country districts of this part of New Jersey will reveal many sights strange to Plainfielders and those familiar only with the happenings of urban and suburban life. One of the strangest things is to see all the horses that work in the fields carefully wrapped in burlaps. It isn't that their owners intend to ship them and use the covering for that kind of protection. The burlaps look decidedly warm on one of the midsummer days. Undoubtedly it is rather uncomfortable but it answers its purpose well, and that is to protect the horse from the fierce attack of insects which are so numerous and bloodthirsty at this season. The horse-flies, the green flies and a score more of other troublesome specimens haunt the fields and woodlands and attack the horses unless the latter are protected in some way. Many instances have been reported of serious runaways brought about by this cause. The burlap covering answers its purpose quite well and is not at all expensive. It isn't positively ornamental, however.

The boys of the West End Hose Company, No. 3, have as a mascot for their house a dog by the name of "Spot." He has been taught a number of tricks by the boys in their spare moments, one of them being that he must be in the house at a certain time every night. "Spot" has always been in at the appointed hour until last Monday night when he failed to appear. The firemen stationed themselves behind the doors expecting he would try to slip in unnoticed when they would catch him. But after waiting about an hour they went outside and to their astonishment they found "Spot" in front carefully guarding a pocketbook which was lying on the ground. On picking it up, it was found to contain a considerable sum of money. It was recognized by one of the boys as belonging to his mother who lived some distance from the house. On inquiry the ownership was proved but the lady was unable to state how the dog got it. She thought it had been left on the front porch in a careless manner and "Spot" had seized it. While not encouraging "Spot" in taking pocketbooks that are lying loose, the boys are quite proud of his little trick and postponed the whipping they intended giving him.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Aug. 16—The lucious watermelons in the patch belonging to Henry Dunham, proved too great a temptation for some Dunellen boys a few evenings ago and they resolved to have some without the owners consent. They entered the patch and not only took away a large number but smashed nearly all the rest. Of course Mr. Dunham was indignant and began making investigations, the result of which caused the arrest of four boys, Thomas, Edward and William Heller and Harvey Giles. They were arraigned before Justice Stoms yester day afternoon. Mr. Dunham had one witness to prove the lads were the ones who had been in the patch, but at the last moment he failed to identify them. Judge Storms found the proof of their guilt insufficient for holding the lads and they were discharged. It was found that the arrest of Thomas Heller was a mistake as it was a brother and not he who was named in the warrant. The constable made a mistake and secured the wrong man.

It is expected that the consent of the railroad company, for the erection of the telephone poles on Washington avenue, will be secured in a few days and the line will be pushed to completion. Children from the age of five years up can see Murray and Mack in their play "Finnigan's 400" and enjoy every moment of it. Finnigan is their special delight. This funny little fat Irishman has created as much talk among the little folks as "Peck's Bad Boy." He dances, tumbles, sings, boxes, and has always some new thing to please the children. The management has often been compelled to give extra matinees to accommodate the little ones. So don't fail to bring them to Music Hall Tuesday.

Hoyt's noted originality in pungent wit and extravagant situations is said to be splendidly exemplified in the sumptuous revival of his famous comedy, "A Trip to Chinatown." Harry Gilfoil, the cleverest and most talented comedian that ever appeared in a Hoyt comedy and who has created more Hoytian characters than all the other Hoyt comedians combined, will be seen in the title role when he will introduce his whistling specialty and his wonderful imitations which has made him famous with theatregoers. "A Trip to Chinatown" is booked for presentation at Music Hall, Friday night, 31st inst, and should prove one of the theatrical events of the season.

The popular young Irish singing comedian, Andrew Mack is anounced for his annual appearance at the Academy of Music in New York, beginning Monday, Aug. 20th. He will, as is customary, present a new play, the one selected for his coming season's tour being a melo-drama entitled "The Rebel," a play which has met with merited success in London and throughout the British provinces. It has the rebellion of 1798 as a background and many of the most exciting historical scenes and incidents of those stirring days have been incorporated in the play by James B. Fagan, the author, who is a well known dramatist in the English metropolis. His new songs will interest many a over of music and the four numbers which he has written especially for "The Rebel" are accounted his most melodious efforts. They are entitled "For Freedom and Ireland," a march song and chorus that is spirited as well as tuneful; "Eyes of Blue," with a catchy waltz movement, "Little Tommy Murphy was a Soldier Bold" a comic military chant with the real ceitic flavor and Mack's "Serenade" which bids to equal his famous "Rose" song in popularity according to the musical critics. A chorus of fresh well-trained voices will assist in a few of the musical numbers. The play will be heavily staged and richly costumed. 'Twill surely awake patriotic feelings in the true Irish heart to see the "rebels" clothed in dashing uniforms of green and gold.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

THE MODE.

Trimmings and Accessories Which Are Now Worn.

Black velvet ribbon of the narrowest width is immensely used as a trimming. In plain bands or forming network or designs or worn in and out of beading and lace or in multitudinous loops forming large choux it decorates all sorts of gowns and bodices, and the choux are used on hats.

Fancy boleros are worn with different costumes as accessories. They are chiefly black or white and are trimmed in various fashions. The sleeves are long or extend nearly to the elbow or are entirely absent.

A new cravat consists of two great pompons of mousseline de soie ornamenting the front of the collar. From each of these falls a round, or, rather, tabular, end of the same material, accordion plaited, with intervals of shirring, which maintain it in the round form. It terminates in a frill of lace or a plaited ruffle.

The cut shows a gown of pastel pink foulard, with a printed design in white. At the side of the skirt is an application of white lace flowers outlined in black chenille. The bodice consists of a short bolero of white guipure, forming points in front, over a corsage and plaited corselet of black liberty satin. The full chemisette is of pink mousseline de soie, and a fringed scarf of black mousseline de soie outlines the decolletage and is fastened in front by two jeweled ornaments. The sleeves of elbow length are of the printed foulard, with black satin cuffs. The toque of pink tulle is trimmed with pink azaleas and a black ostrich tip.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SKIRTS.

The Lining Is Now Usually Detached From the Outside.

Many skirts of wool or silk material are made with a lower skirt of taffeta. It is very important that this lower skirt should be cut exactly like the outside one, although it is not to make one with it. There is now a preference for leaving the gown skirt as soft and flexible as possible, and an attached lining stiffens it to a certain degree. Moreover, such trimming as stitched straps, incrustations and bands of insertion are better arranged on a single thickness of material. Glace taffeta is the favorite material for the lower skirt. It is connected with the gown skirt only at the waistband.

Materials of great softness now take the lead, undulating and flowing effects being those most desired. This is one reason why transparent goods are so much employed. Their thinness deprives them of stiffness and harshness.

The picture illustrates a gown of printed foulard. The plain skirt is gathered at the back. The bodice has a full front and is mounted on a small, square yoke of guipure, the fullness being held by a band of guipure. The wide collar is of plain foulard matching the ground of the figure and is bordered with a band of guipure and a foulard ruffle edged with guipure. The sleeves are of elbow length, with horizontal bands of guipure and a terminating frill of the same.

Chemicals on Clothes.

"A grateful public," says The Druggists' Circular, "will put its hand deep into its pocket for a contribution to a fund for erecting a monument to the man or woman who will devise some way or means of remedying the clothes mangling evil. We have laws prohibiting the use of citric acid in lemonade or soda water, and that acid is made from lemon juice and in the small proportions used in beverages is quite harmless. Why not have a law against the use of chemicals on clothes? If a man steals a shirt, he is sent to the penitentiary for a year or so. If he destroys its usefulness and returns the remains, he lies out of responsibility and chuckles in his sleeve at the helplessness of his victim."

BOTH SIDES RAN AWAY.

The English and the Burghers Retreated from Each Other in Hot Haste.

Young Hjalmar Reitz, son of the Transvaal secretary of state, who is out with the burghers, has been sending to friends in Holland an account of his experiences at the battle of Modder river, says the London Daily News. Specially interesting is the confirmation given by him of that strategic movement to the rear, for the skillful execution of which some of the Free Staters were reported to have been afterward publicly whipped by their ungrateful allies.

Reitz says: "It is perfectly true; they were the men from Fauresmith. When the English, in the afternoon, tried to get across the river on the left flank, they were completely successful, for the Fauresmithers had already gone. As a consequence, Albrecht's guns narrowly escaped falling into the enemy's hands, but he managed to shell them back. Toward nightfall the English retired, but, to cover the retreat of their infantry, kept up a heavy fire.

"This the burghers did not understand, and as just then some one shouted: 'The English are on us!' they saddled up and rode away. With 13 men of the Bloemfontein commando I made my way to the Transvaalers to find out what they thought of doing. 'Well,' they replied, 'de beste is dat one ook maar trek.' (We had better trek, too.) And we went off together. Isn't it ridiculous that both sides should be fleeing at the same time?"

EUROPE WAKING UP.

Temperance Societies Are Doing Good Work Everywhere.

Abstinence Lecture Delivered by an Old Barkeeper—Progress of the Reform Movement in Germany and Russia.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE CAUSE of temperance is growing, and there are temperance societies formed and forming in European countries.

George F. Kozel, born in this country, reared by a father who was a brewer and saloon keeper, and who has been a saloon keeper here since his early manhood, has just returned from an extended visit to Germany where his relatives abide. Although a saloon keeper during his whole lifetime, Mr. Kozel has been held in esteem by all who know him, and he is an upright citizen. He says:

"I never knew any other business. It was born and bred in me. When I was a little bit of a boy I washed beer mugs and filled bottles. When a lad is thus reared he knows no wrong in the business which his father has pursued and into which he is naturally led. The extreme temperance people see no good at all in any man who keeps a saloon, and therein they show their lack of charity.

"Suppose that type-setting, the trade which you learned in your boyhood, should become disreputable after you became the father of a family. Suppose you knew no other trade and were too old to learn one. What would you do? Would you let your family suffer while you vainly sought other occupation? Or would you not go right on setting type? You know very well that you would set type and look after your own, no matter what people might say about you and your trade.

"That is what I have done, and that is what I will continue to do. And yet I fully realize that public drinking is an evil which should be corrected, or controlled, or prohibited. I have a son who will not be a saloon keeper. I know more about the evils of intemperance than you do; more than the temperance orators know, and more than the temperance societies know. Nevertheless, I am in the business and shall continue in the business, for I know no other vocation. To the best of my ability I contribute to church and state, and to the good order of society. What else can I do, and be just to my own folks?

"There is no ban placed upon people in Germany who deal in beer and wine and other liquors. Drinking is a common custom, and there is very little drunkenness there. The people take their beer and wine in moderation, just as they do their food. Of course, there are drinking gluttons, just as there are eating gluttons, and consequently there is some drunkenness. But that is the exception and not the rule.

"Nevertheless, the spirit of temperance has crossed the ocean and is permeating Germany. There are temperance societies in the cities and they are very earnest people. They have their inspiration from this country and they are endeavoring to arouse public sentiment against the use of wine and beer. They do not tell harrowing stories about the wickedness of men in liquor who abuse their wives and children, and they do not abuse the saloon keepers. They are scientifically demonstrating that the use of wine and beer degrades man, and prevents him from attaining his best and highest ideals of successful manhood. They are telling the German people that patriotic men and women who love the Fatherland should endeavor to produce a better race of people; a race capable of achieving more than the drinking men of Germany have ever achieved. That is the kind of temperance work they are doing, and they are received with kindness by all classes. They can talk that kind of temperance in the saloons, as well as in the churches and lecture halls. It seems to me that would be the better kind of temperance work to be done for this country also."

A TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

He spent some time in France and Italy and ascertained that the temperance spirit is also developing in those countries, although it is making less headway than it is in Germany. Those people are less given to philosophical contemplation, and the masses are not so well educated. Therefore they do not reason concerning their own weaknesses, because they do not admit that they have any weaknesses. Nevertheless, in the higher walks of life in those countries the temperance spirit is developing.

The general government in each of the countries of Europe is more powerful and influential in moral and political affairs than our people can readily understand. The newspapers are subsidized by the governments, and they do not print anything which does not meet with the sanction of the government. It is important to understand this point, because the governments derive large revenues from the breweries and wine makers, as well as from the saloon keepers. Consequently the governments are not in favor of the dissemination of temperance ideas. With the press practically closed against them, the temperance workers naturally make less headway than they can make in this country where the newspapers are free to print all facts, and are usually liberal in the space which they give to temperance meetings, lectures and sermons.

There is one government in Europe, however, which is endeavoring to diminish the almost universal use of liquor among the laboring classes, and that is the government of Russia, that ambitious country which hopes to dominate the old world. It is known by the czar and his counselors that drunken soldiers are not good soldiers, and the government at St. Petersburg looks upon all citizens as ultimate soldiers who shall bear arms in the conquesting which must be done in carrying out the alleged will of Peter the Great.

That the Russian government is thus disposed has been ascertained by means of a report which has been sent to the department of state by our consul general at St. Petersburg. He says that a Russian minister of finance says that the government must control the liquor traffic and diminish the use of strong drink "to save the population from the baneful influence of the innkeepers who, in order to make large profits, adulterate their spirits with noxious and deleterious substances which are proving ruinous to the lower classes. The average peasant has not been content with remaining in a public house until he has spent his last farthing, but has often pawned his clothes, furniture and future crops. The public houses are acknowledged to be the most powerful agents of ruin and disorganization in the economic life of the Russian people."

With so powerful an official of the government thus expressing himself it is palpable that the cause of temperance is to be enhanced in that vast empire. This stand is not taken philanthropically and for the good of the people themselves, but for the welfare and aggrandizement of the government. Nevertheless, steps taken in the right direction are to be commended. The government has restricted the sale of liquor to places where food is furnished, and the dealers are required to furnish no drinks unless the customers partake of food between drinks. This is a wise sanitary precaution. Severe penalties are imposed for selling on credit, for receiving articles in pawn for drinks, or for bartering spirits for produce or future labor. All public houses are closed which violate these regulations, or attempt to evade them.

Russia is to be particularly commended for this advanced stand for temperance, because her revenues have been curtailed very largely. The famine of 1891 hastened the action of the government in protecting the poor and ignorant from their own follies and weaknesses. The peasant classes drink vodki, which is distilled from rye and sold for $1.40 per gallon, the same price being maintained at wholesale or retail. When the reform was begun the government received $174,900,000 per annum. The government income is now only $17,000,000 per annum.

The government of Russia encourages newspaper work in the cause of temperance, and has also aided in the establishment of temperance societies. Prince Oldenburg, of St. Petersburg, being president of the national organizations. The leading newspapers of the empire state that the greatest impediments to Russia's progress are illiteracy and intemperance. Following this suggestive publication, the temperance societies have established reading rooms with libraries near public gardens and squares, where tea, milk and kvass are sold at nominal rates.

Truly there is encouragement in all of these facts; encouragement for us all, because the betterment of the condition of the human race in every quarter of the earth tends to the ultimate betterment of conditions nearer home. The gospel of temperance is being preached, and the common people hear it gladly. If we could now only learn that in China also the gospel of temperance is being preached, and that the people there were being relieved of the incubus of opium, we might hope for the hastening of the millenium.

TRICKS ON THE WHEEL.

Clever Bicyclist Jumps His Mount Over a Table, Seemingly with Perfect Ease.

Here are two men, the Johnstone brothers, who not only do new tricks on the wheel, but who seem to defy the laws of gravitation while doing them.

One one of the men rides rapidly across the stage the other jumps on and off his shoulders, doing all sorts of handsprings to the ground, turning over while in the air, jumping back again on the other man's shoulders—in fact, such a maze of tricks that it is impossible to keep track of them.

But the unique feature of their act is their ability to jump over things while riding at full speed. A chair, a table, a rope or a small stoop form no obstacles to their progress. They ride over the chair, jump on and off the table, skip the rope as a child and ride right over the stoop.

The sensational feature of their performance is what the New York World terms their "stairway climb."

A flight of ten steps is brought upon the stage. How the rider will get over them is a puzzle. It looks like a physical impossibility to ride over them, and how else the feat is to be accomplished is almost beyond conjecture.

"JUMPING" OVER A TABLE.

The audience, however, is not kept waiting long.

The stairs are really two separate flights, joined by iron rods at a distance of about five feet. The rider brings his bicycle up to the stairs so that its length is at a par with the length of the stairs. Then step by step he jumps up the stairs until nearly at the top. After this he jumps down in the same way. It is done in the same way that a man would jump up and down a flight of stairs one step at a time, except that in this case the man is sitting with his feet on the pedals of his wheel.

After reaching the bottom the rider again begins jumping up the stairs, this time pausing at the top. Then, without hesitating a moment, he jumps down the ten steps at one jump, never leaving his wheel after reaching the ground, but riding right on as though nothing had happened.

WHEEL HERE TO STAY.

The Cycling Club Is a Thing of the Past, But the Bicycle Is More Popular Than Ever.

Cycling clubs were the outgrowth of peculiar conditions. In the days of the high wheel bicyclists were few in number and they banded together for various reasons—among them the protection of their rights against the rest of the community, with which they were not entirely popular.

The invention of the "safety" popularized cycling and the new recruits joined the clubs for the sake of the club runs, road races and other attractive events devised by the various organizations. Aspirants for racing honors deemed it advantageous to ride under club colors.

But all this has changed. The wheel is no longer regarded primarily as a racing machine. The club run has lost its attractions for people who have learned that the pleasure of cycling is not in "scorching," but in leisurely tours of the boulevards or of country roads by parties of two, three or half a dozen congenial spirits.

Hence the club has lost its adherents, but the wheel has not. More bicycles are owned and used than ever before and the number will increase. The wheel is used for business as well as for pleasure.

People are no longer bicycle crazy. They don't get up at four o'clock Sunday morning and ride until midnight. They don't dream and talk bicycle.

They have simmered down to an appreciation of the real value of the wheel as an aid to health and pleasure instead of a fad. Therefore they have deserted the clubs, because those organizations were the outgrowth of the fad idea.

But they have not deserted the bicycle itself, nor will they desert it. The "bike" has come to stay. It is as much a fixture as baseball or golf.—Chicago Chronicle.

Dealer with a Conscience.

The Columbia tells a story, which we hope is true, about a dealer with a conscience. A 15-year-old girl wanted a bicycle geared to 78, and he told her plainly that 68 was the highest he could recommend. The girl's friends and also her mother were highly indignant and went to another dealer. In a month the family doctor corralled the wheel and gave the girl and her mother a scolding that they will never forget. The girl recovered and is now riding a 50 gear with pleasure and comfort. Furthermore, the doctor spread the story abroad, and the dealer with a conscience has now more business than he can handle, while the other dealer is in disrepute.

INDIAN MIND CURES.

They Do Not Essentially Differ from Our Own Methods.

Many Medicine Men Combine the Use of Vegetable Tinctures with Suggestive Treatment—A Notable Healer.

[Special Cahuilla (Cal.) Letter.]

WHAT is medicine, anyway? The allopath has no use for the homeopath or the osteopath or hydropath, and each one looks with suspicion upon the methods of the other. And yet there are followers of each system and people who have the greatest faith in all. Mrs. Eddy formulates her "Christian science" theories, and she and her followers build marble churches, and Mark Twain and other philosophers, preachers and teachers sneer and scoff and ridicule both theories and followers. We have "faith cures" and "mind cures" and every other kind of cure, and who shall say that there is no good in all of these methods?

Hence when the white man sneers at the Indian's modes of practicing medicine he is merely adding another sneer to those already piled up against himself. The Indian uses faith and mind, drugs, herbs, fetishes, prayer and humbug the same as as his white brother, and he succeeds and fails just the same. Yet his methods are suited to Indian needs and Indian mentality, just as the great M. R. C. P. and S. or the M. D. suits his methods to the mentality and needs of his clientage. Most, if not all, Indians are firm believers in witchcraft, necromancy and the evil powers of the spirits of darkness. They believe in spells and charms and all the wild mysticism of the southern negro. Any system of medicine, therefore, that is to be efficacious to the Indian must satisfy his mind in these particulars. An Indian shaman must be able to work charms that will keep off the evils of the witches; he must make fetishes that prevent the power of the evil eye; he must be able to conjure good spirits to overcome evil ones, and he will succeed the best who can best excite the fears, hopes and sympathies of his patients. If he be a skilled thaumaturgist, all the better. If he have the gift of looking wise and keeping silent, better still. If to these things he adds a real, even though rude, knowledge of surgery, pathology and the action of certain drugs and minerals he is bound to be a leader among the medicine men of his tribe.

Perhaps of all known medicine men in North America the Navajos and Apaches are the leaders and the most skilled. I have seen them set bones as well as the surgeons in the leading hospitals of the world, several of which I have attended. Some of their healing ceremonies last for days at a time, when, with the strangest mixture of healthful bathings, head-washings, soaking of feet and legs, sweatings, purgings with gentle-acting herbs,

TORREBIO APAPOS.
(Known for Years as the Medicine Man of the Cahuillas.)

dancing, singing, praying, conjuring, natural magic and what might well be termed Indian mental therapeutics, the patient is hocus-pocussed back, willy-nilly, to a reasonable state of health, or sent by the route of the doctor to the under world.

But no one, to my knowledge, has ever described the medicine work of the Indians of southern California. Here the medicine man is a "tingaivash," and one of the best known and uniformly successful was old Torrebio, who died last year at Cahuilla, 40 miles from San Jacinto, where the earthquake did so much damage last Christmas day. When Juan Diego, the Alessandro of H. H.'s wonderful novel, "Ramona," was shot at his home in the Cahuilla mountains, his crazed widow ran over the steep and rocky trail to the little Indian village where her friends resided. The grief and agony, the terrors of that sad journey brought on a sickness that nearly resulted in her death. Old Torrebio was the "tingaivash" who helped bring her back to life. With soothing and cooling drinks he quenched the fierce fires of her fever, and reduced the angry swellings of her tortured body. He gave her medicines which took away her delirium and with words of wisdom helped her bear the heavy burden of her bereavement when she had recovered enough to realize her loss.

For years he had objected to being photographed, and when I asked him if I might make his picture, he quietly reminded me that I was a white medicine man, a brother tingaivash, and he wished to ask me on my honor, as one tingaivash of another, whether the camera would do him any injury. I assured him on my tingaivash honor, that it would not, and accordingly I was privileged to make the accompanying photograph. Strange to say, three months after my visit, the poor old fellow succumbed to the great and last foe and passed into the beyond. If he had any lingering doubts that my making of his picture had anything to do with his demise, I hope he is now assured to the contrary.

Now Torrebio was an intelligent observer of cause and effect. At Cahuilla there is a sulphur spring of warm water. He learned that in skin and rheumatic diseases that water had marvelous curative properties and that the mud, in sores or scrofulous humors, was equally beneficial. He knew the properties of many herbs, both as tinctures and poultices, and used them to advantage. Yet he used the necromantic arts of incantations to help on in his cures. Whether he believed in these or not, I am unable to say, but he knew full well that the patients did, and that they would not consider themselves properly cured unless the powers of evil were thus conjured away.

Neither was he ashamed to acknowledge to me—his brother tingaivash—that he humbugged his patients now and again. Among his other paraphernalia was an old feather duster. With emphatic gesture he explained that when a patient came to him needing a powerful cathartic, he gave a strong dose of some herb or other and then, with songs and dances, made the sick man believe he had swallowed the duster. By some means he kept up the delusion so that the patient could feel the brush passing through and finally out of his body, sweeping away with it all that caused the difficulty. His weak old eyes merrily twinkled as he described his conscienceless fraud, and when I asked him: "Do they really believe it passes through them?" he replied: "It is my business to make them believe it does!"

On a par with this was the magic practiced by old Roch Jones, the leading medicine man of the Hava Supas, of Cataract Canyon, Arizona. A patient came to him in great agony, complaining of pains in the small of his back. After making a careful diagnosis of the trouble, Roch Jones began his incantations. He sang a song, the burden of which was: "You are very, very sick, my friend; yet I know how to cure you. Your back is lame and the inside of you is sore, and you don't know what is the matter with you. A wicked Wallapai has bewitched you and put a lizard into the small of your back. With my powerful eye I can see him crawling about and biting at the inside of the small of your back. He is a wicked little lizard with a bad eye and a poison in his mouth, and none but I can suck him from you. I can cure you, my friend, but you must promise to give me five dollars. I can restore you to health, but you must promise to give me five dollars."

The promise was made, and the incantations to overcome the power of the wicked Wallapai began. Now a few incidental bathings and rubbings with strong Indian liniments took place, and finally Roch Jones, stooping down over the sick man, began to suck vigorously at his back where the supposed lizard was lodged. He sucked and spat, and soon, to our amazement, a lizard sprang from his mouth. It was a fat, plump little creature, and had evidently been living well, and the medicine man explained that fact by stating that he had been feasting on the flesh of the sick man.

Is it strange to remark that the invalid got well? The power of the Wallapai was broken, the lizard was extracted, charms had been worked more powerful (stronger medicine) than those of the Wallapai, and why should he not get well? What part the rubbings, etc., took in the cure, who knows?

Pigeons After a Journey.

The carrier pigeon, when traveling, never feeds. If the distance be long, it flies on without stopping to take nutriment, and at last arrives thin, exhausted and almost dying. If corn be presented to it it refuses to eat, contenting itself with drinking a little water, and then sleeping. Two or three hours later it begins to eat with great moderation, and sleeps again immediately afterward. If its flight has been very prolonged the pigeon will proceed in this manner for 48 hours before recovering its normal mode of feeding.

SPORTING.

GOLF

An exciting four-ball match was played on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday afternoon between Laurens H. VanBuren and Morris Dumont on one side and W. L. Glenney and J. H. P. Wharton on the other. VanBuren and Dumont won three up and two to go. Dumont and Glenney both made the course in 81. Wharton was not at his best.

When the best players of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club return from their summer outings, a resumption in the activity at the club may be expected. A number of friendly matches were planned in the late spring but they had to be called off for the time as so many of the Hillside cracks were out of town. They will be arranged for September and October and will be entirely distinct from the regular tournament matches of the East Jersey Golf Association.

Never during the open season at the local golf clubs has there been such little activity. The reason is plain enough. The exodus to the various summer resorts has been greater this year than for many previous seasons and the golfers are scattered all over the eastern and middle states. Very few have left their club behind, however, and may be expected to return toward the close of August and the beginning of September ready to resume play on the local links after the advantage of a summer's play. September and October are, after all, the most delightful months in which to play golf. The really enthusiastic golfer doesn't care whether the thermometer is thirty degrees of three hundred. He will play rain or shine, hot or cold. There are many in Plainfield who find the game a pleasing sort of recreation but who are not willing to march out under the hot sun all day. As soon as the extremely warm weather departs, they will return in goodly numbers to the golf links and while the crack players of the city are not included in their number, they form a large and not unimportant part of the local clubs.

Three weeks ago Morgan T. Townsend seemed to have the best hold on the championship of the Park Golf Club, but William J. R. Thiers has been coming to the front and promises to be a decided factor in the contest. These two young men met on the Park Club links two weeks ago and Thiers was victorious. Townsend then departed on his summer vacation but it really makes no difference as yet concerning the play for the green committee challenge trophy, which practically decides the club championship. Thiers was successful last week in defending the trophy against William M. McCutchen and thereby tied Townsend in the first place for the trophy with four wins each. Thiers plays Edgar I. Serrell next Saturday and is quite likely to win again. That will put him in the lead. Townsend and Serrell, the latter with the aid of six strokes handicap, are tied for the president's cup with six points each. William R. Faber and Senator Charles A. Reed are only half a point behind. W. J. R. Thiers now has four points and first honors for the cup which will put him in the lead unless Serrell, Faber or Reed take second at the same time.

ROD AND GUN.

Charles Maltbie, of this city, has returned from a successful fishing trip to Staten Island.

Everitt Reighton and Stanley Emmons spent yesterday at Boynton Beach in search of crabs. They secured about ninety and also an elegant case of sunburn while catching them.

A large number of entries have already been received for the interstate rifle contests at Sea Girt, from August 31st to September 9th. New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, District of Columbia and Minnesota will be among the contestants in the Hilton trophy match. Pennsylvania will probably take part. It is said a rifle team from Atlanta will ask permission to represent Georgia. In the team revolver match these entries have been made thus far: Battery A, Light Artillery, Massachusetts; Squadron A, New York; Governor's Horse Guards, Atlanta, Ga.; Essex and Monmouth Troop, New Jersey; Second Regiment, New Jersey; District of Columbia; Fourth Regiment, New Jersey, and Troop A, Maryland. More than twenty States will contest in the individual military championship, of America. In the Nimbledon cup match, at 1,000 yards, six more targets have been built to accommodate the sharpshooters. There will be a convention of marksmen at the New Jersey State Rifle Association clubhouse September 5th, to organize a national league of riflemen.

ON THE DIAMOND

A game of ball was played on Washington avenue grounds Tuesday between the Arion Thirds and the L. Pond H. T. P. nines. The latter won by a score of 23 to 8. The batteries were Fosberry and Higgins and Garrity and Mudowney.

The Arion baseball team is greatly incensed over the action of the management of the Clinton Avenue ball nine in disappointing them in their game last Saturday. The game had been arranged between these two teams some time ago, when unknown to the Arions the Clinton Avenue team made a date with the St. Mary team. The Arions were greatly disappointed and are indignant over their treatment which they claim was due to the influence of one of the Clinton Avenue players.

No Trace of Stolen Wheel.

No trace has been found of the Eldridge wheel, stolen from the home of Fred J. Pope, of East Fifth street, Tuesday night. Although the wheel was the property of Fred J. Pope, it was left out by his brother, Stuart Pope, who naturally feels considerable interest in the subject. The number of the wheel was 32,747. It had upturned handlebars and a very large front sprocket wheel. The saddle was of the Messenger type.

KEPT UP HIS COURAGE.

An Austrian Peddler Held Up in Piscataway Township.

Samuel Rosenbaum, an Austrian, who recently came to Plainfield to engage in the produce business, was making his rounds through Piscataway township a few days ago, was held up by two highway, who demanded that he give them all his money. At first Mr. Rosenbaum was inclined to give up, but on second thought he changed his mind, and decided to make a fight. He was well armed, and he gave the highwaymen about five minutes to depart and allow him to proceed. It was not known to the highwaymen that Mr. Rosenbaum carried nearly a hundred dollars with him, or they might have made a stronger effort to overpawer him. He considers his escape almost miraculous.

Died in Switzerland.

Frank Lawrence, who has charge of the grill room at the Hotel Kensington, received a cablegram Tuesday from Zurich, Switzerland, conveying the sad intelligence of the death of his son, August.

The young man would have been eighteen years old today if he had lived. He resided with his grandparents in Zurich, where he was being educated. His father had not seen him since last November. Death was due to typhius, the young man being ill only a few days. Mr. Lawrence has the sincere sympathy of his many friends in the loss that he has sustained in the death of his son.

NO RIGHT TO BOTTLES.

ITALIAN FINED $5 WHICH WENT TO INDUSTRIAL HOME.

Offender Brought Before Justice Nash —Looks as Though He Was Running a "Speak-Easy."

From all appearances Nicholas Martone, of Lake street, has been conducting a "speak-easy" on a rather extensive scale. Nicholas has no license to sell spirituous liquors to his Italian brethren.

Although he bought his beer he did not buy his bottles in which it was sold. Martone kept them, however, against the rules of the Bottlers' Protective Association, the officers of which have been aware of the fact for some time. This fact led to a complaint being made against him yesterday by Herman Peterson, of Newark, a detective in the employ of the association.

Peterson procured a search warrant from Justice Moffet under the bottling act and in company with Constable Peter Weaver went to Martone's residence at 1325 Lake street, for the purpose of searching the premises.

The search began at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and lasted until 3 in the afternoon. At its conclusion they had some fifty bottles and nine quarter beer kegs, which had been concealed in the house and barn. The majority of them belonged to local wholesale dealers. The kegs were shipped to Newark and the bottles were taken to Justice Moffatt's court to be used as evidence against Martone.

He was arraigned before the justice this morning, who fined him $5 and costs which were paid. Under the bottling act the fine will be turned over to the Industrial Home. Detective Peterson declares that Martone is only one of many in this city who are guilty of the same offense, and unless they take warning and discontinue the practice of keeping bottles and kegs, more arrests will follow.

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

Two Young Couples Who Went on Excursion With the Juniors Married This Noon.

Many Plainfielders will be surprised to learn of a double wedding which took place today noon at Long Branch when Miss Gertrude Skillman, of South avenue, and I. Leslie Tingley, a conductor on the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway, were united in marriage. The second couple to join in wedlock was Miss Frankie Wiltsie, a clerk at Boehm's dry goods store, and Charles B. Hagerty, a clerk at Asa Collier's jewelry store. These young persons are well-known in this city, and their plan to have a double-weddinn was known only to themselves.

The couples went on the Junior excursion this morning and they arranged to have a number of their friends from this city attend the ceremony. After the nuptial knots were tied the bridal parties were showered with congratulations. They will return to Plainfield this evening and take up their residence here.

Thanks From the King's Daughters.

We also thank the good people of Plainfield who assisted in this charity and wish that they might acquaint themselves with our nurse who has charge of the sick babies' at the camp and other details of the King's Daughters' work.

MORE HOT WEATHER.

It May Not be Equal to That of Last Week, But Still it Will be Too Warm For Comfort.

More hot weather may be expected. While the hot wave is hardly likely to equal the one of last week, it will be warm enough to suit all practical purposes. While the thermometer did not rise higher than 84 degrees yesterday, the humidity was very high and everybody perspired from morning until night. The dampness continued all night and nothing would dry. According to Weather Observer John Neagle, the showery conditions will continue today with clear warmer weather tomorrow. During the shower of yesterday afternoon, .27 of an inch of water fell.

EXPERT FOR FIRE UNDERWRITERS VISITED PLAINFIELD YESTERDAY.

Expressed Himself as Highly Pleased With Fire Department and the Water Supply.

Ex-Fire Chief Johnson, of Philadelphia, now expert for the National Board of Fire Underwriters, visited Plainfield yesterday to inspect the fire department, water supply and take a look at the principal buildings of the city. His report goes to the National Board and on it depends the rate that will be allotted to Plainfield insurance. The last inspection of the city was made five years ago and many local property owners did not consider it very favorable to the city. The present report is likely to be far better if it is possible to judge from Ex-Chief Johnson's expressions of satisfaction at the local situation.

He visited Chief Doane and was given an opportunity to thoroughly inspect the fire department. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the efficiency of the department and said Plainfield was very fortunate in possessing such a one. The water supply here was, he said, one of the finest he had ever found in his travels in behalf of the Board.

He was not allowed to give any intimation of the nature of his report but he was free to say that the Plainfield department and water supply was eminently satisfactory. A good report is therefore expected with a subsequent decrease in the rates for fire insurance.

A BIG CONTRACT.

George J. Tobin Will Do the Plumbing Work in the New State Reformatory.

One of the largest contracts for plumbing ever given out in this State was awarded to George J. Tobin, of this city, last Monday by the commissioners in charge of the new State reformatory now being constructed near Rahway. The award was made after competition.

The work will involve over $100,000, and will result in the installing of the most complete and exhaustive plumbing and ventilating system in use in any prison or reformatory of the country. In each of the four wings of the reformatory proper there are 256 cells and each will be equipped with a separate wash bowl and water closet, automatically controlled. The down draft ventilating system is used to keep the cells constantly supplied with pure air, properly heated. The contract also includes the work in the power house and other buildings.

Work will be started Monday, when Mr. Tobin will start a gang of thirty-five men installing the system. As soon as the main lines of piping are placed in position the number of men will be doubled.

CROPS DYING FOR RAIN.

Intense Heat Has Seriously Affected Growing Crops

The weekly Government report of the New Jersey Bureau of Agriculture says:

"The reports received from all sections indicate that the intense heat and insufficient moisture (local showers unevenly distributed) have seriously affected all growing and maturing crops. In some places in the southern section corn and potatoes are past help, and in others under the most favorable circumstances corn will not yield more than half a crop. Springs that have never been known to fail are now dry.

In some portions of the central section, especially the red shale district, and parts of Hunterdon county, corn is rolling and twisting and orchard fruits dropping badly. In the northing section potatoes and buckwheat have suffered and pasture fields are drying up. High winds on the afternoon of the 6th did considerable damage in Burlington and Gloucester counties."

HOME AT MIDNIGHT.

Delays Brought the Junior Excursionists Home Rather Late.

On account of numerous delays along the road on the return trip the excursion train of the Jr. O. U. A. M. did not reach home until after midnight last night. There were few children on board, however, and there was little or no complaint at the long ride. The committee in charge of the affair is confident that the excursion will be even more successful than last year's and that the order will clear at least $100. Although the weather was threatening when the start was made from Plainfield, at the Park the weather was delightful and an enjoyable time was had by all.

MILLSTONE GOING BACK.

ONCE COUNTY SEAT OF SOMERSET AND FILLED WITH ACTIVITY.

Now Deprived of the Things That Once Made it Lively and it is Becoming Very Dull.

Ancient Millstone, once the county seat of Somerset, and the scene of bustling activity as a great shipping centre in the days before railroads were known, is now struggling almost hopelessly to retain the shattered remains of past glory. The highways of commerce, which once stretched out over the county from the bustling town, and were lined with prosperous taverns and road-houses are no longer traversed by teams heavily ladened with grain, wending their way to the canal. The taverns along the thoroughfares, which once knew the welkin ring of the jolly teamster and prosperous farmers, have long since been abandoned and in some instances are in ruins.

The ancient Delaware and Raritan Canal, which was once the county's greatest avenue of commerce, and infused Millstone with life and prosperity as a shipping centre, now leads a lethargic existence, and is operated only because of the compulsory provisions of its charter.

One after another of Millstone's mainstays have been knocked away with passing years, but the severest blow it has yet received is the closing down of the big distillery, which in recent years has been its principal industry. The permanent closing of the big plant was so sudden that it has created considerable hardship among a number of residents, and is considered almost a death blow to the town. The distillery company have offered occupation to its employes who wish to remove to its new plant in New York, but there is a considerable number of residents who were not directly employed by the company, but dependent on the business that the enterprise made for the town that will suffer most. It is the opinion of an old resident of Millstone that many families who own their own homes will now have to dispose of them and seek employment elsewhere.

It is also stated that the Catholic church at Millstone will hereafter be conducted as a mission church as it can no longer support a resident priest.

The hardship occasioned by the shuting down of the big industry is said to be so far reaching as the seriously effect the dairy farmers in the southern part of the county, who have been feeding their cattle on the refuse from the distillery. Hundreds of cattle which have thrived on this food are reported to be of little value, as they subsist poorly and give but little milk now that their food is changed.

Millstone has no immediate prospect of a prosperous future, but some of its inhabitants believe that with its waterway and railroad and its great natural advantages, it will sooner or later be sought by some great manufacturing concern that will give it new life and prosperity.

WIDOW LOSES HER CARE.

It Was in Her Interest Col. Ingersoll Made Last Court Appearance.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 17.—Vice-Chancellor Gray has filed an opinion in the application of Lottie R. Russell, widow of Benjamin Russell, of Cumberland county, to have her husband's will set aside and the original ante-nuptial agreement carried out. Mrs. Russell married her husband when he was seventy-five years old. She was fifty.

It was originally agreed that six months after his death she should be paid $15,000. Later this amount was reduced to $19,000 and still later to $5,000 Mrs. Russell claims the reductions were made because her husband promised to "provide liberally for her in his will." The will gave her only $1,000 out of an estate of almost $250,000.

Mrs. Russell's original counsel was the late Col. Robert G. Ingersol, and the famous orator's last court appearance was to argue the case. The Vice-Chancellor holds the widow has failed to show the amount she receives is not a liberal allowance.

Glass Cracked by Flying Rock.

The glass to one of the large display windows in Mayor George W. Rockfellow's grocery, corner of West Fourth street and Park avenue, was cracked yesterday morning by a flying rock. A carriage was passing over the new macadam there when the horse kicked a stone which shot over the sidewalk and made a hole in the big sheet of glass. This is the second time within a month that such an accident has happened to one of the windows of Mayor Rockfellow's establishment.

WORK ON CITY STREETS

COUNCILMANIC COMMITTEE MADE PLANS LAST NIGHT.

Front Street to be Resurfaced—Trolley Company Will Have to do Its Share

This is the busy season for the street department of the city. A meeting of the street committee of the Common Council was held last evening and further plans made for the work to be done.

The property owners along Hillside avenue, south of Prospect avenue, have informally approached the committee to see if the city would give them any aid in their attempt to improve that thoroughfare. The committee decided that it would turnpike that part of Hillside avenue or turn over the equivalent of cash to the property owners if they gave out the improvement of the thoroughfare by contract. They plan to grade down the sharp incline near the old Denton property and to build cobble stone gutters. In time they hope to macadamize the street at that point.

It was decided that a sidewalk was needed on the east side of Watchung avenue and, under the present ordinance, the committee can give notification to the property owners to that effect. It was decided that the notices should be sent out.

The urgent need of repairs to East and West Front street was discussed and the committee decided to re-surface that thoroughfare this season if possible. As the street railroad tracks extend the length of West Front street, that corporation will have to bear its share in the cost of the repairing of West Front street. When Park and Washington avenues are completed the street department will next turn its attention to Plainfield avenue, which is in great need of repairs from West Front street to the city line. Plainfield avenue and Front street will receive the care of the department and it is expected that both will be put in good condition this fall.

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS.

Bishop McFaul Says They are Not Surrounded in Public Institutions With Faith Preserving Influences.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 17—The only important feature of yestorday morning's session of the thirty second National convention of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union was an address by Bishop McFaul, of this diocese, on the question of the federation of the Catholic societies in this country.

The Bishop dwelt upon conditions which he said existed in New Jersey. He spoke of the reform school at Jamesburg, where, he said, the Catholic inmates were not surrounded by those influences which would result in the boys growing up Catholics.

He referred to the Children's Aid Society, a national organization, which, he said, took children from almshouses and placed them in private homes, but which was not always careful to place Catholic children with Catholic families. As a result of all this, Bishop McFaul said, Catholic children in public institutions grew up in ignorance of or indifference to their natural religion. The speaker did not charge this to a desire to break down the Catholic faith in these children, but rather to a disregard of the religious rights of the children.

The address was enthusiastically received.

A CHRISTIAN'S FUNERAL.

Funeral Services Held Over the Remains of the Late Peter E. VanArsdale Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Peter E. VanArsdale were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The large farmhouse, near South Plainfield, where the deceased lived for so many years, was filled with friends and neighbors who had gathered to honor the memory of an upright and highly esteemed citizen. The services were in charge of Rev. H. W. F. Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Bayonne, a brother-in-law of the deceased, who was on his vacation in Sullivan county, New York, where he was reached by telegraph. He has been a pastor for over forty years.

Mr. Jones spoke beautifully of the exemplary life lived by Mr. VanArsdale, remarking that while he was not wealthy so far as this world's goods were concerned, he was rich in the Christian's inheritance, and he had now obtained his reward for faithful service given to his Maker. In closing Mr. Jones gave a heartfelt prayer for the bereaved wife and friends in the loss they had sustained.

Beautiful flowers, the gift of relatives and friends, completely covered the casket, bearing loving testimony of the high regard for him who had passed away. The interment took place this morning in the family plot at Bedminister, Somerset county.

Mr. VanArsdale was born February 7th, 1836, at Bound Brook, and has always lived in this vicinity. At the age of seventeen years he joined the church at Middlebush. He took up his residence on the farm, where he died near South Plainfield, several years ago. Last March he suffered an attack of pneumonia, which left him in a weakened condition. About a week ago he was taken ill with euremia, and this caused his death. He was a brother of Rev. Dr. N. H. VanArsdale, associate editor of The Christian Intelligence, also of Philip VanArsdale, of Batavia, Ill. He was also a brother to Mrs. H. W. F. Jones, wife of the minister who conducted the services yesterday. Besides the above a wife and two sons survive him.

A SAD DEATH.

Mrs. William Waglow Unable to Survive a Second Operation.

By the death of Mrs. William Waglow, which occurred at the hospital yesterday, a young life was cut short, a five weeks' old infant left motherless and a loving husband plunged in grief. Mrs. Waglow, who was born in this city twenty-six years ago, and had always lived here. When a young girl she was always identified with Hope chapel and took an active interest in its welfare. She was married four years ago to William Waglow, of New Market, their last home being on East Fifth street.

Complications followed an operation performed a few weeks ago from which she was unable to rally. Although suffering intensely she was very patient and made no complaint. A few days ago she was taken to the hospital for the performing of a further operation in the hopes of saving her life, but it was unsuccessful.

Besides her husband and infant child she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Marsh, of Plainfield avenue, six brothers and one sister. The funeral services will be held next Sunday at 1:30 from the home of her parents and Hope Memorial chapel at 2. Interment will be in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery.

WESLEY LAKE'S BLAZING GLORY.

Asbury Park and Ocean Grove Witness the Annual Carnival.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Aug. 17—Wesley Lake was ablaze with rare colored electric globes and brilliant fireworks last night, the occasion being the midsummer carnival under the auspices of the Twin Cities. It is estimated that 100,000 spectators witnessed the pageant, which was the most brilliant ever seen here. Hotels and cottages on both sides of the lake were brilliantly illuminated. Mandolin bands accompanied the marine procession, and two military bands were stationed at the bridges. A fountain in the centre of the lake was especially constructed for the occasion. The judges were Dr. J. E. Prices, of Yonkers, N. Y.; Theodore B. Wood, of New York; General W. H. Skirm, of Trenton, and John C. Day, for Ocean Grove, and Senator C. Asa Francis, ex-Assemblyman Oliver H. Brown, Assemblyman Wood McKee, of Paterson, and P. Carbe, Minister to Ecudor, for Asbury Park.

DEATH OF AN AGED LADY

MRS. PHOEBE D. ROSS PASSES AWAY IN HER NINETIETH YEAR.

Was a Devout Member of the Seventh Day Baptist Church—Born in Piscataway Township.

The death of Mrs. Phoebe D. Ross, aged 90 years, occurred last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph D. Spicer, 125 West Fifth street, where she has been living for many years. Her death was somewhat unexpected, as she had been enjoying her usual good health. A day or so a slight form of paralysis was noticed, and this developed into an attack of apoplexy which caused death.

Mrs. Ross was a most remarkable woman in many ways. She possessed a clear and strong intellect, and her life was marked for its evidence of a broad and devoted Christian spirit. She was born in Piscataway Township and was brought up in the Seventh-Day Baptist faith. She was among the last of a large and prominent family, all of whom were distinguished in many ways. Mrs. Ross lived the most part of her married life in this city, and in March of the present year she celebrated in a pleasant manner the ninetieth anniversary of her birthday, surrounded by relatives and friends. She has always enjoyed excellent health and was until a short time ago able to attend the services at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, to which she was attached. Her faith was strong until the last.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. Joseph D. Spicer and Mrs. W. L Titsworth, with whom she lived, and Richard Ross, of Bound Brook. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, 125 West Fifth street, next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

HONEST MRS. GEISSELE.

Wouldn't Accept for Her Property What Newark Wanted to Pay.

Alderman Felder, of Newark, is recovering from a severe shock. As a member of the Public Buildings Committee he was engaged in the purchase of a site for a fire engine house in the Twelfth ward and it was agreed to pay $2,700 for the site selected. The committee voted to purchase this property from an agent of Mrs. Elizabeth Geissele, the owner. A resolution to this effect was signed by Mayor Seymour and there seemed to be nothing to do but obtain the transfer of the property, the warrant for the payment being ready. Then Mrs. Geissele called upon Alderman Felder and told him that she thought that $2,400 was enough for the property, that was all she had expected to get and all she thought the property was worth.

Hotel Waiters Danced.

BIG DAY FOR GRANGERS.

ESSEX, UNION AND MORRIS FARMERS GATHER AT SWINEFIELD BRIDGE.

After Athletic Games Judge John D. Lander, of St. Cloud, Addressed Crowd of Thousands on Prosperity.

All roads in the counties of Essex, Union and Morris seemed to lead to Tuttle's Grove, on the fair banks of the Passaic River, near Swinefield Bridge, where was being held yesterday the Grangers' twentieth annual picnic. Despite unfavorable weather conditions it was a "rain or shine" affair, with the farmers, many of whom were accompanied by their families. Before night the crowd numbered five thousand.

Thirty acres of ground had been leased for the picnic by the managers. Many came from the city, journeying to Swinefield by trolley and railroad lines. Baseball games between amateur teams were held during the afternoon. There was a temporary pavilion built for dancing in the grove. Boating parties were allowed the freedom of the Passaic. But the teeming interest of the day's outing was of a political nature. Every one waited for the address of Judge John D. Lander, of St. Cloud.

He spoke of the relations of the farmer to the banker and urged those present to oppose the bill which aimed to reduce the legal rate of interest. Such a measure, he said, drove capital from the State. Judge Lander declared that the farmer has just cause for congratulation because of the present period of prosperity. In conclusion he said "he might remind the farmers that the Republicans are jubilant just now and that the Lord Almighty seems again inclined to let the Democrats meet a cruel fate."

Smith, Miss Alice Ball, Miss Florence Ball, Mrs. Lillian I. Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Vaughn, Mrs. H. F. Spaulding, Mrs. E. R. Lewis, Miss Lewis, H. G. Lewis, Mrs. C. L. Beasley, Miss Helen Beasley, Miss Bessie Beasley, Miss Minnie Keefe, Miss Helen Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Lutkins, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Beachem, Mr. and Mrs. McMamus, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Keeler, Col. J. A. Woodward, U. S. A.; Mrs. J. A. Woodward, Miss Helen Woodward, Mrs. F. J. Sloane.

The sacred concert at the hotel Sunday evening was, as usual, largely attended by the patrons and their friends, all of whom enjoyed a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music. The selections by the orchestra were also enjoyed.

Trolley parties are the most popular amusement at present, one of the largest being that of Saturday evening when a large crowd went to Cranford to witness the carnival. It was arranged by Messrs. Garre and Dickinson and was successful in every particular.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS IN A WRECK.

Stump on the Track on the Lehigh Valley Road Derails a Special Train

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Wilkesbarre, Aug. 17—A special train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad carrying several high officials was wrecked last night at Splash Dam, on the Bowman's Creek branch. A large tree stump had been placed on the track and the private car was derailed and thrown down a small embankment. Supt. Alexander Mitchell of this division had his back and hips badly bruised and was taken to his home in an ambulance. He will be laid up for some time. Chief Engineer W. G. Berg was bruised considerably. General Supt. Rollin H. Wilbur escaped with a few slight bruises, and so did E. R. Beets, C. McKlosser, G. B. Matthews, Albert Boyer and D. F. Ackerman. It is believed that the stump was placed on the track for the purpose of wrecking the train.

What is the Business?

There is likely to be a subject of great importance to the welfare of the city discussed at the next meeting of the Common Council, the details of which are known only to a few at present. If present prospects hold good, the Council meeting will be one of the most important in the history of the city and one which every good citizen will be anxious to attend.

TAKING OUT THE SOLIDS.

NEW METHOD OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL BEING TESTED.

The Inventor From Georgia—Trying to Interest State Sewage Commissioners.

C. W. Doughty, inventor of a new method of sewage disposal, hailing from Georgia, is now making a series of tests of his plan at the sewage disposal beds of the city. His efforts are made entirely in his own behalf and not in the interests of the city which has allowed him, however, to make his experiments.

His plan is to separate the liquids from the solids. The liquids are æriated with the aid of flumes and falls and eventually turned into the brook. The solids are treated with chemicals which, Mr. Doughty claims, form a perfectly deodorous fertilizer which is decidedly valuable.

At present he is trying to interest the State Board of Sewage Commissioners in his new method. If the approval of that body is gained, then the city of Plainfield is quite likely to consider its feasability. Until then, however, the tests are made entirely independent of any city interest.

OLD TIMER TO RETIRE.

Gerome Pack, Who Has Sold Candy to Three Generations, Will Quit Business This Fall.

Plainfield's oldest merchant, Gerome Pack, who has sold candy and little notions to three generations of Plainfield folk from his stand, 217 Park avenue, is preparing to retire from business and spend the rest of his days without the cares of business to trouble him. There isn't a man, woman or child who has made Plainfield his or her home for any length of time who does not know Mr. Pack. The city has built up around his modest little establishment but he has continued there and his trade has steadily continued despite the many new and modern establishments which have sprung up on all sides.

J. H. Johnson, who now has the vegetable and produce privilege at Drake & Mundy's market on West Front street, has leased Mr. Pack's store and will take possession this fall and continue his vegetable and produce business there on a larger scale than hitherto. Mr. Johnson expects to make a number of improvements to the store before he takes possession. When he takes possession, Mr. Pack will give up his establishment and retire from business, a move which he has been considering for sometime.

TALKED POLITICS TO FARMERS.

Hunterdon County Agriculturist Listen to All Sides.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, Aug. 17.—The annual picnic of the Farmers' Alliance of Hunterdon county closed yesterday afternoon and was a complete success. Senator Foster presided over yesterday's gathering. The speaking began at 11 o'clock, when John V. L. Pierson, of Glen Ridge, spoke on "Money Restricted and Unrestricted." Oscar Jefferys, of Washington, N. J., was the principal speaker, advocating the views of the Republican party. He defended United States Attorney Griggs from the attacks that had been made upon him because of his interpretation of the law regarding the army canteen.

Rev. A. L. Wilson, a Social Labor Democrat, followed with a talk on the exciting conditions of the country and compared plutocracy with democracy. He begged all present to aid the Socialists in their efforts to reform the world. Mrs. William H. Bole, the temperance advocate, delivered a lengthy address. John S. Crosby, of New York, talked on "Anti-Trust and Imperialism."

NOT ENOUGH CARS.

Colored People Worried as to How They Were to Get to Boynton Beach.

Consternation spread among about 300 colored people at the Watchung avenue terminus of the street railway this morning, when it was learned that only five cars had been chartered to take them to Boynton Beach, when there was enough passengers for nearly a dozen. The occasion was that of the Fillmore Avenue Baptist and Mt. Zion A. M. E. churches. Today is colored people's salt water day at the Beach, and nearly all the colored people of this city had made preparations to go. The size of the crowd had been underestimated, however, and there were not special cars enough to carry them. A large number were forced to take the regular cars, so that everyone managed to get away.

Clifford A. Braider, of Manning avenue, was very kindly remembered yesterday, it being his twentieth birthday. He regrets he is not one year older, in order that he could cast his first vote for McKinley.

AUGUSTUS S. BARBER DEAD

Secretary of the State Senate Passes Away in Camden From Bright's Disease.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camden, August 17—Augustus S. Barber, secretary of the State Senate, and editor of the Woodbury Constitution, died early Wednesday morning at his home in Woodbury, after suffering for months from Bright's disease. Mr. Barber was fifty-two years old, and was one of the best known and most active politicians in South Jersey.

He took charge of the Woodbury Constitution twenty years ago, and about that time entered the political arena. Being an able writer he soon attracted attention, and his first political appointment was journal clerk of the Senate during the sessions of 1899-1900, and as secretary of the Republican State committee acted as secretary of the last Congressional convention. He served two terms as County Treasurer. His father at the time of his death was the oldest newspaperman and printer in the State, and Augustus, Jr., was born over a printing office in Woodbury.

He was married twice and leaves a son, who will conduct the business. The funeral, which takes place Saturday, will be attended by nearly every Republican of prominence in the State.

TRIUMPH FOR LIQUOR MEN.

Supreme Court Decides in Favor of Saloon-Keepers.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Trenton, August 17.—The Supreme Court Wednesday heard the application of Prosecutor Lloyd, of Camden for an order dismissing the writs of error taken out by six Camden saloon-keepers, convicted of selling liquor on Sunday.

Prosecutor Lloyd insisted that the writs were frivolous and only taken out for the purpose of delay. Counsel for the saloon-keepers argued that they were entitled to the writs as a matter of right. The Court sustained this latter view, and Prosecutor Lloyd's application for a rule was disallowed.

The cases will now go to the Court of Errors for argument, and probably will not be disposed of before February. In the meantime the convicted men will be out on bail.

EX-SENATOR INGALLS DEAD.

Famous Politician and Orator Passes Away In New Mexico.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Aug. 17.—Former United States Senator John J. Ingalls is dead at East Las Vegas. He was surrounded by his family. The funeral will be held in Atchison, Kan.

Senator Ingalls' illness dated from March, 1899, when, at Washington, his throat began troubling him. He worked steadily writing political articles for newspapers throughout the country. He was treated by several specialists, but received no relief and on their advice returned with his family to Atchison. At home he grew no better. Ten months ago he sought another change of climate, traveling through New Mexico and Arizona. He was still able to write occasionally for the newspapers.

Ex-Senator John James Ingalls was one of the foremost figures in American politics while he served in the upper house from 1873 to 1891. He was born at Middletown, Mass., Dec. 29, 1833, and was educated at Williams college. He was admitted to the bar in 1857 and a year later moved west, settling in Kansas, where he at once made a name.

Until 1873, when he was elected to the senate, Mr. Ingalls was not prominent politically, but on his going to Washington at once launched himself into the political arena so irresistibly that his power was undisputed for years afterward.

As a senator he was one of the most pyrotechnical figures in American politics. During the whole of his 18 years' service he was called the most brilliant and distinguished member of the senate ever sent from west of the Mississippi. He was always a radical Republican partisan, but as president of the senate for years gave impartial satisfaction to the Democratic members as well as his own party men.

Mr. Ingalls was a gifted orator and was at his best when in a quarrel. He delighted in the aggressive and fought his battles to the death. His invective in debate was almost bloodthirsty, his sharp arraignment of Grover Cleveland and the administration of 1889-93 being most sensational.

PRESIDENT STEYN DEAD?

So Reported From Lourenco Marques—Kruger Wishes Peace.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—According to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Lourenco Marques, dated yesterday, it is reported there that General De Wet has succeeded in joining hands with Commandant Delarey.

Former President Steyn, according to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lourenco Marques, dated yesterday, is reported to have died while endeavoring to reach Mr. Kruger as the result of a severe wound.

A British correspondent recently released from captivity at Nooitgedacht asserts positively that Mr. Kruger wishes peace, but that the fighting commandants insist upon continuing the war and would prevent his flight by force if necessary.

The burghers, according to the same authority, share this view. The Transvaalers have 90 guns at Machadodorp, with abundant provisions.

Negro Murderer Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Arthur Harris, who is wanted in New York for the murder of Policeman Thorpe Monday night, has been arrested in this city at the home of his mother. Harris arrived here unaware of the serious charge against him and sought the house where his mother lived seven years ago, but found she had moved. By reason of his inquiries concerning her present address the police authorities learned of his presence in the city and hastened to his mother's home, where he was taken into custody. The New York authorities were notified.

LI'S APPEAL DENIED.

No Armistice Short of Imperial City's Walls.

NO CHANGE IN AMERICAN POLICY.

Chaffee May Insist on Entering the City or Receive the Legationers at Peking's Gates at His Discretion.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—At the close of a day of intense anxiety the department of state last night made public the latest correspondence between the United States government and China, constituting not only a remarkable series of state papers, but at the same time dispelling all doubt and uncertainty as to the American policy in the present critical juncture. The urgent, almost pathetic appeal of Li Hung Chang submitted early in the day that the victorious march of the allies stop at Tung-chow and that the military commanders on the field be instructed to arrange an armistice at that point was met with a response that General Chaffee already had been given complete instructions empowering him to carry out an arrangement in concert with other commanders for the delivery of the ministers and persons under their protection to the relief column, not at Tung-chow, as had been suggested, but at the imperial city of Peking. Furthermore, it was made known to China that General Chaffee's instructions left him free rein as to whether he should insist upon entering Peking and going to the legations or should receive the delivery of the legationers at the gate of the inner Tartar city or at the great outer wall. In short, China through her peace envoy besought a halt and an armistice at Tung-chow, 12 miles from Peking; whereas, the response of the American government is that, if there is to be a halt—an armistice—it must be at the walls of the imperial city.

The department of state makes public the communications exchanged yesterday between the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu Ting Fang, and the acting secretary of state.

The following memorandum was handed to Mr. Adee by Mr. Wu at 9 o'clock in the morning:

"A cablegram from Earl Li Hung Chang, envoy plenipotentiary of China, dated Aug. 15 and received by Minister Wu at 7 p. m. on the same day.

"The allied forces are approaching Tung-chow. I have memorialized the imperial government to depute envoy to negotiate an armistice with the several commanders on the spot. I will also shortly proceed to Peking. The powers, being fully aware of the embarrassing position their majesties the empress dowager and the emperor are placed, are earnestly requested to telegraph instructions to their respective commanders after arriving at Tung-chow with their forces to stop their further advance to the capital so as not to cause alarm and fear to their majesties and calamities to the people, for such advance would shake the foundations of the Ta Ching empire and wound the feelings of all her people, high and low. For a compliance with this appeal the millions of people of the empire will be profoundly grateful to the powers. Please communicate this cablegram at once to the secretary of state."

The following memorandum in reply was handed to Mr. Wu in the afternoon:

"Foreseeing that there would be insufficient time after receiving a reply to our memorandum of Aug. 12 to get instructions to the relief column before it had reached Peking we sent on the same day to the general commanding the American forces in China the following dispatch:

"'Aug. 12.—Secretary of war directs me to inform you that Li Hung Chang, appointed by the Chinese government to negotiate with powers, requests cessation of hostilities. We have replied that we are ready to enter into agreement between powers and Chinese government for cessation of hostilities on condition that sufficient body of the forces composing the relief expedition shall be permitted to enter Peking unmolested and to escort foreign ministers and residents back to Tien-tsin, the movement being provided for and secured by such arrangements and dispositons of troops as shall be considered satisfactory by generals commanding the forces composing relief expedition. We have communicated this to all the powers. Japanese government takes same position. We have not heard from other powers.'

"And two days ago in view of the rapid progress of the relief expedition we sent the following to General Chaffee:

"'Aug. 14.—In anticipation of acceptance by Chinese government of condition in our reply to them cabled you Aug. 12. If Chinese authorities communicate willingness to deliver ministers and persons under their protection to relief column at Peking, under arrangements which you consider safe, you are authorized to make and carry out arrangement in concert with other commanders without referring it here. From informal communications with representatives of other governments here we believe all to take substantially same position. Question whether you should insist upon entering Peking and going to legations or will receive delivery at gate of inner Tartar city or at outer wall, taking risk of ministers passing through city with only Chinese escort, you and the other generals must determine.

"'By order secretary of war.'

"We are advised by Minister Conger that the attacks by imperial troops upon the legations in Peking have not ceased. While these attacks continue we cannot stop the advance of our forces toward Peking. If such attacks cease the above quoted instructions will be allowed to stand, and they would seem to provide for all the action required under the circumstances stated by Earl Li in his dispatch."

At the same time the authorities gave out the latest dispatch from Minister Conger, received yesterday through the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu. It was embodied in an official statement as follows:

"The acting secretary of state makes public the following extract from a dispatch received yesterday morning from Mr. Conger. It was handed to Mr. Adee by Mr. Wu, who explained that he had received it at midnight from the taotai of Shanghai, by whom it had been received by way of Tsi-nan, Aug. 15. It is undated, but would seem to have left Peking some time between Aug. 5 and 11:

"'Secretary of State, Washington—Our cipher is safe. May it not be sufficient authenticity? We have been imprisoned and completely besieged since June 23. Continued artillery and rifle firing until July 17; only rifle since, but daily; with it frequently desperate attacks; one last night. Have already reported our losses. French, Italian, Belgian, Austrian and Dutch legations and all other foreign property in Peking destroyed. Dr. Inglis' child dead. Marines Fenning, Fisher, Turner, King, Tutcher, Kennly and Thomas killed. All other Americans alive. Inform Alta and Secretary Ryan. Nearing allied forces give us hope.'"

The appeal of China and the prompt response of the American government were the subject of supreme interest throughout the day. Coming at a moment when the allied armies were in the shadow of the great walls of Peking, the circumstances in which the correspondence occurred were of a peculiarly momentous character. The president had just returned from a brief respite at Canton and, going to the White House, found his advisers ready to present to him the issue now advanced by China. The appeal from Li Hung Chang came first to the Chinese minister, who early in the day conveyed it to the department of state. Although it was not the regular day for a meeting of the cabinet, word was conveyed to those cabinet officers in the city that a special cabinet session would be held at 11 o'clock. Secretary Root, who has been a guiding factor in the Chinese negotiations, was with the president before the meeting opened, presenting the Chinese communications and the dispatches of instructions already sent to General Chaffee. With the president at the cabinet table were Secretaries Root, Gage, Wilson and Postmaster General Smith. The conclusions reached can be stated best by reference to the succinct response of the United States government set forth in the official announcement.

After the cabinet meeting the American reply was sent to the Chinese minister, who later in the day cabled it to Li Hung Chang.

PEKING CAPTURED?

Unconfirmed Rumor Via Vienna So States—Japan Negotiates.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A cablegram to Vienna from Hongkong announces the capture of Peking, but the Austrian government, like other European powers, is still without confirmation of this report. An official telegram, dated Taku, Aug. 14, has been received at Rome which asserts that the attack on Peking began Monday, that Sir Claude Macdonald, the British minister, has opened communication with the relieving force and that the allies have established their headquarters at Tung-chow.

Chinese officials in Shanghai are reported as admitting that the allies inflicted a heavy defeat on the Chinese imperial troops around Tung-chow Sunday and then marched direct on Peking. This, if true, carries the Japanese official advices announcing the capture of Tung-chow one step farther.

The western powers, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Kobe, have accepted the proposals formulated by Japan for arranging an armistice, dependent upon the immediate delivery of the foreign legations to the allies or the granting of permission to the allied forces to enter Peking and to guard the legations. Upon these bases, the correspondent says, Japan has already begun to negotiate.

Shanghai dispatches declare that the Chinese had intended to make a final attack upon the legations last Sunday, but whether the plan was carried out is not known there.

From the same place comes the statement that Vice Admiral Seymour and Brigadier General Creagh have joined in the protest against the withdrawal of the British troops. All the morning papers which comment on the subject appeal to Lord Salisbury not to withdraw them and dilate upon the serious results of such an action to British prestige.

The consensus of opinion expressed by the morning papers tends to the belief that the legations are now safe with the allies.

Missionaries Dead.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—A cable just received at the China inland mission from Shanghai reads: "Miss H. J. Rice, from Lu Cheng, murdered; Miss M. E. Huston, from Lu Cheng; Mrs. E. J. Cooper, from Lu Cheng, and the three Saunders children are all dead, having received injuries while traveling." Miss Rice was from Haydenville, Mass., and went to China in 1893, while Miss Huston came from Mobile and went to China in 1896. The other lady dead, Mrs. E. J. Cooper, went out from Scotland to China in 1887. All these missionaries are members of the China inland mission.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 17.—Attorney Bradley yesterday continued his speech for the prosecution in the trial of former Secretary of State Powers, charged with complicity in the Goebel shooting. He likened the armed petitioners who went to Frankfort to a highwayman who draws his revolver and "petitions" the traveler for his purse. He told the jury that it had been proved that Charles Finley had said, "Goebel will be killed within five days," and in less than that time Goebel was lying quivering on the pavement. He told them that it had been proved that Caleb Powers had said, "If no one else will kill him, I will kill him myself;" that Henry Youtsey said Goebel could be killed from Powers' office and the assassin could run down into the basement and never be discovered. A few seconds after the shooting it is proved that Youtsey did run down into the basement, out through the barber shop and back through the east entrance into the office next to Powers'.

Attorney Bradley was followed by J. H. Tinsley of Barboursville for the defense. He said the only well substantiated statement made by Caleb Powers before Jan. 30 was to the effect that he would give up his office and everything and go home rather than enter into any sort of a combination with anybody to use cartridges to settle the contest. He thought one fact stood out above every other in this case, and that was that Powers was not within 50 miles of Frankfort when the shot was fired, had locked his office before he left, and no one was locked in it; that he could not possibly have known who fired the shot or where it was fired from.

Captain Benjamin B. Golden, a brother of Wharton Golden, spoke for the prosecution. He said if one family more than the Goebel family had suffered by the assassination it was the Golden family, that his poor young brother had been contaminated by association with Caleb Powers and that he was here to help as best he could to make reparation for his brother's wrong. He said Powers himself was first to use the expression "mountain army" in a letter to Sudie Snuffer and that he never spoke of peaceful petitioners or any kind of petitioners until this trial came up. Golden was especially bitter in his denunciation of his own brother-in-law, Rev. J. T. Stamper, and said, "He is a preacher, it is said, but if you could take the lid from the hottest pit of hell you would find just such people as Stamper in it."

Serious Gas Explosion.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Six men were badly injured by an explosion of gas at the Atlantic Refining company's works, and two will die, while the injuries of three of the others may prove fatal. The most seriously hurt are: Joseph Jefferson, colored, 49 years of age, and Thomas Sharp, 41. Their deaths are momentarily expected. The explosion occurred in the portion of the works where the gas which accumulates in the tanks is pumped in mains. Jefferson, the engineer, held a lighted lamp while examining the machinery, and it is believed the flame came in contact with some escaping gas.

New York's Population.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The population of the boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx, according to the official count of the returns of the twelfth census, is as follows: Manhattan borough, 1,850,093; Bronx borough, 200,507; total for Manhattan and Bronx, 2,050,600. The population of New York city in 1880 was 1,206,299, and in 1890 1,515,301, showing an increase from 1880 to 1890 of 309,002, or 25.62 per cent. The total for the greater city will be about 3,500,000.

Coal Discovered.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 17.—An extensive vein of coal has been discovered on the farm of O. Newman, near Keuka. It is about 15 feet below the surface, and indications point to a deposit of considerable magnitude. Local capital is being raised to develop the mine, and farm property in the vicinity is rapidly advancing in price.

Father's Fiendish Crime.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 17.—An afternoon paper at Wilson, N. C., publishes an account of the killing by their father and his third wife of the four children of George Griffin in Nash county. It is alleged that the children were imprisoned in an outhouse and allowed to die of starvation. The pair have been jailed.

PATERSON CITY PRINTING.

The "Chronicle" Will Test the Legality of the Aldermen's Resolution.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, Aug. 17—The Chronicle Printing and Publishing Company has secured from Justice Dixon of the Supreme Court a rule directing the Board of Aldermen of this city to show cause why a certain resolution should not be sent up to the Supreme Court for review. The resolution was adopted by the Board of Aldermen on May 7. It provided that all orders for city advertising and printing be given only to those printing offices which recognize the local typographical union. It also directed the Finance Committee and the Comptroller to audit no bills for printing done to other than union printing offices.

In July the printing committee of the Board solicited bids for printing the annual reports of the city, and the bid of the Chronicle Printing and Publishing Company was the lowest. A big delegation of union printers appeared at the meeting of the committee to protest against the contract being awarded to The Chronicle, which is a non-union office. The committee adjourned without taking action and since then Chairman has been unable to get the members together. The Aldermen do not want to put themselves on record against the union. The Chronicle has decided to test the legality of the resolution. The rule is returnable on November 7th.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach, and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Drowned Body Identified.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Long Branch, Aug. 17.—The body found on the beach in Elberon Tuesday was identified Wednesday as Lawrence Devaney, a driver for John Clark, an expressman.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DEMOCRATS HARMONIZE.

The Hill-Croker Fight Did Not Take Place at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, Aug. 17.—The heralded lively meeting of the Democratic state committee is over, and the announced heated argument and fight between David B. Hill and Richard Croker did not materialize, the only controversy being between Senator Grady and Mr. Hill on a motion of Mr. Danforth to select a temporary chairman for the approaching state convention. On this proposition Mr. Hill was defeated, even though the vote demonstrated that he still has control of the state committee. Several votes cast against the proposition were so cast because the owners thereof were averse to having the party placed in a controversal position between now and the convention.

The state committee selected Saratoga Sept. 11, as the time and place for the holding of the state convention.

The executive committee listened to the outline of the work laid out by Chairman McGuire and approved of it. The county chairmen had a lengthy meeting at which each of the chairmen expressed their opinions as to the proper method of work and were instructed by Chairman McGuire. At attempt to get a vote or an expression of opinion as to a candidate for governor was objected to by the majority portion, and the meeting adjourned without action.

So far as the gubernatorial situation is concerned it is evident that Mr. Coler cannot be nominated unless Kings county changes its present attitude.

The judges, the civil governor and his staff and the mayor accompanied him to the Viking. The city and the entire district have been much pacified by his visit. The conservative element predominates in this province. General Wood inspected the Eighth United States cavalry. The troops are in good health. The governor general and his party left last evening for Puerto Padre and Las Tunas.

British Army Scored.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Viscount Wolseley, field marshal and commander in chief of the British army, delivered, according to The Daily Mail, the most scathing condemnation ever heard at Aldershot after witnessing yesterday's maneuvers. He declared that the 30,000 men who participated were utterly unfit to send abroad, badly led and badly taught. Many distinguished officers listened to these remarks, among them General Montgomery Moore, formerly in command in Canada, but now commanding at Aldershot.

They were well known in Sing Sing, having frequently visited their cousin in that place.

THE ANTIS FOR BRYAN

Kansas City Nominee Strongly Indorsed.

THIRD PARTY MEN VAINLY OPPOSE.

The Latter to Meet In New York City Sept. 5 to Nominate a Ticket—Speculation as to the Candidates.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—The liberty congress of the American League of Anti-imperialists yesterday emphatically indorsed the candidacy of William J. Bryan for president. The resolutions to that effect were read to the convention by Colonel Charles H. Codman of Massachusetts, who moved their adoption after stating that the entire committee of 25 had indorsed them. The convention, however, did not adopt the platform as submitted by the resolutions committee without prolonged and heated debate. Thomas M. Osborne of Auburn, N. Y., leader of the "third ticket" movement, offered an amendment to strike out indorsement of Bryan, and his amendment was vigorously supported by several delegates, but when the previous question was ordered less than a score could be marshaled to vote against the Bryan indorsement. The vote was viva voce, and its exact result will never be known, but the sentiment of the convention was clearly shown as being in favor of the indorsement of Bryan as the most effective manner of checking the alleged imperialistic policy of the administration.

The most vigorous opponents of the Bryan pronouncement in the platform were conspicuous members of the National or third ticket convention, who were also admitted as delegates to the anti-imperialist congress. They were ably led by Thomas M. Osborne and advocated the nomination of a third ticket on the theory that their followers, while opposed to President McKinley, were not prepared to accept Mr. Bryan on the Kansas City platform.

Colonel Charles R. Codman and Edwin Burritt Smith were the chief proponents of the platform as reported, claiming that all political questions were now subordinate to the one question of imperialism and that all opposed to the present administration should unite to overthrow it in the most effective and available manner.

Every mention of Mr. Bryan's name in the convention called forth enthusiastic applause.

The speakers who opposed the Bryan plank in the platform were received with jeers and cries of "Time!" from the delegates, and Chairman Zeisler at times had difficulty in obtaining a hearing for them.

After the adoption of the resolution indorsing Bryan the representatives of the third party movement met in the assembly room of the Commercial club and selected Thomas M. Osborne of New York for permanent chairman and Everett V. Abbott of New York for permanent secretary. A motion was made and carried that a convention be held in New York city Sept. 5 for the purpose of nominating a ticket.

It is said that the third party men offered the presidential nomination to Moorfield Storey of Massachusetts, but that Mr. Storey declined the honor. William I. Palmer of Colorado was reported to be their choice for vice president. The leaders of the movement said that they expected a large representation at their convention in New York on Sept. 5 and that candidates for president and vice president would then surely be nominated.

Fast Railroad Trains.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Commenting upon a contributed article on "The Fastest Trains In the World," The Times says editorially: "If there is one point more than another in which English railways have claimed superiority, it is in the speed of their fastest trains. Yet the United States and France are now running not one or two, but many faster trains than can be found on our railroads." The editorial then goes into detail, dealing especially with the "Empire State express," and concludes with the inference that "America at any rate has learned to make better locomotives than England."

Electrical Discovery.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A patent has been granted to Nikola Tesla for an invention which, if his claims are borne out, will prevent the escape of electricity from a wire. Tesla's invention, it is claimed, solves the insulation problem in a simple manner. He insulates the wire by passing through it or near it air kept at a low temperature, producing a coat of ice on the wire which, the inventor finds by repeated and extensive experiments, cannot be broken through by the strongest currents and at the same time gives an insulation that costs practically nothing.

Valuable Diamonds Found.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Diamonds considered by London dealers superior to those from South Africa and valued at from 25 to 50 per cent higher than those found in that region have been discovered at the diggings up the Mazaruni river, in British Guiana, according to a letter to the state department from United States Consul Moulton, at Demerara. Concessions of land for diamond mining are being made, and the industry promises well, as the stones already found are pronounced fully equal in quality to Brazilian diamonds.

Strange Double Drowning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Two cousins were drowned in the Hudson river last evening at about the same time, but many miles apart. Each boy was about 7 years of age, and each was named after the father of the other. Stephen Peacock was drowned at Yonkers, and George Peacock was drowned at Peekskill. Both went down in the Hudson about 7:30 o'clock. Each father sent a telegram to his brother telling him of the loss, and each father received it at the water's edge while aiding in the efforts to recover the body.

President McKinley's Letter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Occupied as the president has been with affairs in China he has been able to give very little thought to his letter of acceptance. Up to this time he has hardly made a beginning, but from now on he hopes to have more time to himself which he will devote to the letter. It is not expected, however, that it will be completed until some time after his return to Canton from his Chicago trip. In all probability the letter will be made public from Canton.

The Somerville Unionist-Gazette takes the Somerset county Board of Freeholders to task for its peculiar economy. The Gazette says: "Economy in public affairs is always commendable, but the Board of Freeholders seems to be stretching a point in some particulars this year, while not quite so careful in others. It has repeatedly refused to purchase a book typewriter for the Surrogate's office, though the machine makes the records much more intelligible, and is a great labor-saver. It held up the Sheriff's request for electric lights about the jail, even when he represented that it was necessary to the safety of prisoners. It passed, with much ill grace, a pill for medicines procured by Sheriff Schoonmaker for prisoners in the county jail. Now these county officers are supposed to be honest, competent men until they are shown to be otherwise, and we think it rather a small policy for the Freeholders to turn down these small bills which are necessary for the proper conduct of their offices, while they are paying big bills in some other directions."

According to the New York Hearld it costs about $25,000,000 to elect a president of the United States. The items for stationery, printing and dozens of other expenses are considerable, but the cost of oratory is the heaviest, and is set forth as follows: Each national committee spends at least $500,000 for speeches, and the state committees spend ten times as much more. There is one item of $11,000,000. The Republican national committee this year will send out 2,500 speakers from the headquarters in Chicago. The Democrats will send out an equal number. These speakers cost on an average $110 a week, that sum including salaries to the spellbinders and an expense allowance of $8 a day. Some of the campaign speakers receive salaries as high as $250 a week, while others are content with $25 a week and their expenses. The average cost of these speakers to the committee is $110 a week, and they are on the stump eight weeks.

The Newark Advertiser thinks that the control of the New Jersey Central by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, by the purchase of stock, is a probable event of the near future. It is remarkable that with the consolidation of railroad interests during the last decade that the Central should have remained unappropriated, says The Advertiser. The attempt by the Philadelphia and Reading to effect a lease of the road was defeated in our courts on the ground that the arrangement designed to make a coal-carrying monopoly was contrary to public policy. The monopoly was effected nevertheless in another way. If the Baltimore and Ohio acquires the Central the Jersey road will be the terminal part of a great trunk system, and will be greatly developed, as were the united railroads of New Jersey after their lease by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

According to the census office returns the population of Manhattan and Bronx boroughs of New York city foots up 2,050,600. Of this number 200,507 live in the district east of the Bronx River, which was annexed in 1898. The census return of New York for 1890 was 1,515,301, showing an increase in ten years of over 25 per cent.

The conference of the Republican county chairmen of the State, which was to have been held in Trenton today, has been postponed until next Tuesday in consequence of the death of Secretary A. S. Barber, of the State committee.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Woodbridge Strong's term as County Judge in Middlesex will expire next year, and it is said that his son, Theodore, a hustling lawyer politician, wants to be elected Senator in order to insure his father's reappointment. If he should succeed the Strong family would occupy a commanding position in the county, the father a Judge, one son a Senator, and the other son, Allan, the general counsel of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Alan is a very able lawyer, and has several times been mentioned in connection with a position on the Supreme Court Bench.—"Trenton" in New York Herald.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The tennis players of New York and vicinity, including Plainfield, are decidedly hard up for tennis balls. The recent destruction of the big establishment of Wright & Ditson, who make the best of the tennis balls, has caused a great scarcity of the supply. Most of the Plainfield dealers have sold out and the others have only a few left which will shortly disappear. Attempts to get more from the wholesale establishments in New York have been without success. Not only is the shortage in the Wright & Ditson balls but in all varieties and players are anxiously wondering when they are going to get any new ones. This shortage will only last a comparatively short time, however, as the the remaining factories will turn out enough in a week or two to equal the demand.

The collar manufacturers who are already at work making up the winter supply of collars for this country declare that there will be no important change in the style of collars during the coming winter. Last winter saw the high band turn down collars come into general use. Although they were made somewhat lower this summer they still continue to hold their place as the fashionable kind of neckwear. The turndown collar will be the really fashionable this winter and will grow a trifle in height over the summer styles. Many will continue to wear the collars of moderate height, however. The collar manufacturers are not particularly in favor of the turndown as it is considerably more expensive to them and they get nothing extra for it. The demand is so great that they are making up but comparatively few of the high collars. An attempt is being made to generally introduce the high band turndown collar for evening wear, but the regular high standup collar still prevails.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Yours for health, C. F. MYERS.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Aug. 17—As the result of an accident in the Jersey City yards Wednesday, John Logan, of the borough, is detained at home with injuries of a rather serious nature. Mr. Logan is engineer of a Mauch Chunk train, but was working extra in the yards with a "bobtail" engine. In some way it jumped the track and Mr. Logan was thrown against a tool box. He was quite badly hurt about the chest and arms but was able to be assisted home. He is now under the care of Dr. Brakeley, but it will be some time before he will be able to return to work. The injured man is the engineer who narrowly escaped in the wreck at Bound Brook a few weeks ago. Mr. Logan's engine ran into an open switch and plunged into a sand bank. He escaped injury by jumping.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

At Music Hall next Tuesday Murray and Mack, the well-known and favorite Irish comedians, will appear in this city in their latest successful "Finnigan's 400," a bright and plausible comedy from the pen of Geo. H. Emerick. This season these favorites come with the most pretentious company they have yet carried, both in number and talent, and with a display of scenery rarely ever seen on a tour with a farce comedy. They have already become recognized as leaders in their specialties, and they also essay to become leaders in their style of entertainment and the fact that they are extensively imitated speaks volumes not only in praise, but to encourage them that they are on the right track. A few short years ago Irish farces were almost unknown on the American stage, but since Murray and Mack's enormous success in their different plays, the several cities which send forth companies seems to be incubators for not only Irish farces, but Irish comedians. "Finnigan's 400" is a farce in three acts, an interesting story, chuck full of good specialties. The singing department is especially fine, numbering among the company some excellent voices. The costuming of the ladies is gorgeous, and the blending of colors is something wonderful.

What promises to be one of the big theatrical events of the season is the presentation at Music Hall, Friday, 31st inst., of playwright Hoyt's famous musical comedy, "A Trip to Chinatown." The piece is without doubt the most popular and most successful ever written. Those who have seen "Chinatown" will be agreeably surprised in this season's production, as it is announced that it is distinctly different from any previous presentation. Critics are unanimous in the verdict that the new "Trip to Chinatown" is in every way superior to any previous Hoytian production.

ACCESSORIES.

Pretty Cravats of Various Sorts and Adjustable Trimmings.

Cravats are of every possible variety. For example, there is the great "Sans Gene" bow of turquoise moire with a deep ruffle of fine guipure de venise; then the cravat of black satin ribbon with a bow of many coques and fluffily ornamented ends, intended to show in the opening of a bolero. Also there is the scarf of black silk crepon, the ends of which are ornamened with incrustations of white lace.

Trimmings of lace, ribbon or mousseline de soie will give an effect of elegance to the simplest gown. When the latter is of wash materials, the decorations may be lightly tacked in place so that they can be easily removed when the gown is to be laundered.

A new corsage consists entirely of little bands of open insertion, through which is threaded black velvet baby ribbon. This may be replaced by delicately tinted satin ribbon.

The illustration shows a dress of brown alpaca for a little girl. The skirt is gathered at the back and the tablier is outlined by pipings of white silk. The blouse bodice closes at the left side, where the edge is cut in points and each point is fastened by a pearl button. The high collar and guimpe are of tucked white silk, and there is a wide collar of guipure. The plain sleeves have guipure cuffs. The belt is of alpaca piped with white silk. The hat of brown straw is trimmed with pale blue ribbon and black quills.

THE MODE.

Hats of Various Kinds—The Manifold Uses of Taffeta.

Straw hats are of all varieties, and straws are now braided and manipulated in so soft and flexible a manner that they may be twisted and draped into any form. There are also large flats of horse hair braid, sometimes with and sometimes without a crown, which are as supple as cloth. A great deal of light trimming is used for these hats—great ruches of tulle, draperies of mousseline de soie, turban scarfs of thin taffeta and clouds of tulle.

For the seaside large capotes of mousseline de soie have reappeared. These shelter the face a great deal, as also do the large, bulbous crowned hats with a brim consisting of double or triple shirred ruffles of gauze, lace or printed taffeta.

Taffeta continues to play an important role, alone or combined with transparent materials. The mode has become daring and there are entire tailor made costumes of taffeta and straight sacks also, in beige and gray, like those of covert cloth.

The cut shows an empire gown of pale pink accordion plaited mousseline de soie over pink silk. The bodice is a sort of crossed bolero of guipure de venise, ornamented with a bright pink ribbon, which runs through a band of wide beading. The collar and the bow with long ends are of cherry ribbon. The sleeves, of elbow length, are of guipure, terminating in a double frill of plaited white mousseline de soie and a cherry bow. Mousseline frills also finish the collar.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 19—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The woes of the drunkard.—Prov. xxiii, 29-35. (Quarterly temperance meeting.)

From the day of the shame and disgrace that came upon Noah, the patriarch, as a result of drunkenness the woes of the drunkard have been unceasing, and intemperance has universally willed its awful legacies to humanity. The drunkard has not ceased to have woes, sorrows, contentions, babblings, wounds, which otherwise he would not have had, and redness of eyes. If all the woes of the world that have been the result of strong drink could be marshaled before our eyes, what a vision of horrors it would be ours to look upon! Who could endure the sight? It would be appalling in its awfulness, and the strongest nerves would be shattered at such a picture. Yet the world goes on making and selling intoxicating drinks, manufacturing drunkards, who as inevitably as the sun shines must some time taste the drunkard's woes! We cannot but exclaim, "O man, how long, how long will you go on in such a destructive way?" and "O Lord, how long, how long will this manufacture of human woes be suffered to go on?" Let us pray and labor in season and out of season for the overthrow of the traffic which makes the woes of the drunkard possible.

1. The drunkard endures physical woes. What physical woes the man brings upon himself who becomes a drunkard! The trembling limbs, the fetid breath, the reddened eyes, the shallow cheeks, speak to us of physical woes which only experience could make it possible for us to appreciate.

2. The drunkard endures mental woes. The physical woes of the drunkard, bad as they are, are not to be compared to his mental ones. What tortures the human mind must endure as a result of this awful, cursed habit! Who could picture the mental anguish of the drunkard? Who could describe the horrors of delirium tremens or all the lesser mental woes that result from the intemperate use of strong drink? They are indescribable. They cannot be comprehended except by those who have suffered them, and may this number grow constantly less until none shall know what these horrors mean.

3. The drunkard endures woes of conscience. How conscience must—yea, does—lash the drunkard in his sobering and sober hours! At times it may be lulled to sleep, but now and again it is aroused like a sleeping lion, and the pains of hell will scarcely be harder to bear than the sufferings of the conscience stricken drunkard, who realizes the consequences of his actions not only to himself, but to his loved ones and his sin against his God.

4. The drunkard will suffer eternal woes. Drunkenness separates from God not only here, but hereafter. "The drunkard shall not enter into heaven." The Scripture pronounces his future doom. Let us not only strive to avoid such woes ourselves, but to keep others from them, and to reclaim by the power of the gospel those who have come under the power of this demon of strong drink.

BIBLE READINGS.

Lev. x, 8-11; Num. vi, 1-4; Deut. xxi, 18-21; Prov. xx, 1; Isa. v, 11; xxviii, 1-4; Math. v, 13-16; Luke xii, 45, 46; I Cor. v, 11; Gal. v, 19-26.

Grit and Grip.

Grit and grip are small but significant words. They mean much when embodied in action. He in whom they find illustration is no weakling or failure. He is animated by an invincible spirit and by a steady grasp of the situation. He holds on under difficulty and masters opposition. He endures and triumphs. Grit and grip are needed in all life's relations, but especially in the pulpit. The modern preacher must stand by God's truth loyally and firmly and present it fully and faithfully, come what may. He is to show special tenacity and adherence to the gospel at a time when many are calling for something else and when his mettle as a loving, zealous and fearless embassador of Jesus Christ is being tested.—Presbyterian.

Opportunities.

Opportunities, like everything else, are only of value as one uses them. There is no memory so unforgiving as a scorned opportunity. Like the furies of mythology, it follows on with whips and scorpions. Psyche looks upon Cupid's face but once. Utility alone is possession. The buried talent becomes the property of him who will use it.—Presbyterian Journal.

By Faith.

The night is dark, and alone I tread
The way, yet not alone;
The clouds that lower overhead
Across the moon are blown.
I onward go and do not fear,
With footsteps firm and light;
I whisper words of sweetest cheer—
By faith and not by sight.

Oh, how I thank Him that the way,
Though unto me unknown,
He knows! And through the clouds the ray
Of light is o'er me thrown.
I simply hold His guiding hand,
And, although dark the night,
I trust—nor care to understand—
For faith surpasses sight.

Oh, could I know each ill that waits
Upon my onward road,
I'd bow beneath the heavy weights
Of sorrow's weary load!
His grace suffices every need,
And nothing can affright
The soul that on his manna feeds
And walks by faith, not sight.

God's way is always the best way;
His will I now make mine;
His peace doth fill my heart each day
With harmony divine.
I simply trust because I know
God's plans are always right,
And willingly, where'er I go,
I'll walk by faith, not sight.

—Mrs. A. J. Parvia.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 19, "The Woes of the Drunkard." Text, Prov. xxiii, 29-35.

"At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

From ancient times the evil effects of alcoholic liquors have not changed. Some kinds may be more dangerous than others, but all kinds are too dangerous to be used as a beverage. No man can safely use them except in case of extreme necessity and then under the most skilled medical advice. Even in such cases there arise questions as to the risk run. Some persons would better die than use alcoholics under any circumstances. Cases of reformed persons are not rare where a dose of brandy or other spirits would be almost certain to awaken an old appetite and result in a return to former courses of drunkenness. Better for such a one to refuse to use it even as a medicine than to invite almost certain ruin.

The Workingmen's Problem.

The saloon question has long been the storm center of the temperance movement. All attempts to control it by legislation thus far have failed to reach the desired end. License and prohibition have both proved inadequate to restrict.

The plea for the saloon has been that it is the poor man's club and he has as much right to his social enjoyment as the rich man in his club. The saloon is largely supported by workingmen. All attempts to suppress it by showing its great cost and the poverty it brings on the poor man's family by squandering of wages, by violence and vice as a result of drunkenness have accomplished little comparatively. In spite of all reform efforts the evil grows. Vice, crime, distress, disease, discontent, increase enormously.

One new element, however, appears and gives hope. Workingmen's unions are becoming a power in the industrial world. The laborers of every kind are banding together in stronger association than ever was before known. They are becoming associated and federated for help in cases of need. When any trade is refused its rights and a strike is ordered, the union assists to support the strikers. But the questions have arisen: Shall drinking men be helped? Shall the funds of the society be used to help the family of the men out of work only, or shall the saloon also be allowed to get a share? Some trades unions are making total abstinence a feature of their associations. If this can be enlarged, we have in it a far greater power for the suppression of the saloon than any which has hitherto appeared.

Let the workingmen have their benevolent and co-operative societies and aid each other. A proper regard for safety will suggest that help cannot be given any family to be spent in beer and whisky, but all assistance must be for food, shelter and the necessaries of life. Success to all unions which help the laboring man to a wider, higher, purer life! The hand of help is the hand of strength.

Liquors In Army and Navy.

Until recent years it was supposed that sailors could not do without their grog. It was custom to issue rations of liquor to the men after exposure to storm or after any unusually severe exertion. In the navy the seamen and marines were by law entitled to draw their liquors as regularly as food. The opinion had been growing for years that grog was demoralizing in the service, and its issue has been discontinued in the navy by order of the secretary of the navy. If men get it now, they must get it ashore and not from the government. Its use is discountenanced.

In the army there has been a growing demand for the abolition of its sale to soldiers under government sanction. At most military posts and encampments there is a canteen or store where supplies of various sorts are sold the men. Liquors have usually been sold also. Congress passed a law intended to put a stop to the sale of alcoholic liquors at such places. By a singular decision the attorney general of the United States advised the president in such a way that the sale is still allowed in spite of the plain intention of the law. This miscarriage of the anticanteen law, as it is called, has aroused much adverse criticism all over the country. The general conference adopted a strong temperance report in which it expressed the sentiment of the church in plain language as utterly opposed to the participation of the government in the liquor traffic.

League President.

The general conference appoints the president of the board of control, who is always a bishop. Bishop W. X. Ninde has filled the office during the last quadrennium and retired in May, when Bishop Isaac W. Joyce was elected to the position.

Telling the Rest.

"They told the eleven and all the rest."
We are ready to tell the eleven,
With faces and hearts aglow,
That the Lord has indeed arisen
And before His own doth go,
Through the old Gallilean places,
To the mountain of sacred tryst,
To tell so fair an evangel
Were a joy not willingly missed.

We are eager to tell the eleven
How He sat with us at meat,
And we scarce could speak for gladness
As the air grew strangely sweet;
Thenceforth not a loaf unbroken
Or a cup with its wine unshed
But shall bring back the hour the Saviour
Was known in the breaking of bread.

And still we tell the eleven,
While unknowing and unconsoled,
Vast kindreds, tongues and peoples
Are heirs of a tale untold.
In the white light of death and judgment,
Sufficeth it then to attest,
"We told the eleven, dear Master,
But we told not 'all the rest!'"

—Louise M. Hodgkins.

MONSTER PROJECTILE.

Huge Shell to Be Thrown by Uncle Sam's Biggest Gun, Built for Harbor Defense.

Larger than any gun in the world is that just finished at the Watervliet arsenal for the defense of New York harbor. This giant piece of ordnance, which weighs 126 tons and is 49 feet long, has been described before this, but some facts concerning its projectiles cannot fail to interest scientific readers.

The heaviest shell now fired by an American gun weighs 1,150 pounds, but this monster will use a projectile weighing 2,370 pounds, the caliber of the new gun being 16 inches. This shell will have a height of about five feet six inches, and the cartridge added to this makes a length of nine feet. Two types of shell will be made, one known as common shell fitted with a base fuse and carrying an explosive, which latter will consist either of black powder or guncotton, and the other known as armor-piercing shell. The armor-piercing shells will have caps fitted over their points and will not carry any explosive charges. The latter shells are intended, as their name indicates, wholly for armor-piercing work.

When an enemy's ship attempts to force a passage into New York harbor, common shells, carrying black powder or guncotton charges, will be employed at long range, but if the ship continues to approach she will be met with armor-piercing shell. It is calculated that an energy of 64,000 foot-tons will be developed by the force of impact of one of these great shells. At 2,000 yards' distance, the shock of a 16-inch shell has been figured out as equivalent to the blow of a 6,000-ton ship (almost the size of the battleship Texas) striking at a speed of 16 knots per hour. Nothing in the shape of wood, iron and steel has ever been devised that can withstand such a frightful impact.

As for the range, it is calculated that the new 16-inch gun is capable of throwing a shell weighing 2,370 pounds a distance of 21 miles. The force at the muzzle would lift 64 of the biggest freight locomotives six feet in the air.—Philadelphia Record.

FOREIGN SUBSTANCES.

To Remove Them from the Eye, Don't Wink or Rub, But Dash Water In Lightly.

A natural instinct impels a person who feels pain or irritation to rub the affected spot. When some trifing object gets under the eyelid, one is tempted to rub the exterior of the lid, and thus unconsciously imbed the object in the inner surface, thus rendering its ultimate removal more difficult. Another almost irresistible impulse prompts one to wink. This operation is apt to have the same effect. If the lid be promptly turned inside out, though, danger from both of these causes will be avoided, and the discovery of the mischief making particle may be promoted. It is better to have some one else do the hunting, but if a looking glass is at hand perhaps the victim can see well enough with the other eye to find the object in question. A correspondent of the Scientific American makes these suggestions:

Gently hold the eye open with the fingers and thumb of one hand, while with the other hand dash light handfuls of water in and across it, so as to produce a current of water flowing over all the surface of the eye, and the under side of the lids. The effect of this almost invariably is to push the intruding object from the eye.

The eye should not be rubbed or one lid drawn over the other, or a silk handkerchief drawn across the affected part, but the eye should be kept from winking as much as possible, while prompt action is being taken to cause a current of water to pass over the surface of the ball.

This method is a copy from nature, for when very fine dust enters the eye nature seeks to relieve it by means of the fluids which moisten and lubricate the eye, and when larger objects enter, and cling more tenaciously, the irritation causes a copious discharge of tears, so that the eye overflows, as nature tries by flushing it to propel along and float away with the current the cause of the irritation.

The Origin of Skates.

The first skates were made out of the bones of animals. Sometimes children would sit on the jawbones of a horse or cow and propel themselves along the ice by means of iron staves.

Wheels in Indian Army.

In India mounted officers traveling by rail on temporary duty may, if they prefer it, take a bicycle with them at government expense, in lieu of a charger.

The Progress of ROAD Building in AMERICA

National Efforts at the Construction of Great Interstate Highways and the Results

THE history of road building in the United States parallels in but few particulars the road history of the other great civilized nations of the world, and in many respects our highways bear but slight resemblance to those of the older countries. There is little doubt that had the first settlers arrived in this country when the Roman empire was at the zenith of its glory our republic would now be bound together with a perfect system of magnificently constructed highways, but when America was settled by the English, in the early part of the seventeenth century, the mother country was still using those systems in road building which it had inherited from the dark ages.

The Britons neglected the roads which had been made by the Romans, and, failing to build new ones, their country for centuries was provided with only bridle paths or at most with narrow highways for small carts. These highways were, except in dry weather, practically impassable, and in the sparsely settled districts much of the travel had to be carried on by means of pack animals. The idea of a central control of road systems, which is the only means by which any extended work has ever been accomplished, had died out in the middle ages and had not at this time been revived.

The first settlements in the United States were naturally located along the seashore and upon the banks of navigable streams. Narrow and mysterious Indian trails led from the settlements along the coast to the interior, and aside from an occasional rude path beside some stream or along the coast, these were the only lines of communication up to the end of the seventeenth century. Indeed, for a century after the settlement at Plymouth Rock there were few roads in this country over which goods or passengers could be transported in wagons or carriages.

The first great American road which the historian tells anything about was laid out in 1711, and ran from New York to Philadelphia. Its antiquity, and the fact that it connected these two cities, gave to it the name "The Old York Road." The opening of roads was an important affair in those days; money was more scarce than it is now, and doubtless it was more of an undertaking to construct roads than it is to build the railways of today. By studying the history of the Old York road we at once realize the potency of the adage that "the history of roads is the history of civilization." The Indian trail, the blazed trees and the footpath, followed by the bridle road for pack trains, and then the rough roads for carts and wagons, which were subsequently graded and paved, making a more easy means of transportation, are all stepping stones to higher degrees of civilization.

The making of turnpike roads by chartered companies was inaugurated in the last quarter of the eighteenth century with the advance of population to the west. State and national charters were given to many turnpike companies, which at first yielded large profits to capitalists.

The Wilderness turnpike was the name of one of the earliest of these roads. From the Shenandoah valley, in Virginia, it followed for some distance the Holston river; thence it crossed the Allegheny mountains at Cumberland Gap to central Kentucky. This route was opened at first for pack trains, but afterwards was so improved that it became the main road for wagon trains from Virginia to the valley of the Ohio. A large commerce was carried on between Virginia and the west over this highway, and it proved very advantageous to Kentucky and adjacent states in their early settlement and development. During the first decade of this century the Wilderness turnpike was the best highway south of the Potomac river; but soon the traffic began to decrease and the revenues became so limited that it was neglected. For years, however, the tollgates were maintained and travelers were required to pay a toll of $2 on passing the gates, which were 70 miles apart, although tools frequently had to be carried in the vehicle with which to repair the portions of the road that were impassable.

The desire to speculate in those days was as great as it is now, and such were the profits of some of these roads that they were often the subject of speculation. A notable example of this is shown by the organization of a company in 1792 to build a turnpike from Philadelphia to Lancaster, Pa., a distance of 60 miles. The charter was secured, and in ten days 2,275 subscribers made application for stock. As this was more than the law allowed, the names were placed in a lottery wheel and 600 were drawn; with these subscriptions the work began. The road builders of that day knew little or nothing regarding the construction of highways, and the mistakes made on this occasion taught them some valuable lessons. The land was condemned, the trees felled, and the roadbed prepared. The largest stones that could be found were dumped upon it for a foundation, and upon this colossal base earth and gravel were spread; then the work was declared complete; but when the washing rains came deep holes appeared on every hand, sharp stones protruded from the surface, and the horses received scratched and broken limbs as they sank between the bowlders up to their knees. The gigantic error of the road builders was then made plain. Indignation meetings were held, at which the turnpike company was condemned and the legislature blamed for giving the charter. Had it not been for an Englishman who offered to rebuild the turnpike on the macadam plan, as he had seen roads built in the old country, improved road construction would have received a severe blow. The Englishman's proposition was accepted by the company, and he was successful in completing the Lancaster and Philadelphia turnpike road, which was then declared to be "the best piece of highway in the United States—a masterpiece of its kind."

CROSSING ON THE OLD CUMBERLAND ROAD AT SUMMERSVILLE, PA.

Early in the present century, with the movement started in England by Telford and Macadam in favor of broken-stone roads, the importance of improved roads for military, postal and commercial purposes began to be widely appreciated. Road reform assumed such proportions that it was advocated by many of the great patriots of the day; indeed, the movement waxed so strong in this country that it became one of the leading questions of national politics, and was supported by such statesmen as Thomas Jefferson, John C. Calhoun and Henry Clay. Next to the tariff, it was one of the most important subjects under consideration in congress.

Those who believed in a liberal construction of the constitution were favorable to the building of roads by the general government, while the strict constructionists denied the power of the government to spend money for any such internal improvements. During President Jefferson's second term the bill admitting Ohio as a state, passed April 30, 1802, contained a provision setting apart five per cent. of the net proceeds from the sale of public lands in that state to the building of public roads leading from the navigable waters emptying into the Atlantic to and through the state of Ohio—three per cent. for road making within the state and two per cent. for highways outside the state. Such roads were to be laid out under the authority of congress and with the consent of the states through which they would pass.

In 1806 the sale of public lands in Ohio had amounted to over $600,000, and after some discussion in both houses of congress a bill appropriating $30,000 was passed. The construction of the so-called Cumberland road was then begun. From Cumberland, Md., it was to extend through southwestern Pennsylvania and over the Allegheny mountains to the Ohio at Wheeling, W. Va., and then on to St. Louis, Mo. It was constructed after the principles advocated by Telford and Macadam, and was so well built that it is yet a good road, although it has since passed into the hands of the states in which it was located, and has not been systematically repaired for years.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The weekly contests for the president's cup and the green committee challenge trophy are regular features at the Park Golf Club course Saturday afternoons. Tomorrow will be no exception to the rule. With Morgan T. Townsend away, there is likely to be a shakeup in the contest for the president's cup and some changes in the order of the contestants. For the other trophy, Thiers will meet Edgar I. Serrell as William A. Townsend, the next chalenger is out of town and will have to default his match.

Several great four-ball golf matches have been held on the links of the two local clubs this month despite the hot weather and the fact that many of the cracks are out of town. Several of these interclub matches have attracted no end of attention. One of the hardest fought was between W. J. R. Thiers and Club Expert Andrew D. Blair, from the Park Golf Club, on one side and Frank Reinhart and M. D. Brown, the Hillside Club professional, on the other. The match was played on the Park Club links and the Park Club players finished three up and two to go. Thiers and Blair then went over to the Hillside Club where they were defeated by W. L. Glenney and Brown by exactly the same score. Another match is likely to be arranged in the fall to settle the question of superiority.

One of the most important matches in the East Jersey Golf Association is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon when the team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will go to Elizabeth to meet the team from the Town and Country Club of that city. The Hillside team now leads with the Elizabeth players tied for second with East Orange. A defeat for the Hillside team and victory for Elizabeth will tie the two teams for first place in the league. R. M. Shepard, captain of the Hillside Club team, is absent from town at present, and Morris Dumont will act in his place tomorrow. The players who will compose the team will probably be Morris Dumont, W. L. Glenney, Howard Wright, J. H. P Wharton and Dr. B. Van D. Hedges. The course is a fairly good one, longer than the Hillside course however, but the regular pace of the Plainfield cracks should give them victory over Elizabeth's best.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

George Wear, who was captain of the O. N.T. hand polo team, of Dover, N. J., which won the State championship for two years, is now employed at the Pond Tool Works and expects to organize a hand polo team to represent Plainfield this winter. The games will probably be played in Washington Hall. R. M. Stickle, of the Union County Standard, Westfield, who played first rush on the O. N. T. team at Dover, will fill his old position on the proposed Plainfield team.

Letter carriers Daniel Shea and Thomas Burns are jubilant over their victory in winning the quoit match with Officers Lunger and Saunders at the Omer C. Moore clambake Wednesday. The question of superiority between the two teams has been in discussion amongst their fellow carriers and officers for some time. The odds have been in favor of the policemen, as it has always been Lunger's favorite game. To the astonishment of the spectators, however, Uncle Sam's boys defeated the blue coats by a score of 21 to 20. Lunger and Saunders are very much dissatisfied with the result, and are trying to make arrangements for another game to be held Labor Day.

TENNIS

Hardly a pleasant afternoon passes by but there is a gathering of tennis enthusiasts on the court of J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue. A little contest in doubles has been arranged for August and September in which J. Hervey Doane and Vincent B. Miner are now the leaders.

The proposed handicap tournament of the Westfield Club has been postponed until later in the season. It may be played on Labor Day when many of the tennis experts of Westfield and vicinity will be home from their vacations. A series of team matches have been proposed with the Knickerbocker Athletic Club of Bayonne and final details are being arranged. Thomas U. Smith, ot this city, has been chosen as one of the team to represent the Westfield Club.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The New Brunswick Bicycle Club is arranging for a lawn fete about the middle of the month, and a splendid entertainment is being arranged.

About twelve members of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. enjoyed a bicycle run to this city last evening and were entertained by the local association. They enjoyed a refreshing plunge in the pool after which they spent a pleasant hour in the gymnasium. The start for home was made about 10 o'clock.

LITERARY.

Rev. Dr. D. Z. Sheffield, president of the North China College and Mission at Tung-chau, near Peking, was in America when the Boxer riots began, but immediately prepared to return to his post. Before sailing from SanFrancisco, late in June, he learned of the burning of his college. Dr. Sheffield left behind him the manuscript of an article which will appear in the September Century under the title of "The Influence of the Western World on China." As a result of the author's thirty years' experience as a missionary, he is said to argue strongly against the dismemberment of the Middle Kingdom.

Flagstone Bridge Broken.

One of the flagstone bridges to the gutter at the intersection of Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, was broken by a passing carriage yesterday morning. It left a bad hole and a number of wheelmen had narrow escapes from tumbling into the hole. A gang of men from the street department repaired the damage yesterday afternoon before any accident did occur.

The Pond Tool Works nine will cross bats with the New Providence team on the Clinton avenue grounds tomorrow. This promises to be an exciting game as the teams are evenly matched and the Providence team won a former game.

SOMERSET STREET ORDERED WIDENED.

Borough Council Finally Adopts the Ordinance Authorizing the Improvement.

NO ONE OBJECTED TO IT.

STREET COMMITTEE TO ASCERTAIN COST OF NECESSARY PROPERTY.

Mayor Smalley Says the Storm Sewer Will Not be Established at This Time—Electric and Telephone Wires Underground.

The Mayor and Borough Council did not tarry long last evening in transacting the business on hand, and the adjourned meeting was a short one. All the members were present except Mr. Swackhammer. There were two communications received. The first one was from A. V. Searing, Jr., H.H. Webb and E. E. Winckler, of Westervelt avenue, asking the Council to correct the numbering of the houses on that avenue. This was referred to the committee on laws, ordinance and and taxation, of which Mr. Swackhammer is the chairman.

The second communication was from Chief W. G. Debele and S. B. Joseph, of the fire department, as a committtee of arrangements for the trip the firemen expect to take October 2d, when they will be the guests of Phœnix Hose Company, No. 3, of New Brunswick, at a firemen's parade. The committee cordially invited the Mayor and Council to be their guests that day. The invitation was received with thanks.

At this time progress was made in the preliminary work of the proposed improvement of the widening of Somerset street. Clerk Rowley presented an affidavit showing that the ordinance had been advertised and posted according to law. He also stated that no objections had been received in writing. This was followed with a resolution by Mr. Clark which gave anyone present an opportunity to object to the proposed improvement. There being no one present to object, Mr. Clark offered another resolution that inasmuch as proper notice of the adoption of the ordinance and the public hearing on the same had been given, and that no objections having been received, that it was the sense of the council that the ordinance be adopted and the work executed. This was followed with another resolution that the committee on streets be authorized to ascertain the lowest price for which property needed in making the improvement can be purchased, and report the same at the next meeting of the council.

It was stated by Mayor Smalley, in answer to a question, that the storm sewer proposed would not be installed at this time in widening Somerset street, as the law provides that it will have to be done under another act. A slight change has been made in the map between Craig place and Green brook, and it is proposed to lay a block pavement in the gutter so that when the time comes for installing the sewer it can be done at less expense. The cause for this delay arises from the fact that at present it cannot be determined which way the surface water should be drained. It may be found wiser to run it from Jackson avenue toward the brook at Greenbrook road. The Mayor stated that the telephone and electric light wires would be placed underground, that poles would be removed and unnecessary trees cut down.

After the bills were ordered paid by a resolution offered by Mr. Rogers, the Council adjourned.

New By-law Unpopular.

A new-by-law adopted by the Westfield Hook and Ladder Company at the last meeting of the company is making a stir among the members who are out of town during the day. Heretofore a member whose business called him out of town during the day was excused from attending calls to fires, while the man in town was fined if he was not reported present. The new by-law makes no distinction, so if a member is in New York when there is a fire he must pay a fine. The town men approve the by-law; the others objected to it.

Fire Alarm Wire to Garwood.

The Westfield Township Committee has secured permission to string the fire alarm wire to Garwood on the telephone poles. H. B. Miller commenced the work of putting up the wire yesterday.

CYCLE THIEF GROWS BOLD.

E. J. Davis, of New Market, the Latest Victim—Left Wheel in Front of Y. M. C. A. Building.

The bicycle thief is growing bolder. He found a Featherstone wheel belonging to E. J. Davis, of New Market, standing in front of the Y. M.C.A. building yesterday afternoon. Now Mr. Davis is mourning the loss of his bicycle. The theft took place about three o'clock while Davis was inside. The wheel was No. 26,027. It was equipped with turndown handle bars, Hunt saddle and tool bag. It was geared to 84 As with the other disappearances of wheels, there is no clue to the thief. This is the third wheel stolen from in front of the Y. M. C. A. building within a year.

Court Interpreter Vindicated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 18.—Vincent Daniels, the Union county court interpreter, was vindicated by a jury in the Elizabeth District Court, which gave Interpreter Daniels a verdict for $50 and costs against Pasqualle Balzano, an Italian grocer, who accused Daniels of trying to rob him of $1,134. Daniel's version of the case, which the jury believed, was that Balzano was intoxicated, and Daniels was justified in locking him up for safe-keeping. The counter-suit for the false arrest, which the grocer brought against the interpreter, was also tried yesterday and the same jury gave a verdit of no cause for action.

Two Bayonne Men Missing.

The police have been notified of the disappearance on July 24th last of John E. Lindquist and George Couch, of Bayonne. On the afternoon of the day they disappeared the two men set sail from Bayonne in a sloop-rigged boat named "Surprise." Nothing has since been heard of them. Lindquist is described as a man 50 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, high cheek bones, sandy hair, mustache and side whiskers, and weight 148 pounds. Couch, his companion, is 26 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, light hair, smooth face, and weighs 135 pounds.

The Reasons Why.

The question is often asked why the Hope chapel Sunday-school excursion to the seashore always takes place on a Saturday. We have heard two reasons, both good. The first, that the wage-earners who go lose half-day's pay only; the other, that they are not worrying all day long about going to work next day. They go to Asbury Park next Saturday, August 25th. See ad.

Wm. Shaw, formerly of this city, who has been visiting his brother, R. J. Shaw, of East Second street, returned home yesterday.

TO HEAR LAND-OWNERS.

NECESSARY PROCEEDINGS TO THE WIDENING OF WESTFIELD AVE.

Judge Swayze to Listen to the Objections at Elizabeth on the Morning of August 22d.

When the report of the commissioners appointed to assess the damages suffered by owners of property to be taken for the widening of Westfield avenue was filed in the county clerk's office recently, it was announced that the court would name a day for a public hearing, at which time any objections to the confirmation of the report would be listened to.

Justice VanSyckel was to issue the order for the hearing, and it was stated due notice would be given to all persons interested. There has been many inquiries as to the date of this hearing since, and it was not learned until recently that the order had been issued.

The hearing will take place at the courthouse on the morning of August 22d, and Judge Swayze, of Newark, will preside in place of Justice VanSyckel, who named the commission.

The awards are on property only from Elizabeth to the easterly line of Cranford, which, for the present, is as far as the improvement will go. The awards were made upon ninety pieces of property, and aggregate about $74,000.

A GLIB TONGUE HE HAS.

Young Man Who Claimed to be Heir to a Fortune Has Been Living Like a Prince.

A number of hotel keepers, liverymen and other merchants in this city and vicinity are just awakening to the fact that they eave been badly duped by a glib young man, who has been making Plainfield his home for the past few months. So far those who have been caught have made no complaint, being content with trying to grin and bear their losses. On comparing notes, his victims were found to be so numerous that the wonder is how he worked his game so long without being discovered.

With the aid of a smooth tongue and a few bogus telegrams and credentials, the young man has represented himself as being heir to a fortune of several thousand dollars which he was to receive in a few months. On the strength of these he has been trusted for suppers, rigs, clothes and everything else for which the average youth craves. Upon being asked for the payment of some of the bills by a few of the more venturesome creditors, he put them off with the plausible tale that he was to secure the money in a few days.

The money has not yet arrived and at present there is no likelihood of its doing so. The young man is now among the missing and the victims are congratulating themselves that the bills are not larger than they are although a few of them amount to a considerable sum.

Wants $1,000 for Loss of a Well.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 18—A suit for $1,000 damages for being deprived of the use of a well has been commenced in the Union County Circuit Court by Mrs. Mabelia O'Neill and her husband, Thomas O'Neill, against Freeholder Jacob Bruckiacher, of this city. The plaintiff and defendants own adjoining land, and the well in dividing line. The O'Neill's claim when they purchased their property the right to have free access to the well and the use of the water was included in the agreement, but since October, 1895, Freeholder Bruckiacher has prevented them from obtaining water, and has also blocked up a path which led from their land to the well.

No Money to Pay Railroad Fare.

James Verner wanted to go from Philadelphia to Elizabeth and lacked the necessary funds. So he stole a ride on the train which passed through here at 2:14 o'clock this morning. The police found him and locked him up until 9 o'clock when he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon. He had little to say but that little sounded straight enough and the Judge suspended sentence.

Apples and Hard Names.

The trial of Emma Ammon and Julia and Eva Killoren, which was set down to come before City Judge Runyon this morning, was adjourned for a week at the request of William G. DeMeza, counsel for the accused. The three are charged by Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Miller with hurling apples and hard names at the latter persons on Elm place last Monday.

WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN WITH BANNER RAISING

Formal Event Which Will Mark Beginning of G. O. P. Effort in National Campaign.

SOMETIME IN SEPTEMBER

PLANS WILL BE MADE AT SEPTEMBER MEETING OF COMMITTEE.

Too Hot to Talk Politics Now, but Lively Times Will Start Here as Soon as the Cool Weather Reaches This Section.

The August meeting of the Republican city executive committee should have been held last Tuesday evening, but a special meeting the Thursday evening before took the place of it and the Republican leaders of the city will not gather again until the second Tuesday in September. At that meeting active measures for the National campaign will be taken, and the local Republicans will settle down to work.

As far as the public is concerned, the campaign will be formally opened with a banner raising. The local organization of the G. O. P. is going to have a handsome banner, with the pictures of the candidates on it, which will be strung across one of the principal thoroughfares where all may see. The location of the banner has not yet been determined, but it will probably be either on North avenue or on Park avenue in front of the Republican headquarters.

No details for the banner raising have yet been arranged save for the decision that such an event will mark the beginning of activity for the local machine. There will be some speaking, of course, and plenty of cheering and colored fire. It will probably be followed by a series of mass meetings at Music Hall, where some of the leading Republican orators of this State and others will try to explain to their hearers why it is their duty to support the Republican party at the coming National election.

A new feature of this campaign will be the enrollment of the Republican voters of the city, which will prove of great value in getting out the vote election day. It will also be very useful before that time at the party primaries.

It is yet entirely too warm to talk politics and even the most enthusiastic of the Republican workers haven't begun their campaign arguments. The day isn't very far distant, however, when the political questions will be the all absorbing topics of the day and the adherents in this city of the two leading political parties will be in heated arguments over the relative merits of their respective parties.

According to the statement of the manufacturers there will be any quantity of buttons and campaign insignias on the market this year. The dealers believe that the demand will be even greater than it was four years ago. They are all on the lookout for novel devices and the inventors of cheap, but popular schemes of decoration are likely to make lots of money.

WATER CAUSED A FIRE.

Boiled Over on to Oil Flame Which Blazed up and Ignited Woodwork.

The North Plainfield fire department was called out yesterday afternoon by an alarm from box 156, at the corner of Harrison and Cedar streets. The fire was in the home of Johnson Wilson, on Walnut street. Mrs. Wilson had left some clothes in a boiler on an oil stove and had left the room. The water boiled over on the stove causing the flame to flare up and catch some woodwork. The blaze was discovered in time to prevent a serious conflagration, but not before it had caused $25 damage. Good work was done by the boys of the West End house as the fire was only a short distance away and they were quickly on the spot.

WALL MUST BE REBUILT.

POOR CEMENT CAUSES TROUBLE ON WORK OF NEW DEPOT.

When the Foundation was Finished it was Found That it Would Not Stand the Test.

Nearly three-fourths of the entire foundation for the new depot was discovered to be defective yesterday and will have to be entirely rebuilt. The foundation had been completed and was being tested by the contractor, Titus Laury, and Architect Gilbert when the former discovered that the lower portion had not set, making the wall unsafe.

The trouble was not caused through any negligence on the part of Mr. Laury, but on account of a defect in part of the cement used by him.

When the contract was first signed he ordered a car load of the best cement from out to town, but owing to some delay, it did not arrive until after work had commenced. In order to keep the men at work until it came, Mr. Laury purchased fifty barrels from a local dealer which was used on the lower part of the wall. The car load arriving later the top of the foundation was completed with it and the defect in the previous material was not discovered until the test was made. For some reason the mortar made from the fifty barrels of cement would not set and the whole wall, with the exception of the eastern end of the entrance of the subway, will have to be torn down and rebuilt.

This will mean a loss of several hundred dollars which will probably be borne by the dealer from whom the first lot was purchased. Mr. Laury put a gang of men at work tearing down the walls this morning and will ask for an extension of time to complete his contract.

STATE FIREMEN'S HOME.

The Commissioners Announce It to Be Ready for Occupancy.

The State Home for Disabled and Indigent Firemen, at Boonton, is now ready for occupancy, and applications for admission will be received by the commission. Any infirm fireman without means of support may make application for admission. He must be examined and have his application sworn to before a justice or a member of the board of commissioners. Should the case be considered favorably the applicant will be cared for for life.

In accordance with a statute the commissioners have advertised the notice of the institution being ready for occupancy in six papers of the State.

William Brown, assistant engineer of the Boonton Fire Department, is in charge of the Home. At the present time there are five beds in the institution, but if found necessary 100 more can be installed. The facilities and equipment are of the best. The furniture, crockery, etc., are of first class quality.

Blank forms have been sent to all the firemen's benevolent societies in the State. These are to be filled out applicants. Provision has also been made for the care of disabled firemen. If disabled while on active duty, and if incapacitated from further work, a fireman is eligible to become an inmate of the Home.

LIFE IN FAR OFF JAPAN.

FRANK HOPLER WRITES OF HIS EXPERIENCES IN THAT LAND.

Describes the Customs of the People, and Says That Foreigners are Cheated.

Frank Hopler, of the Aluminum Press and Plate Company, who has been at Kyoto, Japan, for four weeks, erecting presses for the Oriental Printing Company, Ltd., has written a very interesting letter to his friend, I. O. VanNatta, of LaGrande avenue, telling something of his experience in that far and distant land. He is located about forty-seven miles from the coast, and he describes the country similar to Zulu land. The cooley's run about with no more clothes on than the law allows and he says that children by the hundreds can be seen running about naked. He describes the cooley's as pulling canal boats, and their queer yells and antics are very amusing. He paid several visits to the heathen temples and witnessed the "Japs" say their prayers. This is all done on the outside, after which they go up and ring a large bell. They then squat down, clap their hands several times and it is all over. Mr. Hopler says that the Japanese usually throw money over the fence to the old gods. He also describes a grand parade, when some of the bones of Budah were received. It is claimed that they are 4,000 years old. As they were carried by twelve men everyone repeated a prayer. He also tells about the queer band of music.

A lot of men pound something that looks like a saucer, then another lot of men follow playing bamboo flutes. The third section of the band he says was better, being something like the fife corps in this city. Regarding the women of that country he says they powder very much. There are usually three shades on the face and the nose is extra white, while the face is more on the brown order, with a streak on each side. There is also some paint on the lower lip. Mr. Hopler tells about the way he rides about in a two-wheel gig, drawn by a man, who can run for miles without stopping. He says that things are not cheap in Japan. Butter sells for 40 cents a pound, sugar 8 cents a pound, and beefsteak sells for 18 and 20 cents a pound. Board at the hotels cost $2.50 and $3 per day. Mr. Hopler secured a place himself and engaged a Japanese cook. He says the natives take delight in cheating foreigners. They charge them extra at the theatres. In conclusion Mr. Hopler tells about the fox being an idol of worship, and how the natives take rice into the mountains to feed these animals. He visited some of the temples in the mountains, and in a distance of five miles he walked there was a temple every few hundred yards. Every store contains a fox made of clay. Mr. Hopler says that he has almost completed work on the machines, and will be ready to return home soon. He enjoys excellent health and has enjoyed his experience greatly.

NEGRO SALT-WATER DAY.

7,000 Colored Folks Enjoy Festivities at Boynton Beach.

Salt-water day was observed yesterday by the colored folk of New Jersey at Boynton Beach. Nearly 7,000 went to that place to enjoy the festivities. They arrived on the Central Railroad of New Jersey in about forty cars from Newark, Elizabeth, Rahway, Perth Amboy, Keyport and on trolley from the surrounding cities.

Several free fights took place, but none proved serious. Several thousands took baths and caused much amusement to the onlookers.

Trolley Company May Buy Grove.

The trolley company, it is said, is about to purchase the Osborne farm near Scotch Plains and transform it into a picnic ground and advertise the same. CITY WATER SUPPLY IS REPORTED AMPLE.

There are 2,250,000 Gallons Pumped Daily From the Wells at Netherwood.

OVER HALF COMES HERE.

STILL THE WATER IN WELLS IS HIGHER THAN IT WAS LAST YEAR.

Stories That Wells Were Nearly Exhausted Last Season Proved to be Untrue—Recent Rains Helped the Situation at Netherwood.

Stories gained credence last year to the effect that the supply of water for the driven wells at Netherwood was gradually being exhausted and that it would not be long before a water famine might be expected here. Despite the unprecedented demand for water in this city and other cities which are supplied by the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company at Netherwood, the water in the wells there is now considerably higher than it was last season at this time.

Nearly a month ago, the water company sent out notices to its patrons that lawn sprinklers and garden hose could be used only between certain hours. The object of this rule was to prevent the wilfull waste of water which was going on all over the city and borough. The notice, together with some personal visits on the part of Superintendent Amos Andrews and his assistants, resulted in a decrease in the amount of water used here.

The recent rains have done away to some extent with the need of watering the lawns and so there is not the call for it that there was heretofore. The rains of the last few weeks have also caused the water to rise somewhat in the wells and has relieved any fear that may have existed in the hearts of the water company officials that a water famine was at hand this season.

The daily output of the pumping station now averages 2,250,000 gallons, of which somewhat over half comes to this city, the rest being distributed at Westfield, Cranford and Elizabeth. That amount is, of course, larger than it was during the winter or spring, but the wells seem to stand the extra drain and, while they are somewhat lowered, they have not reached the low point they did last year.

When the water was so low in the wells last summer it was reported that the wells were almost exhausted. The fallacy of these statements was soon proved, however, and the water returned to its normal height during the fall and winter months. The extreme dryness of part of last summer accounts for the situation.

CUBAN EDUCATORS.

1,300 of Them Passed Through Plainfield on Their Way to Washington.

Those who were fortunate to be at the North Avenue Station this morning about 8 o'clock witnessed an interesting sight, when the 1,300 Cuban school teachers, who have been making a tour of this country, passed through Plainfield on their way to Washington, where they will spend today and tomorrow. It required twenty-six cars to convey the Cubans. They left Boston last evening by the transport, arriving in New York this morning. Several carried Cuban flags, and thus many people learned who they were. The first two sections were composed mostly of young women, and they were very bright in appearance. The third section was composed entirely of men. They will remain at Washington until Monday, when they will return to New York, where they will be entertained until Wednesday, when they will sail for home. While at Washington they will be received by President McKinley.

ALL NATIONS TO ENTER BABIES.

"Founder" Bradley Says Let Them All Come.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Aug. 18—At a meeting of the Common Council Dr. George F. Wilbur said that he had been approached by a Newark committee, who asked that the baby parade might go on this year as usual. The committee offered to contribute $50 toward the expense of the parade and promised to send 1,500 visitors from the city of Newark alone. "They told me that Newark regarded the abandoning of the baby paraders a distinct retrogression," said the doctor.

"We don't want to get up a hasty baby parade," said Founder Bradley "The baby parade has never been shown in its full possible effect. We want the asthetic principle introduced. We want to show Indian babies, Japanese babies and Chinese babies and not only the babies of Asbury Park and Newark. I will suggest the appointment of a committee to arrange for a grand baby parade in 1901."

Dr. Wilbur at once made a motion that a committee be appointed to prepare for the coming event, as suggested by Mr. Bradley, and that the pageant be made to include every kind of baby extant. The committee will be named next week.

"Founder" Bradley's statement is taken to mean that he has grown tired of common place babies and that a new brand is desired on the Asbury Park boardwalk.

Many Applications

The Cranford School Board did not appoint a principal at the meeting Wednesday night, so many applications for the position having been made that the committee has not had time to investigate references. The resignation of Principal Clemment was accepted.

CUBAN TEACHERS.

They Reach New York En Route For Washington.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—It was too late when the transports bearing the party of Cuban teachers and attendants got into New York yesterday from Boston for them to go on to Washington the same day. They spent the night aboard the transports, therefore, and arranged to leave here at 7 o'clock this morning. They will return to New York from Washington on Sunday evening and after spending two days here will go to Philadelphia to visit its educational institutions.

The party was brought from Boston on four transports, the Crook, having 207 men and 137 women; the McPherson, 110 men and 107 women and 17 girls; the Sedgwick, 451 women and 9 chaperons, and the Rawlins, 295 men and 5 managers.

Acting Mayor Guggenheimer and President Clausen of the park department have subscribed $250 necessary to complete the sum of $1,350 which, it is estimated, will cover the expenses of entertaining the teachers in New York. The reception committee is composed of the acting mayor, President Clausen, President O'Brien of the board of education, C. M. Flint, J. M. Ceballos, H. B. Claflin and R. A. C. Smith.

Tents, tables and settees will be placed in Central park for luncheon and reception on Tuesday. If the weather should be unfavorable for outdoor entertainment, the exercises will be held in the Normal college building.

President Vreeland announces that the Metropolitan Street Railway company will place 140 open cars at the disposal of the party for going about the city.

One man was killed and three injured in a Chicago fire.

Incendiaries tried to burn and loot the village of Smithfield, Ills.

Forest fires were reported raging in several parts of Colorado.

Seven cases of smallpox have developed in Erie, Pa., all of a light nature.

Poison was found in the stomach of Edward P. Herrick, the aged Chicago merchant who died suddenly last week.

A Chicago wallpaper man committed suicide in order that his wife and children might receive his $2,000 insurance.

Two prisoners, who had been chained together, jumped through a car window from a moving train near Otis, Ind., and escaped.

Mr. Bryan's Plans.

LINCOLN, Aug. 18.—Mr. Bryan will devote the greater part of next week to speechmaking in Nebraska and Kansas. He will make the first of a series of addresses at Wahoo, 20 miles north of Lincoln, Tuesday afternoon and will follow this effort with four speeches on Wednesday at Auburn, Tecumseh and Pawnee respectively. Thursday forenoon will be spent in Kansas City. The afternoon of Thursday will be given over to the Populist notification ceremonies at Topeka, when he will respond to a speech by Hon. T. M. Patterson, notifying him of his nomination for the presidency by the Populist party.

Lightning In Answer to Prayer.

HARTFORD, Aug. 18.—A large barn on Windsor avenue, owned by George Deming, was struck by lightning and burned. Mr. Deming employed a farmhand early in the season, who left him some time ago after a disagreement. This workman had boasted to his acquaintances many times recently that he never laid his head on his pillow at night that he did not pray that Mr. Deming's barns might be struck by lightning. Mr. Deming had heard of his former employee's enmity and laughed at it, but he said yesterday that this seemed as peculiar and clear a case of answer to prayer as he had ever heard of.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 18.—A desperate attempt at train wrecking was made on the meadows back of this city late last night which, if successful, would undoubtedly have resulted in a terrible loss of life. The tracks were obstructed with railroad iron and ties, and the 10:30 p. m. express on the Pennsylvania railroad from this city, carrying more than 200 passengers, was almost derailed. By what seems to have been almost a miracle the train was brought to a standstill before much damage was done, but it required an hour's hard work to clear the tracks so the trains could proceed.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The Baltimore, with Admiral Watson aboard, homeward bound, has sailed from Gravesend for Belfast. The new battleship Kentucky sailed from Squirrel island for Boston. The Newport arrived at Philadelphia, and the Potomac, with the Nantucket in tow, arrived there. The collier Cæsar, en route for Taku, sailed from Aden for Colombo.

De Wet Escapes.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The war office has received a dispatch from Lord Roberts expressing a fear that General De Wet has eluded his pursuers. Lord Roberts says he imagines that De Wet's escape is due to his breaking up his force into small bodies.

Large Contract For Bacon.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 18.—The war department has just closed a contract with a local packing house for 250,000 pounds of breakfast bacon for immediate shipment to China for the American soldiers now serving there.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. ENVOYS RESCUED.

Relief Column Enters the Chinese Capital.

LONG SUSPENSE ENDED.

Chinese Army, Boxers and Dowager Empress Flee.

TIME FOR WORLDWIDE REJOICING

Peking Occupied on the Night of Aug. 15—Official Reports Say With Strong Opposition—Chinese Plans For Defense Collapsed—Future Operations Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The allied armies have captured and entered Peking in the face of obstinate resistance, and the members of the foreign legations are safe. Official confirmation of the fall of the Chinese capital came to the United States government last night in the shape of two cablegrams, one from Admiral Remey and the other from Consul Fowler at Chefu. The cablegram from Admiral Remey came to hand first early in the evening, followed very soon after by that from Consul Fowler, and the officials, realizing the great public interest in the events which it was believed had happened in Peking, at once made them public. Admiral Remey's dispatch is as follows:

"Just received telegram from Tientsin, dated 16th, 10 p. m.: 'Peking was captured on Aug. 15. Foreign legations are safe. Details follow shortly.'"

That from Consul Fowler, giving important details of the occurrences at the time of the capture of the city, was given out in the subjoined official statement:

"Japanese admiral reports allies attacked Peking, east, 15th. Obstinate resistance. Evening Japanese entered capital with other forces. Immediately surrounded legations. Inmates safe. Japanese loss over 100. Chinese 300."

Previous information which has been received here showed that the allied armies took possession of Tung-chow on the 12th inst. From that city to Peking the distance is not very great, not more than a dozen miles. It seems evident therefore that the armies halted for a time at Tung-chow, probably for the purpose of giving the men a rest and to prepare for the attack on the capital city in force after waiting until the rear of the advancing host should arrive at the front

The officials here were aware of the fact that the stronghold of the Boxers was in the Chinese city and for the allies to attempt to force their way through it into the Tartar city in which the legation compounds are located might mean a great loss of life and possibly a defeat. It was also known that the imperial troops which have sided with the Boxers were many of them in or near the Chinese city and that much of the artillery and rifle fire which has been poured into the legations had been from the walls separating the two cities. These facts evidently were communicated to General Chaffee and the other commanding officers of the allies. Realizing these obstacles, it appears the allies decided to attack the city by the east gate. There are four entrances to the city on the east, two leading to the Chinese city and two to the Tartar city. Just which of these was selected as the attacking point Consul Fowler's dispatch does not disclose. Contrary to the press reports of yesterday Consul Fowler's dispatch shows that the attack on the city met with strong resistance. The Japanese force engaged with the advance, according to the understanding of the officials here, numbered 10,000 men, so that the loss suffered by them was over 1 per cent. No mention is made of the losses of the forces of the other armies, but it is presumed that it was in proportion to that suffered by the Japanese.

The president was overjoyed on hearing the news of the safety of Minister Conger and his associates. He has been hopeful all along that their rescue from the perilous position in which they have been for so long a time would be successfully accomplished. The news confirms that hope and brings a feeling of great relief to him.

A cabinet official states that unquestionably the native Christians in China, said to number several thousand, will be included in any arrangement made between this government and China incident to the cessation of hostilities.

At the present stage of the Chinese situation this subject has not yet been seriously discussed by the cabinet, but there is no doubt, according to this member, that the United States is honor bound to protect them and will sacredly look out for their security.

"What will be done with them?" he was asked.

"That has not been decided, but rest assured that in their disposition the honor of the United States will be fully preserved. It may be arranged for them to go to the Philippines or one of many other plans that are available may be adopted."

Taking of Peking Confirmed.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The news regarding the entrance into Peking was further confirmed by two telegrams received by the Japanese legation in Berlin, one, dated Aug. 14, saying that the allied forces were only ten miles from the capital and the other briefly announcing that they had entered.

The German press accepts the fall of Peking as a fact. While expressing joy at the happy discharge of one part of the China programme, the papers point out that there is much left to be done. The Berliner Post says: "A great thing has been done, but a greater must be done before the allied powers will be satisfied. It remains to obtain redress for the attacks upon the legations and other wrongs, particularly the assassination of the German minister, and to install a government which will punish the guilty and give ample guarantees against the recurrence of similar crimes."

Germany, beyond any doubt, is preparing everything for an autumn and winter campaign in China. One striking evidence of this is the fact that a slow steamer has been chartered for December to carry to China material for a 60 mile field railroad.

AFTER THE RELIEF, WHAT?

London Press Discusses the New Status In China.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—"Peking was relieved on the night of the 15th." This message was received last evening at the imperial customs office in London from the commissioner of customs in Chefu. It is the only official message that has reached England in confirmation of the earlier reports, Admiral Remey's dispatch not having arrived in time for publication in the London morning papers.

The Morning Post, which is the only paper printing the Chefu message, says:

"Today is not only a day of national rejoicing, it is also a day of congratulation for all the powers of the world."

Proceeding to discuss the probabilities of a cessation of hostilities, The Morning Post assumes that the United States is willing to abandon any idea of further aggressive action, but it questions the disposition of Germany and the other powers to agree to such a course.

The Berlin correspondent of The Morning Post learns that no formal request for an armistice has yet reached the powers and that it is improbable that any such request would be granted.

The other papers comment guardedly upon the general situation, owing to the lack of definite news when the editorials were written. Most of them advocate a stern inquisition regarding outrages and the punishment of the leaders, even if they have to be pursued all over China.

The Daily Graphic, in a paragraph apparently inspired, says there is no reason to believe that any of the powers will repudiate the previous understanding to respect the integrity of the empire and the dynasty, adding that the proposal to land a British force at Shanghai originated not with the British government, but with the Chinese, who at the same time urged that this should not be done if likely to lead to international complications.

"This," says The Daily Graphic, "disposes of the story that the viceroy of Nankin changed his mind under the influence of the consuls. Her majesty's government, we believe, has no intention of contesting the right of France or the United States to land troops should either think it necessary."

The first announcement of the relief of the legations came yesterday from Berlin.

"The allies have entered Peking without fighting. The legations are relieved, and the foreigners are liberated."

Such was the dispatch received from the German consul at Shanghai and given out by the Berlin foreign office at 1 p. m.

Just following this announcement the appended Shanghai dispatch was received as follows:

"Li Hung Chang has received a telegraphic dispatch announcing that the allied forces entered Peking Wednesday, Aug. 15, without opposition."

The collapse of Chinese resistance is explained in dispatches from Shanghai as being due to the failure of the Chinese to flood the country below Tungchow. The earthworks connected with the dam at the Pei-Ho were unfinished, and the canal at Tung-chow was full, facilitating boat transport when the allies arrived.

Signals between the allies and the legations holding part of the wall at Peking were exchanged during the morning of Aug. 15.

Grasshoppers Hold Up a Train.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 18.—For the past week Kalamazoo has suffered from a pest of grasshoppers. Houses and stores swarmed with the insects. In one restaurant yesterday the serving of meals was discontinued until a large swarm of hoppers could be driven out. On account of the plague the city has not burned its electric lights, and all stores close at 6 o'clock. The insects filled up the arc lamp globes and put the lights out. Some of the hoppers are nearly three inches long and sing like locusts. A Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw train was stopped by hoppers, which covered the tracks for several inches.

Charges For Van Wyck.

ALBANY, Aug. 18.—Attorney General Davies yesterday sent a special messenger to Saratoga Springs to find Mayor Van Wick of New York city. The attorney general's representative was intrusted with the copy of amended charges preferred against the mayor growing out of the latter's connection with the ice trust, which the attorney general received on Wednesday of this week from the New York attorneys interested in the prosecution. The attorney general formally notified the mayor that he is expected to make answer to the charges to Governor Roosevelt within the 15 days allotted to him under the law.

Tried to Swindle a Bank.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., Aug. 18.—E. W. Doyle, manager of the interests of Alexander Paton, a wealthy manufacturer of Leominster, is in New York to consult authorities regarding an attempt by Paris swindlers to defraud the Leominster National bank. The bank received a cablegram from Paris, ostensibly from Mr. Paton, who is visiting the exposition, asking that $2,000 be immediately forwarded to him. The bank became suspicious and communicated with Mr. Doyle, and he in turn cabled Mr. Paton. The latter cabled that he had sent for no money.

Memorial Services In Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18.—Memorial services in honor of C. P. Huntington were held in the yard of the Central Pacific shops here and were attended by 1,500 persons, principally employees. The shops were draped in black, as was also the speaker's platform, erected on a flat car. The services included prayer by Rev. W. C. Sherman, appropriate addresses and the adoption of resolutions, also singing by a male quartet.

PORTO RICANS CLASH

One Killed and Several Injured In a Political Quarrel.

REPUBLICANS AND FEDERALS ARMED

The Former Try to Celebrate American Occupation, While the Latter Claim the Date Should Be One of Mourning.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 18.—At Mayaguez a crowd of Federals and Republicans got together, and after heated political disputes 30 revolver shots were exchanged and clubs and other weapons freely used. One man was killed outright and a dozen others were injured, two fatally. For some weeks violent political discussions have been frequent there, and recently the Republicans attempted to hold a mass meeting in a ward controlled by the Federals. It was this that led to the collision. Other encounters are feared.

Last Saturday the Republicans organized a celebration in honor of the second anniversary of the occupation of Mayaguez by the United States troops. The Federals, being anti-American in sentiment, opposed the project, and their leaders made speeches dissuading members of the party from participating in the celebration. Former Secretary of Justice Diaz remarked that the day should be one of mourning rather than of rejoicing, and since then the rival politicians in Mayaguez have been at fever heat.

Spanish residents of San Juan have issued a circular calling upon all Spaniards to get together with a view of effecting an organization to promote the interests of Spain.

Attorney General Russell is suffering from an attack of malaria, but is not seriously ill. The United States district court will probably open for its first session on Sept. 2.

THE POWERS TRIAL.

Argument Not Concluded—Judge Amends Instructions.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 18.—The argument in the case of Caleb Powers, charged with being an accessory to the murder of William Goebel, was not concluded yesterday, the court refusing to hold a night session. Commonwealth Attorney Robert B. Franklin made the closing speech for the prosecution this morning. The argument for the defense was closed by ex-Governor John Young Brown. The entire morning session and nearly an hour in the afternoon was taken up by Colonel T. C. Campbell for the prosecution. Colonel Campbell intimated that Jim Howard fired the shot, but subsequently said: "I do not know who fired the shot that killed Goebel, but it was one of the five principals named in the indictment—Jim Howard, Berry Howard, Henry Youtsey, Harland Whitaker and "Tallow Dick" Combs, and every one of them was there by procurement of Caleb Powers and W. S. Taylor."

At the close of Colonel Campbell's speech the court announced a modification of the instructions to the jury defining the words "unlawful act" to be "to alarm, incite, terror or do bodily harm."

This section instructs the jury that if Powers and others conspired to do an unlawful act and as a result of this William Goebel was killed it should find Powers guilty of murder.

Anarchist Suspects Held.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service stated yesterday that two Italians, Natabe Maresca and Michil Guida, had been detained at quarantine, New York harbor, by his orders. Their deportation to Naples will be recommended to the secretary of the treasury. On Aug. 1 this government was advised from Naples that Maresca, an anarchist, was about to leave for the United States and that he might attempt to attack the president. Thereupon an investigation was made, and, while it could not be determined that Maresca was an anarchist, it was developed that he was a convict His description was wired to Chief Hazen in New York, and on the arrival of the Kaiser Wilhelm II Maresca and his companion, Guida, were turned over to the immigration authorities with a request that they be deported.

Stopped For Huntington's Burial.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Every wheel and stroke of commerce throughout the great Southern Pacific system of railroad and steamship lines was stopped for seven minutes yesterday during the burial of Collis P. Huntington in New York. At the exact moment when the clock struck 11 in New York every hammer in all the shops ceased clanging, engines paused upon the rails, and steamships floated lifelessly upon the water. In Chicago the offices remained closed all the morning, and no tickets were sold or other business transacted until after the remains of the once great railroad magnate were laid to rest. During the short suspension of business 50,000 men in all sections of the United States remained idle. The Chicago offices were draped with crape that is to remain for 30 days.

Reformatory Convicts Escape.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—While at work on the lawn of the Elmira reformatory yesterday afternoon three convicts made their escape. They are Harry Roberts, aged 21, received from Binghamton in December, 1896, for burglary, third degree; Thomas Fenton, aged 23, received Jan. 21, 1899, from New York for attempted burglarly; Thomas Terrell, aged 22, received in October, 1895, from Brooklyn for burglary, third degree. A reward of $150 each is offered for their return to any officer of the reformatory.

Commissioner Peck Honored.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Among the foreign commissioners figuring in the list of decorations conferred by the Legion of Honor is United States Commissioner General Ferdinand W. Peck of Chicago, who is appointed a grand officer of the legion, the announcement being made by the official journal this morning.

Wheat Crop Estimates.

PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 18.—The total wheat crop of Oregon, Washington and Idaho for 1900 is estimated at from 32,000,000 to 35,000,0000 bushels, a reduction of about 5,000,0000 from earlier estimates. The wheat is said to be of very fine quality.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. John J. Goff, Jrr., has gone to Norwalk, Conn., for a two weeks' visit.

George Morton, of West Front street, has resigned his position with the Pond Tool Works.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Pain's Annual Carnival of Fire.

What will probably be the finest pyrotechnical display the famous Pain has ever given at Manhattan Beach, or, for that matter, at any other point in this country, will mark the occasion of his annual "Carnival of Fire" at the mammoth Manhattan Beach Amphitheatre, Saturday night, August 25th. Fiery devices heretofore unknown in the art of pyrotechny will be shown on this gala occasion, and in addition to his usual elaborate display of aerial and "set" pieces of fireworks, Manager Pain announces the following special pieces for this occasion only: "Electra's Temple," "Flora's Domain," "Chinese Pagodas," "Political Skits," "Juggling Jingoes." Hundreds of brilliant bombs and thousands of novel effects in mammoth rockets. All these special fireworks features are, of course, given in addition to Pain's beautiful pyrotechnical spectacle "Fujiyama" or "Japan in Flower and in Flame," employing nearly 500 georgeously costumed performers, and which has proven the most gorgeous and popular of the long series of Pain's spectacles seen at Manhattan Beach. In addition to the special fireworks on this night there will be also additional specialty and ballet features introduced into the spectacle proper.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

A TIME OF REACTION.

Prices In All Lines of Business Show a Marked but Healthy Decline.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

After a great wave of advancing prices optimism as to business is generally dangerous. But the top was reached the middle of March, since which time reaction has come in every great industry, so that consumers are asking whether in some directions the decline may not have been unreasonably large, as was the advance, and whether buying on the present basis of prices is not fairly sure. There are further evidences of weakness in raw materials, notably the break in structural iron, but each one is availed of to place heavy contracts.

New York is welcoming buyers from all over the country in larger numbers than for many years at this season, in dry goods, in groceries, in jewelry and in hardware.

It is becoming more apparent that the bottom has been reached in prices of iron and steel. The decline was severe and recovery must be slow, but gradual advances and moderately increasing activity are more healthy than violent changes. In no single division is the improvement more striking than in any other. Except steel rails, all forms of iron from the ore to the finished product are being sought more eagerly and with less effort to secure further concessions in price.

The first effect of the official report of wheat condition, indicating a total crop of only 513,997,000 bushels, was to strengthen prices, but when the secretary of agriculture was reported as predicting "dollar wheat" before the end of the year, the market showed an inclination to disagree, and the September option fell below 80 cents at New York for the first time in two months, the week closing with a net decline of 2¼ cents.

Corn declined sharply, but recovered most of the loss with reports of excessive heat, although Atlantic exports in two weeks were only 4,989,357 bushels against 8,006,404 last year.

For the year thus far shipments of boots and shoes from Boston are 2,735,443 cases against 2,914,885 in 1899, but the volume of business to date has been exceeded in only three years. The trade is suffering from accumulation of stocks that cannot be sold without a loss as compared with the price at which shoes could now be made. Idle shops throughout the east are a natural remedy.

Business continues heavy on most railroad systems, roads reporting for the first week of August showing earnings exceeding last year's by 6.9 per cent, in spite of a loss of 8 per cent on granger lines.

Failures in the second week of August were $1,510,114, against $1,330,299 last year, not a single failure being reported with liabilities of $100,000. In two weeks the amount was $3,177,675, against $2,873,533 last year. In manufacturing the liabilities were $1,310,257 and in trading $1,543,557. Failures for the week were 161 in the United States against 156 last year, and 24 in Canada against 24 last year.

United States Wins Many Prizes.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—The list of the awards to American exhibitors at the Paris exposition has been made public. The United States in all secured 1,981 awards. Of these 220 were grand prizes, 486 gold medals, 583 silver medals, 422 bronze medals, 270 honorable mentions and a long list of gold, silver and bronze medals for collaborators. Such is the record achieved by America, as announced yesterday by the French officials. Every line of industry and art and skill is given recognition. American farm products, American mines and forestry receive grand prizes and gold medals, and American cottons, woolens and silks are given the same consideration as are American harvesting machinery, sewing machines, printing presses, liberal arts and transportation, while silverware, jewelry, art and education are placed in the front.

Race Riots Over.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Though several of the west side thoroughfares were lined last night with men and women who evidently expected a continuance of the collisions between the white and colored residents of that section of the city, there were no race disturbances of any consequence during the evening. Police were on the alert in the streets and avenues, and no loitering was permitted where crowds had congregated for three nights past. Many of the colored men who say they have been brutally treated by the police are making vigorous protests.

Troops to Quell Georgia Riot.

ATLANTA, Aug. 18.—Governor Candler, upon advices received from the deputy sheriff of Liberty county, this state, ordered out the Liberty troop, a cavalry company of the Georgia militia, to assist Sheriff Brewer of that county in quelling a riot now said to be assuming serious proportions at Johnston station, 50 miles from Savanbah, between the whites and the blacks.

THE TIEN-TSIN FIGHT

Colonel Meade and Major Waller Give Details.

OPENING OF THE CHINESE CAMPAIGN.

Gallant Conduct of the American Marines and Regulars—Entry to the City Described—Praise From General Dorward.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The navy department has made public the reports of Colonel Robert L. Meade and Major L. W. T. Waller of the United States marine corps on the battle of Tien-tsin. They give not only a graphic account of this initial engagement in the Chinese campaign, but furnish the information with official exactness. Colonel Meade's report is dated at Tien-tsin, July 16. After telling of the situation around Tien-tsin and of the decision on July 12 at a conference held at the English general's headquarters to attack the city about daybreak the next day, Colonel Meade's report, in describing the early fighting in which the marines and Ninth infantry took such a gallant part, says:

"We reached the advanced position about 8 a. m. I took 180 rounds per man with me, 100 rounds in the belts and 80 in the haversacks. This is not sufficient for an all day fight, and as it grew toward night I began to be apprehensive of being left in an advanced position in a fight where no prisoners were taken on either side with only the bayonet to fight with.

"On the firing line the action was especially hot and the enemy's fire especially rapid and accurate, and at about 8:30 a. m. the enemy appeared in large numbers upon our left and among the grave mounds of the field in which we were with the evident intention of flanking us. I made a turning movement to the left and rear, and we drove them away. Later in the day, about 2 p. m., they again made a flanking effort, but at this time the infantry support of the artillery company was on the mud wall of the city and aided us by a cross fire. This company was commanded by Captain C. G. Long. The effort of the enemy proved a failure, and we drove them in.

"We remained in the trenches until about 8 p. m., when we received an order from the brigadier general commanding to withdraw, which was probably the most difficult action of the day, since the enemy had so well covered our position that their shots struck the crests of the trenches and threw dirt in our faces, many being hit.

"General Dorward ordered that the troops should sleep upon their arms that night and on the following morning to enter the city. The south gate had to be blown in by guncotton.

"The troops had had nothing whatever to eat on the 13th save the small luncheon, if it may be so called, which each man carried in his haversack. It was not expected when we started that the action would prove so long, but General Dorward, knowing the situation, kindly sent to the reservation for food and other necessaries, and the bivouac proved a success, and the men, although very fatigued, were ready for duty.

"On the 14th inst., the south gate having been blown in, we moved into the walled city at about 6 o'clock a. m.

"We found the city filled with dead Chinamen and animals. No resistance was made to our occupation in the walled city itself, but an infantry fire was kept up by the Japanese infantry upon the enemy, who responded from the suburbs. Since then we have had undisturbed possession of all Tien-tsin."

Colonel Meade inclosed a letter from General Dorward, the commander of the English forces, praising the Americans for their bravery in this action.

Major Waller's report is of especial interest, as he had command of the marines in the fight before Tien-tsin was reached. The report is dated Tien-tsin, June 28, and says in part:

"At 2 in the morning (July 9) the Russian colonel informed me that he would push on with his 400 men and attempt to get into Tien-tsin and aid in the defense of the city. I objected, but was overruled in council. My reason told me that there was a slim chance for passing the Chinese force with only 530 men and no guns. The three inch rifle proving defective, I disabled it and rolled it into the river and followed the Russians in the 12 mile march on Tien-tsin. The Russian column was in advance, 400 strong, with my Colt six millimeter gun in their front, under the command of Lieutenant Powell. The advance continued until 7 o'clock a. m. without opposition, when we reached a point opposite the imperial arsenal.

"There we met a small flank fire, which was quickly silenced by our sharpshooters. About ten minutes later we met a very heavy front and flank fire from 1,500 or 2,000 men intrenched. We deployed, and my line, feeling the flank fire, turned to the left and rear, confronting the flank movement, our line at that time having its front advanced and right flank refused.

"The support of the Colt gun having dwindled to two men, and the gun having jammed several times, all the crew being shot down but one, Mr. Powell very properly decided to abandon it, which he did, after disabling the gun. Receiving notice that the Russians would retreat to a point four miles beyond my bivouac, I began my retreat by moving by the right flank and keeping up a fight for four hours with the enemy, who were in force, imperial troops and Boxers. We succeeded in falling back, bringing our wounded by hand. At 2 p. m. we had reached our base, having marched 30 miles and fought for four hours. I was obliged to leave the dead, but brought off the wounded. Our casualties were four killed and nine wounded.

Yellowstone Park Fires.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Acting Superintendent Goode of the Yellowstone National park telegraphs the interior department that another big forest fire has broken out there and is now raging between the lake and the upper basin. The department wired authority for the employment of outsiders to assist in fighting the fire, but none could be secured. The interior department has requested the war department to detail for this purpose some of the men engaged on the roads there.

Boston's High Tax Rate.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Boston's tax rate for 1900 has been fixed by the assessors at $14.70, as against $13.10 last year. This is the largest rate since 1885, when the city was put on a $9 limit, but which was increased by the late legislature to $10.30.

COMING EVENTS.

August 19—Robert E. Speer, of New York, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4:15 p. m. The Orpheus Club from the Netherwood Hotel will furnish instrumental music. All men are invited.

The movement that has been inaugurated looking towards the passage of a local option bill by the next Legislature in aid of the temperance advocates, suggests a bit of legislative and political history. For many years both the Republicans and Democrats had been coquetting with the cold water people, particularly the former, and in 1888, when the Republicans captured the Legislature, a bill was introduced and passed which was a step towards local option. It was a compromise measure, however, and displeased the extremists on both sides, so that it proved to be rather disastrous for the party that caused its enactment. It was regarded as especially offensive by German-Americans, who considered it an assault on their personal liberty. The result was that the matter became an active issue in the next campaign, and the Republicans lost control of the Legislature till 1893. This latest movement favoring a local option law will probably not amount to much, as the promoters will find it very difficult to interest influential politicians.

The approaching autumn will witness an increase of human energy and a revival of all the activities that have languishd in the heat of an extraordinary summer, says the Philadelphia Record. Everybody will discover new wants in preparing for the coming months. Those advertisers who will be first in the field will have an obvious advantage not only in supplying the immediate needs of the community, but also in being able to lead people to form the habit of dealing with them before the competition for for trade shall become sharpest.

It is said to be a settled fact that Secretary of War Elihu Root will be the orator at the Republican State convention in Trenton September 6th. Senator Foraker was wanted for the occasion, but he is to open the campaign in Ohio formally September 8th. He will, however, return, to New Jersey in time to address the State League of Republican Clubs at Jersey City September 13th. John Barrett, former minister to Siam, will also speak at the latter meeting.

The novel question whether counsel in an argument to the jury, has a right to shed tears has been decided by the Supreme Court of Tennessee in the case of Ferguson against Moon, the court holding that if the tears be available it is not only the privilege but the duty of counsel to shed them on the appropriate occasion. The weeping was done in a breach of promise case by the counsel for the plaintiff.

The Elizabeth Journal says that Frank Bergen is talked of as one of the electors on the Republican ticket, and it is said if he would consent there would be little doubt of his selection by the convention, which will meet at Trenton September 6th. It is understood that Mr. Bergen will be on the list of speakers to be made up by the Republican State committee early next month.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The National Asphalt Company has increased its nominal capital from $15,000,000 to $22,000,000. The concern is a trust organized under New Jersey laws. This increase of capital is coincident with higher prices for asphalt paving. Governor Voorhees, who enunciated the theory that trusts cheapen prices might make a study of the asphalt trust and its ramifications. —Newark Advertiser.

* * * * *

Warren county Democrats are disposed to resent the insinuation that E. F. C. Young, of Jersey City, is the one probable and leading candidate for Governor of New Jersey on the Democratic ticket in 1901, and are inquiring vociferously, "What's the matter with ex Congressman and ex-State Senator Johnston Cornish?" There is no doubt, it is said, that the young Warren county Democrat feels somewhat interrogatively that way himself.—New York Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

It was expected that the usual quietness of Plainfield on Sundays would be rudely disturbed this summer by the crowds of roughs that take advantage of the trolley line to and from Elizabeth to visit here that day. There has been more or less disorder on the cars, but the reputation of the city for law and order has stood this place in good stead and there has been but very little trouble. The orders of the police have been strict and they have made arrests as soon as they heard of any law-breaking. The visitors of this character are not over fond of spending the night in the police station and have learned that it pays better to keep quiet while in Plainfield and allow their spirits to rise while aboard the trolley cars or in the smaller towns on the way to the county seat.

* * * * *

Stories of the "shirt-waist man" come from all the summer resorts and many notables are reported as having discarded coat for the more comfortable condition of the "shirt-waist man." One of the first of Plainfield's leading citizens to start that fashion was James F. Buckle, president of the police board, and a member of the firm of Woolston & Buckle. Mr Buckle's business calls upon him to make numerous trips all over the city during the day. He has long utilized a wheel as an easy means of transportation, and this summer when the warm weather came in all its height, he quietly discarded his coat and road about in his shirtsleeves. He wears bicycle trousers and belt and looks far more comfortable than many of his fellow townsmen who have not mustered up sufficient courage to follow his example.

MORRISTOWN HORSE SHOW.

It Will be Held in October and Will be a Great Equine Exhibition.

The Morristown Field Club's horse show is fixed for Oct. 11th, 12th and 13th. The indications are that the show will be the event of the season in New Jersey, and excel the success of the last equine exhibition there. The arrangements are on a grand scale and include several innovations. Many improvements have been made to the show grounds. There will be an elliptical show ring with arena boxes and promenade on one side and a row of parking spaces for four in-hand and other traps on the other side or infield. Stable facilities have been increased and other details well arranged. Owing to the demand for boxes they will be sold at auction Monday, Sept. 24th, at 8:30 p. m., at the Morristown Field Clubhouse, Morristown. A varied prize list has been arranged that will attract a fine display of horses and equipages.

There are forty-four classes. They are for trotters, roadsters, carriage horses, tandems, four-in-hands, ponies, saddle horses, jumpers, unicorn teams, depot wagons, and polo ponies.

The local classes are open to exhibits owned and used in Morris, Essex, Somerset and Union counties. Several of the contests call for ladies to drive, which will be a very attractive feature of the show. Over $3,000 is offered in premiums and in addition rosettes will be awarded to the first, second and third in each event.

—Mothers endorse it, children like it, old folks use it. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. It will quickly cure all throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. McKee and daughter, of Orange place, are expected to return today from Asbury Park, where they have been summering.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Yours truly, LILLIE SOCHOR.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, August 16.—Besides being the tallest barber in the United States August Barth, who is now employed by J. H. L. Peters, enjoys the distinction of being able to speak more languages than any other man in the borough. He thoroughly understands English, German, French and Italian, and speaks any one of them as fluently as a native of either country. Mr. Barth has also been somewhat of a traveler in his day, having been twice around the globe. This interesting gentleman, who was born in New York, is just six and one-half feet in heighth. Mr. Peters has found it necessary to place the lamps in his shop a little nearer the ceiling in order to enable Mr. Barth to move about without continually striking his upper regions.

Frank Smalley and William Brokaw, Sr., spent yesterday fishing along the shores of the New Market pond. NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, August 18—The Hotel Nelson was the scene of a pleasant gathering Thursday evening when about twenty-five friends of Landlord Casterline came from New Brunswick and Middlebush to visit him. WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 18.—For some time past young men from the towns along the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway have thought Westfield a good place to have fun, and have made a practice of standing on the corners, insulting people passing, and making nuisance of themselves generally. Last night Officers Knapp and O'Neill ordered a party of five standing at the corner of North avenue and Westfield avenue, to move on and they became impudent. Knapp put the nippers on one of them, and it looked for a time as though his friends would try and make a rescue. They finally begged him off and they were ordered out of the town on the next street car. The officers have been ordered to break up corner loafing no matter who does it.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, August 18—The Misses Mildred and Florence Johnston, of Plainfield avenue, gave a very pleasant lawn party Thursday to a number of their young friends in honor of their cousin, Miss Hattie Jones, of Newark. The afternoon was spent in playing games, etc., after which they were served with refreshments on the lawn. Those in attendance were Margaret and Sederick Ostrum, Margaret and Catharine Phillips, of Plainfield; Mabel and Margery Cubberly, Edna and Emma Eckert, Gladdis Thorn and Vera LaTourett, of South Plainfield; Maud Tatton, of, Trenton; Margery Voorhees, of Metuchen, and Olin Angleman, of Bayonne.

Correction by the Coroner.

To the editor of The Daily Press—I wish to correct the misleading statement published in The News yesterday to the effect that the Somerset Board of Freeholders had refused to pay a bill in the Henning case because I had notified them not to do so. As the Coroner under whose jurisdiction the case came, I am bound to see that the bill is according to law, and as this bill was not as the law prescribes I requested the Freeholders not to pay it until it could be corrected. Somerset county has no desire or intention of unloading the bill on Union county, as The News stated, but intends paying it just as soon as it is rendered in accordance with the demands of the law. I asked the editor of The News to make a correction of the misstatement, but he absolutely declined to do so, and I therefore now ask for such a favor in your valuable columns.

Henry DeMott, Coroner.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused be catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger, of LaGrange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruption, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Von einem hier eingelaufenen Schiffe wurde ein anscheinend typhuskranker Seemann in's Krankenhaus gebracht. Die eigenthümliche Art seiner Krankheit erregte jedoch den Verdacht, der Mann sei mit Beulenpest behaftet. Er wurde deshalb in dem Vorort Eppendorff isolirt, desgleichen die mit ihm in Berührung gekommenen Personen.—Die deutsche Levante-Linie dahier hat mit der bulgarischen Regierung einen fünfjährigen Kontrakt abgeschlossen, inhalts dessen sie sich gegen gewisse Kompensationen verpflichtet, zwei Mal im Monat vom 1. September ab Varna und Burgas anzulaufen.

Bremen. Gestorben ist Cigarrenfabrikant August Hentze im Alter von 74 Jahren. Er war Mitglied der Freisinnigen Volkspartei und Vorstandsmitglied des freisinnigen Vereins in Bremen. Lange Zeit gehörte er der Bürgerschaft an.—Wegen Unterschlagung und Urkundenfälschung dittirte das Schwurgericht dem Postsekretär und Reservelieutenant Richard Ludwig Gneiße 2½ Jahre Gefängniß zu.

Lübeck. Ein Ewerführerbetrieb nach Hamburger Muster wird von der Firma Köster u. Co. in Lübeck eingerichtet. Die Firma hat von dem Hamburger Ewerführer H. Lode vier Fahrzeuge angekauft, welche durch den Schleppdampfer „Ewerführer" nach Lauenburg und von da durch den Elbe-Trave-Kanal nach Lübeck gebracht wurden.

Oldenburg.

Elsfleth. Die 805 Registertonnen große deutsche Bark „Katinka" von hier, Kapitän Köhler, ist, mit Holzladung von Hamelin nach Veracruz unterwegs, an der Westküste Australiens unweit Busselton gestrandet und total verloren. Fünf Mann der Besatzung ertranken.

Mecklenburg.

Warnemünde. Dem Kommandeur der hiesigen Lootsen, St. Jantzen, der sich auf dem Gebiete des Rettungswesens zur See so viele Verdienste erworben hat, ist von Seiten der Regierung Finlands ein großer silberner Pokal gestiftet worden, in Anerkennung der muthigen That, bei der unter Jantzens Führung am 24. Oktober v. J. die Besatzung des finländischen Schooners „Toivo," der bei dem damals herrschenden Orkan an der Warnemünder Küste gescheitert war, unter den schwierigsten Umständen geborgen und an's Land gebracht wurde.

Braunschweig.

Braunschweig. Als dieser Tage der wegen Hausbettels verhaftete Invalide Wilhelm Boog eingesperrt werden sollte, zog er plötzlich einen Revolver aus der Tasche und schoß sich eine Kugel in den Kopf. Die Verletzung war so schwer, daß Boog nach 20 Minuten verstarb.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die Aerzte des Großherzogthums sind bestrebt, mit den Krankenkassen des Landes andere, für sie günstigere Vereinbarungen zu erreichen. Nach einem Beschlusse des Landesverbandes der hessischen Aerzte werden darüber statistische Ergebungen von sämmtlichen Aerzten des Landes gemacht, wie hoch sich aus ihren Einnahmen das Honorar für die Einzelleistung, respektive für jeden einzelnen Besuch berechnet. Auf Grund dieses hier gesammelten Materials sollen dann weitere Schritte in dieser Angelegenheit gethan werden.

Arheilgen. Hier sind bei zwei Familien die Blattern ausgebrochen. Impfungen und sonstige Maßregeln sind angeordnet worden.

Mainz. Der verstorbene Bankier Rudolf Bamberger hat der Stadt Mainz 50,000 Mark zu Wohlthätigkeitszwecken vermacht.—In Folge der hohen Kohlenpreise hat die Stadt einen Aufschlag in dem Preise für Gascoaks eintreten lassen; sie sind um 100 Prozent gegen früher in die Höhe gegangen.

Bayern.

München. Hier tritt demnächst unter Mithilfe des Staates und der Stadt eine vom Süddeutschen Photographenverein in's Leben gerufene Lehr- und Versuchsanstalt für Photographen in's Leben. An dieselbe ist auch ein Herr aus Frankfurt, der Phototechniker Wilhelm Urban, berufen. Die Unterrichtsdauer ist zwei Jahre.—Das Regimentskommando des 1. schweren Reiterregiments dahier hat gegen das bekannte Berliner politische Witzblatt „Kladderadatsch" Strafantrag wegen Beleidigung gestellt, weil dasselbe die durch die Blätter gegangene falsche Meldung, daß sich Niemand aus dem Regiment als Freiwilliger für China gemeldet habe, anti-bayerisch glossirt hat.

Augsburg. Der verstorbene Magistratsrath Jakob Thum hat der Stadtgemeinde Augsburg durch letztwillige Verfügung ein Legat von 150,000 Mark zugewendet.

Berchtesgaden. Eine Dame aus Posen, die in Begleitung ihrer Tochter in das Bergwerk fuhr, stieß bei der Rutschpartie in den Schacht derart unglücklich mit dem linken Fuß auf, daß er gebrochen wurde. Ihre Tochter, die nach dem Führer die Erste war, sowie alle Uebrigen blieben unbeschädigt.

FASHION HINTS.

Various Items of Interest Concerning the Wardrobe.

Long tunics of guipure are still in great favor and also coats of the same material. They are worn over a colored underdress and are usually trimmed with ruffles or plaitings of mousseline de soie.

When no wrap is used, there are innumerable little accessories to take its place and give a finish to the costume. These are of mousseline de soie, mingled with taffeta and heavy guipure, and assume all sorts of forms. There are wide collars, ruches with long ends falling in the stole fashion and boas of various kinds. Boas of gray or white feathers also continue to be worn.

White gloves are the accompaniment of all light costumes.

Swiss muslin, which was ignored by fashion for many years, is now coming well to the front again. Inexpensive in itself, it is yet an extravagant sort of material, as it requires frequent laundering, and that of the most skillful description. Ordinary washing ruins it. As now used it is so much elaborated with fine tucks, lace insertions, ruffles, plaitings and other decorations that its original character of simplicity is totally lost.

The picture shows a pretty hat for a young girl and is appropriately unpretentious. It is of Leghorn straw, the brim bent and turned up on the left side. The trimming consists of two large clusters of daisies, with a chou of loops of black velvet in front. Daisies are placed next the hair at the left side, and velvet ribbons are carried around the crown to form a group of loops falling upon the hair at the back. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Hats and Accessories For Light Costumes.

Plaid ribbons are much used for trimming children's hats and sailor hats for young girls. Choux consisting of loops of straw braid alone or mingled with loops of velvet ribbon are also employed. Quills and other stiff feathers are likewise favorites.

Felt hats are becoming a summer institution. In sailor, alpine and soft, crushable shapes they are seen in all shades of beige, brown, gray and white. White hats of all kinds are great favorites, first because white is itself fashionable and then because a white hat is an appropriate accompaniment to any of the light, sheer gowns which predominate this year. For those women who can afford a number of complete separate costumes the hat and parasol matching the gown are considered very desirable. The parasol is often of simple taffeta, with no great display of decoration, but the handle is of much elegance.

The picture shows a little girl's dress of pink voile. The skirt is laid in plaits, which are held in place by lengthwise bands of white galloon coming half way down the skirt. The blouse bodice has three bands of the galloon in front, and the belt is a band of pink voile with an application of galloon. There is a double collar of nainsook with an insertion and edge of valenciennes lace, and the collar and plastron are also of nainsook. The plain sleeves have turned back cuffs trimmed with galloon. The sailor hat of bise straw is trimmed with pink tulle and a brown quill. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Too Tame.

A worthy bishop once lamented to Dr. Paley the death of his wife. "We lived together 19 years," said his lordship, "and never had two opinions about anything all that time. What do you think of that, doctor?"

"Indeed my lord," rejoined the doctor in broad Carlisle accent, "I think it must ha' been vera flat!"

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's fine store.

A New Prison for the Boers.

The world has heard but little of Gen. Cronje and his Boer soldiers who accompanied him into captivity at St. Helena since the day of their captivity began. Secrets at St. Helena are easily guarded, and the latest English prison island to which Boer prisoners are being sent will be equally as inaccessible to the outside world as St. Helena has been. Several thousand of the captured Boers are being taken to the Island of Ceylon in the Indian ocean, to stay none can say how long, but it is safe to predict that many of them will never again return to their native land.

But Ceylon will not make a bad prison home for these sturdy South African Dutchmen. The island to which they are being sent is much like their own so far as mountains are concerned, and over the Ceylon kopjes they may fight mimic battles with their English foemen.

Diyatalawa is the name of the prison station. The nearest railway station is at Haputale, a pass in the mountains, from which a splendid view over the low-lying country to the south may be obtained; on a fine day you can see the ocean 40 miles off.

The prison station is 4,000 feet above the level of the sea, and while Ceylon lies almost on the equator this elevation affords a climate that is exceedingly healthful. In addition to the mountains the prisoners will find in the island a beautiful grass growing country much more luxuriant than their own veldt.

Unlike St. Helena Ceylon has never been the prison place of a famous leader. It has seen its share of war and ravages brought by the settlers from Europe first in 1505, when the Portuguese adventurer, Almeida, landed at Colombo. The first settlement of Europeans was made at Colombo by the Portuguese in 1517, when Albergaria succeeded in obtaining a foothold. He was given permission to erect a trading station, but this he turned into a fort so rapidly that in a short time he was able to defy the natives.

So remorseless and cruel were the Portuguese in their treatment of the natives that the Dutch easily secured their cooperation when they attempted and succeeded in wresting the island from the Portuguese in 1602. Under Dutch rule the island prospered, and the natives wer contented, but the Dutch were not strong enough to hold it, and it passed from their hands into those of England in 1796. Since that time it has been an English crown colony.

The island lies in the Indian ocean, and is separated on the north from India by the Gulf of Manaar. It is 271 miles long by 137 miles in width, and is about one-sixth smaller than Ireland. The population is estimated at about 3,000,000, of whom about 7,000 are Europeans. Of this population 70 per cent. are engaged in agriculture. It has well-established schools which have an average attendance of 185,000 scholars. In religion the population is divided as follows: Buddhists, 1,877,043; Hindoos, 615,932; Mohammedans, 211,948, and Christians, 302,127.

The products of the island consist of coffee, cinchona, tea, plumbago, cocoanut products and areca nuts. The estimated area of the island is 16,233,000 acres, and of this 2,231,948 acres are under cultivation. Taken altogether England could hardly have selected a more agreeable place of imprisonment for the Boers.

Fast Railway Trains in Europe.

Visitors to Europe are being astonished at the rapid rate of travel on European railroads, and some figures regarding the speed of railway trains may be found interesting.

If the schedule time of trains is taken in consideration, the French railroads come first, and not, as is usually believed, those of England. The fastest train in the world at present is one of the French Northern railroad; it makes the distance of 82 miles between Paris and Amiens, without stop, in one hour and a quarter, equal to a speed of about 65 miles an hour. Another train of the same road between Amiens and Calais runs at a speed of 51 miles an hour; another between Paris and Arras and one between Paris and St. Quentin, at 55 miles an hour. The time made on the Orleans railroad is also fast. Two trains between Orleans and St. Pierre make 51 miles and 57 miles per hour, respectively, and three other trains make more than 55 miles an hour. On the French Southern railroad there are not less than six trains with a speed of more than 56 miles an hour. They run between Bordeaux and Angouleme, Bordeaux and Dax, Angouleme and Poitiers, and Orleans and Tours.

The time schedule of French trains contains not less than ten trains which in distances of more than 62 miles make an average of more than 56 miles an hour.

Compared with this record, the English railroads are considerably behind. The best time of 60 miles per hour is made on only one train between Perth and Forfax, a distance of 33 miles. A train between Perth and Stirling makes about 57 miles an hour; one between Perth and Aberdeen, 56 miles an hour.

The German railroad management, by the regulations of 1897, permits as highest speed for passenger trains with air brakes, under specially favorable conditions, 56 miles per hour. This is the maximum speed permitted, but the average on even short runs is much less. The fastest trains run between Wittenberg and Hamburg, at a rate of 52 miles an hour; between Stendal and Hanover, 50 miles an hour, and between Berlin and Bitterfeld, 47 miles an hour.

To Prevent Incrustation in Boilers.

Mr. A. Reis, of Antwerp, has patented the following method for preventing the incrustation in boilers: A mixture of sugar, tannin extract, silicate of potash or soda, and boric acid is added to the boiler water to keep the salts in solution; when the water attains a density of about 15 to 25 Be, the boiler is "blown off." The working periods range from a fortnight to three months, according to the quality of the water in use. Glycerin and alkaline sulphates are sometimes used in the mixture.

Gutta-Percha Supply Exhausted.

According to a work on the subject just published in Germany, the supply of gutta-percha is almost exhausted, owing to the reckless and primitive way in which the trees were treated in Sumatra and Borneo, whence the principal output has come. As these trees will flourish only in a very few places, the question has become serious. The book adds that the Philippines is the proper place to grow gutta-percha cheaply and profitably.

IT INVITES CONFIDENCE.

Strangers Who Are Traveling Grow Gossipy with Each Other on the Road.

"There is something about traveling," said a man recently who spends a good share of his time on the road, relates the Chicago Chronicle, "which induces confidences which one would never make if he were at home. Even during a short trip on a sleeper one confides things to total strangers which he would never dream of telling under other circumstances. I can understand how during a long trip at sea a traveler might become confidential with those he did not know, but the confidences on a sleeping car I never can reconcile with the natural reserve of well-balanced people.

"A crowd of men, absolute strangers to each other, will find themselves going in the same car for a night's ride. After they have dined en route they meet in the smoking compartment of the sleeper and get out their pipes or cigars. After taking a look around to size up the rest of the crowd, some one will start the conversation with a general and noncommittal remark and this breaks the ice. In a few minutes they are all talking as though they had known each other all their lives. This fact is not so remarkable as are the subjects which they confide to each other. They speak with absolute frankness which is sometimes startling. I have heard men in a crowd like this tell facts about their business which if made public might have resulted in serious loss to them. I have heard the , and they seemed to be sensible-appearing men, too, disclose family matters which should have been confided only to their physicians.

"No one ever appears to be shocked or astonished by these revelations, and at the end of such a relation as I have just mentioned, others will often match it by something just as candid from their own personal experiences. While I was riding west one winter night several years ago I had for a traveling companion a man whom I had never seen before. Without any introduction, prelude or excuse he suddenly started to tell me the story of his early business career in Wyoming. It was a record of robbery, cheating and injustice to others the like of which I never expected to hear voluntarily from anyone. He confessed with something like pride to having gotten his start in life by 'rustling" cattle, justifying himself by saying that if he had not done this others would have done it. He told how he and several others had banded together and stolen nearly 500 head of cattle in 12 months. He also related how, after he had stopped this practice and become a large ranch owner, he got a government contract. He confessed to robbing Uncle Sam out of several thousands of dollars with the connivance of some army officers. He gave me the names of the men and the date of the transaction. He seemed to think that it was all right because he had paid the officers liberal commissions.

"From his own account he was worth several hundred thousands of dollars now, and he professed great indignation at the news he had lately received about a neighbor of his who had stolen two calves from his ranch. He said he was going to 'fix' him, which meant that he would probably shoot him on sight. He talked politics and told how he was elected state senator once by a little juggling of votes after the ballots had been cast, but he bitterly resented the late interference of a railway which had got a bill through the legislature without his help.

"I never saw but one instance of these confidential men being brought to book. We were going through Texas. There were three of us in the smoker, and one of the three was a young man who was evidently very anxious to tell something. I could see that he was trying to break into the conversation which the other man and myself were having. Finally when a chance came in the talk he began. It was rather impersonal at first, but soon he began to get around to himself. He disclosed the fact that he was from the western reserve of Ohio. But he had none of the western reserve about him, and that was what got him into trouble. He had not talked but a mile or two when my companion, who had not apparently been listening with great interest, suddenly said: 'Your name is —— ——, isn't it?' The young man said it was, and then immediately saw that he had made a mistake, but it was too late, for the other had clasped a pair of handcuffs over the fellow's wrists. He got five years for embezzlement, so I afterward read.

"I have heard men tell perfect strangers alleged facts about their wives which should have been confided to no one but their pastors, and expose family history which not even the pastors should have known. I don't know why it is that when men dovetail their knees together in a smoker that such proximity induces confidence, but it almost always does. If there is any place there it becomes a man to keep the conversation absolutely impersonal it is there."

Locating the "Mountains."

"Where did they go for their vacation?"

"To the mountains."

"What mountains?"

"Well, I think they are just in the rear of their Uncle Jim Stebbins' farmhouse down in southern Illinoy."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CAN RAISE EXCELLENT TEA.

French Colony in Anam Promises to Become a Competitor of China and Japan.

In a recent report to the state department United States Consul John C. Covert, at Lyons, writes of the tea and coffee production in Anam and Madagascar. He says:

"The year 1894 was the first in which tea from one of her colonies was offered in France. In that year 7,500 pounds were received from Anam. In 1896 the receipts jumped up to 10,296 pounds; in 1897 to 13,000 pounds. In 1898 the imports of tea from Anam into France were 42,262 pounds. The figures for 1899 are not accessible, but it is estimated that the exports will be not less than 140,000 pounds.

"Up to 1892 Anam tea was cultivated only for use among the natives, and the proposition to cultivate it for European consumption seemed a chimera. But the consumption of tea in France was increasing very rapidly. From 1,147,635 pounds consumed in 1892 the quantity rose to 1,794,832 pounds in 1898, and it is believed to have increased by nearly another 100,000 pounds in 1899. The supply was almost entirely from China and Ceylon.

"This tea from Anam is said to equal the finest article produced in China. It is in very general use in the French army and in Anam, and it is believed to be only a question of time when it will fill the entire demand in France. The production is daily increasing. The old colonists are going into the business of raising tea, finding it more profitable than any other occupation.

"The production of coffee on the eastern coast of Madagascar is expected to soon develop into important proportions. In the past it has been insignificant, but the government has published figures setting forth the estimated crop for 1904 at 713,475 kilograms (equal to 1,573,000 pounds). This estimated result is considered very satisfactory, inasmuch as the area planted is not half the cultivatable territory of the island. The receipts of coffee from all the French colonies in 1899 were only 963,000 kilograms (2,123,000 pounds).

"In this connection it will be well to bear in mind the fact that France imposes a heavy export duty on everything transported from, and an import duty upon everything carried into, her colonies, unless it is conveyed under a French flag."

Highway Robbery by Accident.

Gen. Martinez Campos, returning from his club one night, was hustled by an unknown man. Clapping his hand on his waistcoat, the general discovered that his gold watch and chain were missing. He rushed after the unknown, seized him by the throat, and hissed: "Give up the watch, you scoundrel, or I'll choke you." The man tremblingly handed over a gold watch and chain, and the general continued his journey home. On arriving there judge of his surprise when he discovered his own watch on a table where he had left it. The unknown had taken Gen. Campos for a robber. The general is now advertising for the person he so unwittingly robbed.—Brussels Etoile Belge.

Siamese Sects.

The Buddhist priesthood in Siam is at present divided into two sects. The one known as the Maha Nekaia—the Large Body—is the older and more conservative order, and represents the great mass of the people, while the one known as the Hama Yuta Nekaia—the Body Who Follows Righteousness—is the new and more aristocratic order, and in its numbers are the most scholarly men.—N. To Anna B. Pond.

NEW JERSEY, SS.

L. S.

The State of New Jersey to the Sheriff of the County of Union. Greeting:

We command you to summon Anna B. Pond, builder and owner, and William M. Sandford, mortgagee, to be and appear before the Circuit Court in and for the County of Union, at the Court House in said County, on the twentieth day of August, inst., that the said Anna B. Pond.

The said building is a two and one-half story frame dwelling house, 47 feet, 6 inches wide in front and rear, and 31 feet deep, erected on a lot or curtilage of land situate in the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, being all of that certain lot of land which is known and distinguished as lot No. 26 on a map of Woodland Park, Plainfield, N. J., and is bounded and described as follows:—Beginning at a point in the Southerly side of Evergreen Avenue distant four hundred feet Easterly from the Southeasterly corner of Hillside and Evergreen Avenues; running thence Easterly along said side of Evergreen Avenue seventy-five feet; thence southerly and parallel with Hillside Avenue one hundred and sixty-two and forty-seven one-hundredths feet to a point; thence Westerly and parallel or nearly so with Evergreen Avenue Seventy-five and six one-hundredths feet to a point; thence Northerly and parallel with Hillside Avenue one hundred and sixty and fifty-six one-hundredths feet to the point or place of beginning, being the same premises conveyed by Deed of the S. SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

Henry F. Fairbanks, who has been chosen supervisor of music for the public schools of Chicago, is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Thomas J. Cullen, who lately declined the chair of gynecology at Yale, has been made associate professor in the same study at Johns Hopkins.

The bishop of Rochester, England, intimates in the Rochester Diocesan Magazine that unbaptized persons should be excluded from "the privilege of Christian marriage," and that such persons ought to be married in a registry office.

Rev. Dr. Horton, an English nonconformist, in a recent sermon said: 'I believe that there is no single vice in England—no, not even the worst and grossest vices—which does such constant and irreparable damage as the talk of idle tongues, that kind of talk which simply results from empty minds."

One of the most striking peculiarities of the attendance in the public schools of Manila is the great excess of boys over girls, this being true of the high schools as well as those of lower grade. It is a manifestation of the local belief that, while education may be desirable for boys, it is of little use for the girls. All they need to know is their catechism. This disparity in the school attendance of the sexes may be lessened, however, before the next school term, as the authorities are planning for a system of compulsory attendance.

Methodist statistics show that there are now 66 Methodist churches in the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx, with a total membership of 16,240; in the boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, 80 churches, with a membership of 22,496; in the borough of Richmond, ten churches, with 2,080 members. The total for the whole city is 156 churches, with a membership of 40,825, being a gain of 391 since 1899. The probationers number 3,631, a gain of 248. The estimated value of the church property is $8,680,400, on which the indebtedness is $1,410,941.

Traveling museums are to be a feature in the public school system of Chicago. The museums will be made up according to the text book scheme of lessons and will furnish object lessons in the various subjects. If, for instance, South America is being studied, a museum will be prepared for each country, containing specimens of the products, raw and finished, maps showing where each is found, photographs showing the manner of getting and manufacturing each, and photographs of the people and their cities. Lantern slides and concise notes on the country will also form parts of the museum.

A SPEAKING WORD.

An Old-Fashioned Term That Needs to Be Reinstated in Our Language.

The word "genteel" in our latter-day style seems to have been displaced, and we seldom hear it used with its fullest sense in modern society. Yet there was a time when it seemed indispensable, says Mary R. Baldwin, in Woman's Home Companion. There was no other word in the language that answered as a substitute in all the shades of meaning which it conveyed. It meant something more and something less than any of the various terms used to describe a person who possesses a combination of style, grace, good manners and gentle breeding. Entering a room of attractive, well-mannered women, one selects from the number the person who owns a distinct individuality, a something that distinguishes her from the others present. She is superior to the petty tyrannies of conventionality; you see proof of the fact in her manner, her conversation and in her dress. Her clear, truthful, reposeful countenance is a mirror for the mind and heart that select their own nourishment, and refuse to accept intellectual fads, floating fancies of the hour or religious makeshifts. Her gown is her own by instinctive selection, and nothing is left that should be desired. It follows the line of the fashion of the times, with something besides that is indefinable added. She is the genteel woman of our grandmother's day, who remains regal in her womanliness, superior to circumstance and condition. An uncultivated man, as related to choice of expression, in speaking in praise of his mother, remarked: "She was a lady when she washed her dishes." He probably did not imagine how forcibly he illustrated his truth. But one who listened to the worshipful words could not help wondering how many women with the best opportunities for acquiring desirable things for the enrichment of personality could stand the dish-washing test. It seems to me there is a crying need for the reinstatement of the old school word in our social vocabulary, and the sooner it is brought back into general use the better. It would be sad cynicism to infer that the passing of the word "genteel" was due to the passing of the particular type which it described.

Fairmount Park.

This vast and noble pleasure ground in Philadelphia, Pa., includes nearly 3,000 acres, and is generally conceded to be the largest park in Europe or America. The Centennial exhibition was held there in 1876. The River Schuylkill and the Wissahickon creek traverses this park, which, in national capabilities and the improvements made, must be ranked among the finest in the world.—Detroit Free Press.

GOLF

The record score for the course of the Park Golf Club was equalled by W. J. R. Thiers in a four ball match. He made the course in a 41 and a 42, which tied Morgan T. Townsend's best score. Thiers is playing a great game now and may be expected to make a good showing against some of the cracks of other clubs.

These are great days for the caddies at the various leading summer resorts. Golf is more popular than it was before and all the summer resorts courses are crowded daily. The small boys don't have to go to school during the summer and are free to spend all the day at the links caddying for the golfers. Even in Plainfield some of the boys are able to earn considerable money by this means.

W. E. Lowe, of Park avenue, has purchased a new saddle horse for the use of his sons.

The big race meet planned to be held at the Highland Park track in September by the New Brunswick Driving Association has been declared off. The time for receiving the entries was up Saturday night. All the events did not fill. The association could not afford to run the meet with a slim entry list. Purses of $4,500 had been offered. The meet was intended to last three days, September 3, 4 and 5.

A Comparison Not Odious.

Vesuvius, the celebrated Italian volcano, is 3,932 feet high. In matter of price coal never gets as high as that at the mart of Geo. O. Stevens & Co., but in grade of excellence it overtops that by at least a yard; we mean a coal-yard, of course.

MISSING WATCHMAN FOUND.

His Mind a Blank, He Denies He Is Himself.

Hugh Reilly, the night watchman for D. Willis James, of Madison, who disappeared mysteriously Monday night while on duty, was found yesterday in Basking Ridge.

Raymond Trozwell, a hotel proprietor there, read in a newspaper the description of Reilly, and found it tallied with a man who came to his place on Tuesday barefooted, carrying his shoes and stockings. He notified Chief of Police Coonan, of Madison, who drove to Basking Ridge and recognized Reilly as his brother-in-law.

Reilly's mind is a blank. He claims to be Edward Harrison, an employe of Dr. Leslie D. Ward, and denies he is himself.

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

OPEN-AIR BAND CONCERT LAST EVENING WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

They Cannot be Continued, However, If More Funds are Not Subscribed—A Plan Suggested.

Five thousand people gathered last evening for the open-air band concert held in front of the Hotel Kensington on North avenue. It was like the crowds that have assembled for the previous concerts, large and unwieldy, but good natured. The night was cool and comfortable and the musical programme gave general satisfaction. LaVere's band made its usual good showing and gave a varied assortment of selections.

The usual quota of strangers came by trolley, carriage and wheel. The young people predominated and the usual crowd of small boys insisted upon pushing their way through the crowd, back and forth, while the wiser ones secured a comfortable standing place and listened to the music.

It is the desire of Leader LaVere to continue the concerts through September but the financial support is lacking. The concerts cannot be held if the necessary expenses are not provided for. Some of Mr. LaVere's friends have suggested that it would be a proper thing to have some half dozen men pass through the crowd on the occasion of the concerts and receive any little amounts that the spectators might be willing to donate. The plan will be tried next week. If each person in the crowd should give even a few pennies, the $100 necessary to run the concerts to the end of September will be forthcoming. It is to be hoped that nobody will dodge the man with the hat next Friday evening, but will contribute something, no matter how small, to provide this means of entertainment for the Plainfield public.

PASSENGER TRAIN RUNS WILD.

Engineer Falls From Cab While Going at a High Rate of Speed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Matawan, Aug. 18.—John Rich, engineer of the New Jersey Central train from Point Pleasant to New York, which is due here at 7:51 p. m., fell from the cab last night between Middletown station and Matawan while running at a high rate of speed. The engine is of a new type and the cabs of the fireman and engineer are some distance apart. After Rich fell the train ran several miles with no hand on the throttle. Finally John Mulford, the fireman, crawled forward to the driver's cab and brought the train to a stop just as it reached Matawan Junction.

An engine was sent back to look for Rich and he was found unconscious at the side of the track between Middletown and Hazlet. He is injured internally.

Bicyclist Injured.

While attempting to avoid running into a trolley car on Somerset street, as he was turning into that thoroughfare from Chatham street at 1 o'clock this afternoon, William Rutman, of Manning avenue, ran into the horse attached to the wagon of Wm. Krausse, a plumber, of Vine street. He was knocked from his wheel and badly cut about the head and neck. The wheels of the wagon also passed over his body. He was carried into Zeller & White's store and Dr. Pittis summoned, who dressed his wounds. The injuries are not serious.

No Bouquets Passed Here.

Cranford's official boards are not extending bouquets to each other. At the last meeting of the Township Committee the committee informed Township Counsel S. J. Cox that he should advise the Board of Education when it needed advice. When Mr. Cox made a tender of his service to the Board of Education, he was told that the Township Committee had nothing to do with procuring counsel for the board, and when it wanted advice the members were free to seek it where they chose. Mr. Cox said he didn't care.

Nothing but Smoke.

Considerable excitement was caused in the West End this morning by what appeared to be a fire in Joseph Johnson's brass foundry on Pond place. After a great deal of running and inquiring, during which time an alarm came near being sent in, the more curious ones discovered the trouble. Some hot brass had gotten mixed with some phosphorous, causing a great deal of smoke, but no fire.

Praises the Hospital.

Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, who has been in Muhlenberg Hospital for a short time under treatment, was able to go home this morning. He is loud in his praise of the treatment received at the hospital, and says that it is the only place to go when ill.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The famous original comedians, Muaray and Mack, will be with us once again to play an engagement at Music Hall, Tuesday night. These original comedians have accomplish wonders in their line, this being the ninth consecutive season they have toured this country, making the theatre-going public laugh. They have been successful from the start. One of the great secrets of the phenomenal prosperity of this firm is that it has always been their endeavor to give to the public for every dollar invested more than a dollar's worth of entertainment. How well they have succeeded in this is attested to in the wonderful popularity and financial success they have met with from year to year. This season they present for your approval the up to-date farce, "Finnigan's 400," by that clever young author, George H. Emerick. Although the title is not new, the farce has been improved and polished up-to-date, presenting startling novelities overflowing with witty flings and brilliant originalities. In the cast are such well-known comedians and comediannes as James Dooling, Frank Walters, Joe Conlan, Mayme Taylor, Kittie Beck, Hulda Halvers, Rilla Ward, Louise Leroy, Annie Goodwin, Kate Dahl, Maude Gierson, Florence Gierson and a chorus of twelve winsome maidens.

WELCOME TO JUSTICE FORT.

Makes First Appearance in the Middlesex Circuit and is Warmly Greeted.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 18.—Supreme Court Justice J. Franklin Fort, who succeeded Judge Collins as the Circuit Judge in Middlesex and Monmouth counties, made his first appearance in Middlesex yesterday to hear motions and cases. He greeted his friends among the lawyers, and a round robin of introductions followed.

After taking his seat Justice Fort called the reporters up to the bench, shook each of them by the hand, expressed himself as glad to make their acquaintance and hoped that his relations with the reporters and newspapers in Middlesex county would be as pleasant as they had always been in Essex.

Justice Fort's first case was a request for an order permitting The Daily Fredonian of this city to change its name to The Daily Press. The order was granted. Several other motions in cases of minor importance were heard and the court adjourned.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

An Echo From Josh.

Josh Billings once remarked that "there are two things in life for which we are never fully prepared, and these are twins." There are twins and twins, however. The eyes, for instance, are twins, and for their needs we should always be prepared, that they may be a comfort and a blessing to us to the end of our days. This is just what your eyes will prove to you if by a visit to Collier's you learn how to care for them.

An Unruly Girl.

At the request of the parents, Mayor Smalley had Ella Gondron, an Italian girl living on Watchung avenue, placed in the borough lockup last night. She was released this morning. The girl has been unruly and inclined to be wild. If she persists in following her present course she will be sent to the State Industrial School at Trenton.

SOCIAL LIFE AT THE NETHERWOOD.

Some of Those Who are Taking a Prominent Part in the Summer Activity There.

SUBSCRIPTION HOP COMING.

WILL BE HELD SATURDAY NIGHT FOR BENEFIT OF HOTEL ORCHESTRA.

Big Throng at the Formal Hop Last Saturday—Plainfield Society Was Represented—Some of the Prominent Guests at the Hotel.

Upon the heights at Netherwood the summer social season is in full swing. Under the hospitable roof of the Hotel Netherwood there are gathered some of the best families of New York, Brooklyn and Washington society. There isn't a vacant roof in all that big hotel and the two hundred guests assembled there do not let a day pass without some new plan or project arranged for their pleasure. Those of Plainfield society, who are spending August at home, have found the hostelry a delightful place to gather.

There is something happening at the hotel every day. With such a jolly crowd of young people it could hardly be otherwise. Young women there are, and unusually pretty too, while for young men, the Netherwood is far more fortunate than most of the summer hotels as the convenience to New York and the good train service enables them to commute to and from their business daily.

The great event of this week is the subscription hop Saturday evening for the benefit of the hotel orchestra, the Orpheus Club, which is composed of young men from the Pennsylvania State College. The formal Saturday night hops are a regular feature, but the dance this week is expected to outrival them all. The guests will give it their united support, and such Plainfielders as have been in the habit of attending the others have promised to aid in having this one a success. A large committee of guests are in charge, with Acton Poulet as treasurer.

Saturday evening saw the usual throng for the weekly hop. It was delightfully cool on the broad verandas, and even the ball room was tempered by the cool breezes.

There are a number of charming and beautiful young women sojourning at the hotel, but there are a few whose popularity in the ballroom and out have given them special prominence. Miss Hoehling, daughter of Dr. Hoehling, U. S. N., of Washington, D. C., is one of the most popular young women at the hotel. She is a blonde of charming manner and with a sweet womanly dignity that has made her a particular favorite with the older set as well as with her companions. Another charming young woman from Washington is Miss Woodward, daughter of Col. Woodward, U. S. A.

Miss Bertha Agevine, one of Brooklyn's belles, is easily one of the best and most graceful dancers at the hotel. She is also a blonde and a delightful conversationalist.

Of the brunettes Miss Mildred Williams, daughter of Adjutant General Williams, U. S. A., of Washington, is one of the most popular. She is a pleasing dancer and is much sought after by the young men. Miss Dickson, of Brooklyn, is another brunette whose popularity is unquestioned, although she has only been at the hotel a short time.

There are a number of New York's best families who are now quartered at The Netherwood and find it a delightful place for a summer sojourn. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Cammann, Mr. and Mrs. Louis de L. Cammann, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cunningham and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vaughn. J. Lynch Pendergtst, secretary of the National Safe Deposit Company, and his sister are at the hotel. W. V. R. Smith, a partner of The Arbuckles, is spending August at The Netherwood with his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark and their son and daughter are also among the prominent New Yorkers registered. S. H. Parsons, a New York broker, commutes daily, while his wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Spencer, are guests at The Netherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Faber are among the leaders in the colony of New Yorkers. Friday evening they gave a dinner party in the palm garden in honor of Mrs. Faber's birthday. Covers were laid for twenty-four and it proved one of the most elaborate affairs of the kind held at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ogden, of New

DESPICABLE ACT OF WHICH PERCY CANNON IS THE VICTIM.

His Chicken Coop Raided Last Night and a Number of Fowls Missing.

Percy Cannon, the blind boy, who lives in the Eight Row, near Dunellen, with his widowed mother, was the victim last night of a most despicable act on the part of some miscreant totally without conscience. In order to make a living for himself and his mother, Mr. Cannan works early and late caneing chairs. Between times he devotes his attention in raising a few chickens, the eggs of which help him in his struggle. The blind man is careful that his chickens do not annoy his neighbors and has them carefully locked up most of the time.

On going to the coop this morning he found the entire lot had been liberated with the exception of two whose heads had been taken off. Just how many are missing he is unable to tell.

That any person could stoop so low as to steal a blind man's chickens seems beyond belief, but such is the fact.

MANY MOURNERS.

Large Attendance at the Funeral Services Over the Remains of the Mrs. Waglow.

Long before the appointed hour for the funeral services of the late Mrs. William F. Waglow yesterday, the Hope Memorial chapel was filled to overflowing with sorrowing friends who had come to witness the face of the departed for last time on earth. The services were conducted by Rev. G. K. Newell. He spoke in a touching manner of the happy home in which death had so rudely entered and taken the young wife away. He extended cheering words of comfort to the bereaved husband and said that although the departed had gone from the earth it was but to a new life. Mortality, he said, was not swallowed up in death, but in life. At the conclusion of Mr. Newell's remarks, a quartette composed of Mrs. Firstbrook, Mrs. Westphal, Joseph Martin and John Young, sang in a sweet and touching manner "Nearer My God to Thee and "Meet Me There." The floral tributes were numerous and very pretty. The most noticeable were a large anchor from her family and several pillows from near relatives. The pall bearers were William Clifton, Robert Keenan, Phillip Giese, Phillip Mitze, David Lawson and Benjamin Pizie. The interment was made in the family vault in the Methodist Cemetery.

WAGON WAS UPSET.

Brooklyn Woman the Victim of Carelessness on the Part of a Driver.

Mrs. Cornish, of Brooklyn, who is summering at Gillette, met with an accident Saturday afternoon on West Front street, near Rowley's drug store. She and some relatives drove to Plainfield with a team of horses. They stopped on Front street and all but Mrs. Cornish left the wagon. She remained to wait for the rest of the party. Some unknown person going west on Front street drove into the wagon occupied by Mrs. Cornish, and upset it. Mrs. Cornish was thrown on the sidewalk with much force.

People nearby assisted her and turned her wagon right side up. She was taken to Rowley's drug store, where it was learned that her injuries consisted of several bruises about the head. The proper treatment was given and Mrs. Cornish was able to return soon afterward.

BALL HIT HIM ON THE NOSE.

Michael O'Keefe Too Much Interested in a Newspaper to Notice His Danger.

During a lull in the ball game between the Arion and St. Mary's nines Saturday, Michael O'Keefe, of West Fifth street, drew a paper from his pocket and started to read. O'Keefe became so interested that he failed to notice the game resume. He was rudely interrupted in his reading by being struck upon the nose with a foul ball. It hit with such force as to burst two small blood vessels, which bled profusely. He hurried to Dr. VanHorn's office and had the injury dressed. Hereafter O'Keefe will take a more secluded spot in which to read his paper.

TROLLEY STRUCK HORSE.

Accident That Occurred on the Arlington Avenue Line Last Saturday Evening.

What came near being a serious accident took place on the Arlington avenue line of the street railway Saturday night. A car bound for the depot was bowling along at a high rate of speed when, at the corner of Fifth street, it struck a horse attached to a Newark moving van.

The driver was about to cross the track when he saw the car approaching and attempted to turn out. He was not quick enough, however, and the animal was struck in the front feet and shoulders. It was quite badly cut and necessitated the attendance of a veterinary. The driver was able to start for home later.

Had the horse been a little further on the track, he would undoubtedly been killed or badly injured as the witnesses declare the car was going at a very great speed. The residents of that section state that it is very seldom a car slackens up when making this crossing.

THIEF SWAPPED WHEELS

EDSON DAVIS AND CHARLES G. EMBLETON THE VICTIMS.

Stranger Abandoned Bicycle at Thorn's Shop, But it Was Not the Stolen One.

The bicycle thief has been at work again. This time he tried his hand at swapping wheels. Chas. G. Embleton, the well-known Westfield rider, lost his Pierce racer, while Edson Davis, whose Featherstone wheel was stolen from in front of the Y. M. C. A. building Friday afternoon, is rejoicing over the recovery of his bicycle. The police thought they had found Embleton's property, but they didn't.

A young man, tall and dressed in dark clothes, walked into Wesley Robinson's repair shop at Westfield Friday afternoon and wanted Robinson to put a spoke in a wheel for him. Robinson was busy at the time and said that he could not do it then. The stranger walked away.

Embleton was in the back room of the store playing pool at the time, but a short time later he walked out to find his Pierce wheel missing and a Featherstone in its place. The missing wheel was a last season's Pierce racer with white rims and Embleton has been using it to train on this season.

Detective John M. C. Marsh, of Westfield, was notified and made an effort to find the missing property.

Saturday afternoon a strange young man, tall and dressed in blue, went into Clarence Thorn's repair shop on Park avenue, this city, and wanted to sell a Pierce wheel to Thorn for $4. Thorn refused to buy it and the young man left the wheel there to be sold if possible He explained that he wanted to sell the wheel as he was going to purchase another from Bachelor, of the Pond Tool Works. He said that Bachelor had already put a tire on for him. Then the young man went away.

The attempt to sell the Pierce wheel was learned by the police and it was supposed, of course, that Embleton's missing one had been located. A friend of Embleton's came to Plainfield this morning and discovered that the wheel at Thorn's was not the one stolen in Westfield at all. The former was much older and did not have white rims.

The young man who left the wheel at Thorn's, has not put in an appearance since he left the wheel Saturday afternoon. The police are now looking for Embleton's mount.

CONVERTED HEBREW SPOKE.

Rev. James Rosendale Conducted Meeting at Westfield Camp.

Rev. James Rosendale, a converted Hebrew, accompanied by his wife, and two daughters, also Hebrews, had charge of the 4 o'clock meeting yesterday afternoon at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, and the largest crowd yet recorded was present. Mr. Rosendale spoke of "The Land and the Book," and he told considerable about the customs in his native land, explaining many difficult things recorded in the Bible. He and his family also sang hymns in Hebrew, Greek and English. The service was one of the most interesting and helpful yet held, and the collection amounted to $25.

Mr. Rosendale and his family have been secured to come to Plainfield during the third week in September and take part in a meeting to be held under the auspices of the local union Christian Endeavor.

—Several members of the local G. A. R. are making arrangements to attend the National Encampment to be held in Chicago soon.

FRIENDS TO RESCUE OF GAY POLANDER.

Girl Who Accuses Him of Playing Her False is Now Under Arrest.

ACCUSE HER OF PERJURY.

EXCITING TIME IN THE NEW BRUNSWICK COURTS.

Sheriff's Office Refused to Permit Prisoner to Leave the Jail to Attend Hearing to be Held by Justice Weaver.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 20—The wife and brother of Watislorf Vinnepsky, together with sundry other relations, are making a determined effort to save that young Polander from State prison. They are going to prove, if possible, that Vinnepsky is not the man at all who made violent love to Mary Vilcovi and then robbed her of $404 in cash and a gold watch, as she charges. The opposing sides had an encounter here in the Sheriff's office Friday with exciting results.

It will be remembered that Vinnepsky was arrested in Camden last week and brought to this city by Roundsman Mattox, of the Plainfield police force, on a warrant issued by Justice Weaver, of South Plainfield.

At that time Vinnepsky was brought before Justice Housell and committed for a hearing. The Justice neglected to say who the hearing was to be be before, so Friday morning when Justice Weaver came here to give Vinnepsky an examination, the authorities at the County Jail refused to turn him over without an order from Justice Housell who committed him.

The examination before Justice Weaver was set down for Friday morning at 10 o'clock, but the hearing wasn't likely to be a success without the prisoner and the affair was laid over until that afternoon.

The complaining witness, Mary Vilcovi, appeared for the hearing in the afternoon, but the other witnesses for the State, who had been summoned by subpoenas, failed to turn up. Lawyer William Newcorn, who appeared in behalf of Mary Vilcovi, asked for an adjournment until today, which was granted after much wrangling between the lawyers and justice. Vinnepsky was held in $1,000 bail.

Lawyer H. B. Cook, attorney for the prisoner, then hurried before Justice Sedan near by and had the wife of the prisoner swear out a complaint against Mary Vilcovi for perjury, charging her with testifying falsely against Vinnepsky. Lawyer Newcorn suspected that something was happening and instructed his client to depart.

When Miss Vilcovi attempted to leave the Sheriff's office it is alleged that one of the constables there barred the exit and detained her in the room until the complaint against her was drawn and the warrant ready to serve. She was then arrested and held before Justice Sedan.

Lawyer Newcorn demanded an immediate examination which was refused and Lawyer Cook asked that the hearing be set down for this morning at the same hour that Justice Weaver had fixed for the examination of Vinnepsky at South Plainfield. His request was not granted, however, and the hearing in Miss Vilcovi's case was set for tomorrow morning. She was held in $100, which was furnished by her attorney.

NO LIABILITIES NOW.

Aaron D. Thompson Discharged From Bankruptcy After a Hard Contest.

Last Monday the United States District Court at Trenton made an order discharging Aaron D. Thompson, of this city, from bankruptcy, thus terminating one of the most important cases which has come before it under the new bankruptcy act. The case was conducted by Reed & Coddington, of this city, and the discharge was vigorously opposed by several influential creditors, including the Mutual Life Insurance Company, but without avail. Mr. Thompson is now freed from all his old liabilities which he could not pay, and can begin life anew with a prospect of becoming a substantial citizen.

City Judge Away on His Vacation.

City Judge Wm. N. Runyon left Saturday morning on his vacation. He went to Onteora, a little settlement principally of literary people in the Catskills, where he will be the guest of an old college friend who has a cottage there. The Judge expects to be absent for two weeks, during which time Mayor Rockfellow will preside over the city court and administer justice.

SHORT IN ACCOUNTS?

Westbrook, Accused of Having Taken $4,200 from Railroad Company, Declares He is Innocent.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 20.—Lewis E. Westbrook, the former ticket agent of the Grand Trunk Railroad in New York who disappeared a month ago, came to his home in Westfield Friday afternoon, in the company of an officer. Westbrook visited a number of his friends and endeavored to raise $2,500 to pay to the surety company which was on his bond. It is said there is another claim by the surety company of $1,700, which antedates the $2,500, but which, Westbrook stated, the company would allow to remain unsettled for awhile if he could raise the $2,500.

It is said that Westbrook admitted there was a shortage of $4,200 in his accounts, but he claimed he was not responsible for it, charging the shortage on another official of the railway company. He declared that he was innocent of any wrong doing and that he would stand trial and prove his innocence. He remained here only a short time, when he departed for Plainfield in the company of the officer.

DANDY CONSTABLE THIS.

ARRESTED GIRL IN CITY AND LOCKED HER UP IN THE BOROUGH.

Gjettleson Was Too Officious and He May Find That He Has Got Himself in Trouble.

In the arrest of Mary Dantz, aged 14 years, last Friday night by Constable Gjettleson, it would appear as though that officer has made trouble for himself. The girl was walking in this city with her parents when there was a little trouble between the trio and the girl ran off. She was arrested by the constable, apparently without any authority, and taken before City Judge Runyon. The latter refused to have anything to do with the case, as there did not appear to be any charge against her. The constable then took the girl into the borough and placed her in the lockup there, where she remained until Saturday morning, when she was taken before Justice Smalley.

Law student Willie Sweeney was asked to defend the girl and he appeared before the court for that purpose. A brief examination disclosed the fact that there was no charge or complaint against the girl, and it was soon proven that the constable had no right to arrest the girl in the city and lock her up in the borough. At the request of the counsel Justice Smalley released the girl and she was allowed to depart. It now appeares that the girl has a good case against the constable, and it is quite likely that it will be prosecuted. So far as can be learned the constable did not have the authority to act as he did.

THE TRUE RELIGION.

The Definition Given by Robert E. Speer in the Y. M. C. A. Yesterday Afternoon.

The announcement that Robert E. Speer, of New York, was to speak in the Y. M. C. A. Hall yesterday afternoon, was enough to fill it with a very large and appreciative audience. Mr. Speer's reputation as a speaker is well-known in Plainfield, and his talk yesterday proved that he is deserving of it. As a further treat for his listeners Mr. Speer repeated the talk which he gave at the Northfield conference, and which Dwight L. Moody declared was the finest of the large number given there. His subject was "Unspottedness," and the text was from James 1:27.

People have many different ideas as to what religion is, he said, but there is only one religion. It does not consist of listening to creeds and attending revivals, which last for a few moments, but it is the stern reality in the definition given by James, which is cleanliness before the Father. He dwelt between the clean and unclean men in this world and told of the different places prepared for them, which, he said, must be one or the other.

The attention of his audience was held from start to finish, and at the conclusion of Mr. Speer's talk all were greatly impressed by his convictions.

4,000 go to Mauch Chunk.

Nearly 4,000 people attended the excursion of the Central Railroad to Mauch Chunk yesterday, which is the largest number ever taken to this place by any railroad. It took five sections to convey them and even then the cars were over crowded and many had difficulty in getting seats. There were 142 tickets sold at the Plainfield station. This was the last popular excursion of the season by way of the Central, the one next Sunday going by way of the Lehigh.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER.

EXCITING ARREST OF A COLORED MAN IN THE BOROUGH.

Wrong Man Accused and Now it is Said That He Will Sue Marshal Baglin for $1,000 Damages.

An exciting time was witnessed in the borough late Saturday night when Special Marshal Baglin arrested Henry Freeman on suspicion of being wanted for murder in Buffalo. A description of the colored man wanted has been sent all over the country. Saturday evening when the marshals went on duty Chief Campbell gave the description to them, instructing them to arrest any person on suspicion who tallied with the description.

Freeman and his wife live at 64 Somerset street, adjoining Theo. Zeller's place, and it was rather late when the latter walked to a nearby place to buy some peanuts. The husband walked behind his wife and waited outside the store while the purchase was being made. It was at this time that Marshal Baglin came along and the description he had in his mind tallied precisely with this fellow. He questioned the man and as the answers were rather vague, the officer made up his mind that he would arrest Freeman as a suspicious character.

Then the trouble began. The suspicioned man objected to being arrested, and his wife protested vigorously. Then a large crowd of colored people gathered and they attempted to prevent the arrest of their friend. Marshal Baglin was determined to arrest the man, and he did not propose to have any trouble if possible. He then drew forth his revolver and told the crowd to stand back, which it did very quickly. Freeman and his wife were both arrested and locked up for awhile. Later Chief Campbell appeared and, knowing both Freeman and his wife and knowing that they were innocent of the crime, he dismissed them and they went home.

This morning it was reported that Freeman was about to sue the borough for $1,000 for false imprisonment. He has had a consultation with a lawyer, but no definite information regarding the suit can be obtained at present.

TROUBLE AT A RACE.

The Twenty-five Mile Bicycle Contest Over the Elizabeth-Rahway Course Ends in Protests.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 20.—The twenty-five-mile bicycle race Saturday afternoon on the Elizabeth-Rahway course resulted in a first-class "scrap," and protests are flying as thick as mosquitoes on a damp dav. The race, which was nominally under the auspices of the American Century Wheelman, was promoted by the proprietor of the St. George Hotel, in front of which was the start and finish.

There were twenty-six starters, and the handicap ranged up to seven minutes. C. J. Campbell, 6 minutes, finished first; Edward Warren, 6 minutes, second; James Waller, 6 minutes, third, and Charles Van Deveer, of Cranford, 7 minutes, fourth. The time given was 1 hour 1 minute, which with five turns and a slow road would be remarkable time but for the fact that the measure twenty-five mile course was not followed.

The protests filed after the race refer to pacing and the three first men will probably be disqualified. The claim is that the second bunch of riders was paced by a tandem until it reached the first bunch. The three first men were in the second bunch. It is also claimed that one or more of the scratch men were paced. Nicholas Pfenffer, who was looked on as good for first place, was put out of the race by his wheel breaking. The handicapping, which was done by H. C. Trautmann, A. C. W., was not a success.

Struck by a Trolley Car.

John Ciesco, aged 22 years, a German, residing at Bound Brook, was struck by a Brunswick Traction Company trolley car at Bound Brook yesterday morning about 1 o'clock, and was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital about two hours later by some friends. Ciesco was severly injured, although not fatally. The story concerning the accident as told by those present is that the man fell in the street near the trolley tracks and when the trolley car came along the motorman did not see him soon enough to prevent striking him. Ciesco sustained several scalp wounds, his collar bone was broken, his eyes were almost closed, and the skin was scraped from his back. Owing to these injuries it is difficult for Ciesco to find a comfortable position.

PLAYED TWICE FOR CHALLENGE TROPHY.

W. J. R Thiers Met and Defeated E. I. Serrell and William A. Townsend Saturday Afternoon

BOTH MAY COUNT FOR HIM.

WILLIAM R. FABER'S VICTORY PUT HIM IN LEAD FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP.

Edgar I. Serrell Had Second Low Net Score and Is Only Half a Point Behind Faber—Fine Weather for Golfing Saturday.

W. J. R. Thiers had to play two matches of eighteen holes each Saturday afternoon in defence of the green committee challenge trophy on the links of the Park Golf Club but, by good golf, he managed to win both of them and is now in the lead for that trophy.

Thiers won the trophy two weeks ago from Morgan T. Townsend, who was then the holder. He successfully held it against William M. McCutchen a week ago. William A. Townsend was next on the list of challengers and his turn came Saturday. Towsend has been away for two weeks and did not return until early Saturday afternoon. It was supposed that he would default his match and so Thiers played Edgar I. Serrell, the next on the list of challengers. After Thiers had defeated Serrell two up and one to go in a hard fought match, he found that Townsend was waiting for him.

Thiers and Townsend then played their match and Thiers was again victorious, this time six up and five to go. Thiers still holds the trophy but it is a question, which the green committee will have to decide, whether or not the match with Serrell will count or have to be played over next Saturday. The general opinion seemed to be that it would be allowed to count and that Thiers would go up against the next challenger next Saturday.

The match between Thiers and Serrell was decidedly exciting. Serrell is somewhat erratic in his playing but he gave Thiers a hard fight. At the end of the first round they were even up and it was only by good golf that Thiers managed to lead by two up and one to play. Thiers gross score was 95 and Serrell was only three strokes worse.

William A. Townsend was not at his best and lacked practice. Thiers had him four up at the end of the first nine holes and increased the lead to six by the time they had completed the eighteen. Thiers made a 50 and a 48.

If both of Thiers' wins are allowed, he will have six victories for the challenge trophy to his credit. Otherwise he will have but five. Counting both victories for Thiers, the standing for that trophy is now as now as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	4
Morgan T. Townsend	6
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1

There was the regular weekly play for the president's cup, but the field of players was smaller than usual. There were not a dozen registered and only six cards came in. William R. Faber made a brace and took first honors with a net score of 88. Edgar I. Serrell's handicap of 6 put him in second place with 91 net while W. J. R. Thiers, the only scratch man to finish, was tied for third with H. D. Hibbard. Morgan T. Townsend came home just in time to play, but his vacation had evidently played havoc with his game and he did not turn in his card.

W. R. Faber's victory has placed him in the lead for the president's cup. He rose from third place to first with 8½ points while Edgar I. Serrell, who was tied for first place with Morgan T. Townsend, is now a close second with 8 points. M. T. Townsend is third. The next few weeks promise some interesting contests for the cup.

The scores for the cup Saturday were:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
William R. Faber	103	15	88
Edgar I. Serrell	97	6	91
William J. R. Thiers	94	0	94
H. D. Hibbard	102	8	94
S. St. John McCutchen	111	15	96
Allan B. Laing	119	15	104

The standing for the president's cup is as follows:

Wm. R. Faber	8½
Edgar I. Serrell	8
Morgan T. Townsend	6
Charles A. Reed	5½
W. J. R. Thiers	4½
George T. Rogers	4
S. St. J. McCutchen	3 5-6
H. D. Hibbard	3½
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Werth	3
Meredith Dryden	3
J. H. Simpson	3
W. de la R. Anderson	3
Allan B. Laing	3

POWERS MAKES A STATEMENT.

Says Trial by Which He Was Convicted Was a Judicial Farce.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 20.—Caleb Powers has issued a statement as follows:

"I am asked my opinion concerning my trial and the verdict of the jury. Could I have but one opinion? Can any fair minded man or woman of this state have but one? That one of the greatest judicial farces known to history has been enacted here in my trial under the forms of law no well informed man can doubt. Innocence is no shield with $100,000 and the methods of Campbellism against you. The rectitude of one's past life counts for naught. They say Taylor is guilty because he was at his office and that I am guilty because I was away from mine.

"This has been a political trial throughout for political purposes, and no greater mistake has been made by the Democratic party since they robbed us of the offices to which we were fairly elected by the people. There are good men and noble women in the Democratic party, and many of them. They are not all bad. Far from it. A great many of them do not indorse the theft of the state offices. A great many more will not indorse this mockery of a trial, this prostitution of the courts of justice for certain ends. From the beginning of the campaign until now I have stood with what little of merit I have had for the rights and liberties of the people. That is my crime. That is the only offense I have committed. That is the only thing proved against me. I swore to that myself in my testimony. I have never had and I now have no apology to make for being true to the trust imposed upon me by a majority of the voters of this state. History will draw its dark lines around those who have outraged me and disgraced the judiciary and blackened the history of the state."

THE CUBAN TEACHERS.

Their Experiences In Washington. General Cisneros Warmly Greeted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—With cheers for Cuba, the United States and President McKinley and last, if not least, their hosts, the people of the District of Columbia, the 1,400 Cuban schoolteachers left the city at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon over the Pennsylvania railroad for New York. After the greater portion of the week spent there and in Philadelphia the entire party will embark on transports for Havana. The visitors were tired out thoroughly by their experiences of Saturday and enjoyed a good rest.

Yesterday their programme was a short one. After an early breakfast most of them attended a solemn requiem mass at St. Patrick's church. After church they returned to the hotels, where they were grouped in squads and taken to the capitol, arriving there about 10 o'clock. The building was thrown open to the visitors, and a detachment of guards was on hand to escort them.

The Cubans affectionately greeted General Cisneros, the former president of Cuba, who is in the city. Many of them threw their arms around the old veteran's neck and covered his gray bearded face with kisses. The mention of his name was a signal for a vociferous demonstration, ending in cheers for the future "president of Cuba." The whole party are delighted with their experiences in all the American cities they have visited and with their reception by the president.

Cuban Teachers In New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Cuban teachers who, after spending some time in and about Boston, passed through this city Friday on their way to Washington reached Jersey City last evening on the return trip. Ferryboats were in waiting, and the teachers at once went on board them and started down the river for the transports on which they came from Boston to remain for the night. This morning they came up to the city, where elaborate arrangements had been made to entertain them.

For Grand Army Commander.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The Chronicle says: "Major Leo Rausseur of St. Louis will be elected commander in chief of the Grand Army at the national encampment week after next. The other candidates for the place have one after another withdrawn from the race, and Saturday the only one in the field was the St. Louis man, who is now a judge on the bench. Unless the unexpected should happen Major Rausseur will have no opposition. The position belongs to the west this year in accordance with the accepted rule of rotation in office."

FIGHTING IN PEKING.

Allies Bombard the Inner or "Forbidden City."

CHAFFEE CONFIRMS FORMER REPORTS

American Casualties Slight—Empress Dowager Said to Have Been Detained—Japanese Account of the Capture of the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—From General Chaffee yesterday the war department received official confirmation of the fall of Peking and the rescue of the besieged legationers.

The dispatch of the American commander was not long and contained few details, but the unconcealed satisfaction with which it was received by officials of the administration indicated clearly the anxiety that had been engendered by his prolonged silence. His last communication to the government prior to the receipt of these advices was dated Aug. 11 at Matow, almost 30 miles from Peking. The explanation of his silence is suggested in advices received by the navy department from Admiral Remey, who, telegraphing from Taku on the 18th, says the telegraph line between that point and Peking is interrupted.

The cablegram from Admiral Remey contains some important information not mentioned by General Chaffee. He makes the startling statement, on Japanese authority, that the inner city of Peking was being bombarded by the allied forces. Admiral Remey says also that the dowager empress is detained in the inner city by Prince Yungedo.

Advices received from the foreign office at Tokyo by the Japanese legation in this city confirm and amplify previous accounts of the capture of Peking by the allied troops.

Following is the text of the dispatch from General Chaffee, dated Aug. 19, at Chefu, as made public by the war department:

"Peking, Aug. 15.—We entered legations' grounds at 5 o'clock last night with Fourteenth and light battery. Eight wounded during day's fighting; otherwise all well."

The dispatch, which was received during the morning, was transmitted immediately to the president at the White House. He expressed his gratification at the news it contained, particularly at the small loss sustained by the American troops. A copy of the dispatch likewise was sent to Adjutant General Corbin, who is in New York.

It will be noted that the dispatch indicates that the American troops entered the legations' grounds at 5 o'clock on the evening of the 14th inst. By the Washington officials and by the several legation officials to whom it was shown the date of General Chaffee's communication is regarded as an error of transmission. It is believed that the word "fifteenth" should be "sixteenth."

All previous advices, official and unofficial, have indicated that the legations were relieved on the evening of the 15th, Wednesday, after a day of sharp fighting. Minister Wu, the Chinese representative, and Minister Takahira of Japan were quite positive on this point, all their official advices being that entrance to the city of Peking was effected early in the evening of Wednesday, the 15th inst.

The fact that only the Fourteenth infantry and Riley's battery entered the city, as shown by General Chaffee's dispatch, does not indicate that the Ninth infantry and the marines, who were so conspicuously gallant throughout the advance upon the capital, did not participate in the engagement which resulted directly in the rescue of the besieged legationers. It is pointed out as likely that General Chaffee, acting in consonance with the other commanders, divided his force, leaving the Ninth infantry and the marines without the walls of the city to act as a rear guard to prevent the escape of Chinese troops by other gates than those through which the allies entered or for some other excellent reason. Only two battalions of the Fourteenth regiment are with General Chaffee. They comprise about 800 men. This would indicate that only about one-third of General Chaffee's force actually had entered the city at the time he sent his dispatch. The fact that only eight of the American force were wounded, none being killed, is regarded as notably fortunate.

Admiral Remey's dispatch, which contains much interesting information in few words, is as follows:

"Taku, 18th.—Telegraph line to Peking interrupted. Information, Japanese sources, empress dowager detained by Prince Yungedo, inner city, which is being bombarded by allies. Chaffee reports entered legation grounds evening 14th. Eight wounded during day's fighting; otherwise all well."

The startling feature of the dispatch is that fighting within the city of Peking was continuing, according to the advices of Admiral Remey. The inner, or, as it is popularly known, the Forbidden City, evidently had not been taken. It is surrounded by a massive wall of solid masonry more than 20 feet high, and it is not regarded as surprising that the Chinese should make their final stand within its shadows.

Prior to the receipt of the dispatch it was accepted generally as a fact that the dowager empress, in company with the emperor and a large suit, had left Peking. While nothing is said in Admiral Remey's advices as to the whereabouts of the emperor, it is deemed scarcely probable that he left the city without the dowager empress. Some doubt of the accuracy of the information received by Admiral Remey is expressed, particularly as the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu, is very positive that the emperor, dowager empress and the entire Chinese court left Peking before the arrival at the gates of the allies.

Minister Wu said he had official advices to the effect that the emperor and dowager empress had gone from Peking to the province of Shen-si, a considerable distance west of the capital city. He had not been advised to what city they had gone, but it seemed probable that their destination was the capital of Shen-si province. The minister believed they were entirely out of danger. The statement that the dowager empress was detained by Prince Yungedo, therefore, gave him little concern, although he expressed some interest in it. He said there was no Chinese Prince Yungedo.

It is not a Chinese name. It might be, the minister thought, a Japanese name, but personally he knew of no such person.

At the Japanese legation the dispatch of Admiral Remey was read quite naturally with the deepest interest. There, too, it was said that Yungedo was not a Chinese name. No Japanese official of that name was known to the legation attaches. Their solution of the question raised by the dispatch was that the name should be Yung Lu. He is the commander in chief of the imperial Chinese troops and is said to have strong pro-foreign inclinations and sympathies.

Peking comprises practically four cities in one. In extent of area it is about the size of New York city. The four segments of it are the Chinese city, the Tartar city, the Imperial city and the Forbidden city. The last is the "inner city" mentioned in Admiral Remey's dispatch and is the residence of the emperor and the seat of the imperial court. Nobody is allowed within its massive walls except by special permission of the emperor or empress dowager. The foreigners who have entered its gates are comparatively few in number. The imperial city is occupied only by the highest Chinese officials and members and attaches of the imperial court. Further information as to the reported bombardment will be awaited with keen interest.

The Japanese consul at Chefu wired the Japanese legation here, under date Aug. 17, to the following effect:

"The foreign forces attacked on the eastern side of Peking Wednesday morning. The enemy obstinately resisted. In the evening the Japanese blew up the Chiao Yang gate and the Tung Chih gate of the Tartar city and succeeded in entering. In the meantime other foreign forces entered the Chinese city by the Tung Pien gate. Detachments were sent immediately to the legations and opened communications. The ministers and staffs were found safe. The Japanese loss was over 100, including three officers—namely, Captain Michiiye and Lieutenant Watanabe wounded, while Lieutenant Yazaki was killed. The Chinese loss computed at about 400."

Archbishop Ireland Speaks In Rome.

ROME, Aug. 20.—Yesterday being the feast of St. Joachim, the pope's patron saint, there was a large gathering at the Vatican of cardinals, bishops and presidents of societies. The pope, who was in excellent health and spirits, spoke at some length regarding matters of Catholic interest and then, with a complimentary introduction, invited Archbishop Ireland to address the assembly on matters in America and the relations of the outer world to the holy see. Mgr. Ireland, who was frequently applauded during a speech of 20 minutes, spoke glowingly of the fidelity of American Catholics to the Roman church and the holy see. He described liberty under the American flag and set forth the necessity of the pope as the head of Christendom being free and independent to any one civil power, "so as to be in fact as well as of right the sovereign teacher and ruler of all nations and peoples, without special dependence on any special nation or people." The address gave visible satisfaction. Mgr. Ireland had a final audience of the pope on Friday. He left Rome last evening.

A Mysterious Express Robbery.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The mystery of a $25,000 express robbery is perplexing officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company, the Commercial National bank of Chicago and the Adams Express company. The $25,000, which was in bills of large denomination, was shipped Friday morning by the bank through the express company over the Burlington road. Its destination was Burlington, Ia., and it was drawn to the account of the railroad company on the order of J. C. Peasley, the vice president and treasurer. Somewhere between Chicago and Burlington the package containing the money was opened, the currency abstracted, some folds of brown paper substituted and the parcel restored to its former appearance.

Mercantile Agency Manager Missing.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—No trace has been found of Charles F. Friedholdt, the local manager of the R. G. Dun & Co. mercantile agency, who disappeared on July 28. Dun & Co. have given notice that a new manager will be appointed for the Elmira office. It is said that Friedholdt is short in his accounts, but this Manager Cook of the Rochester office, who is in temporary charge of the Elmira office, refuses to affirm or deny. Friedholdt's wife and two children are at their home here and say that they know nothing of his whereabouts and have not heard from him since his departure.

Miss Hay an Author.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Miss Helen Hay, the young daughter of the secretary of state, is about to publish a new book. It is entitled "The Little Boy Book" and is said to be a collection of humorous verses for children. She is also writing verses for a picture book entitled "Beasts and Birds," by Frank Verbeck, which is to appear in the fall. Miss Hay's first book, entitled "Some Verses," which was published a year or two ago, is a collection of serious poems, some of them in blank verse.

Moresca's Ugly Purpose.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "The arrest of Moresca and Guida in New York arose out of some letters received at Bresci's lodging subsequent to the assassination of King Humbert. One of these, dated New York, July 25, and signed 'Mabor,' urged Bresci to commit the crime, urging that Moresca and Guida would do their duty toward President McKinley. Moresca is known to the Italian police as a most fanatical anarchist."

Location of Brooks Comet.

GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—An observation made Saturday night by Dr. Brooks gave the following position in the northern heavens of the latest discovered comet: Right ascension, 4 hours 12 minutes; declination, north 79 degrees 21 minutes. It is now in Camelopardalis and is moving through that constellation toward Draco. On Aug. 22 the comet will be only about 7 degrees from Polaris (the North star) and below that star.

Largest Ax Factory Burned.

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., Aug. 20.—The entire plant of the Kelly Ax Manufacturing company, valued at $800,000, was destroyed by fire last night. It was the largest ax factory in the world, employing some 800 or 1,000 men when running at full force. The company had just enlarged the factory, increasing the output fully one-third.

Lynch Law In Georgia.

DOE RUN, Ga., Aug. 20.—An armed mob numbering 50 men forcibly entered the jail here last night, and, taking out Bill Cater, a negro, riddled him with bullets. He died instantly. Cater was charged with attempted criminal assault on a white woman. As soon as Cater was captured he confessed his crime.

DE WET'S BOLD MOVE

Demands Surrender of Baden-Powell's Force.

ROBERTS ISSUES VIGOROUS ORDERS.

Breakers of Oath to Be Punished With Death, Imprisonment or Fine—Burghers Must Take the Oath or Be Transported.

PRETORIA, Aug. 20.—General De Wet appeared Friday at North Commando nek, held by General Baden-Powell, and sent in a flag of truce asking the surrender of the British force. General Baden-Powell replied, asking what terms De Wet was prepared to offer.

De Wet is evidently moving eastward.

General Lord Roberts is issuing new severe and rigorous orders, rescinding the one previously issued.

Lord Roberts' proclamation, after reciting the fact that many have broken the oath to maintain neutrality and that the leniency extended to the burghers is not appreciated, warns all who break their oaths in the future that they will be punished by death, imprisonment or fine. He declares that all burghers in districts occupied by the British except those who take the oath will be regarded as prisoners of war and transported and that buildings on farms where the enemy or his scouts are harbored will be liable to be razed.

Capture of British Reported.

DELAGOA BAY, Aug. 20.—General De Wet has turned on the British, defeated them and captured 4,000 men, according to Boer reports here. Kitchener and Buller have worn their commands to a shadow chasing him 1,600 miles over veldt and kopje, and now he has not only escaped, but turned and given a terrible blow to his pursuers.

New French Liner Gets In Port.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The new French transatlantic liner La Lorraine from Havre, has arrived in port, but made no remarkable time on the trip over. The agents confidently expected that the steamer would arrive on Friday night, but the stiffness of the machinery caused the delay. Also for some time there was a little trouble with the engines. La Lorraine proved to be a fine sea boat, and many of the passengers remarked that the voyage was the smoothest they had ever experienced. The new steamer measures 12,000 tons gross and has engines of the triple expansion type with four cylinders which were built to develop 22,000 horsepower. She is 580 feet 8 inches long, 60 feet 2¼ inches beam and 39 feet 4 inches deep.

Severe Drought In Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 20.—Two-thirds of Kansas west of the three easternmost tiers of counties is experiencing one of the most severe droughts in the history of the state, and the general opinion is that the Kansas corn crop will be the smallest in proportion to its requirements for feeding that has been raised in many years. In 1889 it was 225,000,000 bushels. Secretary Coburn's report of conditions on Aug. 4 indicated a yield this year of about 145,000,000 bushels. Since then there have been two weeks of hot, dry weather, which has further materially reduced conditions, and the most liberal estimates of well informed men on 'change do not exceed 100,000,000 bushels, while many place the crop at not over 75,000,000.

Louisiana Purchase Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—Plans for the resumption of work on the World's fair fund of $5,000,000, which has been so often interrupted, are under daily consideration by Chairman David R. Francis and William H. Thompson of the two principal committees. Ex-Governor Francis expects to sail for Paris about Sept. 15 and hopes to have things in such shape by that time that the fund will be practically complete. The traveling men, who have been among the active workers for the fair, have asked permission to locate their special building first. Communications from United States consuls at different points indicate the interest that is being manifested in the Louisiana Purchase centennial abroad.

Small Cotton Crop.

ATLANTA, Aug. 20.—Commissioner O. B. Stevens of the Georgia department of agriculture has compiled statistics indicating that the cotton crop of Georgia for 1900 will be from 50,000 to 200,000 bales shorter than in 1899. Commissioner Stevens, who, as president of the Cotton States Commissioners' association, receives reports from commissioners of the different states, is to the effect that the south as a whole is short. Indications on the 1st of August were that every state in the cotton belt would be behind on the staple with the exception of Texas, reported to be 2 per cent ahead of the average crop of the last five years. The figures prepared by the department show that in Georgia an average crop for the last five years is 1,295,800 bales.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Delegates from all the factories in which the cigarmakers are on strike met yesterday and considered the propositions for a settlement of the strike made by manufacturers. They decided to submit the proposition to a vote of the strikers themselves at meetings to be held today and tomorrow.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Letter-carrier J. W. A. Bauersachs has returned from his vacation and is on duty once more.

Miss Tillie Schenck, of Crosby & Hill's store, will take her vacation the first week in September.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DIDN'T KNOW HER HUSBAND.

Chicago Dentist Failed to Convince a Spinster That She Was Married.

Dr. Fillum is a dentist, and he prides himself on remembering his patients and the history of their molars as well as any doctor in Chicago, says the Inter Ocean. The other day a plump, blond little woman sailed into the office cheerfully.

"I want to make an engagement to have my teeth examined, doctor," she remarked, as if she had been a patient of ten years' standing.

"All right. How'll Saturday suit you?" inquired the doctor, all the time making a strong mental effort to recall her name.

"No-o," she hesitated. "I promised to take the children to the country then, and Mr. Johns—"

"Of course; I recollect now. Your husband was in awhile yesterday and told me about it," interrupted Dr. Fillum, joyfully recognizing the name of one of his patients.

"No, my husband wasn't here yesterday," remarked the woman, with a queer smile.

"Oh, yes, he was, ma'am, and I filled a tooth for him," insisted the doctor.

"You never filled a tooth for my husband in your life," said the little lady, eying him calmly.

"My dear Mrs. Johns, I—"

"Who do you take me for, anyway?"

"Mrs. Johns, ma'am."

"Well, I'm not; I'm Miss Angelina Simms, of the Waifs' mission, and you made me a set of false teeth the year before the world's fair. Mr. Johns-on is the man who runs the mission I'm in."

Dr. Fillum lost a patient, but added something to his store of human knowledge.

Put on a pint of milk and let it come to a boil. Stir in a heaping teaspoonful of cornstarch, wet in cold milk. Cook two minutes and set away to cool. When cold add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little salt, and flavor to taste, and either some cream or a well-beaten egg.—Ladies' World.

IN MEMORY OF HUMBERT.

Impressive Ceremonies In Washington In Honor of Italy's Slain King.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Amid scenes of impressive solemnity and in the presence of the president of the United States, members of the cabinet, officers of the army and navy, the embassadors and ministers of foreign countries and a great concourse of people from civil life the memorial services for the late King Humbert I of Italy were held at St Matthew's Catholic church at 11 o'clock yesterday. The announcement of the services was made by the Italian embassador, Baron Fava, and, with the co-operation of the state department, the event was given a distinctly official character. The foreign representatives were in full diplomatic uniform, and these with the brilliant uniforms of the British, German, Austrian and other military attaches and of the American generals and admirals, gave a touch of brilliant coloring to the solemn pageantry.

The church had been decorated elaborately for the occasion. Around the sanctuary and on all sides rose a mass of palms and foliage plants, while the beautiful white marble altar stood out from a forest of tall and graceful palms. Immediately in front of the chancel rail stood the catafalque, a counterpart of that in which the dead monarch recently was laid to rest at Rome. Over it was thrown a heavy black pall edged with white, and on top was a great garland of laurel and smilax leaves tied with flowing ribbons of red, white and green, the colors of Italy. At the head and foot of the casket tall candelabra burned, and the morning sun, coming through the chancel window, fell athwart this somber memorial. A superb wreath of purple asters and roses, sent by the British embassy, rested alongside the casket.

Baron Fava, in the full uniform of high diplomatic rank and wearing the decoration conferred on him by King Humbert shortly before his death, stood at the main entrance of the church and received the distinguished arrivals. He was assisted by Marquis Romano and the military attache of the embassy.

Just at 11 o'clock President McKinley and the members of his cabinet arrived at the church. Baron Fava stepped forward and received the president, escorting him down the middle aisle to a seat immediately in front of the catafalque. With the president were Secretary Hitchcock, Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Acting Secretary of State Adee and the president's secretary, Mr. Cortelyou. As the presidential party took their seats the strains of the organ floated through the edifice, and the black and white robed acolytes led the procession of priests to the altar. The service consisted of high mass, the usual sermon being omitted. At the close of the mass the priests put aside their white vestments for those of black and, descending from the sanctuary, moved about the casket, sprinkling it with holy water, praying for the repose of the soul of the dead king and chanting the "Requiescat In Pace."

Italians Honor Humbert's Memory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Italian societies of Brooklyn honored the memory of King Humbert yesterday by a parade and memorial services. Fifteen hundred men went over the line of march. Directly behind Grand Marshal Tramanto was a heavily draped hearse drawn by four mourning draped horses. The hearse contained a black cloth covered casket with gold mountings. This was intended to be representative of the conveyance of the royal casket to its last resting place. At the hall the casket was placed on a catafalque, and the Italian and American colors were draped around it. The exercises, opened by M. Pastore, were marked by the singing of the royal Italian anthem. After that the principal features were addresses in Italian by Vice Consul Fernando Pratt and Professor Giuseppe Cadicarno and one in English by J. Grattan McMahon of Brooklyn.

Cuba at the Fair.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The island of Cuba, with her exhibit at the Paris exposition, has achieved a notable success. The exhibit received 140 prizes. The achievement of the island was made the subject of a cablegram received by Secretary of War Root from Senor Quesada, in charge of the Cuban exhibit at the exposition. Mr. Quesada's cablegram follows: "Great success. Cuba obtains 140 prizes. Please convey to president and cabinet Cuba's gratitude for interest and support in giving us an opportunity to show our resources and progress."

The Sinking of the Framee.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The board of inquiry which investigated the cause of the loss of the torpedo boat destroyer Framee, which was sunk in a collision with the battleship Brenius on the night of Aug. 11 during the maneuvers of the French squadron commanded by Vice Admiral Fournier off Cape St. Vincent, officially reports that the disaster was due to a misunderstanding of an order on the part of the Framee's helmsman, who turned the destroyer in the direction opposite to the instructions of her commander, Captain Manduit du Plessis.

Shot by a Drummer.

RHINELANDER, Wis., Aug. 20.—William F. Fenelon, one of Rhinelander's foremost citizens, was shot and killed by J. Bascom Robbins, a salesman for a Chicago crockery company. Robbins, it is alleged, insulted one of the women clerks in Fenelon & Co.'s store, and Fenelon drove the salesman out of the establishment and pursued him to within a block of his hotel. Fenelon later went to the hotel, and as he entered the office Robbins, who was standing near the desk, fired, killing him instantly. Robbins was arrested.

Mr. Bryan's Sunday.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 20.—General James B. Weaver of Iowa arrived here yesterday on his way to Kansas, where he will make several speeches. He visited Mr. Bryan at the latter's residence in the evening, and they discussed the campaign at length. General Weaver expressed himself as much encouraged regarding the outlook. Mr. Bryan attended church in the morning and went driving in the afternoon.

National League Games.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Two games of baseball were played yesterday in the west. The St. Louis nine went down before the Cincinnatis on the home grounds. The score stood 5 to 8. At Chicago the New Yorks were defeated by the home team by a score of 2 to 1.

PEKING CITY ON FIRE

Chinese Question Growing More Serious.

LONDON HEARS FROM ADMIRAL BRUCE

Threatening Reports From Shanghai—Southern Mandarins Accept Foreign Invasion as a Just Punishment to Boxers.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Rear Admiral Bruce cables the admiralty from Chefu, Aug. 19, as follows:

"Am informed on the authority of the Japanese that street fighting still continues in Peking, part of which is on fire.

"Yang Sa prevented the empress from leaving, and a last stand is now being made in the inner city, which is surrounded by the allies and being bombarded."

Rear Admiral Bruce's report of the continuation of fighting in Peking puts a more serious aspect upon the Chinese situation than was generally expected here. It appears effectually to dispose of all statements that the empress dowager has fled, although circumstantial accounts of her departure continue to come from Shanghai.

Despite defeat, the Chinese are apparently resolved to make a desperate struggle not only in their ancient capital, but also in other parts of the empire. Chang Chi Tung, viceroy at Hankow, and Liu Kunyi, viceroy at Nankin, according to advices from Shanghai, have threatened the consuls that if the person of the empress dowager is not respected they will withdraw from their present friendly attitude.

Another Shanghai dispatch announces the death of Li Ping Heng, Cheng and Chang Lui Lin in the fighting before Peking.

The mandarins in the southern provinces, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Hongkong, have issued an important proclamation recognizing the capture of Peking as a just punishment of reactionary officials and warning the people not to interfere with foreigners, but also pointing out that the sole object of the powers should be the punishment of the Boxers and then the restoration of peace, confining, however, their operations to the north.

Emperor Nicholas has wired to General Linevitch, commander of the Russian troops in the province of Pechili, congratulating him heartily upon the rapid capture of Peking and bestowing upon him the third class Order of St. George. The Russian emperor also thanks Vice Admiral Alexieff and the "heroic Siberian troops."

France Honors Her Minister.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The French government has received from several sources official confirmation of the news of the fall of Peking and the safety of the foreign legations. The Order of Commander of the Legion of Honor has been bestowed upon M. Pichon, French minister to China. Yesterday M. Delcasse, the foreign minister, visited M. Pichon's mother in Paris, announced to her the safety of her son and handed to her the decoration for him.

Newchwang Taken by Russians.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 20.—The Belgian foreign office has received the following from Tien-tsin via Chefu and Shanghai, Aug. 18: "M. Ketels, Belgian vice consul, confirms the report of the bombardment and the capture of Newchwang by the Russians."

Fighting In Peking Streets.

ROME, Aug. 20.—A dispatch from Taku via Chefu, Aug. 18, says: "Fighting continues in the streets of Peking, and the allies have bombarded the point that is still resisting. Prince Yung prevented the departure of the empress dowager."

Date of Fight Changed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The management of the Seaside Athletic club has again changed the date of the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fight. The date originally set for the contest was Aug. 24, but on account of the great crowd that would be drawn to the island on the 25th to see the Futurity stakes run the management with a view of obtaining an increased attendance made the date of the bout Saturday, Aug. 25. Tom O'Rourke, acting for the Seaside Athletic club, announces that in compliance with a general request the fight will take place on the original date, Friday, Aug. 24.

Labor Refuses Information.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—R. E. Durand, an agent of the United States Industrial commission, visited a meeting of the Central Federated union of this city to ask the union to furnish information to the commission. He was armed with printed schedules of questions about strikes, arbitration, union funds, benefits and other matters which he wanted filled out. Mr. Durand explained at length the object of his visit, but the union refused to supply what he asked.

Surgeon For Our Troops In China.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Hospital Steward R. H. McComyn, at Fort Porter, N. Y., has been ordered to conduct a detachment of hospital corps privates from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., to Fort McDowell, Cal., and to accompany Major John V. R. Hoff, surgeon, on his journey to China. Major Hoff will be the chief surgeon on the staff of General Chaffee and will have charge of the establishment of field hospitals for the army.

Mother and Son Die of Hydrophobia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mrs. James Strathie of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., is dead after suffering for a week from well defined symptoms of hydrophobia. A month ago Mrs. Strathie's son died of the same disease, both mother and child having been bitten by a playful puppy. It was not until the son's death that the dog was killed and found to be diseased.

Destructive Forest Fires.

ENCAMPMENT, Wy., Aug. 20.—A forest fire near here has burned over a territory eight by ten miles in extent and now threatens the towns of Battle and Ramber. Two thousand sheep belonging to Frederick Geddes of Saratoga are dead, and the Mexican herder is missing and is believed to have perished.

Masked Burglars.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 20.—Two masked burglars entered the house of Everett Allen, a Long Meadow farmer, and at the point of a revolver obtained some small change and about $100 worth of jewelry. The burglars escaped.

The Sewage Disposal Beds.

The Newark Sunday Call yesterday printed an editorial referring to the sewage disposal beds of this city, and as William T. Hunt, president of the State Sewage Commission, is editor of the Call, the article may be considered somewhat reflective of the ideas that obtain in the sewage commissioners' mind. The editorial was as follows:

"The Plainfield sewage disposal plant is under surveillance and measures to improve the discharge are required by the State Commission, without unreasonable delay. The Plainfield system was a matter of pride to the engineers concerned and to many citizens for a long while, but when the novelty ceased in interest, there was a lapse in the attention given it, and the neglect has aroused protest. It would be very unfortunate if such cases of apparent difficulty, verging upon failure, as have occurred in the Plainfield, Summit and East Orange sewage disposal systems, should prejudice the public mind against all local treatment. While there were faults in the construction of each and need of more space and larger first investment, their difficulties were chiefly due to neglect. Both East Orange and Summit have since made different arrangements, which will save money and avoid trouble, but these are not practicable in other cases. With them, thoroughness and persistent care and attention must be used, and if these are available, local disposal will be successful. In short, with all the discussion over methods and means, the problems to be solved are those appertaining to government, rather than to engineering."

A move is on foot in New Brunswick to have the Board of Aldermen issue about $250,000 in bonds for street repairs, and have the bonds sold to residents of the city. The suggestion was made recently, and met with almost unanimous indorsement. New Brunswick is today the worst paved city of its size in the State. Cobblestones and dirt form the bulk of the streets, and the time has now arrived when something has to be done. Plainfield, only a few miles away, has nearly every street macadamized and properly flagged, electric lights, a good modern fire department, a high license and innumerable other advantages over the city of New Brunswick. Rents are low, houses are better, the municipal department is a model, and yet the taxes are no higher than those of New Brunswick. The agitation has commenced, and is is not likely to stop until the desired end is attained. New Brunswick needs better streets, better lights, more police, and horses for the fire department.—New Brunswick correspondent New York Herald.

According to the New York Tribune the announcement that ex-Judge Thomas F. Noonan is a candidate for Congress in the Seventh New Jersey district is not meeting with much favor among the leading Democrats of Hudson county, who base their opposition upon the fact that Mr. Noonan lives in Bayonne, which is in the Eighth Congress district. They say that while this does not make Mr. Noonan ineligible to the office, they think it would be unwise for the Democrats to go outside the Seventh district for a candidate, especially while they have such good Democratic material as Senator Allan L. McDermott, ex-Judge Robert Hudspeth and Mayor Hoos to select from.

The name of Senator Hanna occupies the first place on the bills announcing the Republican rally in the Asbury Park Auditorium tomorrow night. Places on the platform have been reserved for Cornelius S. Bliss and Frederick S. Gibbs, of New York, and Congressman N. W. Scott, of West Virginia.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

In the ruins of the Revolutionary framed house belonging to the Fetter estate, St. George's avenue, Rahway, were found many relics of the past century. Among these was a penny, dated 1798, on the reverse side of which was the inscription 1 to 100. William Rapke was the finder. Mr. Damback also found on one of the timbers under the floor a chisel that had lain there not far from 150 years. It is hardly rusted, and was evidently newly sharpened when left there by some builder. Report says that during the War of the Revolution a British officer was shot and killed in the house while sitting by the side of his fiancee, a pretty American girl with whom he had become acquainted during his stay in this country as a soldier.

L. W. Miller, of Scotch Plains, has just received a couple of clippings from a newspaper published in Manila, P. I., which gives short sketches concerning his brother-in-law, Major Wygant, who is now located there. One account tells of a capture he made of 120 Mauser and 85 Remington rifles, with their breech-blocks gone. This was near the town of San Jose, and at the same time he captured 13 bull cart loads of machinery for making powder. Information concerning the above was furnished by a native spy. The other account tells of Major Wygant's capture of an insurgent, Capt. Circilio Gomez, with seven men, also the capture of a five barelled machine gun in fair condition, one U. S. army rifle, calibre 38, one pin fire revolver, and 9,000 pounds of palay, evidently intended for the use of the insurgents. Major Wygant is well known in this vicinity, having visited in Scotch Plains since his West Point days, in the seventies, and his friends will be pleased to hear of his success.

York, are delightful people. Then there is Richard H. Greene and his wife and children, also of New York. Mr. Greene is particulary known as the founder of the Mayflower Society, and he has a charming daughter, whose sweet and well-trained voice has already been heard in the music room.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Dickinson and Mrs. Dickinson's brother, Acton Poulet, well-known members of New York society, came here among the first. Ricardo Sruller, a wealthy exporter, of New York, with his wife, have also been quartered at the Netherwood for some time. Their daughter, Mrs. Spaulding, and her husband, are also located there. Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Dickson and their charming daughter are among the newer arrivals from Brooklyn.

Frank Wetzlar, a prominent member of the New York Stock Exchange, commutes daily to and from New York. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Mercer, formerly of Rochester, but now of New York, are stopping at the Netherwood for a few weeks.

Most prominent in the little colony of army folk is General Daniel E Sickles, U. S. A., who arrived at the hotel Saturday night and will remain there a week. Colonel Woodward and his family came from Washington. Dr. Hoehling and his daughter reside there as well. Then there is General Robert Williams and his family and Colonel Hough. Mrs. Hall, wife of Major Hall, U. S. A., will leave the hotel the first of next month to sail to join her husband at Manila.

There are many others, some who are spending the entire summer at Netherwood and others who come and go. All take more or less part in the social activities at the hotel and do their share in continuing the enjoyable times which have been so numerous this season at the Netherwood.

Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,

And played till they could play no more.

Göllheim. Nach der durch das Gericht vorgenommenen Untersuchung hat der verhaftete Einnehmer Hartard von hier insgesammt 14,500 Mark unterschlagen, an welcher Summe die Gemeinden Göllheim, Rüssingen und Biedesheim partizipiren. Da Hartard eine Kaution von 13,400 Mark hinterlegte, so trifft die betheiligten Gemeinden der Schaden nicht hart.

Das Schiff wird bald in Betrieb gesetzt werden; 50 Personen finden Platz.

Mühringen. Hier wurde der frühere Reichstagsabgeordnete Freiherr von Münch, ein excentrischer Herr, verhaftet, weil er bei einem Wortwechsel mit dem Vorsteher seiner Meierei, Friedrich Blatt, auf diesen fünf Revolverschüsse abfeuerte. Blatt erlag wenige Tage darauf seinen Verletzungen.

Karlsruhe. Folgende Anzeige fand sich dieser Tage im „Karlsruher Tageblatt": „Freunde eines ungeheuerlichen Klavierspiel-Unfugs bei offenen Fenstern, mit und ohne Gesang, sind eingeladen, sich allabendlich von 9 bis ½12 Uhr bei Geschäftsgehilfinnenheim, Blumenstraße 13, einfinden zu wollen." Die es anging, haben den Wink mit dem Zaunpfahl offenbar verstanden; denn schon Tags darauf bekam die Nachbarschaft den zweifelhaften Genuß nicht mehr zu hören.

Baden-Baden. Der Bürgerausschuß beschloß, für die nächsten fünf Jahre dem Internationalen Klub zur Veranstaltung der Iffezheimer Rennen einen Beitrag von 60,000 Mark zu gewähren. Von diesen 60,000 Mark hat die Stadtgemeinde wie bisher 40,000 Mark aus Mitteln der Stadtkasse zu tragen, während die bei der Aufrechterhaltung der Rennen besonders interessirten Bürger und Einwohner 20,000 Mark gegen früher 10,000 Mark aufbringen.

THE WARDROBE.

How It May Be Reduced to the Simplest Denomination.

The tailor made gown is now the foundation of every wardrobe, extravagant or simple. It is the first and most essential thing and is more generally adaptable than any other sort of dress. By varying the accessories it may be made quite a wardrobe in itself and hence, for little journeys or visits of a few days' duration, economizes baggage. There may be several sets of revers, of duck, lace and silk; several chemisettes to match, and with a different hat and a change of gloves the costume will present quite a different appearance upon different occasions.

Hats repeating the color of the gown are again in vogue. The body of the hat matches the dress material or, at least, shows a different shade of the same color, while the trimming of ribbons, flowers or tulle repeats the tone of the accessories—the chemisette, revers or other decoration. Hats of white or all of black are also worn with colored gowns.

The illustration given today shows a new model of a light wrap. It consists of a pelerine of white satin, forming four points, one at the back, one in front and one over each arm. This is covered with a net of black chenille, having a jet cabochon in each mesh. Around the pelerine is a deep double plaited flounce of black mousseline de soie, bordered with tiny ruches. Bows of black satin with jet buckles are the ornaments, and the neck frill matches the flounce. The point at the back is drawn in to the figure by an inside belt. The black straw hat is trimmed with asters and white ostrich plumes.

FLANNEL SHIRT WAISTS.

They Are In Great Favor For General Use.

Shirt waists of French or Scotch flannel are now worn at all seasons of the year. They are unlined and are much less full than the shirt waists of previous eras. Those of white flannel may be readily washed, and if this is carefully done they do not shrink and are as pretty as ever. There should always be an admixture of cotton in the flannel, as pure wool is far less satisfactory and reliable.

A pretty design is a white flannel shirt waist which is laid in plaits. Each plait is held down by a line of feather stitching in colored silk—pink, blue or mauve—the silk harmonizing with the color of the skirt with which the waist is worn. The plaits of the sleeves run horizontally, and the cravat matches the embroidery.

The picture shows a costume of fine ivory linen over ivory silk. The trailing skirt is ornamented with two bands of guipure insertion embroidered with gold, and at the side are applications of large yellow roses with foliage. The shirt bolero is bordered with ruches of mousseline de soie and has applications of yellow roses in front. Under the bolero is a blouse of yellow mousseline de soie, with a collar and plastron of guipure embroidered with gold. The sleeves of the bolero terminate in a point, and from them emerge full sleeves of yellow mousseline de soie gathered into a guipure cuff. The belt is of silver ribbon. The toque of yellow flowers has a chou of white tulle at the side, with a paste buckle and white feathers.

A schoolgirl who wants to stand well in the class must do a great deal of hard study. This hard study may brighten the mind temporarily, but has a contrary effect upon the body. The mind can't remain bright very long if one's health is undermined. A schoolgirl who tried Ripans Tabules found them an excellent remedy to stimulate the overtaxed system of the student. She says: "They are my stand-by. I have been wonderfully benefited by them. I could not keep on with my studies were it not for Ripans Tabules. I tell all my friends so, that they may be benefited as I have been."

Some Hard Problems for the L. A. W. to Solve

The West Has Seemingly Lost Practically All Interest in the Organization

IF IT be true that there are still over 40,000 members in the rapidly diminishing list of the League of American Wheelmen, then the officials of this once great cycling body must come to the conclusion that the day of the annual reunion has come to an end. Time was when the annual reunions of the L. A. W.—and in those days the cycling organization controlled cycle racing—when delegated officials or numerous cycling clubs traveled hundreds, often thousands of miles to be present at the annual meet. Recently at the general assembly of the L. A. W. it was decided to abandon league control of cycle racing and leave the field to the newer and stronger racing organization called the National Cycling association. The leaders of the L. A. W. who had been told that they could no longer expect to compete against the "outlaw" N. C. A. breathed with relief and said: "Wait for the grand meet at Milwaukee, and we will demonstrate that the social features of the L. A. W. will more than compensate for the loss of cycling control."

The twenty-first annual meet of the L. A. W. reenforced by the programme of amateur and professional cycle races under the direction of the N. C. A. is over, and these same officials are glad of it. A very small percentage of the L. A. W. members of states contiguous to Wisconsin went to Milwaukee to attend the meet. Considerable money was expended by the Cream City committees preparing for the annual meet, but there were many disappointments. A deficit of about $5,000 will have to be met by those whose faith in the old-time meet of the L. A. W. was not shattered by the steady decline of cycling as a sport.

Disregarding nine-tenths of the tales of mismanagement and crudeness that members of the two great cycling bodies brought home from the annual meet, and accepting but a few of them, the bold fact remains that the national meet on the old-fashioned lines, is doomed. There is no longer the incentive that used to urge on the wheelman. They are as numerous, perhaps—there may be many more riders now than there were when Louisville was thronged with leaguers—but there are fewer cycle clubs and many less members of the L. A. W.

Handicapper Sinsabaugh, of one of the divisions of the N. C. A., and one of the loyal L. A. W. men of years gone by, told me that the officials of the L. A. W. were convinced that the center of league attraction was in the far east, and that there would never be another meet west of the Alleghanies.

"The bulk of the membership is in the east now," said Sinsabaugh," and there is no prospect of any recruiting in the west. Divisions that were formerly hustling for members are now bankrupt. If the national meet is to survive even in form, it will have to go as a sort of a 'Wheelman's day,' and be held in some city that is readily accessible for the eastern members. There is no use pandering to the west any more for members. Westerners are too busy to join and build up divisions. The west will not support cycle riding either, it would seem. Our organization prepared a great programme for the national meet, but some of the big racing men made the excuse that the track was too much like a punch bowl, and that it was not safe for contests, and they begged off, and did not compete.

"However the races were contested, and John Fisher and other cyclists, for whom I predicted a future when I was handicapping them in their first races, earned the prizes. George Greenburg, the western leader of the N. C. A, who has thrice refused higher honors in the line of offices in cycling organizations, saw that the money for the purses and prizes for the meet was paid in so that there could be no scandal among the racing men."

It is a curious thing that cycle races in the east are still money makers, whereas these contests in the west cannot be made to pay. I doubt if there has been one really financially successful cycle meet held in the west since the days when "Billy" Brady billed the city of Chicago and filled the ill-fated Coliseum two nights in succession with "Midget" Michael as the middle distance champion rival of Eddie McDuffie and Fred Titus.

This season has served to show that even the almost forgotten "Welsh Rarebit," Jimmy Michael, could be rehabilitated. Michael was a wonder in the days of three or four years ago. He got as much newspaper space as did the members of the president's cabinet. But there came a time when there was no financial future to pace following for Michael, and he sought honors on the race track as a jockey. A few newspaper notices, a brief but unprofitable career as a follower of the thoroughbreds, and Michael was threatened with immersion in the whirlpool of oblivion. Suddenly up rises a demand for paced middle distance races, and Michael became famous again.

The little bunch of muscle and grit hunted up pacemakers and got a motor for pacing that would distance an imperial mail train in Europe. Michael had built a "freak wheel"—one with a straightened fork and peculiar lines, so that he could get four inches nearer his pacing machine's rear wheel, and then Floyd McFarland, the big Californian, was matched with him for a race at Philadelphia. McFarland won from Michael in the Philadelphia event, and the winner said: "Michael is a wonder. I know that I have beaten the greatest rider on the cycle track to-day." Then McFarland said a great deal about the ultimate limit of cycle racing. He thought that with proper pace a few seconds might be cut off the record made by himself in a 20-mile race. But the public knew not that although McFarland had won, 60 per cent. of the purse had gone to the "Welsh Rarebit." Michael had the power to demand that the money be divided so that he got the larger share, win or lose. Michael was not satisfied with his race on account of a mess made by the official scorers in ringing the bell for the last lap at the wrong instant, and another match was arranged with the lanky Californian for Manhattan Beach, at 20 miles, motor-pacing.

This race attracted thousands, and Michael won, after the hottest struggle to follow motors ever recorded in the United States. The 98-pound midget, who is but a half-inch higher than five feet, and whose chest measurement is but 32 inches, conquered over his 185-pound rival. But that is not the end. These men will have other races, in all probability. But the public will always "get a run for its money" in these contests.

Another queer thing about this season in cycling is the remarkable change in the attitude of the big bicycle manufacturers regarding teams for racing. At least three cyclists—Floyd McFarland, Tom Cooper and Orlando Stevens—have obtained contracts to go abroad to race American-made bicycles.

Years ago when there was a great deal of competition in cycling and scores of big makers used every legitimate device for advertising their wheels, the team racers were kept on the circuit at a great loss. Then came the revulsion in feeling and the abandonment of racing teams. Much to the surprise of the cyclists, who had begun to fear that their avocations were cut off, the trade signed three men and prepared a campaign for them. Another little wonder on the wheel, Earl Kiser, is quite likely to go abroad.

Tom Cooper, Floyd McFarland, Orlando Stevens and Earl Kiser would be able to beat any group of cyclists that the old world could pit against them. Even granting that these men should go to Paris and to England and win races, wherein will the makers of wheels be benefited by their riding?

ITALY'S NEW RULER.

Weak Physically, But a Man of Wonderful Strength of Mind.

Unsatisfactory Condition of Italian Affairs May Lead to His Deposition—Short History of the House of Savoy.

[Special Correspondence.]

THE OLD saying that "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" has certainly been verified in the case of poor King Humbert of Italy, whose assassination by Anarchist Bresci startled the entire civilized world, although it did not surprise those, who have, even in a superficial way, kept themselves informed concerning the political and economic conditions of the Italian kingdom. When old Victor Emmanuel, the founder of the present United Italy, died he left to his son a realm burdened with debt and torn asunder by partisan factions. The people, although patriotic and ready to make substantial sacrifices for the glory of their country, were not prepared for the heavy burden of taxation laid upon them for the support of a gigantic army and the construction and maintenance of a mighty navy. The ambition, nursed by the king and proclaimed by his advisers, to have Italy take a place among the great powers weakened the government at home and repeatedly led to riots in various parts of the kingdom. The common people did not care to contribute everything they could earn to the military oligarchy at Rome; and socialistic and anarchistic agitators, taking advantage of the almost universal spirit of discontent, had no trouble in enlisting thousands of enthusiastic followers in the cities of northern Italy and the manufacturing districts of Naples and Sicily.

When Humbert ascended the throne it was hoped that he would institute far-reaching army reforms, that he would endeavor to revive the decaying commercial interests and lay the foundation of genuine national prosperity. These hopes were never realized. Instead of breaking away from the Dreibund, that famous but financially ruinous offensive and defensive alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, he became its most ardent supporter. From year to year the national debt increased, corruption permeated the highest official circles, and on top of all came the disastrous defeat of the Italian troops in Africa by the irregulars of King Menelik of Abyssinia. Outwardly the Italian government maintained, to use a colloquial phrase, "a stiff upper lip;" but even the most ardent admirers of royalty admitted several years ago that the days of the house of Savoy were numbered.

The villain who assassinated King Humbert represented nothing more than a band of international outlaws, yet his deed would have seemed more horrible to the people of Italy had they not been prepared for such a catastrophe by decades of financial oppression and injustice. Instead of dividing the burdens of taxation equally among all classes, the very poor have been compelled to contribute more than 50 per cent. of the nation's income. Young men emigrated and those who could not leave half starved and identified themselves with revolutionary organizations. The king's advisers, instead of ameliorating the condition of the peasantry and working classes, sought to suppress the growing dissatisfaction by the enactment of severe laws against republican agitation.

Personally, Humbert was a most lovable man. In his private capacity he was ever ready to help the needy and lift up the fallen. He loved his people and honored himself by honoring their independence. When the pest invaded his kingdom a few years ago he visited the hospitals and comforted the sick. During all of his reign he never attempted to suspend the constitutional rights of the voters, although repeatedly urged to do so by the members of his cabinet. For these reasons his assassination has been deplored by the Italians as individuals, although in their political capacity the radicals consider his removal a warning to his successor who, they hope, will institute reforms calculated to restore prosperity, peace and happiness to Italy.

The new king of Italy, who will be known as Victor Emmanuel III., is an unknown political quantity. Physically he is a weakling, but mentally he is a giant. He speaks all the modern languages fluently, is a scientific scholar and well trained in the art of war. Although but five feet in height, he can handle a sword to perfection, and even as a horseman makes a fair showing. But his health is in a deplorable condition. From his birth, which occurred November 11, 1869, he was small and sickly, and despite the devoted care of nurses and physicians grew up a puny and ailing boy. In character, however, the young man is positive. Like his grandfather, Victor Emmanuel, he possesses rare decision of mind which was first emphasized after the Italian reverses in Africa when he openly opposed the policy of Prime Minister Crispi and accused that statesman of being the principal cause of the Abyssinian disaster. Later he urged his father to recall the Italian troops from Africa and reform affairs at home. To this appeal, chroniclers say, King Humbert replied: "Victor Emmanuel III. may do so, but Humbert I. never." Prior to this episode the prince had not been popular in Italy, but since then the people have had faith in him and his destiny. How far he may be able to govern circumstances remains to be seen, however. The powers of an Italian ruler are extremely limited and to carry out any measure of reform he must have a powerful and united party at his command. That he will have such support seems problematical.

Another event which endeared the prince to his people was his marriage, on October 24, 1896, to Princess Helene of Montenegro, a woman of striking appearance and great strength of character. She is nearly six feet tall and stands head and shoulders over her husband. It was the hope of the late king that her health would compensate for his son's weakness, and that children would be born to the couple, thereby keeping up the direct line of succession. This hope has thus far not been realized. All accounts describe the regent queen as being beautiful in form and figure. She has large, lustrous, dark eyes; masses of black hair of the genuine raven's wing hue; a dazzlingly transparent complexion, and an extremely graceful carriage. She is a fine musician; speaks English, German, French and Italian with fluency, and is cultured in all branches of literature.

The peculiar physical condition of the new ruler leads many European statesmen to think that he will be unable to maintain the long-threatened dynasty of the house of Savoy in security, and that he will be the last of this celebrated family to rule Italy.

The house of Savoy is one of the oldest and most distinguished in Europe. It was founded by Humbert the Whitehanded, to whom, in 1027, Rudolph III. of Arles presented the counties of Savoy and Maurienne, and to whom Emperor Conrad gave the Salic Chablais and the lower Valais. This old Humbert was the ancestor of all the princes of Savoy. He died in 1048, and was succeeded by Amadeus I., his oldest son, and later by Otto, his fourth son, who, through marriage, came into possession of the rich counties of Turin and Aosta. This was the beginning of the process by which the enterprising Savoyards appropriated to themselves, in the course of nine centuries, the whole Italian peninsula and the islands tributary to it.

Tradition has it that the princes of Savoy have during all that time carried out the advice of Charles Emmanuel III., who is said to have advised them to "treat Italy as an artichoke, to be eaten leaf by leaf." In 1333 Count Amadeus founded a law of promogeniture, which strengthened the family and led to the acquisition of Nice. Early in the fifteenth century the courts of Savoy assumed the title of duke. A few years later they annexed the principality of Piedmont, and early in the eighteenth century obtained the rich island of Sicily. With the last acquisition went royalty and the title of king. In 1720 Sicily was exchanged for Sardinia. At the close of the Napoleonic wars in 1815 Genoa was added to the Sardinian crown. King Carlo Felice, the last of the male line of Savoy, died in 1831, and the crown went to Carlo Alberto, head of one of the younger branches of the family. Carlo Felice did not like the king business with its multifarious worries and dangers, and on March 23, 1849, abdicated in favor of his son, the late Victor Emmanuel II. The latter was an aggressive ruler, and by the peace of 1859 obtained Lombardy and soon afterward Parma, Modena, the Romagna, Tuscany, Naples and Sicily. In 1866 he wrested Mantua and Venice from the Austrians, and in 1870 completed the political unification of Italy by the absorption of the Papal states.

VAINGLORIOUS ROOSTER.

Gray Goose Gander Tells How the Crowing Dude Was Eaten Up by a Hungry Fox.

Being a dignified old gander, and knowing that one goose is of more value than three hens, I have never had much to say to the roosters and their flocks.

Now and then I have met an old hen who had other thoughts than clucking about and ruffling up her feathers and trying to pass for a pullet, but most of them are not worth a gander's time.

It is still worse with the roosters. I can't say that I ever met one who'd talk about the weather or the crops for five minutes. Their idea is to strut about and show off before the hens and chickens, and because they can crow and fight they try to put on airs over the geese and ducks.

They know what I think of them, however. I've given many of them a good drubbing, and they quit strutting around me years ago.

It was about three years ago we had a rooster here who was a beauty. He was black as night, and his feathers shone like silk, and if it hadn't been for his foolish ways the whole farm would have been proud of him. Because he was big and handsome he thought himself the smartest rooster in the whole state. The other roosters ran from him, and the hens all bowed down, and the chickens held their breath as he passed by.

One day I heard this rooster boasting to the hens that he had heard of a fox being in the neighborhood, and that he was going to hunt him up and drive him away. This was dreadfully foolish talk, and I called the rooster aside after awhile and said:

"My friend, you should not talk such nonsense to the hens. No rooster ever hatched is a match for a fox."

"Do you mean that I cannot make the fox run for his life?" he asked.

"Of course you can't. A fox would kill you in a minute. Even the biggest gander is afraid of a fox."

"That's because you are geese and can't crow. My dear old gander, don't worry about me. I cannot only take care of myself, but of all the ducks, geese and hens beside. Just waddle back to your pond and mind your own business."

I had no more to say. I knew what would happen if a fox and the rooster met, but my words of advice had not been heeded.

That very afternoon, after crowing as loud as he could for ten minutes and strutting up and down in his pride, the rooster set off for the back field to find the fox. The hens flapped their wings and clucked to encourage him, and some of the geese and ducks said he was a brave fowl and ought to wear silver spurs.

"You wait a bit," said I to them. "A rooster who sets out to hunt a fox may be very brave or very much of an idiot. If he ever comes back he'll know a fox from a hollyhock all the rest of his days."

They said I was a jealous old gander, and ought to be ashamed of myself; but I went swimming over to the other side of the pond and let them talk.

When sundown came and the rooster had not come back, the hens began to look very sober. His crow did not sound at daybreak next morning as usual, and soon after breakfast the farmer started out to hunt for him.

It was almost noon when he returned, and in his hand he had three or four black tail feathers belonging to our missing friend. As the wife came out, the husband showed her the feathers and said:

"Mary, here's all that's left of our big black rooster."

"What has happened him?" she asked.

"Why, he went off to the back field by himself yesterday, and a fox must have got hold of him and eaten him up. He was a fine-looking fowl, but he didn't know half as much as a goose."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Shooting Under Difficulties.

A ranchman in California was camping out in the foothills with his wife and little girl. One day he was returning to camp with the child, and had to go through a rocky pass where, for a short distance, the path led along a rocky ledge. The girl was behind him, prattling away, when suddenly the father came upon a rattlesnake lying in the path. Aroused at his approach, it coiled up and prepared to strike. He could not step back on account of the child, and there was no room to go around. He drew his pistol and steadied himself. There was no time to stop and think, and a miss would be fatal. Just as the serpent's head moved to dart forward he fired. The shot was accurate, and the snake's head was shattered to pieces. Then the ranchman kicked the body into the ravine below, picked up the child in his arms, and carried her the remainder of the way to the camp.

RACED FOR A FORTUNE.

A Deal in Cotton Futures of a Century Ago That Depended on Horses' Speed.

Cotton futures were dealt in nearly a century ago in South Carolina. The information of the first recorded transaction of this kind is contained in the reminiscences of E. J. Scott, who was the oldest Columbian at the time of his death a few years ago, having been born in 1802. The paper, written for the information and edification of his grandchildren, contains many incidents of more than passing interest, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Gen. Wade Hampton, father of the present venerable soldier and statesman, was a party to the cotton deal, and it is not surprising that, as that gentleman was then the chief patron of the turf in South Carolina, that a remarkable horse race was involved. Ainsley Hall, who came from England as a clerk, and afterward established himself there as a merchant and cotton buyer, had, when the war of 1812 closed, a conditional contract with Gen. Hampton for the purchase of Hampton's three crops of cotton that had been stored pending the close of hostilities. A large amount was involved, as the general was perhaps the most extensive planter in the state at that time, working hundreds of slaves in his cotton fields. The sale was made at a stipulated price provided Hall signified his confirmation of the bargain to Kirkpatrick & Co., their mutual factors in Charleston, before it was rescinded by Hampton's order.

The news of peace between England and America was received in Columbia by both Hampton and Hall about the same hour. The latter had not yet confirmed the cotton trade, and as it was known that cotton would immediately advance 300 or 400 per cent., each was interested to the amount of about $40,000 in first communicating with the factor in Charleston—the one to confirm and the other to nullify the agreement.

By the old stage road, which was very rough in those days, Charleston was 137 miles from Columbia, and the swiftest communication was, of course, by mounted messenger. Hall hastened away a little, wiry, tough Scotchman in his employ, mounted on a fleet horse, to close the contract with Kirkpatrick, while Gen. Hampton started his most trusted negro jockey, astride of his best racer, bred and trained to run eight miles, with a note revoking the conditional contract.

The little Scotchman had two hours' start and was told to win the race without considering the life of the really splendid horse he mounted. The negro jockey, however, was ordered to ride fast, but with judgment, and not injure the pride of the Hampton stables.

It was a remarkably close run for the distance. Two days of racing brought the ambassador of Hall to the door of Kirkpatrick's office on a horse that was dead spent and died of fatigue ten minutes later, while, with long, easy stride, the Hampton thoroughbred came to the door, with plenty of reserve force, but just losing by a nose one of the biggest purses ever raced for in this country.

DEVELOPMENT AND REVENUE.

Navigable Streams in China That Were Recently Opened to Foreign Commerce.

Previous to February, 1898, no foreigners could travel in the Chinese empire except to certain specified points, chiefly the treaty ports. But at the date named an edict was issued giving to foreigners with passports the privilege of visiting any part of the empire on pleasure or business, and other vessels were allowed to navigate the streams of the various provinces. Under the treaty of Shimonosiki, entered into with Japan in 1895, many concessions were made, and foreigners were permitted to establish manufacturing concerns at the treaty ports, and with that end in view to bring their own machinery.

All this would make it appear that China is a most desirable business country, says the Chicago Chronicle. But there is another side to the picture, aside from the natural opposition to foreigners on the part of the people. The taxes which one must pay make business a precarious undertaking. The customs duties are not high and they are fairly collected, but the government requires each province to contribute its share toward the national expenditures and allows its officials to devise the ways and means for collecting the required amounts.

The greatest source of revenue for the province is the duty on goods coming over their lines from the adjacent provinces. These duties are known as "likin" duties, and they must be paid not only for taking goods from one province to another, but from one subdivision to another. This makes the taxation extremely heavy. To get around this and to save the trouble and cost of frequent examination the Chinese government agreed to allow foreigners to send their goods to the interior free of "likin" taxes by paying an additional 50 per cent. on the customs tariff. The foreign merchants agreed to this willingly, but the provincial tax collectors frequently ignored the agreements and insisted on their revenues, and the 50 per cent. became much more before the goods reached the trader.

Carroll D. Wright Discusses the Needs of Building and Loan Associations—Vigilant State Supervision Is Urged.

It is estimated that nearly half a million men and women are regular depositors in the building and loan associations of the United States. Anything that affects the welfare of these organizations is therefore of intense public interest, especially when suggested by persons who have made the question of public savings a study. At the recent meeting of the United States League of Local Building and Loan associations Mr. Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, delivered a valuable address on the future of that body and its members, in the course of which he made the following valuable suggestions:

"The difficulties of building and loan associations are not altogether connected with them or inherent; they sometimes are from the outside. During the last few months several associations in one of our states have been obliged to put their affairs in the hands of receivers on account of the legislation of the state relative to taxation. It seems to me to be a very short-sighted policy for a state to so tax benevolent or philanthropic movement that it cannot conduct its business successfully. The taxation of building and loan associations is a question which interests you greatly, and I believe that if you presented a united front, are harmonious in your demands and give the most important reasons for your action, you can secure generally throughout the country reasonable and just legislation relative to taxation.

"This leads me to say that the very best interests of building and loan associations in the future are to be enhanced by wise supervision. Whenever any institution that is not purely for private interests is created by law, and especially when created for the benefit of a large number of people, the public has some rights, and these rights can be safeguarded only by proper supervision. Our great corporations for many purposes—banks, insurance companies, everything that deals with the public and for the avowed purpose of benefiting the public—have been brought under supervision more or less perfect, but in such a way that the public can ascertain the financial standing and condition of such institutions. There is no reason why building and loan associations should not be brought under such supervision. It would dignify their existence, it would safeguard their interests, it would protect them as well as the public, and in those states where supervision exists you generally find the safest institutions.

CARROLL D. WRIGHT.
(United States Commissioner of Labor).

"A man who is asked to invest in a building and loan association has a right to know that his investment is to be guarded sacredly, because it is upon the security, the inviolate security, of the investment that he trusts his funds. There are states in this country that create building and loan associations by law, but know nothing of them after their creation. This condition of affairs should not exist, and it should be the purpose, it should be the general demand of building and loan associations everywhere, that wise laws be passed bringing them under the ordinary supervision that pertains to other institutions. One of the features of such a law should be the insistence upon all financial officers of a building and loan association giving them proper bonds for the protection of the funds in their care. The high character of such officials or their reputation for honesty and integrity and careful management is not the only requisite; the investors have a right to feel that, no matter what happens in the way of losses or otherwise, the officers are responsible to their wards. To-day, with our great fidelity companies, there is little difficulty of a responsible man obtaining proper bonds to guarantee the parties in interest from loss. I believe such a practice would do much toward strengthening the financial standing of building and loan associations."

A Sneeze That Was Costly.

Two burglars entered a Brooklyn house and were about to make off with considerable booty when they heard some one moving in the next room. They at once hid in a clothes closet. The newcomer was a policeman sent there in response to an alarm which the thieves had set off. He was about to pass out of the room where they were when one of them was forced to sneeze. The sternutation cost him and his companion their liberty.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Arion ball team was defeated by the St. Mary's nine Saturday by a score of 13 to 5. The batteries were Smith and Roseberry and Montrose and Keene.

The best and most exciting ball game played by the Pond Tool Works team this season, occurred Saturday when they met the New Providence A. C. The entire game was played in an excellent manner, the Pond team keeping one run ahead until the last inning when unlucky errors gave the visitors the winning runs. The score was 11 to 9. The battery for Ponds was Owens and Doyle and for the visitors Garris and Stevens.

GOLF

Despite the fact that so many of the golfers are away, the course of the Somerset County Country Club at Finderne continues to be quite a popular place. It is nearly two and a half miles around the nine holes course but there are no particularly difficult hazards and some fairly low scores are made there. When the course was laid out, it was the complaint of the members that it was to flat and there were not troubles enough to make it exciting. Since that time, a number of bankers have been built so that wandering drivers and brassie shots find something to run up against.

VIEW OF A PART OF CAMP WOOLFE.

NURSERY BUILDING AT WESTFIELD FRESH-AIR CAMP.

"Mamma dear! Mamma dear! Mamma dear!"

That was the cry which neighbors heard coming from a room in a crowded tenement on the Eastside in New York. A baby, a year old, was tied in a chair and left all the morning and again all the afternoon by the widowed mother, while she went out to earn bread for both. Day after day the baby lay there alone—Mamma dear! She was brought to Miss Curry at her Day Nursery, 612 East Ninth street, and since then she has had her during the days. She is one of the two year-old girlies in the picture. They call her "Mamma Dear!"

Wouldn't you like to help Miss Curry in such work as that? She has fifty of her Day Nursery children out at Camp Woolfe, the Westfield Fresh Air Camp. Now you can see her there and the children, and along with them the 130 women and children. Tired, working mothers and "grassless" children—Miss Curry is a mother to them all. That is her in the picture. The mothers and children come out in relays every ten days. If the train is delayed at Westfield some morning, that's the mothers going home—look them over in the cars—don't they look better and happier? They always welcome visitors during the day, and they have devotional meetings at night.

L. A. Clark, of Westfield, is treasurer of the camp work, and Miss Curry needs money for her Day Nursery. She is one of the best instruments we know of.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The famous original comedians, Muaray and Mack, will be with us once again to play an engagement at Music Hall, tomorrow night. These original comedians have accomplish wonders in their line, this being the ninth consecutive season they have toured this country, making the theatre-going public laugh. They have been successful from the start. One of the great secrets of the phenomenal prosperity of this firm is that it has always been their endeavor to give to the public for every dollar invested more than a dollar's worth of entertainment.

* * * * *

A few seasons ago it was generally conceded that minstrelsy was dead, a mere passing fad doomed to an early an unwept end. The idea was erroneous, however, and no better illustration as to the falsity of this assertion can be offered than that of The Gus Sun American Minstrels which will appear at Music Hall, Friday evening, August 24th. Theatrical managers are unanimous on the statement that minstrelsy is one of the permanent fixtures of amusement. The Sun Minstrels rank among the foremost, and we feel safe in assuring our readers of an evening's entertainment full of agreeable surprises. Manager Edwards is to be complimented on securing for his patrons such a standard attraction.

DISPUTE ABOUT A DEBT.

It was Only for a Quarter, But it Made a Lively Scrap.

There was a quarter in question. Winslow Carson says he paid the debt three times over to avoid trouble but that a fourth demand from John Kinnesky was too much. That happened Saturday night. Carson and his friends assert that Kinnesky added some hard language to the demand and when he cast reflections on Carson's ancestry, Carson knocked him down and wiped up the sidewalk with him for a time.

Roundsman Flynn came up in time to see the last of the trouble and he locked both men up for a hearing before Mayor Rockfellow this morning. After listening to some decidedly conflicting testimony, the Mayor suspended sentence on both men.

A Stray Horse.

A horse was put up at Nelson's Hotel, New Market, last evening, but managed to slip its halter during the evening and strry away. The horse was brown, with a white face and a white left hind foot. The horse was last seen trotting down West Seventh street in the direction of Park avenue.

Republican Election Officers.

A meeting of the Republican county executive committee will be held in Elizabeth tomorrow evening when the election officers will be appointed. The secretary of the city committee will have to have a list ot the local officers to be appointed before tomorrow evening.

Found a Shawl.

Patrolman McCarthy found a black lace shawl on Belvidere avenue last evening. It was wrapped up in a package. The owner may have it by calling at police heaequarters and identifying their property.

Clambake for Klondike Employer.

About fifty employes of the Aluminum Press and Plate Works enjoyed a clam bake Saturday afternoon in a grove between Scotch Plains and Westfield.

DREW A RAZOR.

Trouble Between Colored and White Men Came Near Resulting in Serious Manner.

The animosity toward colored people which has prevailed in New York during the past week, seemed to have spread to Plainfield Saturday night and tiffs between whites and blacks were frequent. One of them, which occurred on West Front street, opposite Music Hall, came near resulting seriously to a white man. In company with several companions he was sauntering along when a colored man brushed into him. A wrangle followed, when without warning the Negro drew a razor and slashed at his aggressor. The latter was saved from serious injury by a havy vest he was wearing which was slashed from top to bottom. Before the colored man could repeat his act the crowd set upon him and he was badly beaten.

A large crowd gathered and for a moment matters looked quite serious, when the cry that the police were coming caused the combatants to scatter.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. PARSONS.

She was Highly Cultivated and of Marked Literary Ability.

Yesterday's New York Mail and Express has the following obituary notice of Mary M. Platt, wife of Kenyon Parsons, who died of apoplexy in this city Tuesday, August 14, and whose funeral services were held at her late residence, 607 West Front street, Thursday, August 16, at 5 o'clock:

Mrs. Kenyon Parsons, who died on Tuesday at her summer residence, in Plainfield, N. J., was a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. G. Lewis Platt, long rector and rector emeritus of St. Paul's, at Tivoli on-Hudson. She was educated at the Packer Institute, in Brooklyn, and spent many years in early life in that city, where she will be remembered by the older residents of the heights. Within a few years she had again become a resident of Brooklyn, and was so at the time of her death. Mrs. Parsons was highly cultivated and of marked literary and artistic tastes. At the time of her death she was engaged in revising the Platt lineage, which had been originally compiled with her father. A large circle of friends, who have long been attached to her, will be deeply afflicted by her unexpected death.

Making Implements of War.

Harry Jenkins, a former resident of this city, accompanied by his wife and two children, are spending a week with his mother and sisters on East Sixth street. Mr. Jenkins and his family reside at Bethlehem, Pa., where he is engaged in the Bethlehem Steel Works. At these works there is a great rush of work making guns, armor plate, etc., for foreign countries, and there is quite a settlement of inspectors from the various countries stopping at Bethlehem looking after their interests. What is supposed to be the largest dynamite gun in the world is now being made their for China. It is intended to throw a large quantity of dynamite nine miles.

His Navigation Uncertain.

Christopher Russ was found drunk on the streets Saturday night by Patrolman Watson. His method of navigation was so uncertain that the officer locked him up for fear something might happen to him. Mayor Rockfellow suspended sentence on Russ this morning after a brief lecture on the evils of intemperance.

The funeral of Mrs. Phoebe D. Ross was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of her son-in-law, J. D. Spicer, of West Fifth street. The service was conducted by Rev. A E Main, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church. There was also a prayer by Rev. L. E. Livermore and a few remarks by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The bearers were all nephews of Mrs. Ross. They were D. E. Titsworth, Edward Dunn, James Clawson, of this city, Louis Titsworth and Thomas Titsworth, of Dunellen and Louis C. Dunn, of New Market. The remains were interred in the family plot at Hillside cemetery.

CAN'T GIVE IT AWAY NOW

EXPERIENCES OF RESIDENT OF MENDHAM WITH AUTOMOBILES.

His Fine Machine Imported From France Couldn't Climb the Hills So He Bought an American-made Carriage.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Morristown, August 21—Charles L. Cromwell, whose handsome summer residence is located at Mendam, has an automobile on his hands that he can't even give away. He has offered it to many of his friends and neighbors and has received their thanks, but the gift has been respectfully declined. It is the outcome of Mr. Cromwell's decision to take up the new craze.

Mr. Cromwell, who is well-known in Newark through his prominent connection with one of the largest insurance companies there, decided that he wanted an automobile. Several of his friends possessed them and he decided to try his hand. He wanted the best that money could buy and, as the French are supposed to be far ahead of the Americans on the subject, he sent to France for one of the best machines made in that country. He paid a large price and a heavy duty, but the machine came over all right.

A few friends of Mr. Cromwell were invited to be present when the new machine was given its first road trial, as Mr. Cromwell wanted to demonstrate its great efficiency. The machine started off all right and attacked one one of the heavy hills which are so numerous in the vicinity of Mendham. The carriage started up the hill, went slower and slower and finally stopped. Another attempt was made. The machinery was all right, but the grade was too steep. The French automobile could not climb the hill.

Then Mr. Cromwell tried a locomobile and it went sailing along the country roads, up hill and down dale, without trouble. Mr. Cromwell is now wildly enthusiastic on the subject of this pleasure, but the French machine is stored away, since Mr. Cromwell cannot persuade any of his friends even to take it as a gift.

COULD SAY BEER.

And the Frenchman With the Limited Vocabulary Used the Word Many Times Yesterday Afternoon.

Ernest Caron, a Frenchman whose English vocabulary consists of eight words, came down from the glove factory at Watchung yesternoon enroute for New York. His vocabulary included the word beer, which he used many times during the afternoon.

Patrolman Myers found him dead drunk in the North Avenue station last night and tried to get him up and doing. The man couldn't talk English and the officer thought that his tongue was paralyzed. Before Mayor Rockfellow this morning Caron managed to explain that he was going to New York. Sentence was suspended.

Princeton to Have Militia Company.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Princeton, Aug. 21.—The movement started over a week ago to organize a military company in Princeton has been successful. They are now on the muster roll thirty-two names, and the entire list will be completed by the end of the week. Many of the most influential men in town have signed the roll. Colonel D. C. Gilmore, of the Second Regiment of New Jersey, has approved the plan for organizing the company here. The election of officers will take place next week. The company will probably drill in the Trenton Armory until a suitable building can be obtained here.

Cut off His Queue.

There were a number of Plainfielders who went to Westfield and Garwood a few weeks ago to hear Rev. Dr. Woodbury, a Christian Alliance missionary at Tein Tsin, and Dr. Wang, a Chinese convert from the same place, tell something about the place and the region where the present troubles are happening. During the recent race roits in New York, the crowd set upon these same two men. They cut off Dr. Wang's queue, telling him they would make at American citizen of him. Both men were very roughly handled and barely escaped without serious injury.

Aged Woman's Injury.

Mrs. VanNest, of Alton, who is 93 years of age, is confined to her bed owing to a fall several months ago when she sprained her ankle. Notwithstanding her age, Mrs. VanNest enjoys excellent health, and if it was not for the injury to her ankle, she would be able to go about as well as anyone. She is very cheerful and she exhibitis rare patience in her affliction. She is not only well advanced in years, but she is a very large woman, and this hinders somewhat her chances of getting about on her feet.

JERSEY IS NOT SO EASY.

REPUBLICANS WAKING TO THE FACT THAT A FIGHT IS ON.

Vice-Chairman Hustling to Get Things in Shape—Several Counties Rent by Factional Disturbances.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 21—Although the Republican leaders and politicians feel convinced that New Jersey will be counted in the McKinley and Roosevelt column next November yet they are unwilling to take chances as to the vote of the State going on the opposite side. They know that hard work on their part is required in order to make their intended victory secure. With that object in view then the tocsin of war has been sounded by Senator Stokes, vice-chairman of the Republican State committee, who has issued a call to all the chairmen of the county organizations of the party to meet him in this city next week for conference and consultation. Mr. Stokes wants to ascertain how things are in each county that defects in the machinery, if they exist, can be repaired in time, so that nothing shall obstruct the progress of the campaign once it has been started. The intrepid young Senator wants to have things in good shape by the time Chairman Murphy returns from Europe so that the State committee may not be hampered by looking after small details in the various counties. Mr. Stokes is a good organizer and a most untiring worker, and he never does things by halves. It is his ambition to make the Republican organization in New Jersey one of the best in the country. Most certainly the party has the money and the means to keep up its splendid organization, and if a victory is to be won mainly through the influence of machine politics the New Jersey Republicans will win laurels.

To start the ball a rolling it is reported that Senator Hanna will deliver an address at Asbury Park today, when he will outline the policy his party will pursue in the campaign. He will sound the keynote of the contest on his side and then the followers of his party in this State will know all about the predominant issues and the best course to take for the corralling of votes for the National ticket. Mr. Hanna has already won fame as a practical politician, and there are many ways in which he can enlighten New Jersey Republicans as to the running of campaigns, smart and skilful though they consider themselves to be.

Mr. Hanna has done well in the selection of Senator Kean and Colonel William Barbour as members of the advisory committee of the Republican National organization. They have lots of wealth and are always willing to spend a share of it for the good of their party. Senator Kean seems very anxious about the condition of affairs in New Jersey and he has sounded a note of warning to the party workers. He thinks that the Republicans of the State are deceiving themselves with the idea that they are going to win another victory for McKinley by letting the State carry itself. The Senator adds: "They have got to be aroused and made to feel that things are not accomplished except by work. They have got to work. They seem to not have been aroused to the importance of the occasion." Mr. Kean no doubt is afraid of apathy and overconfidence in the ranks of his party, and hence he has given a warning which is sure to have the effect he desires.

Concerts to Continue.

Arrangements have been made whereby the Friday night band concerts will be continued as heretofore until October. These concerts have been a source of pleasure to hundreds of people and it is the only diversion some people have had all summer. That they will be continued will be a source of gratification and pleasure to Plainfielders. The Queen City Band has estabished a reputation this summer for giving excellent music and much credit is due Ben. LaVere, the leader, and the members of the band for the interest and effort in giving the concerts.

Truthful Men.

Patrick Boyle is a truthful man and lives on Prescott place. He went fishing in Green brook a few days ago, in the neighborhood of the Clinton avenue bridge, and caught a carp which weighed twenty-two pounds. Freeholder W. A. Westphal, who is another truthful man, vouches for the truth of this statement. He saw the fish, he says. It made Mr. Boyle's large family a bountiful dinner.

WILL GIVE CALICO BALL.

GUESTS AT HOTEL NETHERWOOD ARRANGING IT.

Subscription Ball at the Hotel Saturday Evening Will be Most Elaborate Affair of the Season.

Plans are going on apace for the subscription dance at the Hotel Netherwood Saturday evening, and it promises to be the largest event yet held at that popular hostelry. The affair is given for the benefit of the Orpheus Club, which daily furnishes the music at the hotel. The members of the club are young men who are using this means to work their way through college and the hotel guests have taken this means of aiding them in the attempt. The college boys have always been very obliging about playing and the guests have decided that it is their turn now.

All the guests have given the affair their support and have purchased tickets, while many of the Plainfield people who have enjoyed the dancing and music at the hotel this summer, are doing their share as well. The Saturday evening hops have been very popular, but this one promises to be even more elaborate than the previous ones.

Something else has just been announced that promises a delightful time for the young people at the hotel. It is planned to hold a calico ball, to be followed by a corn roast out in the grove. The young women of the hotel have entered into the project with enthusiasm and promise to show some wonderful creations in calico for that evening. The corn roast is something which has long been desired by the young people. The date for the affair has not yet been fixed, but it will be the last of this month or the first of next.

HORSE IS GONE.

Joseph Winkler, of Basking Ridge, borrowed a horse from a friend, Sunday, and drove to New Market for the purpose of visiting his mother for a day or two. The horse was placed in Hotel Nelson's stables about 6 o'clock. Shortly after midnight John Wood, an employe of the hotel, passed a horse wandering along West Seventh street near Samptown, but thought nothing of it. On arriving home and going into the barn found Winkler's horse missing. He notified Landlord Casterline and a search was immediately commenced, but so far no trace of the animal has been found.

It is described as a brown horse with a white face and white off hind foot. The supposition is that the animal was released by some one as it was impossible for the horse to spring the catch on the tie strap. The barn door was left open, which is always done until the last thing at night, and it was an easy matter for the animal to walk out after being released.

TROLLEY CAR STRIKES FREIGHT.

Seven Passengers Leap to Save Themselves—Motorman Hurt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 21—A car of the Somerset and Middlesex Traction Company ran into a freight train of the Raritan River Railroad at the crossing near South Amboy yesterday. The train was crossing the tracks as the trolley car approached. The brakes of the car would not work. There were seven passengers in the car, and they jumped to save themselves from injury. The motorman and conductor stayed at their posts trying to stop the car. They were hurled off by the collision. The motorman had his foot twisted.

FIRE APPARATUS CAME TOGETHER.

Chief Doane's Wagon and West End Hose Wagon Met at Street Corner.

DRIVER FEIRING INJURED.

TRYING TO GET OUT OF A TANGLE FEIRING STRUCK A POLE.

Both Vehicles Reached Corner at the Same Time Without Apprehending Danger—Feiring Unable to Leave His Bed.

For the second time within a few weeks, part of the apparatus of the city fire department figured in an exciting accident yesterday afternoon. As in the previous one when the heavy truck plunged into Hepburn's drug store the escape of the men was almost miraculous and but for the cool heads of the drivers it would probably have resulted fatally. As it was, Driver George Feiring, of West End Hose Company No. 3, is confined to the house with rather severe injuries. Although no bones were broken, he is badly bruised in the chest and lower limbs and it is feared he is injured internally. He also suffers from shock. None of the other men were injured.

Yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock Chief Doane received a telephone alarm at headquarters, stating that the residence of George VanBoskerck, on the corner of Plainfield avenue and Seventh street, was on fire. Ordering No. 2 hose and the chemical engine to go out, he jumped in his wagon with Driver William Townley and directed Edward Vail to notify the other houses by telephone. Before Vail could do so an alarm was sounded from Box 34, at the corner of Fifth and Liberty streets, which is answered by No. 3 Hose.

Chief Doane, already knowing where the fire was, kept on down West Second street to Plainfield avenue and making the turn let out the hose at full speed.

Feiring was coming down West Fourth street intending to cross Plainfield avenue and keep on to Liberty street, as he was unaware of the location of the fire and was making for the box. On account of a house on the corner of Plainfield avenue and Fourth street neither driver was aware of the other's approach until almost directly at the crossing point. Feiring was too far over Plainfield avenue to turn, but hugged the curb as close as possible. Townley made a neat turn to the left, bringing his horse alongside of Feiring's team and the wagon about even with the front wheels of the hose wagon.

In his anxiety to keep from striking the wagon, Feiring crowded to the right as far as possible when his truck collided with an iron trolley pole. He was throw from his seat landing on his side. Howard Manning, another member of the company, was sitting with his back to the horses putting on his boots. He was thrown completely over, but landed directly on his feet. George Mehl, who was on the rear, escaped with a few slight bruises. The off-horse was thrown to the ground.

He lay perfectly still and it was thought at first he was killed, but upon getting him up it was found he was not even bruised or cut. Chief Doane saw that none of the boys were in need of his assistance and kept on to the fire.

A leaky gas meter had filled the cellar with gas which had ignited from a stove used for heating irons. The chief found the cellar filled with flame and ordered the chemical stream thrown on. The gas was about burnt out, however, and the meter melting off the trouble was located. The shutting off of the gas extinguished the blaze.

Driver Feiring was taken to the West End house and this morning it was stated he was very weak and unable to be moved. He will be taken to the home of his parents on Harrison street as soon as possible.

The dash board and front part of the hose wagon was splintered and it will be sent to the shop for repairs. The chief's wagon was uninjured.

Late this morning Driver Feiring was removed to his home. His physician, Dr. Pittis, has forbidden him to receive any visitors, and states that with perfect quietness his recovery will be rapid.

George Westerfield, who has been living at Princeton Junction, is now stopping with his brother, Charles Westerfield, of Central avenue, for a time.

Ethel Lorton, of 203 Watchung avenue, has gone to Centreville, Hunterdon county, where she will enjoy herself on the farm of Mrs. A. Huff, until school opens, September 11th.

IMPORTANT ROAD MAKING

MOUNTAIN AVENUE IS BEING COMPLETED FROM BRIDGE TO PLAINS.

State Supervisor of Roads Meeker Decides That Experiences of Plainfield With Clay Shall Not Be Repeated.

An important link in the Union county road system is now being completed. While the through road from Plainfield to Newark has been in existence for several years, the road from North Plainfield to Newark was complete for all but a little less than half a mile. Mountain avenue was well macadamized to the bridge, fourtenths of a mile west of Scotch Plains. At a recent meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders, it was decided to take advantage of the State aid in road building as provided by a recent enactment of the Legislature and the connecting link was ordered built.

The foundation for the short stretch of road has been laid and the smaller stone is now being laid. It will require but a few weeks longer to complete the job and then wheelmen and drivers will find a good road out Mountain avenue to Scotch Plains.

There has been a change in the plans of the contractor since the work was started. He intended to use a clay binder, as was originally used on Front street, this city. Those who are acquainted with that kind of roads say that the clay binder makes the road extremely dusty in dry weather and very slippery in wet. When State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker, of this city, visited the work the other day and found that it was the intention to use clay binder, he objected very strongly and notified the contractor that the State would not approve of the road unless gravel and fine stone was used for that purpose. The change will be made according to Mr. Meeker's recommendation and no clay will be used.

RUSHMORE PROPERTY SOLD

Transaction Was in Bankruptcy Proceedings—Park Avenue House Bought for $11,000.

The sale of the three properties owned by Dr. Rushmore took place yesterday under bankruptcy proceedings. The properties include the one on Park avenue where Dr. Rushmore and his family live; another one on Fifth street, near Park avenue, and the third one at 21 Stone street. The Park avenue and Fifth street properties were sold together to Mrs. Rushmore, mother of Dr. Rushmore, and the price was $11,000. The Stone street property was purchased by Andrew Lutkins, of Somerset street, for $1,300. Edward White had charge of the sale, and Hand & Pangborn, auctioneers, sold the properties.

As Dr. Rushmore's mother purchased the property where her son resides, it is quite likely that he and his family will continue there as residents.

FOR NATURALIZATION.

Special Arrangements Being Made by County Clerk Howard.

County Clerk Howard has arranged to be in attendance at the Court House on the evenings of Sept. 7th, 14th and 18th to receive applications for naturalization from foreign-born citizens. The applicants will be heard in the court room instead of the county clerk's office, this arrangement having been made for the comfort and convenience of the large number of men who will no doubt avail themselves of these opportunities to secure their applications. It is also expected that Judge Vail will sit in a special session of court one or more evenings during September to grant citizens' certificates.

To Plan G. O. P. Work.

Some of the preliminary things for the coming national campaign, as far as Union county is concerned, will be fixed at the meeting of the Republican county executive committee this evening. A meeting of the committee will be held in the county headquarters in the Dix Building, Elizabeth, this evening. The election officers all over the county will be announced and a list sent to the State committee for approval. Then there are other details to be attended to at the meeting.

Engagement Announced.

All Plainfield society will be interested to learn of the engagement which was publicly announced yeterday. It is that of Miss Daisy Shepard, daughter of A. D. Shepard, of "The Gables," East Front street, to Osborne Bright, a wealthy young man from New York. Miss Shepard is now summering in the Adirondacks.

Common Council to Meet.

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting this evening when several important matters will be discussed.

SHOT AWAY HIS PIPE.

THRILLING ADVENTURE OF A WESTFIELD YOUNG MAN.

Frank Winter Had a Bullet Whiz Within a Few Inches of His Face.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 21.—Frank Winter, clerk at the Westfield post office, bought a new pipe today. His old one was broken last evening under such remarkable circumstances that Winter hasn't yet fully recovered from the shock. While Winter was sitting in one of the back seats of a trolley car of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, the bowl of the pipe was shot away by a bullet from a revolver and the stem left between Winter's teeth.

Winter and his friend, Joseph Kestner, also of this place, were calling in Cranford last evening. They came up on the last car which reaches Westfield at 12:30. They occupied the next to the last seat. Winter sat on the right at the end and Kestner next to him.

The car reached Garwood and swung into Main street. Then came the crack of a revolver. It sounded to the west. The bowl of the pipe which Winter was smoking was shivered into a thousand fragments and only the amber stem remained in his teeth.

The car was stopped and passengers and crew looked around for the one who fired the shot. It was impossible to tell whether the shot was accidentally fired or deliberately aimed at the car. The matter was reported to Policeman Harrison when the car reached Garwood and an investigation is now being made. The shot was evidently fired in Westfield township as it came from the west of the car at Garwood.

"PRISON KID" TAKEN AWAY.

The Two-Year-Old Removed From Criminal Surroundings—Place Not Known.

"Baby" Mason, the widely advertised "Prison Kid," has been taken from the State Prison and put away safe from the scrutiny of the public and the newspaper reporters. There has been considerable sentimental discussion in an out of the State over the fact that this 2-year-old child was allowed to remain within the prison because his mother was a convict serving a three-year sentence for theft.

Governor Voorhees announced some weeks ago that he would secure the child's removal as soon as he saw a legal way to do so. The Board of Children's Guardians had the matter under advisement, but the Governor quietly effected a plan, through the aid of the Board of Inspectors of the State Prison. The whereabouts of the child is supposed to be a State secret. The mother yielded to let the child go. The Board of Inspectors have no jurisdiction over the child when its mother is released from the prison. It is understood that other arrangements are to be made for its rearing.

TROLLEY CAR'S NARROW ESCAPE.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, August 21.—This city came near being the scene of many fatalities last Saturday evening, when one of the new trolley cars of the Union and Middlesex Road, on its way from Westfield to Boynton Beach, heavily loaded with passengers, was passing over the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing at Irving street, and the car became disabled, and could not be moved by the motorman. Just at that time a fast passenger train, bound from Philadelphia to New York, came in sight, speeding at the rate of a mile a minute. The passengers on the car became panic stricken, many of them leaping from the car and escaping to the street. The men, aided by others in the street, who saw the impending danger, succeeded in pushing the car back off the track, barely in time to let the train flash by without doing harm. The motorman said that the electric power, for some reason, was shut of just as the car reached the tracks.

Beautiful Display.

The display of peaches in front of Neuman Brothers' store this morning was a very beautiful one, and the 250 baskets of fruit soon found buyers, at prices very low. Tomorrow morning they will have another large shipment and the prices will be 35, 50 and 75 cents for a 16-quart basket.

One Car Not Enough.

One trolley car on the Arlington avenue line was utterly unable to accommodate the large number of persons who wanted to ride on that line last Sunday. It is about time the company paid more attention to this line and make some effort to give the people good service.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21—Wm. M. Johnson, of Hackensack, president of the New Jersey State Senate, was last week offered by the President the post of First Assistant Postmaster General, to succeed Perry S. Heath, and Postmaster General Smith announced yesterday afternoon that he had accepted the offer and would assume the duties of his new office shortly.

He spoke in the highest terms of praise of the ability and character of the new First Assistant, and expressed much gratification that the President had induced the Senator to accept the appointment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

His legal adviser changed his mind and instead of allowing the prisoner to come up for examination, waived it before the Judge Strong and was held in $1,000 bail for further proceedings.

Mary Vilcovi, the complaining witness in that case and the prisoner on the charge of perjury, preferred by Vennepsky's wife, will have her hearing here this morning.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD.

Roumania and Bulgaria Getting Ready to Fight.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Referring to the tension between Roumania and Bulgaria, caused by the demand of the Roumanian government for the arrest of Sarafow, president of the revolutionary committee at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, together with the suppression of that organization, the Vienna correspondent of The Daily Express says:

"The Bulgarian reply to the note of Roumania has been received at Bucharest. It is couched in aggressive terms.

"Bulgarian troops are being continually moved to the frontier. The Macedonian revolutionary committee has collected 1,000 volunteers, under the command of Bulgarian regular officers, and will raid Roumanian territory.

"Three Roumanian army corps are mobilizing. King Charles, speaking to his officers Sunday, said:

"'Gentlemen, be ready for war. It can happen at any moment. You will prove yourselves worthy successors of the heroes of 1877.'

"Addressing the minister of foreign affairs, M. Lahovary, he said: 'Thus do the ungrateful Bulgarians repay all the blood we shed for them in 1877.'

"The Roumanian minister at Sofia will be immediately recalled."

A Simple Question.

Plainfield People are Requested to Honestly Answer This.

Is not the word of a representative citizen more convincing than the doubtful utterances of people living everywhere else in the Union? Read this:—

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers, grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years, pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated it. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. In the mornings my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise, when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures but it was throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper and being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved and continuing their use, all the pain left me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

Appeal For Cessation of Hostilities of No Avail.

CHINA HAS NOT MET THE CONDITIONS

Chinese Troops Surrounded In Palace Grounds—Late Dispatches Indicate the Escape of Empress Dowager and Emperor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The American reply to China's latest appeal for a cessation of hostilities, received yesterday from Li Hung Chang, has not yet been made known, and it is likely that the matter will be one of the main subjects of consideration at the cabinet meeting today. But there is reason to believe that the overtures will in effect be rejected on the ground that the conditions laid down in the American note of Aug. 12 have not been complied with and until complied with the government's course must proceed without reference to China's appeal for a halt in the proceedings. The dispatch of Aug. 12 said specifically that the United States was ready to enter into an agreement between the powers and the Chinese government for a cessation of hostilities on condition that the relief forces should be permitted "to enter Peking unmolested and escort the legationers therefrom under such circumstances as the commanding general might lay down." But up to the present time there is no evidence that the allied forces are unmolested at Peking or have received the sanction of the imperial government to convey the legationers to Tien-tsin without further trouble and under the conditions laid down by the commanding general. On the contrary, all of the dispatches indicate that the allies are meeting stubborn resistance, and there is an entire lack of compliance with the conditions laid down by the United States in its dispatch of Aug. 12. As stated, however, the government has given no authoritative statement of its purpose in reply to China's supplication, and there is still a slight chance that complete compliance with the demands of Aug. 12 may be announced in the Peking dispatches before the final determination on the reply is made. But the disposition now is clearly in the line indicated.

China's latest application for peace negotiations was received early at the Chinese legation and was transmitted by Mr. Wu to the state department. Secretaries Hay and Root were out of the city, but Acting Secretary of State Adee went over the subject with the president. Earl Li's request is that the United States shall name Minister Conger or some other official to act as peace envoy for the cessation of hostilities. He expressed his willingness to go to such point as the powers may desire, and under the intimations made it is thought that Peking or Tien-tsin would be selected for the negotiations. The Chinese envoy proposed no terms as to the withdrawal of troops and made no other suggestion as to what was to come before the commission, his sole anxiety being to secure the cessation of hostilities. The application is understood also to have been made to the powers in the hope that if all would name a commissioner there would be a general council of peace between Li Hung Chang on the one hand and the several representatives of the nations on the other.

Aside from the fact that the conditions of Aug. 12 have not yet been complied with by China, it is probable that this government would desire to take sufficient time to learn what the other powers intend doing on the same line, as all are acting in unison. Moreover, there are some unexplained features of Li Hung Chang's application, one of them being that, while he asks the allies to cease hostilities, he gives no assurance that he has the power to make the Chinese army and the rebellious Boxers cease their hostilities.

The situation at Peking is made more clear from many sources. The latest advice appears to be that Consul Fowler, at Chefu, repeating a dispatch received from Consul Ragsdale, at Tien-tsin. The latter reports "Chinese troops surrounded in palace grounds." The Japanese legation received a dispatch of the same general tenor, but more in detail, stating that the Chinese troops retreated on the 15th within the imperial palace and that they were surrounded there, with the Japanese military headquarters located in the Japanese legation. Admiral Remey also transmitted an authentic report from Peking on the 15th, saying that "troops are moving on the imperial city." These several dispatches from different sources establish clearly that the imperial palace and grounds were under siege. But not one of the dispatches is clear as to how late this condition of affairs existed. The Fowler dispatch is the latest to be received and is dated the 20th, but probably that is the date on which it left Tien-tsin. The Japanese dispatch also refers to the Chinese taking refuge in the imperial palace on the 15th, but does not bring the situation beyond that day. So that the latest information, while showing the imperial city surrounded, does not disclose the issue of this situation nor how long it has continued.

The latest dispatches seem to make clear that the emperor and the empress dowager have made their escape from Peking and that about the only present service of the imperial palace and grounds is an asylum in which the demoralized Chinese soldiers are making a last stand. The Japanese legation's advices show that the banners of the imperial cortege were seen leaving Peking on the 12th and that probably the empress dowager as well as the emperor had left the city. Consul General Goodnow advised the state department that he had information from Chinese sources that the empress dowager had left Peking.

The Japanese legation has received several important dispatches, giving the fullest and latest information of events in Peking. A telegram dated at Tokyo, Aug. 19, says:

"After the entry to Peking was effected by the allied troops the Chinese troops on Aug. 15 betook themselves to and remained in the imperial palace. A body of Japanese troops was told off to guard the palace, and there they met with obstinate resistance by the Chinese troops. Fighting is still going on. The headquarters of the Japanese army is in the legation, and the division is mainly quartered in the villages outside of An-ting-men."

A telegram dated the 19th inst., received from the Japanese foreign offices, gives the following dispatch from the acting Japanese consul general at Shanghai:

"From Sheng's statements to me I am inclined to think there is truth in the rumor that the empress dowager at least, if not the emperor, too, has left Peking for Wutai-hsien, in Shensi province, via Taoting-fu, for he told me that some of the privy council crossed the Lukon bridge on the 12th with banners bearing inscriptions denoting that they formed a part of the imperial escort, and that Li Chuan Liu, governor of Kiangsu, sent a telegram on the 14th to the southern viceroys and governers, directing them to forward all war funds to Shensi. But as an imperial decree was issued on the 13th the departure, if it took place at all, must have been subsequent to that date.

"I have also learned from another reliable source that Princes Ching, Yung Lu and Kang Yi are still in Peking, though Prince Tuan has followed the empress dowager."

CUT WIRE STOPS NEWS.

The Allies Need Re-enforcements. Whereabouts of the Empress.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Owing probably to the Peking wire being cut little news of conditions in the Chinese capital has come through this morning. What has reached London indicates that the allies are in need of re-enforcements.

The commander of the Italian second class cruiser Fieramosca telegraphs from Taku, according to the Rome correspondent of The Daily Mail, that very urgent requests were coming from Peking on Saturday for the immediate dispatch of further troops and that in answer to these 400 Italian marines were sent off post haste.

The Japanese minister in London, Kato Takaaki, is said to have received a telegram last evening announcing that after the entry into Peking a Japanese detachment went to the imperial palace to afford whatever protection was necessary. The enemy were in strength, and fighting was still proceeding when the message was sent to Tokyo. The main body of the Japanese was then at the An-ting-men gate of the Tartar city, with headquarters at the Japanese legation.

Reports of the whereabouts of the empress dowager are still contradictory, but General Yung Lu, according to the Shanghai correspondent of The Standard, is definitely announced to be a prisoner by the orders of the empress in the imperial palace. "This, perhaps," says the correspondent, "is a good thing, as detention in the capital will enable him to negotiate with the allies' commander, which he would do as Prince Tuan's enemy."

Antiforeign Leaders Slain.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21.—Official Chinese advices from Peking say that Su Tung and Yi Lien Yuan of the antiforeign party and Li Shan, a pro-foreigner, have been decapitated and that Yung Lu has been imprisoned by Prince Ching. It is added that the emperor and dowager empress are 60 miles west of Peking under the constraint of Prince Tuan. Li Hung Chang goes north immediately.

Russian Victory Reported.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 21.—General Orloff, chief of staff to the Russian forces in China, reports to the Russian war office the defeat of 7,000 Chinese after a hard fight, the capture of Yukshi pass and the occupation of Meduchei. An imperial ukase has been issued prohibiting the exportation of arms or ammunition to China.

Roosevelt Visits McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New York is in Washington and is the guest of President McKinley at the White House. The governor arrived here after 6 o'clock last evening and was met at the station by Secretary Cortelyou, who escorted him to the executive mansion. In anticipation of Governor Roosevelt's visit the president and Mrs. McKinley had invited the cabinet members and others to meet the governor at dinner at the White House, the party including Postmaster General Emory Smith, Secretary and Mrs. Gage, Secretary Wilson, Secretary Hitchcock and Adjutant General Corbin. Soon after dinner the invited guests withdrew. Various political and other matters were discussed by the presidential and vice presidential candidates, the conference lasting until midnight.

Mrs. Monnett Shot.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 21.—Mrs. F. S. Monnett, wife of the ex-attorney general of Ohio, while standing in the doorway of the Cumberland, a fashionable apartment building on the east side, where she resides, was struck in the breast by a bullet from a Flobert rifle in the hands of boys who were shooting sparrows on the opposite side of the street. The bullet penetrated the lungs, and the attending physicians state that Mrs. Monnett is in a very critical condition. The shooting was wholly accidental, and no arrests have been made.

A Shirt Waist Suit.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Sol Bloom, a music publisher, has brought suit for $50,000 damages against the Union restaurant and hotel in Randolph street for refusing to serve him while he was clad in a shirt waist and minus a coat. This is said to be the first time the shirt waist question has been brought before a court. Attorneys for plaintiff contend that the defendant had no right to refuse to serve Bloom merely because he wore the latest style in men's garments.

Senator Lodge's Son Weds.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—The announcement of the marriage on Saturday of Miss Matilda Frelinghuysen Davis, daughter of Judge John Davis of the United States court of claims at Washington, to George Cabot Lodge, the younger son of Senator Lodge, surprised their large circle of friends, who had expected that this event would take place at Bar Harbor next month.

Fight at a Picnic.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—A special to The Chronicle from English, Ind., says: "Doolittle Mills, 18 miles from here, was the scene of a riot at a picnic in which 50 or more took part with clubs, knives and stones. The probably fatally wounded are Temple Graham, Thomas Kennedy, Francis Webster and Alexander Turner, badly cut, and James Kemper and James Lofton, skulls fractured."

Five Hurt by a Runaway.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 21.—A runaway horse last evening injured five persons, two probably fatally, started three other runaways, smashed two runabouts and the plate glass window of a jewelry shop and literally cleared the people out of the busiest block in the city for several minutes at the hour when the street is most crowded. The horse belonged to Arnold M. Spencer, a carpenter.

HAVOC IN A STORM.

Two Hundred Homes Blown Down In Sheboygan, Wis.

TORNADO CUTS A WIDE SWATH.

Business Blocks, School and Church Wrecked—A Loss of $300,000 Inflicted In Ten Minutes—Other Towns Also Suffer.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Aug. 21.—A terrific windstorm struck this city yesterday, coming suddenly from the north. Eight large buildings were completely wrecked, and 200 small houses were blown down, causing a loss of $300,000.

At noon it was as dark as night and intensely hot. A few moments before 1 o'clock the storm broke, increasing in force until it became a tornado. People were thrown down and fences and signs hurled hundreds of feet. The storm, which raged for only ten minutes, was two miles wide and wrecked everything in its path.

The roof of the warehouse of the Crocker Chair company was blown off and thrown against the factory, wrecking the building. The street car barns were wrecked, and cars were smashed to pieces. The electric wires were all blown down. The tent of a horse and pony show was torn from the ground and blown away, leaving the animals to run panic stricken through the city. The roof of the Schrier brewery was lifted from the building and carried over 150 yards. The American Folding Bed company's plant was demolished, and the sheds in the A. Zimball & Sons' brickyards were blown down. The steeple of the Lutheran church was blown down on to two residences, smashing in the roofs. The Fourth ward schoolhouse was completely wrecked. The plant of the Optenberg & Sonneman company was partially wrecked. Others suffered heavy losses.

The wind wrecked building after building with the greatest rapidity, and there was little warning of the approach of the storm. The people in every case, however, were out of their houses before the storm struck, and those who were hit by flying debris were only slightly injured. In the factories the employees were in many cases bruised and cut from wreckage. No one was killed.

Crops and Buildings Damaged.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 21.—Intense heat yesterday was followed by a severe electrical and rain storm. The front of the Percy gun store was wrecked by a bolt of lightning, and the wind blew in the large plate glass window. Crops were damaged, and many small buildings were destroyed.

A Cloudburst.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 21.—A cloudburst struck here yesterday, the fall of rain being over 1½ inches in half an hour. Much damage is reported to crops. Telephone and telegraph wires suffered greatly.

Intense Heat In Kansas.

ABILENE, Kan., Aug. 21.—This was the eleventh day of 100 degree weather, and the temperature rose to 115, with hot winds. Pastures and corn are badly burned.

Electric Railway Test.

HUDSON, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The first trip over the new third rail system of the Albany and Hudson railway, operated by power from the new water power station at Stuyvesant falls, was made yesterday, and the working of the electrical plant proved eminently satisfactory in every particular. At points along the route the train ran at the rate of 60 miles an hour. The train was under perfect control, and speed could be changed almost instantly at will. The turning on of the current was mainly to test the power and third rail and was not the official test, which will be made later, when a few more details necessary to the operation of the road are completed. The road is the longest surface third rail electrical system in operation in the world. Power is derived from the waters of Kinderhook creek, 12,000 volts being sent along the system and regulated by three substations on the route.

Battleships to Be Overhauled.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Indiana and probably the Massachusetts will soon go to the League Island navy yard, where they will be laid up in ordinary during the coming winter. It is probable when the summer cruise of the north Atlantic squadron is completed the cruiser New York and battleship Texas will be put out of commission, the first at the New York navy yard and the second at Norfolk. Both ships are due for a thorough overhauling consequent upon their long tour of active service during and subsequent to the Spanish-American war. The New York has a particularly long sea record, having been in commission since 1893.

Heavy Rains In India.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, telegraphs that the heavy, general rainfall has continued in most of the affected tracts. The crops promise well in the central provinces, sowing is active elsewhere and the necessity for free kitchens will shortly disappear. Prices, however, are still very high everywhere. Cholera is prevalent throughout Hyderabad and in Bombay. There are 5,688,000 people receiving relief.

Chicago's Population.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The population of the city of Chicago, according to the official count of the return of the twelfth census, is as follows: 1900, 1,698,575; 1890, 1,099,850. These figures show for the city as a whole an increase in population of 598,725, or 54.44 per cent, from 1890 to 1900. The population in 1880 was 503,185, showing an increase of 596,665, or 118.58 per cent, from 1880 to 1890.

Suburban Residence Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—The suburban residence of George C. Thomas, a prominent financier of this city, was damaged by fire to the extent of $15,000, partly insured. The place is known as Clifford Park and is located at Germantown. The flames originated on the third floor, and the upper portion of the dwelling was destroyed.

Alabama Town Wiped Out.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 21.—Boaz, a small town in Marshall county, was destroyed by fire. Every business house was swept away. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Miss Emma Brokaw, of East Front street, is spending her summer at Mt. Pleasant, a favorite resort in the Catskills.

Rev. H. Stillwell, of St. Paul, Minn., who preached Sunday morning and evening in the First Baptist church, was the guest of Dr. J. B. Probasco, of East Front street.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

YOUTSEY'S TRIAL POSTPONED.

Illness of Defendant the Reason. What Defense Expects to Prove.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 21.—The defense yesterday filed a motion for a continuance until the October term in the case of Henry E. Youtsey, the young auditor's stenographer who is indicted as one of the principals in the Goebel murder. The motion is based on the illness of the defendant supported by the affidavits of two physicians, on the illness of his attorneys and also on the absence of a large number of important witnesses. An affidavit was also filed by his counsel stating that subpœnas had been issued and returned unserved in the cases of a number who were desired as witnesses, and the defendant makes affidavit as to what he expects to prove by them. By ex-Governor W. S. Taylor, Charles Finley, W. J. Davidson and B. N. Miller, all of whom are out of the state, he says he will prove that he was in the executive office on Jan. 27 with a gun solely for the purpose of protecting the building and occupants from expected riot. He says that Taylor and Miller will testify that upon entering the executive office immediately after the shooting Youtsey did not say that Goebel had been killed, but that he did not know what had happened; that Charles Finley will testify that there was but one key to the secretary of state's office; that Mrs. C. E. Nelson will testify that she saw the defendant walk up the steps to the east door of the executive building so soon after the shooting that he could not have engaged in it; that ex-Governor Bradley will say he never talked with W. H. Culton or anybody else regarding a rumor that Youtsey contemplated killing Goebel.

The court did not pass directly upon the motion for a continuance, but said that only one of the grounds set up in the affidavit was to be considered, that of the illness of the defendant. He therefore postponed the trial until next Thursday morning, by which time it would be determined whether Youtsey will be able to stand trial.

DIED IN POVERTY.

Woman Once a Wealthy Society Leader In New York.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Francis H. von Bensholen, who is said to have been at one time a wealthy society leader in New York, has just died here in abject poverty at the age of 71 years. She came here poor two years ago, and nothing is known of the causes that led her to take up her residence in this city. Mrs. von Bensholen, it is said, was born in France, the daughter of Captain Hall, a wealthy ship owner, who was associated with Commodore Vanderbilt in the early marine service of this country. At the age of 14 years she married Count de Luci of France, who died two years later, leaving her with one child.

After four years of widowhood she became the wife of Edward von Bensholen, a New York banker and broker. When he died, he left her a large fortune.

It is said that in early life she was a familiar figure in the courts of France and England and that she entertained the Astors, Vanderbilts and other families prominent in New York society. She is survived by six children who reside in Albany, Brooklyn, New York city, Washington and Stroudsburg, Pa.

DEDHAM, Mass., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Mary Michael Ambrosio was shot by her brother-in-law, Joseph de Patri, and died yesterday afternoon from the effects of the bullet. Her murderer is still at large, but the police are making a strong effort to locate him. The shooting occurred in the tenement where Mrs. Ambrosio lived with her three children. The woman was attending to her work when her brother-in-law put in an appearance. The conversation was carried on in Italian, and the neighbors were unable to make out what was said.

TEACHERS HONORED.

Cubans Visit West Point and See New York.

DELIGHTED WITH THE GREATER CITY

Cadets Give a Special Parade For Their Benefit—Points of Interest Visited—Banquet In Central Park.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The 1,377 Cuban teachers who have been spending the past two months at the Harvard summer school were taken to West Point, N. Y., yesterday, where they were received with honors that have been extended but once before in the history of the United States Military academy. The Cubans, 700 of whom are women, got their first real glimpse of New York yesterday morning. They showed undisguised delight. As Professor Frye, superintendent of education for the island of Cuba, who is in charge of the party, expressed it:

"Hear their 'vivas.' That tells the story."

The trip up the Hudson and the short stay at West Point were crowded with incidents. All along the river front of New York crowds on passing ferries, excursion steamers and on shore cheered and waved their handkerchiefs wildly at the Cubans, who answered with the fervor of a boatload of children.

As the Iron Steamboat company's boat Taurus, which carried the Cuban teachers up the Hudson, passed the great stone quarry at Tompkin's Cove the Cubans were greeted with a dynamite salute. Four heavy blasts, which sent great segments of stone high into the air, to fall back into the water like shells from a battleship, were accompanied by the shouting of 200 workmen who were gathered at the entrance to the shaft.

At West Point carriages were waiting for the women of the party. Many preferred to walk up the hill with the men. Boys handed out programmes printed in Spanish, which also contained a list of the buildings of the college and some facts about the institution, together with an invitation to the teachers to make themselves at home.

Colonel Mills ordered for the Cuban visitors a special dress parade. It is the only occasion in the history of the Military academy, save once before, when the commanding officer of the United States army, Major General Nelson A. Miles, visited the academy, that the hour of dress parade has been changed from 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The cadets are now in camp, and their Cuban visitors formed about the green sward, making altogether a brilliant picture, full of color and action.

The teachers were shown through the new Cullom memorial hall. Professor Frye thanked Colonel Mills for them. They then returned to the steamboat, and the trip to the city began.

Today the teachers are taking in New York. Beginning at 8 o'clock this morning they visited Grant's tomb, Columbia university, the One Hundred and Ninth street school and Central park. At the mall, Central park, Acting Mayor Guggenheimer delivered an address of welcome, after which a banquet was served on the lawn. Mrs. Leonard Wood, wife of the governor general of Cuba, was a guest, as well as other distinguished persons.

A Quadruple Tragedy.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 21.—A peculiarly distressing quadruple tragedy took place at Farley, a small town across the river in Missouri. Dr. Sturley Harrington, a physician of Farley, drunk and imagining fancied wrongs, killed James Wallace, his uncle, a wealthy farmer; Mrs. William Wallace, Harrington's mother-in-law, and J. P. Dillingham, sheriff of Platte county, who tried to arrest him, and was in turn shot dead by Harry Dillingham, the sheriff's son. Before he was cornered by the sheriff's posse Harrington held up the clerk in a general store at the point of his revolver and exchanged shots with the clerk, firing into a crowd of spectators. Harrington's 12-year-old daughter was a forced witness of the different stages of the tragedy, the physician taking her with him in his buggy as he went from place to place on his bloody errand.

Secret Service Men at Work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A lot of Bresci buttons have been brought to Paterson, N. J., from Newark, and they are finding a ready sale in the anarchist quarters. Only the radicals wear them, but they are being bought freely by others as curiosities. The buttons have a picture of the slayer of the king of Italy and above it his name, Gaetano Bresci. Several secret service men are at work here trying to establish the identity of the man Mabor, who is said to have written a letter relative to the crime of Bresci in killing the king of Italy and telling of the alleged plot of the anarchists to kill President McKinley.

New Steel Steamers Ordered.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—A contract for four steel steamers, to ply in the Atlantic coasting trade, has been given to the American Shipbuilding company by a syndicate of eastern capitalists. The steamers will be built during the winter at the yards of the company at South Chicago and will be ready for delivery to their owners on salt water with the opening of navigation next spring. The ocean syndicate which ordered the boats contains some New York men. The details of organization are not completed as yet, but it will probably be called the Northwestern Transportation company.

Convict Kills Himself.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 21.—Henry Martindale, a convict in the state prison, killed himself by jumping from a cell gallery to the main corridor 40 feet below. He was frightfully mangled. Martindale broke from the line of convicts who were marching from service. He was sentenced to 15 years in 1897 for felonious assault.

Big Plum for Jersey G. O. P.

New Jersey Republicans have been highly favored throughout the McKinley administration by the selection of many State leaders to responsible places in the government, and now another political plum has fallen to this commonwealth in the appointment of Senator William M. Johnson, of Bergen county, as the successor of Perry Heath, who recently resigned the position of First Assistant Postmaster-General.

The position is one of the best in Washington, and the selection of Senator Johnson indicates that notwithstanding the death of the late Vice-President Hobart, whose close relations with Mr. McKinley was regarded as being the force and influence that gave New Jersey its favored place in the administration, the Republicans of the State still exercise great political power in Washington.

The appointment of Mr. Johnson to this government place will necessitate his retirement from the State Senate, over which body he was the presiding officer during the last session of the Legislature. It also takes him out of the list of Gubernatorial possibilities.

A veteran political observer has been casting his trained eye over the State and he finds that the Democrats are having troubles of their own, especially in Hunterdon and Sussex, where State Senators are to be elected this fall. They have three candidates in Hunterdon—Former Assemblymen Trimmer and Martens, and William C. Gebhardt. It is reported that Mr. Martens is ahead in the race, but at the same time his opponents intend to stay in the contest until the last vote in the primary elections is counted. Factional fighting among the Democrats in Hunterdon is not viewed with seriousness, the correspondent says, because the county is so strongly wedded to the regular Democracy. In its history the county has had only two Republican Senators—Frederick A. Potts, from 1874 to '76, and George H. Large, from 1886 to '88. The rock-ribbed Democracy of Hunterdon was not disturbed four years ago, when all the other counties of the State, with the exception of it and Warren, gave Republican majorities.

The phonograph promises to play quite an interesting part in the present National campaign. That instrument is decidedly new to politics, but the managers of the Democratic campaign have had Col. W. J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate, deliver his acceptance speech into a number of phonographs. From these master records will be made thousands of other ones, which will be sent broadcast over the country so that the fisherman in Maine and the planter in Louisiana can both listen to the voice of the Democratic orator and hear just what he had to say when he delivered that famous speech. This novel means of sending a man over the country is too good not to be followed extensively during the campaign, and before the day comes to vote a man will be able to have an assorted lot of campaign speakers address him every evening at his home.

At the Democratic State headquarters in Jersey City yesterday it was stated that the date of the State convention would not be changed in order that there might be no conflict with the outing of the Robert Davis Association. Chairman Gourley insists that inasmuch as Hudson county's representative on the State committee did not see fit to attend the meeting when the convention date was selected, and at that time furnish the information that might have avoided the trouble that has arisen, there is no good reason to make the convention play second fiddle to the outing of the Davis Association. Just what this attitude of Chairman Gourley will lead to on the part of the Hudson county Democrats remains to be seen.

Passaic county, which includes the city of Paterson, has been represented in the New Jersey State Senate by many leaders of political importance in past times—from 1870 to 1882 by Garret A. Hobart, afterward Vice-President of the United States; from 1883 to 1888 by John W. Griggs, now Attorney-General in the President's Cabinet; from 1892 to 1894 by John Hinchcliffe, and since 1895 by Christian Braun. The last is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of New Jersey to succeed Foster M. Voorhees.

The death of Augustus S. Barber, secretary of the State Republican committee, has caused considerable discussion as to the selection of his successor. The place pays $500 in cash and such honor as there is in it. Scott Snyder is an aspirant for the place. Many Republicans would like to see J. B. Smith, of the Secretary of State's office, in the place, but Mr. Smith says he is not a candidate.

The tax rate for this year in Summit has been fixed at $2.85 per $100. This is a reduction of nine points from last year, and is the lowest rate made there in ten years. The rate for that period has ranged from $2.90 to $2.94 per $100. The reduced rate was the result of increasing the valuations about $200,000, while the appropriations for the year remained practically the same as last.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

There are so many of the so-called "popular" songs on the market today that it is impossible for anyone to keep posted regarding them. There are comparatively few of them that ever attain general prominence, however. Out of the thousands of new songs which spring into existence every season, only a dozen or so gain the coveted popularity. The winter, when the theatres are open, is the time when these songs usually grow on the public ear and remain to do service during the summer. An occasional one, thanks to the variety houses and roof gardens, which remain open all summer, rises in popular favor during the summer months. It is really wonderful how the same composers can manage to think of such a variety of melodies. Of course, many of the songs have, here and there, a strain which is very similiar, but the resemblance manages to keep from getting too close.

Recently while Constable William N. Pangborn, of the borough, was making a business trip to Mt. Bethel, his attention was directed to a queer looking head stone in the cemetery adjoining the church at that place. It is of red shale, and the weeds have grown so that one is scarcely able to see it. A peculiarity about the stone is the inscription thereon. It reads: "John Smith, a shoemaker of Monmouth county, New Jersey, died August 16th, 1813; this stone is erected to his memory by Isaac Fitz Randolph." In discussing the inscription and the stone, it was learned that at the time John Smith died there were traveling shoemakers, who went about on foot. They would make regular trips, stopping at the homes of their patrons, where they would remain for several days making shoes for the family. The supposition is that John Smith died while stopping at Isaac Fitz Randolph's home, and that he was buried at Mt. Bethel rather than at his home. No doubt the expense of taking the remains to Monmouth county at that time would be too much, hence his interment where he died. There are other head stones in the cemetery dated as far back as 1700.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Aug. 21—After having been in position for nearly forty years the long stretch of iron fencing about the Smith property is being taken down. Percy Smith, of New York, was about to have it repaired but upon the advice of some of the residents he decided to remove it. There is nearly three tons of old iron in the rails which will be sold.

Geo. Kyte: "Resolved, That in the removal of Mayor Geo. Kyte during his term of office, we recognise the act of an all wise Father, who gives and takes away, in his appointed time, and underneath the genuine regret at the loss of a municipal officer and valued citizen, we are thankful for the benefits derived from an active life in the public affairs of our State, county and borough. WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 21—The wheelmen in this town are waking up and there promises to be a warm time at the Fair Acres Driving Park in the near future. Charles G. Embleton, supposed to be Westfield's fastest rider, is out with a challenge to ride any rider in Westfield or Plainfield an unlimited pursuit race and William K. Embleton, a noted sprinter, has issued a challenge to ride David Curtis, Charles LaMatty and Charles Embleton a series of mile heats to determine who is the "real thing" among them. "Jack" Tobin, who claims to hold the record for the mile on the Trenton track, is also in hard training and will, probably, challenge the winner of the proposed four corner race.

Acting chairman J. Alston Dennis, of the Township Committee, is keeping his eye on the police these days and one of the officers has been laid off for ten days for, it is said, neglect of duty. Mr. Dennis has also changed the regulations and the men now do duty four weeks at night and then two weeks days.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, August 21.—Some real hustling was done on the school building yesterday, eight men being at work.

Joe, the Italian barber, who was formerly located in the basement of Wm. Reily's house, was here yesterday. He removed his shop fixtures which have been stored there since he left about a year ago.

It is said the School Board has rented Washington Hall and will have the little ones go to school there until the new schoolhouse is ready. The larger pupils will go to the old building.

Robert Horan has taken a position with the Water Company as fireman and engineer at the water works.

George Arrowsmith has a position at the coaling station as engineer.

—The Crescent Chowder Club is making great preparations for their annual outing which takes place next Saturday. It is expected the destination will be Florida Grove.

—Two hundred and fifty baskets of peaches will be received by Neuman Brothers tomorrow morning. Special sale at 35, 50 and 75 cents for a 16 quart basket. Muskmelons, tomatoes, green corn, etc., in large quantities.

—The quicker you stop a cough or cold the less danger there will be of fatal lung trouble. One Minute Cough Cure is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. You will like it. L. W. Randolph.

—Attention is called to the fact that the Young Men's Christian Association provides a wheelroom for the use of its members, who should make use of this privilege instead of leaving their bicycles in front of the building.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger, of LaGrange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruption, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Mrs. Julia B. Rushmore, o Grove street, has gone to Peru, N. Y. for two weeks.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Hier hat zwischen dem Redakteur der „Wiener Arbeiterzeitung," Dr. Viktor Adler, und dem Baron Ludwig von Erlanger, der schon häufig in unliebsamer Weise von sich reden gemacht hat, ein Säbelduell stattgefunden, in welchem der Letztere durch einen Hieb über den Kopf kampfunfähig gemacht wurde. Die Veranlassung zu dem Duell war folgende. Die „Arbeiterzeitung" hatte einen Angriff auf den Baron enthalten, weil derselbe einem Bauern, der sich über den auf seinem Felde durch Kavallerie angerichteten Schaden beschwerte, durch einen Säbelhieb verletzt hatte. Herr von Erlanger begab sich darauf nach der Redaktion des Blattes und führte sich dort in so lärmender Weise auf, daß Dr. Adler ihm am nächsten Tage eine Forderung zuschickte.

Brüx. Neulich entstand in der Nähe der Wenzelskirche auf einer Rasenfläche in Folge Setzung des Bruchmaterials des in den Achtzigerjahren verschütteten Gläserhauskellers, begünstigt durch wolkenbruchartigen Regen, ein Erdeinbruch von zwei Meter Durchmesser und zwei Meter Tiefe.

Budapest. In der unweit Budapest gelegenen Gemeinde Piswake wurde bei der Einweihung der neuen Kirche ein Geistlicher von schwäbischen Bauern insultirt und aus der Kirche geworfen, weil er versuchte, den Gottesdienst in ungarischer Sprache abzuhalten.

Graz. Beim Wetterschießen in Pöllau verunglückten drei Bauernkinder durch eine Pulverexplosion. Ein 13jähriges Mädchen ist todt, die anderen sind lebensgefährlich verletzt. Gegen den Vater der Verunglückten wurde Strafanzeige erstattet.

Krakau. Der hiesige Advokat Dr. Samuel Goldmann ist nach Unterschlagung sehr bedeutender Beträge zum Nachtheil seiner zahlreichen Klientel flüchtig geworden. Unter den Beschädigten figurirt auch der Wiener Kreditschutzverein mit mehreren tausend Kronen.

Leutzsch. Hier hat die Polizei 15 Anarchisten, die eine Versammlung hielten, überrumpelt und verhaftet. Nachdem ihre Identität festgestellt war, wurden sie wieder in Freiheit gesetzt. Nur ein dabei befindlicher Berliner Namens Lange, der sich der Durchsuchung widersetzte, wurde in Haft behalten. Man fand bei ihm internationale Briefschaften, die konfiszirt wurden.

Marienbad. Der Abt des Prämonstratenser-Stiftes Teyl, Prälat Alfred Ambros Clementsp, ist hier im Alter von 70 Jahren gestorben.

Perchtoldsorf. Zum Bürgermeister der hiesigen Gemeinde wurde der bisherige Bürgermeister, der pensionirte Oberst Johann Reicher, welcher dieses Amt bereits seit dem Jahre 1882 bekleidet, abermals gewählt.

Schwaz. In Folge wolkenbruchartigen Regens ging im Lahnbach mit furchtbarer Gewalt ein Murbruch los, welcher große Verheerungen anrichtete. Eine Menge Holzstämme, die größten Bäume sammt Wurzeln, sowie riesiges Gestein wurden mit aller Gewalt durch den Lahnbach herabgeschwemmt, wodurch drei Brücken sofort weggerissen wurden. Durch die Anstrengungen des aufgebotenen Militärs und der Feuerwehr konnte eine Katastrophe verhindert werden.

Schweiz.

Bern. Im Oberland scheint der Verkehr diesen Sommer nicht viel geringer zu sein als in der letzten Saison. Die Wengernalp-Bahn hatte auch im Juni ein Plus der Einnahmen gegenüber 1899. Der Mehrertrag von circa 2400 Francs rührt hauptsächlich von der Zunahme des Güterverkehrs her.—Zur Nachtzeit wurde neulich einem Bewohner am Platanenweg in Bern, während er auf einer Bank vor seiner Wohnung schlief, das Portemonnaie mit circa 120 Francs Inhalt entwendet.

Luzern. Am Stanserhorn, beim sogenannten Katzenloch, stürzte der Schneidergeselle Christoph Hahn aus Stang ab. Er starb bald darauf. An derselben Stelle stürzten vor zwei Jahren zwei junge Touristen ab.

Zug. Der seit Jahren in Oberwil wohnhafte Maler Karl Kraft aus Bayern, Vater einer zahlreichen Familie, hat neulich Nachts zuerst seine Frau und dann sich selbst mit einem Revolver im Bette erschossen. Motiv ist der verhältnißmäßig große Aufwand bei fast gänzlicher Verdienstlosigkeit.

Baselland. Herr Vischer-Burckhardt aus Basel, Besitzer des Schloßgutes Pfeffingen, wird diesen Sommer noch die alte Schloßruine in der Weise restauriren lassen, wie sie nach Ueberlieferungen früher ausgesehen haben soll.

Graubünden. Das im Bezirke Lugnez am Eingange des Valserthales gelegene Dörfchen Tersnans ist völlig niedergebrannt; einzig die Kirche blieb vom Feuer verschont.

Tessin. Der Bundesrath hat dem Kanton Tessin für Experimente mit den Hagelkanonen einen Beitrag von 2000 Francs bewilligt unter der Voraussetzung, daß sich der Kanton mit derselben Summe betheiligt.

Wallis. Beim Abstieg vom Matterhorn wurden ein englischer Tourist und zwei Führer aus Zermatt von einer Steinlawine überschüttet; der Führer Furrer wurde getödtet, die beiden Anderen schwer verletzt.

THE BOLERO.

Its Continuance Promises to Be Indefinite.

Black taffeta boleros continue to be much worn. They are decorated with bands of velvet ribbon, crossing and forming various designs, or are tucked or corded all over and trimmed with large buttons. The opening in front is usually filled by the ends of a cravat. The newest boleros have bell sleeves of hardly more than half length, so that the sleeve of the bodice beneath extends beyond.

The half long sack has almost replaced the cape. When it is of cloth, it is comparatively simple, but when it is of silk it is extremely elegant in its details. The empire form is often adopted, but the junction of the yoke is concealed under embroidery or other trimming, which gives the garment an aspect of being all in one piece. If the sack is of the plainer cut—that is, really straight—a decoration simulating a bolero is frequently chosen. This may be of guipure, embroidery, passementerie application or beads and spangles.

The illustration shows two bolero models which are entirely new. The first, which is of cloth, is short under the arms, but extends to the waist in a point, back and front. The edges are all cut in squares and outlined with bands of stitching. There are no sleeves. The bolero fastens with ornamental buttons and has a plain, high collar. The second model is very short, but is slightly elongated in front. It is of black cloth, stitched at the edges, and closes with two rows of jet buttons in front. It is cut away at the top and has a double collar of white stitched moire. The long sleeves are plain.

BATHING COSTUMES.

American Models For Such Gowns Better Than Any Others.

The French ideas of a bathing costume are not ours. In fact, our idea is unique, and, although France is supposed to take the lead in matters of fashion, she is left behind in this case, for the bathing gowns worn in America are infinitely more "chic" than those seen anywhere else. England is out of it entirely, for there the sea bath is almost as private as the bathroom bath, and the attire consequently of women is of an unconventional and certainly unbecoming character. In France the two sexes bathe in the sea in community, as here, but the feminine bathing costume continues to be antiquated in style and to lack the "smart" air which is so conspicuous at our own seaside resorts. The French trousers extend half way between the knee and the ankle. The French skirt stops half way down to the knee, and there is an absence of stocking rather shocking to occidental ideas. Serge and white braid predominate, and more progressive theories meet with a cool reception.

The cut shows a yachting costume of navy blue serge. The skirt is stitched around the foot and is laid in three plaits at each side and a watteau plait at the back. The side plaits are held down by stitched straps which run obliquely and disappear under the watteau plait. An embroidered anchor ornaments the front plait at each side. The bolero is edged with a band of white serge and has an embroidered collar of white serge. The plastron is of blue serge, with a collar and waist of embroidered lawn. The corselet is of plaited satin. The sleeves are stitched. A yachting cap of white duck is worn with a gold embroidered anchor.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Fish Hatcheries.

It is estimated that fish hatcheries pay if 1 per cent of the eggs arrive at maturity. A cod yields on an average 4,000,000 eggs, so 1 per cent would represent 40,000 cod, which, at 50 cents each, would mean a money value of $20,000. A turbot yields 10,000,000 eggs, 1 per cent of which means 100,000 turbot, which, at $1.25 each, is $125,000. Outside of the hatcheries it is estimated that not more than two eggs of a fish in a season live to be mature fish.

HON. ROGER WOLCOTT.

Eminent New Englander Succeeds Ambassador Draper as Our Representative at Rome.

Roger Wolcott, who has accepted the Italian embassy in succession to Ambassador Draper, of Massachusetts, resigned, was formerly governor of Massachusetts and is a distinguished New England citizen. He is a Harvard man and a graduate of law, but has been very little in practice owing to his vast estate, which has required almost all of his time to manage. Mr. Wolcott's family is one of the strong old houses of New England. Wolcotts were colonial governors and signers of the declaration of independence. The distaff side of Mr. Wolcott's family is almost equally famous. His wife is a direct descendant of the Prescott who commanded the Yankee forces at Bunker Hill. The new ambassador has taken a keen interest in local and state politics. He was elected several years ago to the common council of Boston and served three terms in that body. Then he spread his wings for a higher flight and was chosen to represent his district in the legislature. In this capacity he likewise served three terms and was afterward elected lieutenant governor. Gov. Greenhalge died while in office and Mr. Wolcott took his place. His administration was acceptable to Massachusetts voters, who returned him by election to the office of chief magistracy. Mr. Wolcott is now in Europe.

SIR ALFRED GASELEE.

Commander of the British Forces in China Has Had a Varied Experience as a Soldier.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Alfred Gaselee, commander of the British forces in China, it is officially stated, started the other day on the march to Peking, regardless of whether the allies would go with him or not. Gen. Gaselee is a soldier with a long fighting record in India. Thirty-seven years ago he began his military career, and first saw service on the northwestern frontier. He fought in Abyssinia in 1868; was in the Beyotee expedition of 1869, and the Jowaki-Afridi expedition of 1877, and took part in the Afghan war of a year or two later. The Zhob valley expedition, the Hazara expedition and the Isayai expedition kept him employed pretty constantly until his service with Waziristan field force in 1894. By that time he was a colonel, and he became a temporary brigadier general in 1898—the year of his knight commandership of the Bath. Sir Alfred, who is an aide-de-camp to the queen, has therefore had a long and varied experience to fall back upon in the discharge of the new and onerous duties that he has now taken in hand. Gen. Gaselee is in his fifty-seventh year.

Viceroys Wield Great Power.

Much has been said recently about the viceroys, whose authority seems to be so great that they are to a great extent independent of Peking. They are, in fact, petty kings, but their powers are held altogether at the mercy of imperial authority. Nothing of really independent power is theirs, inasmuch as they are under watch at all times from the capital, and at any time they may be visited unexpectedly by royal commissioners sent to investigate their doings. A word from the emperor will deprive them of rank, property and even life. Furthermore, the viceroy, who is the governor of a province, is responsible for all the calamaties of kinds that are attributed to "acts of God" in other countries. If a river overflows it is his fault; if there is a scarcity of crops in a dry season, he is blamed; if part of a town is wiped out by fire, something must be wrong with his administration. Punishment in such cases usually takes the form of degradation in rank.

ADRIFT ON A RAFT.

Thrilling Experience of a Boy in the Gulf of Mexico.

Seven Days He Had Spent on His Little Floating Floor—Impressions of a Pilot Who Would Not Change His Course.

There is sometimes a providence that directs man's actions and the experience of an old pilot with headquarters at New Orleans seems to bear out the assertion. His story cannot be better told than in his own words: "Men in our line of business have plenty of queer experiences," he said, "but I think the strangest that ever fell to my lot happened in 1893, right after the great hurrican that swept down the south coast and drowned so many poor fisher folks on the little islands. The storm blew itself away on a Sunday," the pilot went on, "and next Sunday morning, having nothing in particular to do, I decided to take our steamer, which was a handly little 12-knot craft, and go for a two-hours' run into the gulf from South Point to see what I could see. The water was still full of driftwood and wreckage from the fishermen's cabins, but we noticed nothing in particular until we had been out about an hour. Then one of the men on the boat sighted a big red canbuoy over to the sou'west. It was a government mark that had broken away from its moorings and he suggested that we go and see where it belonged. Ordinarily I would have said all right, but something, I don't know what or why—made me refuse. 'No,' said I, 'we won't change our course. Keep her head straight out for an hour longer and maybe we'll see something better than runaway red cans.' I had no idea that my words would come true, but in about half an hour we came in sight of a little raft dead ahead of us, and as we got nearer we made out what seemed to be a child on top of it. We ran to within a couple of hundred feet before we stopped, and then we saw that the raft was evidently the floor of some fisherman's cabin. The child was a boy of 14 or thereabouts and he was sitting down with his head hanging forward on his breast and his arms stretched out, clutching the planks. He looked for all the world as if he was dead, but he was only asleep, and when I rang the bell he straightened up all of a sudden and glared at the ship like a person in a dream. All he had on was a little shirt and while we lowered a small boat and pulled over to him he sat just so, staring and saying not a word. He had strength enough to climb in, but when he reached the ship he fainted.

"The poor boy had been on the floating floor for seven days and 12 hours," continued the pilot. He was the son of a Gascon oysterman, who lived on Grand Isle, and the hurricane had caught him alone in the cabin. It tore the ramshackle hut to pieces in an instant, and he found himself adrift on the floor, which had miraculously hung together. How he had lived through the storm is one of those mysteries that can never be explained, but he was carried far off the coast, and next morning was out of sight of land in the open gulf. Then followed a solid week, spent on that handful of naked boards without food, water or shelter of any kind. I have been a seafaring man all my life, and have known of many wonderful escapes from death on the deep waters, but never of anything to compare with this. The boy had to lie down on the raft to keep from falling off, and when he grew weak the crafish bit him from head to foot until he was a mass of wounds. He had been a very strong, sturdy lad, and before the storm had weighed 160 pounds. When we rescued him he weighed less than 100.

"Of course, most of what I have related we learned several days afterward, when he was strong enough to talk. As soon as we got him aboard we headed for South Point, 18 miles away, for, as bad luck would have it, there was not a particle of food or liquor on the ship. Fortunately, however, we hailed the fruiter Breakwater and got a little brandy and a can of condensed milk, and it was marvelous how a few spoonfuls of nourishment revived the lad. At quarantine I turned him over to the doctor, and in a week he was practically well. Then an uncle came after him and I have never heard from him since. I have often wondered," said the old pilot, in conclusion, "where the strange impulse came from that made me insist upon holding our course that Sunday morning. If I had turned aside, as the men on board desired, the castaway would undoubtedly have been lost. It was not within the limit of possibility that he would have lasted another day."

HEADSMEN IN CHINA.

They Wear a Grewsome Symbol of Office Which Inspires Awe in All Who Behold It.

The Chinese executioner's ring of office is made of silver curiously wrought and embossed. Of all the many methods adopted by the Chinese to end the life of a criminal decapitation is considered the most ignominious. If a Celestial be hanged his soul has a chance of journeying over the "Golden Bridge" to Heaven; but when he is beheaded he is lost for all eternity, and for him there is no future life.

The Chinese executioner is a most important and terrifying personage, and his ring of office is looked on with an awe which is somewhat akin to loathing by all he comes in contact with. In fact, if it is seen by any of the lower class of Chinese while he is walking in the street he is shunned as if a leper.

EXECUTIONER'S RING.
(A Chinese Emblem of Office That Terrifies the Natives.)

A Chinese execution is a most impressive and at the same time grewsome sight. The criminals are made to kneel down with their hands tied behind their backs, and their pigtails are either held in front of them by one of the assistant executioners or are coiled on the top of the head, thus leaving the neck bare for the sword. This sword is a long, single-edged blade, slightly curved like a scimiter, and with an enormous long handle which the executioner grips with both hands.

The criminals are placed on their knees in a semicircle, and the executioner, starting at one end of the line, with a slight movement of the wrist somewhat similar to that employed in "putting" at golf, slices their heads off one after the other. There is no swinging the sword, no taking two strokes; all is done neatly and expeditiously, and, to all intents and purposes, painlessly, so far as the criminal is concerned.

NEW JAPANESE ENVOY.

His Name Is Kogoro Takahira and He Is Not a Stranger to Washington Society.

The appointment of Mr. Takahira to represent the Flowery Kingdom in the United States brings to Washington a man who is well known and pleasantly remembered there, where he began his diplomatic career in 1879 as attache of the Japanese legation. Transferred from this post to the foreign office in his own country in 1883, he was returned here as consul general at New York in 1891. After a brief service in New York Mr. Takahira was sent as minister to Rome and thence to Vienna, his last detail until accredited to the United States to succeed Mr. Komura, who was transferred to St. Petersburg in the early spring. His service in this country gave the new minister abundant opportunity to learn the English language and to become acquainted with the history, government and people of the United States, and he is now recognized in Japan as good authority on affairs in this part of the world.

The new minister is accompanied by his wife, an attractive and accomplished woman, who has been at his side through all the vicissitudes of his diplomatic career.

Man Is Becoming Temperate.

Four hundred years ago Mohammedans were the only total abstainers of Europe, and now 47 of the 50 largest European cities have from 10 to 20 active temperance societies. And it is also certain that even without the aid of these societies the number of female topers is shrinking to a minimum. At the court of Queen Bess maids of honor had a daily allowance of six quarts of beer and drank all the wine they could get hold of.

Japanese Women Are Frank.

When women go to buy a dress in Japan they tell the shopkeeper their age and state whether they are married or single, because there are special designs for married women as well as for different ages. The Japanese women do not take it amiss that their ages and relationships are disclosed to strangers.

Great Graft for Policemen.

COL. AARON T. BLISS.

Republican Candidate for Governor of Michigan Has Made a Big Fortune in Lumber.

Col. Aaron T. Bliss, of Saginaw, Mich. republican nominee for governor of that state, was born in Springfield Madison county, N. Y., and worked as a boy on his father's farm. He received his education at the district school. On the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted as a private in the Tenth New York cavalry, and took part in some of the greatest battles of the war, Bull Run, Fredericksburg, the Wilderness and South Mountain. In the latter part of the war he was made a prisoner, but escaped, and after days and nights of fearful privation made his way through swamp and forest to Sherman's lines.

When the war ended he went to Saginaw and engaged in the lumber business. He prospered exceedingly, and to-day is one of the richest of Michigan lumbermen.

He has held a number of public offices—those of alderman, state senator and congressman. He also served with the rank of colonel on Gov. Alger's staff. While in congress his speech on the McKinley bill attracted much attention.

For his own city Col. Bliss has labored zealously, in season and out. He has been a wide-awake, public-spirited citizen, and Saginaw owes much to his devoted labors in her behalf. He has endowed churches, schools and colleges out of his abundance, and his generous hand has aided every prominent public charity, while it has relieved at the same time, in unostentatious and often unsuspected ways, many private needs.

He is a stalwart republican, and as vice president of the National League of Republican Clubs has worked with his usual energy for the advancement of the party's principles.

REMEY IN COMMAND.

Chief of the American Naval Forces in China Is an Officer Distinguished for Bravery.

Admiral George C. Remey, chief of the American naval forces in Chinese waters, was appointed commander of the Asiatic station early in March last. At that time everybody was pleased with the selection of Admiral Remey for this important post. Its jurisdiction extends over the Philippines and Guam, the coast of China, and, in short, over all territory in which the United States has an interest, lying west of the Sandwich islands. The admiral is described by his associates as able, polite, generous, hospitable, modest, a thorough sailor and a man of mature judgment. He was selected by Admiral Walker to be the first commander of the Charleston. That boat was cruising the Pacific at the time that trouble was brewing with Chili. Remey was chosen because of his superior capabilities as a commander and strategist and his well-known discretion in emergencies. In the subsequent chase of the Itata by the Charleston Admiral Remey displayed keen judgment both as a sailor and a diplomat. He now treads the deck of his second flagship. His admiral's flag flew from the old Lancaster in the war with Spain.

As Seen by the Chinese.

This is how a Chinese writer describes New Zealanders in a Chinese paper: "They live months without eating a mouthful of rice; they eat bullocks and sheep in enormous quantities with knives and prongs. They never enjoy themselves by sitting quietly on their ancestors' graves, but jump around and kick balls as if paid for it, and they have no dignity, for they may be found walking with women."

Victims of the Boer War.

"Talana Elanda Smith" and "Belmontina Grasspana Modderriva Brown" are names which have been given to babies in Cape Colony. A Boer named Troskie has had his son baptized Immanuel Kruger Steyn Triomphus—a combination "sacred and profane."

A STRANGE FRIENDSHIP.

Lump, a Collies Dog of Unknown Ancestry, Is the Stepfather of a Family of Kittens.

"Lump" is the stepfather of four shoestore kittens; in fact, they are nearly cats by now. The relationship of Lump to these kittens is the thing that attracts attention among all who know about it. It occasions surprise and even scandal among the cats and dogs of the neighborhood that have heard about it, and the result is that Lump and his stepchildren do not move in the 400 circle of either canine or feline society. Despite all these queer things, however, the great love in this queer family grows stronger. The existence of this affection is nearly wholly due to Lump. It is not the cat that brings on trouble between the dog and cat race. It is the fighting instinct of the dog. Therefore, if Lump had possessed any other than a good disposition he could have been accommodated with all kinds of fighting when he first entered the shoe store.

Lump one day ran up into the second-story apartments of G. C. Noble, the manager of a local shoe store. Mr. Noble was about to eject him from the house, when Mrs. Noble interposed and said that she would at least give the hungry little stranger a good meal. So the puppy had his first meal. He liked it, and he wouldn't go away. Mrs. Noble named him Lump, the German name for tramp or hobo. Down at the dog record office of the district government Lump is put down as a black and tan collie, but he has no pedigree and cannot trace his ancestry back to the days of Harold.

Lump soon got in the habit of going down to the shoe store and spending part of the day there. He found the old shoe store cat. He didn't show any desire to make things unpleasant, and the cat gradually grew to like him. Although an old cat, she actually put aside enough of her dignity to rub against Lump. Thus began the friendship that has since ripened into love, to use the expression of famous novelists.

Before this love became an undying one the cat found herself the mother of four little kittens. Despite her great friendship for Lump she had much doubt about his intentions when he began poking around the box where the kittens lay. The mother promptly arched her back and made ready to slap Lump if he became too rude. He showed himself a thorough gentleman and a member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He expressed only great solicitation for the cat mother and actually went away and got a piece of meat for them. This pleased the mother, and in a short time afterward Lump entered the family as stepfather. The most remarkable things are told of his paternal deeds.

To divide meat with the little kittens was nothing uncommon. Lump made up his mind that the kittens should never be alone. He seemed to fear that something would happen to them. So, when the old cat went out to get a little fresh air, Lump would take her place and lie in the box with them or remain near. He allowed them to scratch his nose with their sharp little claws and to sport around him in the merriest fashion. Some of the spiteful 400 said that Lump was doing all this just to raise cats to bite and chase over back fences. The queen of the hollering dames said that he would not risk his life for them. Not long afterward this assertion was proven untrue and Lump made himself a hero. One day the old mother cat was out for a visit to some of the neighbors who had not utterly repudiated her, and Lump was looking out for the kittens. A man who wanted a pair of shoes went into the store and with him a big bulldog. The brutal dog began smelling around, and before Lump thought about it was at the box with the kittens. The big dog growled and started to seize a kitten, when Lump was upon him. The big dog then attacked little Lump and there was a fierce fight. When the store people got the big dog away little Lump was hardly able to stand, but he crawled over to the cat box, and when he saw that everything was safe gave a pathetic whine and fell into the box. He was a badly wounded dog, but everybody treated him well, and he's now with the cat and kittens again. The kittens do all kinds of undignified things with him, but he just looks solemn and says nothing. Out of the corners of his eyes he keeps a warm lookout for mean dogs and bad boys.—Washington Star.

Harry Explains a Text.

Small Harry accompanied his father to church one Sabbath morning and the subject of the discourse was: "Why halt ye between two opinions?" Upon his return home his mother asked him what the text was. "I don't remember exactly," replied Harry, "but it was something about a hawk between two pigeons."

THE MAGIC STRING.

Clever Trick Which, with a Little Practice, Can Be Performed by Any Boy or Girl.

The boy or girl who can perform various little tricks with matches, string, etc., is generally very popular and much in demand. A rainy day at the seashore, or in the mountains, is generally dreary enough, and anyone who can help while away the time is regarded with gratitude. Here is a description of the marvelous ring trick, which the writer has not seen described since he was a child, which is quite a good many years ago.

Having tied the ends of your string together, pass it double through a finger ring, and ask some one to hold the ends upon their two forefingers. You may now proceed to remove the ring without cutting the string or releasing the fingers, which seem to hold it securely.

First pass the string a second time around one of the fingers which hold it, then drawing the loop thus formed toward the opposite hand, as shown in figure 1, pass it over the string on the other finger until it lies in the position of dotted line B; then with your two forefingers catch up at A and A1 of the strings holding the ring and sliding your fingers from each other, quickly slip from the ends of your companion's finger the part of the string holding the ring, which, being thus released, will fall into the hand, with which you can quickly cover it before it leaves the string, to add to the mystery.

The surprise of your stringholder will now be doubled if you proceed to return the ring to the string without removing the ends from his fingers. Pass the string, as in the first trick, around one of his fingers, and in drawing the loop, as before, toward the other hand, slip it through the ring as shown at D; then pass the loop over the finger, this time leaving it near the end, as at C; with your two forefingers catch up the string which was first upon the fingers, and slip it from them over the part holding the ring, and you will find the ring in place, as at the beginning of the first trick.

Here is another very simple trick: Pass your string around your neck, crossing it in front as in figure 2; put the string in your mouth at the point where it crosses itself, and holding it firmly between your teeth, announce your intention of removing it from the neck by the passing of the rest of your string a second time over your head.

To do this first drop the cord from both hands for a moment, and in taking hold of it again let your hands exchange places, being careful to have the string which is uppermost where it crosses in your mouth remain uppermost, so that what appears to be a second crossing of the string will be really its uncrossing; now throw the rest of the cord over your head, and though you seem to be encircled by a double cord, draw both sides backward as in figure 3, releasing the string from your still closed mouth in what seems quite a marvelous way. You will find yourself disentangled, and the string still tied together as in the beginning, and ready for numberless more wonders.—Boston Globe.

Hard on the Little Chap.

A poor woman took her five-year-old boy to a hospital and asked the surgeon to look at his hand. By some freak of nature the thumb and finger had interlocked, causing him great pain at times. "Why didn't you come here sooner?" said the surgeon, reprovingly. "The little chap has evidently been suffering since the day of his birth. If you had brought him when he was a baby I might have cured him, but I fear I cannot now." The woman, aware that she was to blame, but loth to take the responsibility, immediately turned upon her unfortunate offspring. "Do you hear what the doctor says, Tommy?" she cried. "You ought to have told me five years ago. I declare I have no patience with people who suffer and say nothing."

PROUD OF GOODNOW.

Minnesota People Point with Pleasure to His Record.

American Consul General at Shanghai Rises to the Situation in the Orient—The Right Man in the Right Place.

John Goodnow, American consul general at Shanghai, China, used to go to school, sell wood and coal, boss a baseball team, manage political conventions and do many other things in Minneapolis. His most sanguine friends of those days never dreamed he would win national, even international, reputation for skill and efficiency as a foreign representative of his government, but those who knew him best never doubted his ability to grapple with almost any emergency.

The Chinese crisis has simply brought him out, demonstrating again that opportunities for distinction cannot always be created, but are often the consequence of chance or luck; also that luck is impotent unless its favorites know how to use it.

When United States Minister Conger was bottled up in Peking with other ministers, Consul General Goodnow became the ranking representative of this nation in China. There can be no doubt that he has risen to the occasion.

Press dispatches from Washington to New York and other newspapers label his services "invaluable," and say the president and cabinet "have been particularly impressed by his comprehensive grasp of the situation and its easily overlooked but essentially important details, by the uniform accuracy and promptness of his dispatches and by the notable influence he has exerted to hold the southern and central viceroys to firm measures for the security of all foreigners in their provinces."

Goodnow as a personality, says the Chicago Times-Herald, would not attract attention in any crowd, big or little, unless examined closely. He is never demonstrative. He is tall rather than short, but not noticeably tall, and thin without being scrawny—just ordinary. His voice is smooth and even, pitched rather high, and with qualities which, although indescribable, make it unlike any other voice you ever heard. He speaks in a drawl that is not quite a drawl, and his tones can be either rasping or caressing at will. He is inconspicuously neutral tinted, pale of face without being either sallow or unhealthily white, and his hair is nearly the color of bleached rye straw. He usually dresses in the same neutral tints.

But when you take a second and long look at Goodnow you discover that the somewhat irregular features of his long, lean face are strong and almost fine. There is confident aggressiveness in the nose and iron in the jaw. Above these features are a pair of large, deep set, clear gray eyes, and above them an arching skull with room for more than an ordinary set of brains.

Goodnow is now 42 years old. He was born in Greensburg, Ind., and came to Minneapolis with his parents when 18 years old. Three years later he was graduated from the University of Minnesota. For two years thereafter he was chemist of the state board of health. Then he went into the wood and coal business with a partner—Goodnow & Lawther was the firm name—and continued in that, with side ventures into baseball and other things, almost up to the time he was appointed consul general at Shanghai. But he was always in politics more or less, usually more.

Fishing an Art in China.

Nowhere in the world is the art of fishing so highly developed as in China. Rivers, creeks, stagnant pools, the great ocean and the little tank, lakes and garden ponds, all furnish their quota to the sustenance of man. Even rice grounds are turned into fish ponds in winter. The inhabitants of the waters are killed with the spear, caught with the hook, scraped up by the dredge and captured by nets. They are even dived for by birds trained for the purpose. Eels are fed in tubs and jars until consumers carry them off.

Quail Are Shy and Sly.

Almost as soon as they are out of the shell quail seem to have the power of making themselves invisible at the wave of a wand. The ground may be as bare as a floor, but somehow they manage to vanish utterly from the eye.

IN "SACRED CITY."

(Special to the Daily Press.)

London, August 21—The following has been received from Rear-Admiral Bruce:

"Taku, August 19, (Sunday.)—The allies are reported to have entered the 'sacred city' of Peking, August 17th."

Will Now Look for Passengers.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Aug. 21—The new passenger station of the Raritan River Railroad Company in this city was opened for general use yesterday. The new depot for local freight was also put into use yesterday for the first. The passenger station is at the head of Throop avenue, at the corner of Sanford street. The building of the new passenger station and the removal of the station to a point nearly three-quarters of a mile nearer to the centre of the city mark a decided advance in the policy of the road. Heretofore it has devoted itself chiefly to the carrying of freight and express, but now an effort is to be made to develop the passenger carrying traffic.

Successful Operation on Mr. Nugent.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 21—Former President Edward Nugent, of Elizabeth's Board of Education, was successfully operated on at St. Luke's Hospital, New York, on Saturday afternoon by Dr. Murray, and the result proved the patient was not suffering as feared from a cancer of the liver. He rallied nicely after the operation, which was witnessed by some prominent Elizabeth physicians, and it is now thought he has a chance of recovering. His life was despaired of before by the doctors.

Fractured Left Arm.

While playing with a number of other children near her home Sunday, Gertrude Emmet, of West Fifth street, received a bad facture of the left arm in a peculiar manner. Gertrude was seated in a small express wagon, when it was tipped over, throwing her to the ground. The arm was doubled up and broke just at the elbow. Dr. VanHorn was called and attended the injury. On account of being so near the elbow the doctor is afraid it will always be troublesome.

His Order Book Gone.

Eric Heden, who has a tailoring establishment at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Second street, has lost his order book. It disappeared last evening and Heden notified the police this morning that he suspected that it had been stolen by a young man who visited his shop last evening. Chief Kiely could not see why anyone would want the order book, but Heden seemed to think that some rival tailor put up the job and was going to fill the orders.

Sunday-closing Crusade.

The Cranford Township Committee had evidence taken Sunday which will be used in compelling all places of business to close on Sunday. The local W. C. T. U. has begun a crusade against Sunday selling and is endeaoring to force the committee to action. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has already made complaint to the Township Committee against the Lusardi Brothers, who keep their fruit and confectionery store open on Sunday.

No Quorum Present.

Although last evening was the time for the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade, no meeting was held. A quorum was not present, although several times during the evening they only lacked one of it. President L. B. Woolston had some matters of importance which he desired to bring before the Board and a special meeting is now likely to be called so that these matters can be laid before the Board without delay.

B. FRANK HARRIS DEAD.

Engaged in the Coal Business at South Plainfield—Born at Flemington.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

South Plainfield, August 21—In the death of B. Frank Harris, which occurred about 3 o'clock this morning at his home this place, the community has lost a substantial citizen and one who was highly esteemed by everyone who knew him. Mr. Harris was taken ill about three weeks ago with typhoid fever, and from the commencement his condition was serious. During last week, however, he seemed to be slightly improved and strong hopes that he might pull through were entertained. Last Sunday night there was a change for the worse, and from that time he grew worse rapidly. Everything possible was done to effect recovery, but certain conditions could not be overcome by the best of medical skill and treatment.

Mr. Harris was in the forty-second year of his age, and was born at Flemington. He moved to South Plainfield about twelve years ago, and for several years was the ticket agent at that place for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. About six years ago he formed a partnership in the coal business with J. F. TenEyck, whose daughter, Ida TenEyck, he married about eight years ago. He leaves a wife and two children, a girl and boy, 4 and 6 years respectively.

Mr. Harris was a man of sterling qualities and as a business man he held the highest respect of all with whom he came in contact. Socially, he was well liked, and in his home he was a loving husband and father. He was devoted to his family and his home at all times. He was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., of Plainfield, also a member of a Council of Royal Arcanum. Mr. Harris had a host of friends both here and in Plainfield, all of whom will be shocked and grieved to learn of his death.

The funeral services will be held from the late residence in South Plainfield, Thursday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

At Music Hall this evening Murray and Mack, the well-known and favorite Irish comedians, will appear in their latest success, "Finnigan's 400," a bright and plausible comedy from the pen of George H. Emerick. This season these favorites come with the most pretentious company they have yet carried, both in number and talent, and with a display of scenery rarely ever seen on a tour with a farce comedy. They have also become recognized as leaders in their specialties, and they also essay to become leaders in their style of entertainment, and the fact that they are extensively imitated speaks volumes not only in praise, but to encourage them that they are on the right track.

Manager Edwards informs us that he has booked the Gus Sun American Minstrels at Music Hall for Friday night. The company travels in their own $10,000 Pullman palace car and number fifty people, headed by the famous comedian, Henry J. Yorkey, assisted by an able corps of singers, dancers, musicians, acrobats, burlesquers, European novelties, and last but not least, Gus Sun, the wizard who has astonished two continents with his wonderful juggling and balancing. The engagement promises to be a record-breaker and a programme of unusual merit.

* * * * *

The cast to be seen here shortly in Hoyt's record-breaking success "A Trip to Chinatown," is probably not only the best, but the highest salaried ever seen in a Hoyt production. The list contains the names of such people as Harry Gilfoil, Hoyt's leading comedian; Mabel Montgomery, known as the American Duse; Fleuette, pronounced the greatest dancer now before the public; Clayton Kennedy, the Paderewski of "wag-time;" Walter McCullough, character artist; Will Philbrick, champion cake-walker; Emily Curtis, the American Vesta Tilly. The singing portion comprises Emilie Gardner, late premier soprano Jaxon Opera Company; Pearl Hamlin, of the Bostonians; George Shields, baritone, and Robert Hardy, tenor. The orchestra and music is under the personal direction of Alex Spencer, the oldest musical director in the employ of Hoyt & McKee.

Reserved Decision.

After two postponments, the cases of John H. Tier, Sr., against Benjamin Vail; Gertrude Tier against same, and Gertrude Tier against Boylan, were tried before Justice Nash yesterday. The plaintiffs sued to recover for services and supplies furnished the late Mrs. VanVelsor during her illness and also to Mrs. Boylan and her daughter. Judge Benjamin F. Vail, of Elizabeth, is administrator of the estate. Justice Nash reserved his decision for one week.

Mrs. H. O. Newman, of West Fifth street, is registered at The Normandie, Asbury Park, for a few weeks.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. BACK FROM THE FAR WEST.

J. Linn Edsall Returns to Plainfield After Three Years Spent in Spokane, Wash.

J. Linn Edsall, with his wife and little daughter, Gladis, have returned to Plainfield from Spokane, Wash., where they have been residing for the last three years and a half. Mr. Edsall has regained his health entirely, but his wife has not and is in a very week and reduced condition, having been under a physicians care almost the whole time since they left, and it was on his recommendation that they have come now with the hope that the change of climate may be beneficial to her. Mrs. Edsaill stood the long trip remarkably well, and seems already to be somewhat improved. Gladis is in fine health.

Mr. Edsall is very enthusiastic in speaking of Spokane, and regards it as the metropolis of the great northwest. It has grown rapidly since he went there, and now has reached 50,000, a gain of 10,000 during the last five years. Everything is up-to-date, many building blocks equal to the Babcock and Jackson buildings here; stores equal in magnitude and all other respects to any eastern city stores, and, in fact, the city in every way is not a whit behind, but in a good many ways ahead of many of the eastern cities of the same size. Business of all kinds is booming, and real estate is rapidly advancing in price, and enterprise is a prominent factor everywhere.

Mr. Edsall has come east on account of the ill health of his wife, and his stay here or return to Spokane will depend upon how she may be affected by the climate's change.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.

REPUBLICANS SEEM SURE OF NEW JERSEY

Optimistic Reports Made by the County Chairmen on the Outlook in the State.

LEADERS COMPARE NOTES.

ISSUES ARE ALL DISCUSSED BY THE COUNTY CHAIRMEN.

Some Counties Fear the Trust Issue—Gibson and Bateman Talked of as Secretary of the State. Committee.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 22—Senator Stokes, the acting head of the Republican State committee, met in conference with the chairmen of the county committees yesterday. The conference was for the purpose of discussing the political conditions in the State, and the session was held behind closed doors.

The counties not represented at the conference were Atlantic, Cape May, Monmouth, Hunterdon and Hudson. From all the counties represented at the meeting the reports were very rosy as to the outlook for McKinley, although it was evident that a general apathy in affairs political has been manifest to date. Senator Stokes at the conclusion of the meeting expressed the belief that it was time that the county chairmen began to shake things up a bit by having mass meetings.

The chairmen were one in expressing themselves that the attempt of the Democrats to make capital out of the expansion ideas of the administration would prove a boomerang. The young men of the State, according to the reports, were anything but favorably impressed with the "anti-imperialistic" notions of the Democrats, and are coming over to the Republican ranks in goodly numbers.

The chairmen from Somerset, Morris, Sussex and Warren counties were of the opinion that the trust question would work some injury to the Republican party among the farmers, and reported that the matter was being worked for all it was worth on the part of the Bryanites. Senator Stokes went thoroughly into the question of the conditions in the various counties, asking particularly as to the registration and the general working organization.

The reports showed but four counties are thoroughly organized—Camden, Essex, Mercer and Union. Other counties were in fairly good shape, while in several counties the organizations had been allowed to run down. Bergen county has adopted the Essex county plan of organization, as has also Passaic county, and many of the smaller counties will follow suit.

Major Lentz was the only one of those present who would venture a prediction as to the county majority. He stated that Essex would give not less than 15,000 for the National ticket, and added: "Our organization is such that we are ready to go to the polls tomorrow and do it."

Major Lentz further stated that Essex county was in first-class shape, and that there would be no trouble anywhere along the line when election day rolls around.

From the Burlington and Middlesex counties came reports that there were local dissensions in the Republican household, but in each instance, it was stated, the National ticket would not suffer in any way.

There was considerable discussion at the State House among the prominent Republicans who had come to the capital to call upon the Governor and to attend the conference of the leaders of the Republican Club over the appointment of the successor to the late Augustus S. Barber, of Woodbury, as secretary to the State Republican committee.

It is the general opinion of the members of the committee that the secretary should be a newspaperman, as was Mr. Barber, and the choice seemed to narrow down to two gentlemen—Charles H. Bateman, of Somerville, and John S. Gibson, of Newark.

Mr. Bateman is well-known in newspaper and political circles about the State. Two years ago he served as private secretary to President Reed, of the Senate. He has always been identified with the Republican party and is regarded as a strong man for the place. President Reed, of the Senate, did some good work yesterday in Mr. Bateman's behalf.

Some members of the State committee are desirous of delaying the appointment of a secretary until the return of Chairman Franklin Murphy [illegible], but Mr. Murphy's [illegible] believe that it would be for the interests of the committee and Mr. Murphy as well to make the appointment as soon as possible. It is quite likely that the selection will be made at the meeting of the State committee to be held in Newark tomorrow.

CARSON LOSES FIRST.

NEW COMPLICATION IN FIGHT FOR SENATOR IN MIDDLESEX.

Carson Insists That He is for Strong, But Hicks Says He Will Get the Nomination.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 22.—The Middlesex county Republican committee has fixed Monday next as the day for the holding of primaries for the election of delegates to the district and State conventions. Back of this announcement is an interesting story of the first skirmish between the Carson and anti-Carson forces in the war over the Senatorial nomination. It resulted in a convincing defeat for Carson's plan of having delegates to the State, district and county conventions elected at the one primary. His defeat was compassed by the Banker faction, who are distrustful of Carson's announcement that he is for Strong, believing, rather, that he is really for Hicks and is using Strong simply as a stalking horse.

The situation in Middlesex's Senatorial fight is not being cleared up in the slightest degree. Mr. Carson still insists that he is for Theodore Strong, and Mr. Hicks still smiles and says that he is confident that he will get the nomination. Strong insists that his candidacy is in good faith. State Committeeman Banker declares that he is for Strong, if Strong stays in the race, but that he and the delegates he may control will never consent to being turned over to any Carson candidate. It is supposed that if Strong withdraws, some of his delegates will go to some dark horse candidate, presumably Milton Edgar's brother, Charles Edgar, of Metuchen. It is generally considered that the defeat of Carson in the Country Committee augurs ill for both Hicks and Strong, and makes it almost "anybody's fight."

CARHOUSE AT JUNCTION.

Trolley Company to Build it at Point Where Rahway Line Branches Off.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company is about to erect a large building on its property near the junction of the main line with the branch leading to Rahway, in which to store their cars. At present these cars are stored at both the Plainfield and Elizabeth ends of the road, which necessitates the employment of two sets of men to keep them in order.

With a building near the junction, which is half way between Elizabeth and Plainfield, the extra cars will be more accessible in case of an emergency. The proposed structure will be large enough to house all unused cars, which it is not possible to do at present. The ground for the building was staked out yesterday afternoon by Col. Hine.

MOTHER IN AN ASYLUM.

Son Thought She Was in Poorhouse and Threatened Officials.

In an investigation conducted Monday by the Middlesex County Court at New Brunswick as to the liability of the county for the support of a number of inmates of the State Insane Asylum at Trenton, it was found Mrs. Mary Johnson, of South Amboy, had been committed as insane from the almshouse.

John Burlew, of New Brunswick, thus obtained the first information that his mother was in the asylum. He admitted he knew she was in the poorhouse at South Amboy, but insists that if the county does not take steps to have her released from the asylum he will sue the county for damages.

Mrs. Johnson is seventy years old.

To Attack Freeholders.

Councilman McCowen, of Fanwood borough, will be at the next meeting of the Westfield Township Committee to interest the committee in a plan for concerted action by the boroughs and townships to secure legislation to compel Boards of Freeholders to improve and keep in repair roads adopted as county roads. Mr. McCowen claims that Union county is not the only county that has a grievance of this kind, but that in other counties the Freeholders have adopted roads and then refused to improve them.

CLINGS TO THE BABY THROUGH IT ALL.

Strange Story Told By a Girl Who Claims to Have Come From Plainfield.

FELL IN POLICEMAN'S ARMS.

SAYS SHE IS TRYING TO FIND RELATIVES IN PHILADELPHIA.

Had a Temperature of 104, But She Wouldn't Let Them Take Her Baby Away From Her—Baby Three Months Old.

The following story sent out from Philadelphia tells a thrilling tale of an unfortunate girl who claims Plainfield as her home, but persistent inquiry and search on the part of Press reporters has failed to locate the girl's home in this city. It is an interesting story, however, and is as follows:

On a cot in the Philadelphia Hospital, her magnificent black hair covering the white pillow and her great dark eyes glowing in brilliant contrast with her cheeks, flushed with fever, lies Annie Farrell, the beautiful girl from Plainfield, who, a case of walking typhoid, was mercifully taken in charge at Tenth and Walnut streets at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Policeman Crooks. Her three-months-baby, who was in her arms, is in charge of the hospital nurses, bright, smiling and healthy, while the mother, her senses still about her, but her illness growing more acute every hour, is going swiftly down into the cruel valley through which every typhus victim must pass before death brings release or convalescence comes.

The story of pretty Annie Farrell is still to be told, for, despite her helplessness, the girl refuses to disclose it, and the one relative to whom she referred the hospital authorities disclaims knowledge of her.

When Policeman Crooks, approaching the corner of Tenth and Walnut streets, saw the figure of a woman not more than twenty-one years old and wearing a well-made red shirtwaist and dark skirt, sway from side to side and stumble slowly forward, he noted the tiny form of the baby in her arms.

He hastened to her side, and, the decent refinement of her face, modulating his tone, inquired:

"What's the matter—sick?"

"I—I'm afraid I am," she answered, stopping in her feeble work and lurching dizzily forward.

Policeman, sick girl and baby made their way to the Nineteenth district station, where the matron took her to her room, and Dr. P. E. Lodor, the district physician, was sent for.

"Temperature 104," he observed, as he looked at the thermometer. "Walking typhoid. What is your name?"

"Annie Farrell, sir."

"Do you live in Philadelphia?"

"No, sir. I came from Plainfield, in Jersey, last night. I haven't been feeling well for a week."

"Your baby?" inquired Dr. Loder of the matron.

"Oh, no!" exclaimed the sick girl, before the matron had time to answer the doctor with wrath he deserved. "He's mine. Don't take him from me! don't!"

"He won't be taken from you. He shall go with you to the hospital, and be given as good care as you get yourself. Have you any relatives here?"

"My sister, Mary Farrell, lives at 1914 Montrose street," said the girl. "Don't worry me any more, for I am sick and I don't care if I die."

The fever in her cheeks and her great dark eyes made them cease their questioning and she was taken to the cot, where she lies now, struggling in the first of the cruel battles typhoid fever gives its victims.

Mary Farrell does not live at 1914 Montrose street, but Mrs. Maggie Farrell does live there. She has three children of her own, and she works hard every day to support them.

"I'm not that sick girl's sister," she said this afternoon. "I've got a sister-in-law that lives at Plainfield, but she's a good deal older than twenty-one. She's got a daughter, Mamie, who is about that age now, though I haven't seen her for seven years. My husband is dead, and so is his brother. I haven't heard anything of his brother's family for years."

So Annie Farrell can fight her case of typhoid through as best she may, and the Philadelphia Hospital nurses and doctors are the folk she has to depend on.

May Establish Camp Here.

There is some talk of establishing the Westfield Fresh-Air Camp in this city next year. By the change it is believed that great support could be secured for the work.

MUSIC HALL OPENED.

A Fine Season in Prospect at Plainfield's Only Opera House.

The Stillman Music Hall opened last evening with Murray and Mack in the comedy, "Finnigan's 400." A large gallery and a fair house downstairs witnessed the performance and found much in it to laugh at. The theatre was in good condition for the opening, everything had been thoroughly cleaned and a few new fixtures put in. The interior decorating had been cleaned and looked quite new.

Manager Maze Edwards was on hand and received the congratulations of his many friends on the renewal of his good health. He is feeling very well and received no end of benefit from his summer vacation on the shores of the Great Lakes. His wife still remains there and will return September 1st.

Manager Edwards is greatly pleased with the outlook for the coming season. It is simply impossible to book the stars of one night stands but he has been unusually fortunate in getting signed contracts for the appearance of "Way Down East," "The Christian," "The Village Postmaster," "Quo Vadis," Champion William J. Jeffries, and Tom Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkle." His greatest achievement however is the definite booking of Denman Thompson and "The Old Homestead" for Saturday, February 9th. A more lengthy account of the bookings made thus far will appear in tomorrow evening's Daily Press.

C. E.'S NOT STRANDED.

Dr. Arthur W. Spooner Says He Knows of No Cases of Destitution in Europe.

More than seventy members of the Christian Endeavor societies of New Jersey, who attended the International convention in London last month, arrived in Hoboken yesterday on the Hamburg-American steamship Belgravia.

Rev. Dr. Arthur W. Spooner, of Camden, president of the New Jersey Society, in speaking of the reports that Endeavorers were stranded in London and Paris, said: "I know that there was no member of our party who was stranded or needed any money to carry them through the trip. I did not hear of a single case where any Endeavorer was stranded, and I am sure that if such a case was reported the English Endeavorers would have assisted and sent their guests home without appealing for outside assistance."

NEED $264.

Officers of Camp Woolfe Make an Appeal for Financial Aid.

At a meeting of the management of the Westfield Fresh-Air Camp, the reports showed good work for the season, forty days so far. A greater number of guests have been accommodated than ever before. At present there are 180 on the roll. Forty eight of these are babies in the nursery.

Many people find pleasue in visiting the camp, as the Westfield and Elizabeth trolley run by the grounds. The treasurer's report showed receipts to date $476.20 and funds considered available, about $360. The estimated cost of running the camp this year is $1,100, leaving an amount still needed of $264. This is a worthy cause. One dollar keeps a poor mother at the camp for ten days. Ten dollars furnishes provisions for the whole camp for a day; a good investment with large returns. Donations may be sent to L. A. Clark, treasurer, Westfield, N. J.

MOVE AGAINST DRUNKEN CHILDREN.

Trade Federation Wants Legislative Action Against Bottlers.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Aug. 22.—The New Jersey State Federation of Trades and Labor Unions at its annual congress yesterday adopted resolutions that the Legislature take steps to prevent the employment of children in places where beer and whiskey are manufactured, bottled or sold. The resolution was presented by William Trautmann, of Newark, who declared that hundreds of children are employed in bottling establishments in that city. When they leave their work for the day fully half of them are drunk and practically all of them are under the influence of liquor. The congress voted unanimously in favor of the resolution.

W. H. Coriell Dead.

The death of Wm. H. Coriell occurred at the home of his father, Wm. McD. Coriell, on Clinton avenue, early this morning. He was born in Plainfield sixty years ago and has always resided here. He leaves a wife and married daughter, Mrs. Frederick Ballentine, of this city. The funeral services will take place from his late residence Friday afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be in the North Plainfield Presbyterian cemetery.

COUNCIL FIXES THE TAX RATE AT $2.46.

Assessed Valuation of Property in Plainfield for This Year is Fixed at $8,329,000.

AN INCREASE OF $160,000.

IT IS DECIDED TO CLOSE UP CHURCH STREET.

City Relieved of the Risk of Having to Defend Damage Suits—License to be Issued for Running Horseless Carriages.

One of the most important matters brought before the Common Council at the adjourned meeting last evening was the books of the assessors for approval and adoption. It did not require much time for the members to examine the books and, as there were no objection, they were quickly passed upon. The books show that the assessed valuation for this year amounts $8,329,000, which is about $160,000 more than last year. The Council confirmed the books and decided officially that the tax rate this year should be $2.46 on the $100. A resolution offered by Mr. Mellick provided for the acceptance of the books.

A communication was received from J. H. McVey in which he asked the Council to transfer his liquor license to J. B. Hibbard and F. W. Jones, the men who recently purchased his hotel business. This was done on a motion offered by Mr. Gloak and voted for in the affirmative by all present, President Dumont, Messrs. Coriell, Randolph, Mellick, Tolles, Gloak, Lee and Craig.

Mr. Gloak called up the amendment to the ordinance regulating the running of horseless vehicles, which provides that they shall be run at no greater speed than a horse and carriage. This was adopted, and a resolution was offered by the same member providing for the operation of these horseless carriages by competent persons, and the City Clerk is not to issue a license for a horseless carriage unless satisfactory proof is given that a competent person will be in charge. This resolution was adopted pending the adoption of a suitable ordinance covering the various points and providing for the issuance of licenses for the operation of horseless carriages.

Mr. Tolles called up the ordinance which provides for the closing of Church street, as requested by the Jersey Central Railroad Company. The ordinance was adopted on its first and second readings and ordered advertised. Concerning the closing of this street all difficulties have been removed as the railroad company has secured the consents of all the property owners concerned, and this precludes all possibility of any suit or action being brought against them for damage. The last person to give consent was Mr. Guion. In view of this fact, the railroad company is willing to assume all risk and stand for any suits brought against them, knowning that there never will be any. All consents are in writing and are in the possession of the company.

One of the principal objects why the company desires to close Church street is that they may run a fence from the North Avenue station to Church street, so that so far as possible people may be kept from trespassing on the railroad tracks. When the improvements are completed at the North Avenue station and the tunnel is placed under the railroad tracks there will be no excuse for persons going on the tracks.

There being no further business to come before the Council the meeting adjourned.

Exciting Ball Game.

The Washington Park and Tom Holden's baseball teams played an exciting game of ball yesterday afternoon in Washington Park, and Holden's team was defeated by a score of 35 to 7. McClain did the best batting, and Waring the best catching. Barlow and Roome made the best plays for the Park team, while Holden aad Vail carried off the honors for their team.

Baking Powder Company Chartered.

The Empire Baking Powder Company, with an authorized capitalization of $1,000,000, and whose New Jersey office is given as Elizabeth, filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State yesterday.

Partnership Dissolved.

Notice is given that the partnership existing between James Trimmer and Isaac E. Giles, doing business under the firm name of the Plainfield Produce Company, has been dissolved by mutual consent.

WOULD END HIS LIFE.

ANDREW UHDAL CUT HIS THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

Committed The Desperate Act While Afflicted With Melancholia Due to Long Illness.

For the past two years Andrew Uhdal, of South avenue, has been afflicted with illness which prevented his keeping steadily at work. This fact has preyed upon his mind to such an extent that at times he has made himself worse by brooding over it. For five months he has been growing worse and his sick spells have been more frequent.

Yesterday he was unable to leave his bed and he gave way to a fit of melancholia. His mother had been watching at his bed side and left him about 10 o'clock to bring him some breakfast. She was gone but a few minutes and upon her return was horrified to find his throat covered with blood. Thinking he had been taken with a hemorrhage, she called a neighbor, Mrs. Gisser, to help her stop the flow of blood.

Upon washing his throat Mrs. Gisser saw instantly that the bleeding was not due to a hemmorhage, but to a deep gash just below the chin. A bloody razor near by told how the gash had been inflicted.

Dr. Tomlinson, the family physician, was summoned and found the man in a critical condition. The wound was sewed up and the patient made as comfortable as possible, but on account of the loss of blood and his illness, his recovery is doubtful.

Just how he secured the razor is not known, as he was clearly out of his mind when the deed was done. He is ignorant of his act, for in his conscious spells he continually asks why the bandages are on his throat. Uhdal is a single man, twenty-nine years old, and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Uhdal.

FOURTH ATTEMPT FATAL.

Aged Enos Foreman at Last Succeeds in Ending His Life by Drowning at Weston.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 22.—Enos Foreman, the village blacksmith of Weston, who two weeks ago made a third unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by drowning, was found dead in the Delaware and Raritan Canal, below Bound Brook, Monday night. When Foreman, who was over eighty years old, last attempted to commit suicide he tied a heavy stone to his body and jumped into the canal at Weston. The stone became detached and he floated into shallow water, where he was fished out by a party of wheelmen before he had accomplished his purpose. He was taken to Weston in a precarious condition and revived with brandy.

Foreman lived in a tumble-down house on the outskirts of Weston, and when he was able to walk he was allowed to return to his home. There was some talk among the authorities of placing him in the county jail and committing him to an insane asylum, but nothing was done in the matter.

Foreman has been missing from Weston for three days. It is believed that he dived under a raft that was standing in the canal at Weston. His body was found entangled among the logs of the raft, which had subsequently been towed below Bound Brook.

DEATH OF AGED COBBLER.

Well-Known in This City—Was a Veteran of the Civil War Though Not Grand Army Man.

John Sullivan, aged 63 years, a well-known cobbler and resident of Plainfield, died last evening at 6 o'clock at his home, 244 East Third street, the result of a severe attack of cholera morbus. Dr. Boone was called at once to see Mr. Sullivan, but his condition was such that he was beyond relief or cure.

Mr. Sullivan was one of the oldest shoemakers in the city and for a number of years conducted a shop on Madison avenue. He was a veteran of the Civil War, although he was not a member of the Grand Army. He is survived by a widow.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 8 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

DOLLIVER TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY SOON.

Iowa Congressman Will Address Republican Mass Meeting Here September 13th.

THE ELECTION OFFICERS.

NAMES RECOMMENDED TO THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Arrangements for Naturalization of Voters—Arrangements to be Made for Holding a Political Clambake.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 22—A very important session of the Republican county executive committee was held here last evening. Plans for the national campaign were started. It was decided to have two rousing meetings in the county under the auspices of the committee. One will be held here and one at Plainfield.

Through the efforts of the chairman, Charles N. Codding, who is in intimate relation with the State and National committees, Union county is to have one speech from Congressman J. Q. Dolliver, of Iowa. It was decided that Congressman Dolliver should speak in Plainfield September 13th or 14th if Music Hall could be secured. It has since been learned that the hall can be had for a mass-meeting, September 13th.

It was announced that the county clerk's office would be open evenings August 31st and September 7th and 14th, to receive applications for naturalization papers and that Judge Vail would hold a special evening session of court October 5th to pass on applications.

The city committee of Elizabeth recommended that a clam bake be held. The county committee liked the idea and the chairman was instructed to appoint a committee of five to make arrangements for it. It will be held somewhere between Elizabeth and Plainfield.

The various members of the committee presented the names of the election officers which were sent to the County Board of Canvassers by the chairman. The Plainfield appointees were as follows:

First ward—First district, George Moore and D. S. Dunavan; Second district, Horace G. Adams and G. Thorn.

Second ward—First district, J. Hervey Doane and Armstrong Mulford; Second district, Edward Willis and William Spangenburg.

Third ward—First district, Nathan R. Titsworth and George A. Rockfellow; Second district, J. Smith Garrettson and Albert I. Littell.

Fourth ward—First district, William T. Neuman and James Huntington; Second district, Abram Angleman and Alex. Muir; Third district, J. B. Martin and Samuel Saums.

"AUNT HETTY" DEAD.

She Fell and Injured Herself Last Week While on Way to the Metuchen Depot.

"Aunt Hetty" Thorpe will walk no more from the Metuchen Home to the depot there in search of her child. This notable lady has passed to the great beyond and has been buried at Hillside Cemetery in this city.

For many years "Aunt Hetty," as Mrs. Louis Thorpe was called, left the Metuchen Home and met every train at Metuchen in hopes of seeing her flaxen-haired child, whom she believed was coming to her on any train.

Aunt Hetty's little one had died years before, but the mysterious impulse of this woman's mind led her to believe the child was still alive and would return to her. Day after day, week after week, year after year, Aunt Hetty made these trips.

Saturday a week ago Aunt Hetty fell when she was in front of Sid Hulsizer's and she was taken inside and cared for.

Later she was taken to the Metuchen Home and she died Tuesday of last week. Thursday afternoon she was buried by her daughter in this city.

Camping Out.

A party of young men from this city, which included W. B. Mosher, of Madison avenue, Harry Rogers, of West Fifth street, L. W. Niles and his sons, James and Archibald, of Orchard place, together with W. W. Titsworth, of New York, left Plainfield Sunday evening and is now encamped on Staten Island near Tottenville. They have a boat and are spending their time enjoying in sailing and fishing. They expect to be there a week unless rain and cold weather should drive them to seek shelter.

LITERARY.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for September illustrates the possibilities of a Magazine which aims to keep in touch with the serious interests of the more intelligent men and women of today, as well as to amuse every reader by cleverness and variety. The leading article is a personal record of almost unparalleled adventure, written by W. Walton, chief quartermaster of our navy, who shared with Lieut. Gillmore a captivity of more than eight months among the Filipinos. Thrilling as a story, the narrative gives one a new insight into the character of the Filipino people. The much talked of Wu Tingfang, Chinese Minister at Washington, contributes an intelligent paper upon his own people, and this is reinforced by an article telling just the facts about the Boxers which few people know, and everybody wants to know. An instructive article gives an account of the wonderful processes of Uncle Sam's mint, and a highly exciting one by the chief of Uncle Sam's secret service, tells of the greatest "haul" of his career.

They Struck It Rich.

It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising firm as L. W. Randolph secured the Agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvelous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. They give free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung troubles. A trial proves its merit. Price 50c and $1.00.

SACRED CITY ENTERED.

Armed Native Christians Aided In the Capture of Peking.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Is the news that reached London this morning direct from China there is nothing to confirm the report that the dowager empress has been run to earth. The foreign envoys, according to the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, are proceeding to Tien-tsin. The same correspondent avers that the sacred city was entered Aug. 15, two days earlier than Rear Admiral Bruce reported.

"The flags of the allies," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail, wiring yesterday, "are now floating over the imperial palace. Street fighting, however, continues. Considerable assistance in the capture of Peking was rendered by 4,000 armed native Christians. The legations were enabled to hold out by purchasing ammunition from the Chinese."

American action in refusing to deal with Li Hung Chang in the peace proposal meets with unanimous approval at the hands of the morning papers. The Standard says:

"We imagine that other powers will take the same course—at any rate until Earl Li produces satisfactory evidence of his authority to negotiate."

The Daily Chronicle says:

"Mr. Conger has at last opened the eyes of the state department to the real character of orientals."

The Daily Express prints this morning a long letter, said to have been written by Vice Admiral Seymour, in which he stoutly defends his action in advancing to the relief of the legationers when he did, saying:

"Two or three times our prospects were very dark, and disaster seemed probable. Yet I never regretted that I had started, as I could not have respected myself if I had not done so."

Referring to the difficulties of controlling mixed troops and to their characteristics, he says:

"The Germans we admired most, but for dash and go none surpassed or perhaps equaled the Americans. The French had no particular rapprochement with any other nationality. The Germans and Russians were inclined to hold together, but the Americans were with us always."

It is reported in Odessa, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express, that, in consequence of the strain upon Russia's financial resources owing to the Chinese campaign, a specially accredited representative of the Russian minister of finance, M. de Witte, has concluded or is about to conclude "an arrangement with a syndicate of all the great insurance companies in the United States" for a loan of 300,000,000 rubles.

Swindler Rearrested.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The young man who was arrested here July 25 under the name of R. Guy Reid, Yale, 1901, for hotel swindling and who was sentenced to 25 days in jail was released, but immediately rearrested on a charge of swindling the Hotel Roy of Fonda. Reid, it will be remembered, was charged with swindling Poughkeepsie hotels during the regatta under the name of Captain Inglis, U. S. A., and is said to have jumped hotel bills in Johnstown, Gloversville and Troy. It is also said he operated in Philadelphia under the names of Robert Smith, Smith English and Roy Inglis. Reid now claims that his home is near Lexington, Ky., where his father owns a large stock farm.

Youtsey's Case Delayed.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 22.—It is practically certain that the case of Henry E. Youtsey, charged with being the principal in the murder of Goebel, will not be tried until the October term of the circuit court. At yesterday's session of court Commonwealth Attorney Robert Franklin stated that the prosecution had no desire to force a sick man into trial. Dr. R. L. Carrick, Youtsey's physician, said that his patient was not now in a physical condition to stand trial and that there was no reason to believe that he could regain his strength during this exceedingly hot weather, confined, as he is, in a hot cell.

Municipal Scheme For Manila.

MANILA, Aug. 22.—The Philippine commissioners, when installed on Sept. 1, will consider a bill for municipal organizations. General Otis' municipal scheme, as modified, includes provisions regarding land taxation and a civil service bill empowering the commission to make appointments by a system of civil service advancement by which it will be possible for the incumbents of the lowest offices, through efficient service and competitive examinations, to attain positions at the head of departments and undersecretaryships.

Governor Allen Arrives.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 22.—The United States dispatch boat Mayflower, having on board the governor of Porto Rico, Mr. Charles H. Allen, and his family, has arrived here from Boston. A meeting of the executive council has been called for Aug. 27, when plans for the election to be held in November will be formulated.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

APPEAL IS REJECTED

President and Cabinet Will Not Heed Li's Request.

CHINESE MILLIONS WITHOUT A HEAD.

No Recognized Ruler In the Empire With Adequate Authority to Conduct Negotiations—Minister Conger's Message.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The cabinet session yesterday practically opened to consideration the momentous questions growing out of the capture of Peking and the war in China. Heretofore the absorbing question has been the safety of Minister Conger and the legationers at Peking. Now, however, that has given place to problems of a more intricate and farreaching character, touching the very existence of the Chinese empire and the part which the American government is to take in the reconstruction of that country.

The meeting was devoted entirely to the Chinese situation. Secretaries Hay and Root, who have been most active in directing affairs, were absent from the city, so that the attendance comparatively was small, the president having with him Secretaries Gage, Hitchcock and Wilson and Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith. Several questions were awaiting attention.

First of these was the application of Li Hung Chang for the appointment of Minister Conger or some other commissioner to negotiate for the cessation of hostilities. The decision arrived at was to reject the appeal, and a reply of this character will be sent to Minister Wu to be forwarded to Li Hung Chang. The moving cause for this action is that this government is at present very much in the dark as to whether there is any existing government in China. With the capital in the hands of the allies, the emperor and dowager empress fugitives in hiding and the entire governmental fabric paralyzed, there is no evidence of an authority adequate to conduct negotiations and secure results which will be final and binding. It was stated by members of the cabinet that the Chinese establishment instead of being a government appears to be an enormous, headless affair, without knowledge of what is for its best good and without power to enforce its wishes.

With the recognized ruler in flight no one seems to know who, if anybody, is directing its affairs. As China is an absolute monarchy, without any legislative branch, the emperor and dowager empress are all powerful, and practically they are the empire of China. Under the present remarkable conditions the United States will act with extreme caution in whatever steps it may take toward a solution of the pending problems. In the meantime there is reason to believe that the United States and all the other powers interested will keep their armed forces on the ground, so that order may be maintained and at least a semblance of stable government brought out of the existing chaos.

The reply of this government to the appeal of the viceroys of Nankin and Hunan that no indignities be offered the emperor and empress dowager is a formal acknowledgment of the receipt of the communication, with a satisfactory assurance that no indignities would be offered the persons of their majesties. This reply is couched in the polite language of diplomacy, but it is understood that it does not in any way commit the government to refrain from imposing on the emperor and empress dowager any penalty that subsequently might be decided upon in case it is proved that they were directly responsible for the recent atrocities. This question of fixing responsibility where it belongs and imposing any punishment that may be deemed fitting has not received formal consideration as yet. The answer with which the two viceroys' appeal is met accordingly is a diplomatic assurance that the rights of the emperor and empress dowager will be protected, but does not impose any barrier to a proper punishment such as may be sanctioned by civilized usage for any offense which hereafter may be held to call for an accounting. This is the interpretation given the reply by a cabinet official. The question of responsibility will have to be worked out slowly.

The cabinet had before it a message from Minister Conger, received Monday night and dated Peking, via Chefu, Aug. 20. After the meeting the state department made public portions of the dispatch, as follows:

"Saved. Relief arrived today. Entered city with little trouble.

"Do not yet know where imperial family is. Except deaths already reported all Americans alive and well.

"Desperate effort made last night to exterminate us. Mitchell, American sailor, and a Russian and a Japanese wounded; German killed.

"Advise Woodward, Chicago; Conger, Des Moines; Sims, Council Bluffs; Conger, Pasadena; Porter, Paris."

It had been hoped that Minister Conger's advices as well as those from General Chaffee would be ample by this time in order to afford the Washington officials full opportunity to deal with the perplexing questions raised by the Chinese disturbances. General Chaffee has not been heard from, and the Conger message was not as complete as the authorities here had desired.

BANKS IN A RACE.

Buildings Pulled Along by Horses. Farmers and Merchants' Wins.

SELBY, S. D., Aug. 22.—The extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul west from Bowdle has reached this town and is being pushed west by an increased force of men, the telegraph line men following closely. The station will be opened this week and goods received for shipment.

The business buildings of Bangor are about half here, and the remainder will come before the week closes. A hot race occurred when the two banks started, the Farmers and Merchants' and the Walworth County and State. They left Bangor about the same time. The latter had about a quarter of a mile the start and was much the lighter building, being but one story in height, while the Farmers and Merchants' is 30 by 20 and two stories. The latter soon began to gain and when about a mile and a half out passed the State bank and steadily increased the distance between them. The State people sent back for re-enforcements and soon added two more teams, making 12 horses in all. Then they began to gain steadily on the Farmers', who, seeing they would be losers unless help soon arrived, dropped the wagon in which they had the safe and added four horses to their 30 horse team.

It was then an even thing for some distance, but the Farmers and Merchants' pulled into town several lengths ahead. Then the race for lots began. The Farmers' pulled up on their lot first, but in passing their cellar one horse fell in, thus delaying them. They were, however, declared winners, as the first bank in Selby.

Buffaloes In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Three buffaloes, the last of their species from the plains, have been received at the Union stockyards. The celebrated Cheyenne river herd has dwindled till there are only these three left. The buffaloes were shipped from Pierre, S. D., and consigned to H. B. Dunlap. This stock will be sold on the open market at the yards. There is much interest taken by the buyers, and if they are sold as butcher's stuff the bidding will be sharp. The down town restaurant and hotel men hope to secure a share if the buffaloes are sent to the abattoir. The Cheyenne river herd was one of the oldest and largest herds in the west.

Hot Wave Continues.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Reports received last night by the weather bureau show that the hot wave continues in southern Indiana, southern Illinois, western Tennessee, southwest Missouri and quite generally throughout the lower Mississippi valley and in the south Atlantic and gulf states. There has been a fall of ten degrees in St. Louis and Kansas City, and the indications are for cooler weather in the Ohio valley.

Had the First Shot.

DUNNEDIN, Fla., Aug. 22.—A desperado named Mortan came from Tampa with the avowed intention of killing E. W. Nigels, the depot agent here, against whom he had some unknown grievance. Mr. Nigels heard of Mortan's intention and armed himself. When Mortan came in sight, Nigels got the drop on him and shot him dead. Nigels is a quiet, peaceable man, and his act is considered justifiable.

A Long Wait For Execution.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Aug. 22.—The jury which sat in the trial of Frederick Eastwood, charged with murdering Franklin E. Fenn, returned a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Sentence was deferred pending the filing of exceptions by the defendant's counsel. Under the laws of Vermont Eastwood cannot be executed until after the session of the legislature in October, 1902.

Chautauqua Building Blown Down.

COARINDA, Ia., Aug. 22.—The Chautauqua assembly closed with a political debate between Congressman Landis of Indiana and Champ Clark of Missouri. The debate was cut short by a severe rainstorm, during which the Chautauqua tabernacle was blown to pieces. Hundreds of people were inside, sheltered from the storm. Five were hurt, but none very seriously.

Delegates to Railway Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The state department has appointed Chairman Martin W. Knapp of the interstate commerce commission and Charles W. Needham of this city, dean of the Columbian College School of Comparative Jurisprudence and Diplomacy, as American delegates to the international railway congress which will meet in Paris Sept. 18 next.

Sloop Yacht Capsized.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 22.—The sloop yacht Speedway, in command of Captain John Anderson, with three passengers aboard, William Anderson, James Murphy and Russell Parker, from north Jersey, capsized yesterday and drifted along the coast for five hours before the life saving crew at Longport rescued the party.

Twelve Wounded In a Street Fight.

FAIRMOUNT, W. Va., Aug. 22.—Twelve men were wounded, one fatally and two others probably fatally, in a street fight at Hundred, Wetzel county, five miles from Littleton, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

REAR END COLLISION

Seven Dead In Railway Wreck at Kensico, N. Y.

ENGINEER DISREGARDED THE SIGNAL.

Bodies Buried Beneath Immense Heaps of Debris—Thirty Cars Loaded With Ice and Other Freight In the Ruins.

KENSICO, N. Y., Aug. 22.—There was a serious and fatal rear end collision directly in front of the depot here last evening. The engineer and fireman of the second train are buried under the debris and are believed to be crushed to death. The conductor and two brakemen of the forward train are missing and are believed to be in the wreck. Kensico is on the Harlem division of the New York Central, about 16 miles from New York. The collision was caused, so far as can be learned, by the engineer of the second train running past a block signal set against him.

So far as can be learned seven are dead. There may not be so many, as the estimate is based only on the men of the train crews who cannot be found. It is supposed they are in the heap of wreckage, which will not be cleared for some time.

The regular freight pulled into the depot about 8 o'clock. The train was south bound. The engine left the train standing upon the main tracks and went off on to a siding for some cars. While the train was standing on the rails the second train, an extra loaded with ice, dashed into it. The heavily loaded ice train was driven into the rear cars of the freight, and the engine mounted upward upon the cars and telescoped them. Then the cars of its own train piled up on top of it until in all about 30 cars are heaped into a pile which towers high above the railroad depot.

Kentucky Prohibitionists.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 22.—The Prohibition state convention yesterday nominated for governor John D. White of Manchester, Clay county, formerly a Republican congressman from the Eleventh district. Candidates for presidential electors were also nominated. There were 50 delegates in the convention, including several women. The platform adopted indorses the national Prohibition platform and candidates for president and vice president and declares for woman suffrage. A motion by H. M. Winslow that the party indorse the Republican candidate, Mr. Yerkes, instead of making a nomination precipitated a wrangle and was voted down.

New Treaty With Spain.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—A treaty of amity, commerce, navigation and general intercourse between the United States and Spain was signed in Madrid yesterday by the Spanish minister of state and Bellamy Storer, the United States minister. In his telegram to the state department Minister Storer says the treaty was signed provisionally, meaning that it is subject to the approval of the Spanish government and the United States. This treaty takes the place of the general agreement which was abrogated by the Spanish-American war.

The Alabama Sails.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The new Alabama has sailed from Philadelphia for Newport on her way to the New England coast, where she is to have her initial trial trip between Cape Ann and Cape Porpoise the early part of next week. The Kearsarge and the Indiana of the north Atlantic squadron have sailed from Rockland, Me., for Boston. They will indulge in target practice en route. The Mayflower has arrived at San Juan, Porto Rico. The training ship Buffalo has sailed from Cavite, Philippine Islands, for Singapore.

For Forging Mileage Books.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—Frederick A. White, a printer of this city, was arrested, charged with printing bogus mileage books of the Boston and Maine railroad system. Chief Inspector Watts says that White is a companion of William A. Close, who was arrested in New York, and Patrick Kilcrane, who was arrested in Newburyport Aug. 4. The chief claims these men entered into a conspiracy to defraud the Boston and Maine system and that they have operated extensively in New York and the New England states.

Andrew White's Daughter Weds.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Miss Ruth Mary White, daughter of Andrew Dickson White, embassador to Germany, was married yesterday to Edwin Sidney Ferry of Mount Vernon, N. Y. The wedding took place in the White mansion on Cornell campus. The decorations were most profuse and the gifts costly. The groom is professor of natural philosophy in Purdue college, Lafayette, Ind. The bridal couple will tour Canada before going to their new house in Lafayette.

A Big Dose of Opium.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—An inquest held at Liverpool into the circumstances attending the death of Terrence Kelly, a shipping clerk, revealed the fact that he came to England from Pasadena, Cal., where his wife and children now are. Kelly left a letter confessing that he had taken 50 grains of opium daily for 15 years. He killed himself by taking 220 grains.

For Woman Suffrage.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The women of Victoria have started a movement against woman suffrage similar, according to the Melbourne correspondent of The Times, to the American women's antisuffrage movement. Fifteen thousand women have signed a petition against the woman suffrage bill.

Laborer Falls Asleep In a Freight Car and Is Carried Away.

BUFFALO, Aug. 22.—Without food or drink Andrew Luth, a laborer, 45 years old, whose home is in Syracuse, was found yesterday afternoon confined in an empty Lehigh Valley box car which had been jogging along the road between that city and Buffalo since Saturday.

When the door was opened at the Scott street yards, the freight handlers thought they had found a corpse. Luth, however, revived quickly when given a stimulant and was taken to the central police station, where he ate like a gormand. Then he told his story, which was substantially that while working about where the car was standing at Syracuse on Saturday he felt sleepy, climbed into its shady interior and dropped into a doze. He was awakened by its motion, only to find the door locked. He howled for help, but could make no one hear. At one time the car was sidetracked at some way station for a long period, and again he made frantic efforts to secure his release. Parched with thirst, famished and worn out by screaming, he sank into the state of collapse in which he was found when the car finally reached its destination.

His father was killed a few months ago a few miles from the same place in the same manner.

Innocent Bystander Killed.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 22.—William McCabe and William Begnall became involved in a quarrel in the latter's saloon. The barkeeper drew a revolver and fired at McCabe. James W. McAllister, a printer from Raleigh, who was an innocent bystander, received the bullet in his heart while endeavoring to get out of the way. Begnall is in jail.

The Sumner Reaches Manila.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—General MacArthur has informed the war department of the arrival of the transport Sumner at Manila. The Sumner carried a portion of the Fifteenth infantry, destined for China service, as far as Nagasaki, there transshipped the troops to the Indiana and then proceeded on her way to the Philippines.

Engulfed by a Wave.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—A great wave swept the shore of Lake Michigan last night, causing the water to recede 100 feet from some parts of the Illinois shore and then rush back again. The Chicago river level fell and rose about four feet. When the wave returned, two deaths resulted, and a number of bathers narrowly escaped with their lives.

Wealth In a Vacant House.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 22.—Executors of the estate of Mrs. Sabina Beer, who recently died at Madison, this state, found $16,000 in a chest in the house, $5,000 of it in gold. The house had been vacant for some weeks.

Prominent Lawyer Dead.

TAKING OF PEKING.

How the Chinese Imperial City Fell.

SAD PLIGHT OF THE LEGATIONERS.

Four Thousand Shells Fell During the Siege—Emaciated Foreigners Could Have Endured but Little Longer.

PEKING, Aug. 14, via Chefu, Aug. 22—The American and Russian flags were planted on the east wall of Peking at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The Indian troops entered the British legation at 1 o'clock and the Americans at 3 o'clock. There was a joyful reception from the wall.

The emaciated tenants could have lasted but little longer. They had only three days' rations. The Chinese had been attacking furiously for two days. Four thousand shells fell in the legation during the siege. Sixty-five were killed and 160 wounded.

The Japanese began the battle before daylight, and they are still fighting about the north wall, where a part of the Chinese are defending the imperial city. The Japanese casualties have not yet been ascertained. The Russians had 5 killed and 12 wounded. The Americans and British had a few wounded.

The plan was to make a general attack today, and the troops were arriving at camp five miles east all night. They were completely exhausted and slept in the cornfields in the rain.

The generals, however, alarmed at the sounds of a heavy attack on the legations, pushed forward independently, the British, Americans and French on the left of the river and the Russians and Japanese on the right.

Beginning at 2 o'clock yesterday morning the Japanese diverted the brunt of the resistance to the northern city, their artillery engaging the Chinese heavily there. The Americans and British met with but little resistance until they entered the city, where there was street fighting. Reilly's battery attempted to breach the inner wall. The troops finally entered the foreign settlement through the canal.

Company E, Fourteenth United States infantry, planted its flag on the outer wall, Musician Titus scaling the wall with a rope, by means of which the others climbed to the top.

The Chinese had continually violated the armistice.

The food supplies sent to the legations by the dowager empress were sufficient for one day.

Wanted to Buy Fitzsimmons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The World today says that Bob Fitzsimmons has been offered $100,000 by a Canadian of high financial standing to lose his fight with Sharkey and that Fitzsimmons treated the suggestion with contempt. The proposition is said to have come in a letter from Montreal which was signed "R. S." and which Fitzsimmons declares he knows to be genuine. The writer assured the ex-champion he was worth $180,000 in cold cash and gave bank references. He explained how much the sum named would mean to Fitz and endeavored to show how no chances were to be taken by accepting it. The Canadian said he was eager to arrange matters in order that he might begin making bets at 10 to 8 odds.

A Wedding Spoiled.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Henry Hearsey, 22 years old, of 106 East Eighty-eighth street, a clerk employed in the office of A. C. Hooper & Co., stockbrokers at 52 Broadway, was arrested in Jersey City by Dectective Dunn of the central office just as he was about to be married. He was charged with having made false entries in his accounts with Hooper & Co. and converting to his own use between $5,000 and $6,000. Hearsey's prospective bride was Miss Stella Gardner of 2 Highland avenue. The Rev. E. S. Forbes, vicar of St. John's Episcopal church, was to have performed the ceremony.

Death at a Grade Crossing.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Aug. 22.—John Turner, aged 26 years, was instantly killed and Frederick Schwarz, aged 17 years, probably fatally injured yesterday in a grade crossing accident at Tinkertown crossing, near Minsi. The young men were driving a double team, and while crossing the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western tracks the wagon was struck by an express train. In addition to killing Turner and injuring Schwarz the two horses were killed and the wagon smashed to kindling wood.

Hot In the South.

SAVANNAH, Aug. 22.—The highest temperature known in years has prevailed along the south Atlantic coast during the last few days. At this place the thermometer reached 102 degrees and at Brunswick, Ga., 101 degrees. At other coast cities the high temperature records have been broken. At interior points the heat has been intense. Few prostrations have been reported.

Attempt to Rob a Mail Carrier.

GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—A bold attempt was made here to rob Leroy Deming, who carries the mail from Bennett's Station to Steele. A stranger who was at the station when the train pulled in followed Deming, and when the latter turned into the woods the two had a hard struggle. The robber, however, failed to get the mail pouch and disappeared in the darkness.

Germany's Purpose.

COLOGNE, Aug. 22.—Semiofficial Berlin telegrams to the Cologne Gazette strenuously dispute the contention of the party opposed to the government and the army that there is no need to send further re-enforcements to China. The correspondent says: "We have not to deal with the local revolutionary elements in Peking, but must impose our terms on the whole empire."

Miss Yatman's Trip.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 22.—Miss Jane Yatman, the woman cyclist who is trying to make a long distance record between New York and Chicago, arrived in Syracuse at 7 o'clock last night. What Might Happen.

The Newark Evening News raises an alarm over the rumor that the Central Railroad is to be absorbed by either of two other railroads, and points out wherein such a combination would injuriously affect cities like Plainfield. There is food for reflection in what the Newark paper says:

The reported absorption of the New Jersey Central Railroad by either the Pennsylvania or Baltimore and Ohio interests arouses alarm in this State. The Central was for many years a New Jersey enterprise, and it still looks for its chief support to New Jersey business. Its great coal interests and its connection with the Baltimore and Ohio and Philadelphia and Reading are no doubt susceptible of large development, and the Vanderbilts, who now have a controling interest, would like to see the Central made an active part of another vast trunk line system. But we of New Jersey know what this means. The great profits of the railroads come from through business, and the moment a railroad becomes devoted to the pursuit of this traffic local interests suffer. The neglect of local traffic by the Pennsylvania has been a serious injury to Newark and to every other place as far as New Brunswick. The New York Central gives still worse facilities for passengers within fifty miles of the city, and the tendency is toward neglect of this business by all the great routes. Of course, the trolley or the elevated railroad may take the place of the through line; but that means more frequent stops and greater waste of time for passengers who are now within thirty to sixty minutes of New York by railroad. If the suburban resident is to be compelled to use the trolley for comparatively long distances, the destruction of important and growing places near New York is threatened.

Every person who has a store, an office or other place of business, and who considers a painted sign over his door necessary, can increase the number of his patrons by newspaper advertising, says the Philadelphia Record. An immense proportion of the people look to the newspapers for information as to where they can get what they want—a fact which should furnish business men with a strong motive for advertising. The successful merchant would as soon think of taking down his signs as of leaving out his "ads," which is proof that they pay for themselves. From a business point of view the only valid excuse for a failure to advertise is that which prevents an establishment from carrying an adequate stock—a lack of capital.

According to the estimates of the British Government the total cost of the South African War will be $306,000,000, and to give an air of satisfying completeness to the job there is included in this $13,500,000 as the sum necessary to bring the troops home. The Philadelphia Times says that the cost of continuing the fight against the stubborn Boers, now that the war is over, will, of course, be charged up to some other fund. This will quiet the nerves of the peace party and make the members of the late lamented conference at The Hague hope again that the dawn is breaking.

If Edward S. Wilde, of Glen Ridge, who is mentioned as possible Democratic Congressional candidate in the Eighth district, should become the opponent of Congressman Fowler, he will challenge the latter to a debate on the issues in the campaign and will otherwise conduct a campaign that will make things lively in the political world hereabouts. Mr. Wilde is a veteran campaigner and will make the hardest fight that Congressman Fowler has yet encountered in his four candidacies before the people of the Eighth district.

A story sent out from Washington is to the effect that Attorney-General John W. Griggs is going to retire from President McKinley's cabinet. This action of Mr. Griggs is said to be because he finds that the salary that he receives as Attorney-General is not sufficient for him to maintain a social position in administration circles in accordance with the prominence of his office. Mr. Griggs receives a salary of $8,000 a year, but it is undoubtedly true that he could make four times that practicing law in Paterson.

The Common Council acted wisely in refusing to grant the Central's petition to close up Church street, between Third and Fourth streets, until the company either agreed to stand for all damages that might be secured against the city from property owners affected or induced the persons affected by such action to waive their rights. Since the latter course has been accomplished, the risk to the city has been removed, and the street can be closed without doing taxpayers an injustice.

Ex-Senator Henry D. Winton, of Bergen county, said yesterday that, so far as he knew, the Democrats there had not decided upon a candidate for Congress in Fifth district. There had been some talk, he said, of nominating Judge VanCleave, of Paterson, but nothing definite had been determined upon. In fact, the Democrats of Bergen county had not made any political move as yet to indicate who any of the candidates for the Assembly or for County Clerk would be.

As had been anticipated, the city tax rate has been fixed at $2.46 on every $100 of valuation by the Common Council. This is a reduction of ten points from the rate of last year. A low tax rate is a strong contributor to the material advancement of a place, and in reducing the rate this year the city officials have acted so as to win the appreciation of their constituents.

Among the names mentioned in Democratic circles in Somerset county for the nomination of County Clerk is that of Deputy County Clerk Vanderveer, who ran against County Clerk Somers four years ago. Mr. Vanderveer has been connected with the office for many years and is peculiarly fitted for the position. There will be other candidates, however.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Aug. 22.—While being drilled about preparatory to starting for New York yesterday morning, a rear car on Conductor Rarick's train which leaves Dunellen at 7:20, jumped a switch near the Washington avenue crossing. The crossing was blocked for some time. The jump was thought to be due to the springing of the switch. The derailed car was finally replaced without calling the wrecking crew.

The business men and residents in the vicinity of the depot are indignant over the action of the Central Railroad in placing a car filled with compost on the siding next to the freight house. The car was placed there Monday and allowed to stand until yesterday afternoon. The stench in the meantime had become almost unbearable and several complaints were made to J. H. L. Peters, secretary of the Board of Health. The latter notified the railway officials yesterday of the nuisance the car was making and it was removed. It is stated that this is not the first time an offensive car load of materical was placed almost on the main street and it is hoped that this will be the last. There are other sidings in the borough more secluded and better adopted for such purposes.

A. A. Lake returned home from Boston last night, where he has been the guest of A. J. Whitney, former superintendent of the borough schools. Mrs. Lake will remain two weeks longer.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Aug. 22—Up to last accounts no trace of Joseph Winkler's horse, which disappeared from the Hotel Nelson's stable Sunday night, has yet been found. M. W. Casterline and Mr. Winkler have spent the past two days searching but without success. The former is of the opinion that it has been found by some one who is keeping it until the owner shows up. John Wood, an employe of the hotel, went to Basking Ridge yesterday but nothing of the missing horse had been seen there.

Justice A. L Storms received word yesterday of the recent appointment of his son, William J. Storms, of San Antonia, Texas, as U. S. consul to the Republic of Mexico.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Aug. 22.—The members of the B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church had charge of the prayer and praise meeting held at the Union Fresh Air Camp Westfield last night. Rev. G. M. Shott led the meeting after a short praise service and remarks by the leader the meeting was thrown open for testimony and the way the mothers of the camp responded to the call and told of their hopes, an effort to live for the Saviour, now they had been shown the way, was the best recommendation that the good work Miss Curry is doing could have. At the close of the meeting which was so much enjoyed by all a number stopped to speak to the mothers and meet Miss Curry.

The ladies of St. Mary's Catholic church are anticipating a large crowd at their picnic to be held at Seely's Grove tomorrow. Mrs. George L. Dunn is spending a week with relatives and friends in Newark.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, August 22.—At the meeting of the Township Committee to be held Friday evening it is expected that a new company will ask for a franchise to tear up the township streets for the purpose of supplying the town with a water supply. It is probable that the the franchise will be granted, for the service the town is now getting from the Union Water Company is far from adequate. One day last week the residents of Dudley avenue were unable to get water for their kitchen boilers and were compelled to bank their fires. At the fire headquarters the same day the pressure was only twenty-nine pounds when it is supposed to be at the least thirty-five pounds. Acting Chairman J. Alston Dennis is in favor of a new company and a lively meeting is looked for Friday evening.

THE CHINESE HOME.

How It Is Built, Arrangement of the Rooms and Their Furnishings.

BY LUCY LAWN.

Chinese homes vary just as widely in degrees of comfort and pretentiousness as do American homes. The wealthy mandarin has a domestic establishment quite as elaborate, if entirely different, as some of our city mansions. One innovation is that the homes of rich Chinese are generally built around an open court, in which there is perhaps a fountain and a miniature garden.

The very poor Chinese, on the other hand, are content with little huts of mud, which not even the poorest American would for an instant consider as fit for permanent habitation.

Of the middle class homes Dr. Arthur H. Smith has written most entertainingly in his recently published book entitled "Village Life In China." He explains that the mysterious science of geomancy has much to do with the location of a house. Geomancy relates to the many superstitions concerning good and evil spirits which influence almost every act of the yellow race. Thus city gates are not placed opposite each other, lest evil spirits should make a clean sweep through them. If any door opens upon the highway, it is protected from the evil influences which might else result by a screen.

According to Dr. Smith houses in the neighborhood of stony mountains are built from native rocks. They are damp, dark and unwholesome at all seasons of the year. There is no provision for ventilation made in the Chinese dwelling, the poorer class of which is lighted only from the front by a single door. The most handy material is used for the construction of houses.

If there are no stones at hand, brick are used. They are manufactured on the premises in large quantities and have the same grayish blue color as prevails in the clothing of the people.

The majority of country houses are built from soil, molded into adobe bricks, which have been dried until they cease to shrink. The molded bricks are about three inches thick, 12 inches wide and 20 inches long. They are very inexpensive and also very unsubstantial. It is no uncommon sight, declares Dr. Smith, after a rainy year to see houses that have literally soaked down. Many of the houses have no wooden framework and are consequently a source of danger to inhabitants. In other districts the houses have roofs made with a frame resembling foreign dwellings.

Trees are seldom planted about the houses of the Chinese village. Generally speaking, only about mudholes is their protective shade found, and houses are exposed to the fiercest rays of the sun. Courtyards are invariably destitute of trees of any sort.

Owing to the national reluctance to erect high buildings Chinese cities present a monotonous uniformity. The architecture has been described as consisting essentially of two sticks placed upright and a third laid across them at the top. However much the roofs may vary among themselves they suggest the tent as the model.

The houses are generally built on the north end of the courtyard so as to face the south, and when additional rooms are required they are placed at right angles to the main structure, facing east and west. If the premises are large, the front wall of the house is formed by another house, a reproduction of the one in the rear having similar side buildings. This is the accepted model for dwelling houses regardless of how numerous the family or how wealthy the householder may be.

This type is somewhat modified in the cities by the exigencies of the contracted space at disposal, but in the country it is the only kind seen.

The different parts of a house are called divisions, one of which never exceeds 12 feet in length and about half the width from front to back. An ordinary house consists of three divisions, though there may be but one partition dividing it into one single and one double room. There is never any ceiling, and the roof is always visible.

Most doors are made with two leaves, projections above and below, like pins, serving as hinges. These doors cannot be tightly closed because of the rude workmanship and the unequal shrinkage of the wood.

Our carpet-cleaning plant is neat and thorough.

MINIATURE CASTLE.

An Architectural Curiosity to Be Seen Among the Rugged Mountains of Virginia.

In St. Nicholas, Ellen Garnett tells of a miniature stone castle in the mountains of Virginia, and how it came to be built.

While spending the summer of 1897 at Earlhurst, Va., amid the wild and rugged scenery of the Allegheny mountains, two young ladies, who were fond of exploring the beautiful country, were seated one afternoon at the base of a waterfall. Being deeply impressed by the beauty of the spot, one exclaimed: "How charmingly romantic! I can almost believe that Flora MacIvor will any instant appear seated on that moss-covered rock, discoursing sweet music on her harp."

Carried away by such romantic thoughts, they began to build an imaginary castle, peopled with baron and serf, besieged and defended, of a captive princess and valiant warrior knights.

"Let's make one!" they cried. Accordingly, the next day the undertaking was begun.

A large purplish bowlder, overgrown with moss and lichen, on the lawn of

MINIATURE MOUNTAIN CASTLE.

Earlhurst, the summer home of the builders, was selected as the site on which to construct this miniature castle. Building material then became a serious question. Rocks there were in plenty, but sand and mortar had to be carried for some distance. Tools were limited, and using a screwdriver in lieu of a chisel the slight indentation in the foundation rock, which was designed to be the dungeon, proved but slow work.

This task accomplished, a square box was placed over the excavation, in which were cut openings for windows and a door. The windows—18 in all—were put together with greatest care, every stout wooden frame being crossed and recrossed with a heavy wire to imitate gratings, then built in the stone walls over the openings. They vary in style and size, from the large casements in the protected parts of the structure to the small windows in the watch towers. After the box had been built over on all sides with rocks, held in place by mortar, another smaller box was placed on top of it, and covered in like manner. Both were first roofed with tin to prevent leaking; but this has been carefully concealed. There are also hidden drains both in the castle and causeway. The towers are built solid, except behind the windows, where spaces are left to give the effect of rooms. The "workmen" experienced great difficulty in finding the necessary number of properly shaped stones for the battlements, which required such exactness.

Every one on the place was requested to look out for small stones, and walking parties armed with baskets were often formed for the sole purpose of securing building material. One of the "hod-carriers" became so enthusiastic that she carried a heavy load of stones for two miles on an August afternoon! As the structure progressed, a keen interest was taken in it by all the neighborhood, and there were many visitors to view the unique little building, several of whom contributed bits of rock from different places of interest in Virginia. One mountaineer who came to pass judgment on the work could not conceal his disdain, and blurted out: "There ain't no use for you-all to work on that little house; the snow's going to melt them chimbleys, sure!" He referred to the towers. Another man of the same kind looked on at the building for some time with a pitying smile, and said: "What a shame them two young ladies is childish!" It was afterwards learned that he regarded the builders as harmless lunatics. After four months of not uninterrupted labor the castle was finished. One of the architects carved little figures out of wood, and dressed them to represent the household of a baron. The knights are clothed in tinfoil armor, each carrying a lance and battle-ax; all the ladies are arrayed in brightly colored silks. An armed sentry stands on guard in each watch-tower, and a captive princess peeps through the bars of a lofty casement, imploring aid from every brave knight-errant.

The castle's height is about two feet and a half, and the rock on which it stands measures ten feet in circumference, and is three feet high. The approaches to the castle is by a causeway rising gradually from the ground at the rear, and forming a semicircle of wall until it reaches the entrance gate, where it stops abruptly. Across the space between the castle walls and the causeway is thrown a drawbridge, which can be raised or lowered by its iron chains at a moment's notice. A portcullis and two watch-towers guard this entrance to the courtyard, which lies within, surrounded on all sides by high walls. Across the courtyard on both sides, opposite the watch-towers, rise the two high towers; the round tower being on the right hand, near which is the postern leading into the strong keep. The banner, which floats from the highest tower, has the armorial bearing, or, a lion rampart, gules, that is, a rampart red lion on a yellow field. The same standard waves proudly over the great gate.

CHILD SNAKE CHARMER.

Little Edna Powers, Six Years Old, Possesses a Strange and Mysterious Power Over Reptiles.

Little Edna Powers, of New York city, has a strange power over snakes. She is only six years old, but she picks them up as she pleases, and they do not offer to hurt her. Sometimes when she handles them roughly they get angry, but she gently strokes them till the big mouths close and the forked tongues are still. Edna is a pretty, curly-haired, brown-eyed, romping child. She knows nothing about snake charming, and she took to snakes instinctively. About a year ago she was taken by her father to see a snake-charming exhibition. The demonstrator picked up a big rattler and was about to trail it up about his neck and over his person, when Edna sprang forward and cried: "Oh, let me have it!" at the same time grasping the monster about the middle.

"Stop, dear, you mustn't," her father exclaimed, and the showman pulled back in alarm for the child's safety.

"Then I'll take this one," said Edna, turning quickly and picking up a smaller reptile that lay coiled at one end of the platform. And before anybody could interfere she had it up in her arms and it was crawling all over her.

"Don't worry; she's all right," said the showman, "she's born to it, and the snakes know their friends at once. She won't be hurt."

And she wasn't. Since that time this miniature prototype of "Elsie Venner," that strange, wild creature of the gentle poet-moralist, Holmes, has developed not merely a penchant, but a perfect craze for reptiles.

"They are better than dolls," says Edna, "for they are alive and they creep up so close to you and they hug you and love you better than any doll ever could. Yes, they are a little bit cold and at first that used to sort of make me squinch up, but I've got used to that and I love 'em and they love me."

Every Blossom Had Leaves.

Nellie, aged four, was found by her father one day with her chubby hands full of roses from a bush upon which he had bestowed much care. "Nellie," said he, "didn't I tell you not to pluck one of these flowers without leave?" "Yes, papa," answered Nellie, innocently, "but they all had leaves."

Way It Sounded to Him.

A small boy was reading his lesson at school one day, and coming to the passage: "Keep thy tongue from evil and thy lips from guile," rendered it as follows: "Keep thy tongue from a a vial and thy lips from girls."

MORRELL ISLAND DISAPPEARS

Either It Never Existed or It Had Sunk Beneath the Waters of the Pacific.

The United States hydrographic office is about to wipe Morrell island off the face of the map. Morrell island does not at present rear its head above the waters of the Pacific.

As a matter of fact, remarks the New York Sun, there may be hundreds of just such islets as Morrell island was first described as being whose existence is not indicated on the best of mariners' charts. In some portions of the Pacific, the officials of the hydrographic office state, vessels never go. Of course it is impossible to make the definite statement that there is any spot in the ocean which has never been passed by some vessel at some time, but the chances are vastly against either sailing vessel or steamer having explored a great portion of the waters of the mightiest of oceans.

Again, there are undoubtedly a number of islands charted on the maps which exist only on paper. The sailing vessels which first explored the Pacific were manned by small crews and carried abord them most imperfect chronometers. On many occasions they did not stop when they came in the vicinity of land, but simply recorded in a more or less careless fashion the fact that the vessel had sighted an island of such and such size at the latitude and longitude in which the captain thought he was sailing.

Capt. Davenport, of the hydrographic office, states that mirages which appear from time to time in those seas have often been recorded as actual land. He says that many of the Pacific islands now chartered will turn out to be nothing more than mistakes in the vision of careless navigators.

Capt. Morrell stated in the account of his voyage that he had sighted the island in latitude 29 degrees 57 minutes north and longitude 174 degrees 31 miniutes east. The whaler's captain describes the island as being about four miles in circumference, flat, and so low as to be nearly level with the water. Extending around it were reefs for about 15 miles in the west and 30 miles in the southerly direction. Another very small island was reported as being close to the greater one.

The time was July, 1825, and at the season green turtle were to be found in abundance.

As no one has ever reported the island in the location mentioned, Capt. Davenport is of the opinion that either it has sunk beneath the waters of the ocean and completely disappeared or that Capt. Morrell mistook his latitude. He might well have mistaken some one of the Midway island or Bryce or Pearl island for the one he describes and have miscalculated his location by a distance of several hundred miles. There are many recorded instances of mariners of the period having made even greater mistakes.

At any rate Capt. Cobb, commanding one of the Pacific mail steamers, states that he has passed over the location of Morrell island on several occasions. Lieut. James M. Miller, of the United States flagship Omaha, reported some time since that Capt. Cavalry, of the City of Peking, had caused a special lookout to be made when he reached this point on his way from the Sandwich islands to China, but no trace of the island or discoloration of the water was anywhere observable.

The late report of a vessel sent out especially to look for this island by some of the merchants of Honolulu contains the positive information that it does not exist. With this as a basis the hydrographic office will issue all charts henceforth leaving only blue water for the spot whre Morell island is now indicated, and Uncle Sam must strike one off of the long list of insular possessions which he has acquired of recent years.

Symptoms Caused by Anger.

A study of anger from experiences in about 2,000 cases, collected from reliable observers, has been made by G. Stanley Hall. The causes were many and various, often being very trivial, and the physical sensations accompanying it differed greatly with the individual. Flushing was very general, although pallor was a characteristic in 27 per cent. of the cases. The heart beats were violent, several cases of death from rupture of this organ being reported, and there were sometimes peculiar sensations in mouth and throat, sometimes dizziness or faintness, frequently tears, and generally copious salivation, which might produce "frothing at the mouth." Common sounds were animal-like cries in children, oaths and threats in adults, while in many cases the throat was paralyzed, and there was inability to speak above a whisper, or without crying or trembling. Butting with the head, biting and scratching are noticeable in childish anger.—Stray Stories.

Cure for Morphine Habit.

Great interest has been aroused in medical circles in Germany, says a Berlin dispatch to the London Chronicle, by the discovery by Dr. Otto Emmerich, of Baden-Baden, of a specific against morphia poisoning and that peculiar form of disorder known in Germany as "morphinismus." The increasing use of morphia among a considerable section of society has been lately exciting much attention, and medical men have been unable to prescribe any efficient remedy. It is claimed for Dr. Emmerich's discovery that it has proved infallible in the numerous cases in which it has been applied. It is distilled vegetable oil of intense acidity, two or three drops of which are taken internally daily. After a cure, extending from three to six weeks, patients acquire an intense loathing for the use of the morphia needle.

The SPECTROSCOPE and How It Is Used

The Composition of the Sun and Stars Is Determined by This Delicate Instrument

WITH the great leaps and bounds which have characterized the advance of science during the past few years, there has perhaps been no instrument which has so well held its own in that onward march as the spectroscope, which, by the absolute certainty of its revelations, and its susceptibility to tests of extreme delicacy in almost every branch of physics, renders it one of the most remarkable and valuable instruments of modern science. And yet outside of scientific circles very few people have anything but a vague knowledge of the instrument or its multifarious usefulness, so that a short sketch in nonscientific language would not be amiss now, that the great mass of an inquiring public may be competent to understand what has otherwise been but a deep problem filled with statements which have amazed as well as puzzled.

In a treatise presented to the Royal Institution of London in 1675 Isaac Newton showed that a beam of white light in passing through a prism of glass is resolved into its primary elements, forming a splendid colored image; and that these elements are ultimate elements, incapable of being further decomposed, was also proven, by passing each of the colors, in succession, through a second prism, which gave no further action, and also that the colored band in question was truly the exact composition of white light was proven by combining it through a lens, which again gave a spot of white light. The number of colors contained in the band (which is known as the spectrum) is seven, in the following order, viz: Red, orange, yellow green, blue, indigo and violet, and they blend one into the other in imperceptible gradations. Although these colors are always refracted (or shown) in the same unchangeable order, yet different substances have different refractive power and separate the rays unequally. This degree of separating is called dispersion. A hollow prism filled with water gives a short spectrum, while a prism of crown glass gives one much longer. Again, the dispersive power of a prism of flint glass is twice as great as one of crown glass, and a hollow prism filled with bisulphide of carbon gives a spectrum twice as long as that of flint glass.

Dispersion may also be increased by adding one prism to another in such a way that the refracted light of the first may pass on through the second, third or fourth, etc., as many as 24 prisms being used in some of the larger instruments for delicate observation, particularly on the celestial bodies.

Fig. 2.

Fig. 3.

The spectroscope is an instrument for observing the spectrum, and in its simplest form consists of a tube, A, carrying at its outer end a vertical slit and at the other a lens through which the light passes to the prism, B, and the spectrum of which is observed, magnified, by the small telescope, C. In larger instruments for more scientific purposes there is required the most accurate means of measuring the spectrum, and for this purpose a third tube, D, is added, which carries at its outer end, s, a minute engraved or photographed scale, which is thrown upon the face of the prism by the lens, k, and thus observed together with the spectrum.

When Newton made his famous experiments with the prism he used the light from a round hole in the window shutter, so that his spectrum consisted of a series of overlapping images in which the colors were slightly mixed, and in this way the deeper mysteries of the spectrum could not be disclosed, and for 127 years no further progress was made, until in 1802 Dr. Wollaston observed the spectrum formed by a narrow slit and found that instead of simply being a continuous band of color (as was always supposed) it was crossed in various places by dark lines.

In 1814 a German optician named Fraunhofer explored these lines so carefully that they have since been called after his name and are known as the Fraunhofer lines. In studying the spectrum formed by a very fine slit, he found that these lines were very numerous, that they varied in thickness and were distributed in unequal groups throughout the spectrum; and making a map of 590 from the red to the violet, designating the most important by the letters of the alphabet (Fig. 2), Fraunhofer further discovered that these lines never varied from their position in the slightest, in the spectrum of sunlight. That the spectra of the reflected light from the moon, or from Venus, were exactly the same, while the spectra of the fixed stars differ from those of the sun, and from each other. From this Fraunhofer drew the conclusion that the cause of the dark lines in the solar spectrum exists in the sun, although the cause he could not discover.

The next most important step was taken by Dr. Draper, of New York, in 1842, who made a photograph of the spectrum and its lines, discovering thus four more groups beyond the limit of the visible violet, and also discovering the fundamental principle in the philosophy of the subject, viz.: He determined the temperature at which a solid body when heated begins to give off light and showed that it was the same for all solids, that as the temperature is increased the colored rays are given off in the order of their refrangibility—from red to violet—and that the spectra of all incandescent solids are without lines or breaks, simply a continuous band of color.

In 1859 Kirchloff and Bunsen proved that there is a close relation between the dark lines in the spectrum of the sun and the bright lines of the various metals, and when in attempting to map the lines of various metals he placed the spectrum of the sun over the other (Fig. 3.) he was astonished to find the lines coincide in position and thickness, and later proved that vapors absorb the kind of light they emit and let all other rays pass. Thus if we observe the bright line of sodium through a tube filled with sodium vapor we should have a dark line, because the vapor has absorbed the light it emits. Thus we have the clew to the constitution of the sun itself, viz.: A central nucleus of great heat yielding a continuous spectrum surrounded by an atmosphere of metallic vapors (known as the photosphere) through which the rays pass and are partially absorbed, showing in the spectroscope as dark bands or lines, which when compared and matched with the known bright spectra of the metals show instantly what they are and thus give unquestionable proof of the sun's composition.

As was to be expected, only a very meager outline of this great subject has been given, but yet sufficient of the marvelous delicacy and power of the spectroscope to appeal to the average intelligence. Nothing has as yet been said of the many uses of the instrument in almost all branches of trade, for the detection of impurities and imitations, and particularly of its great value in the determination of steel and iron. To the chemists and manufacturers it stands unrivaled.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,

When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.

FINDING A FORTUNE on the Streets of CHICAGO

Chicago is a wealthy city. If all the wealth that is represented in cash within the corporate limits was in silver dollars and heaped into one vast pile, it would be a sight worth traveling some distance merely to feast one's eyes upon the glittering pile.

Disappointed and the Reason for It.

Chicago has not yet outrivaled New York as a financial center, but its banks, its trust companies and corporations have gold sufficient for its needs. The banks and trust companies announce to the world in letters of gold the extent of their millions of capital; their surplus earnings, and their individual profits.

But while these massive bank vaults may contain millions, they have none to give away, and none to lose. The clerks and bookkeepers who must keep track of the goings and comings of these vast stores of coined wealth have found by more than one sad experience that every penny must be accounted for. It matters not how pressing the personal engagement may be; how sadly the young lady may be disappointed if he does not arrive at the appointed time; how willingly he would replace the absent penny, it cannot be. He must remain until the missing penny is found or accounted for. And the girl—she must wait the pleasure of the penny and the bank.

There is no other line of business where more system is demanded than in a great banking institution. In them men, before they are given important positions, must have had years of training. And yet these same men sometimes make grievous errors that nothing but the grossest carelessness can account for.

Accidents Will Happen.

I have said that banks have nothing to lose or to give away, and yet accidents sometimes happen even to banks.

Seldom Happens Twice in a Lifetime.

What would you do, dear reader, should you find a fortune on the streets of Chicago? This question is not for those already wealthy, nor is it to be supposed that the find would make of the finder a millionaire. It is a question for those who must earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, and the find is one that would make them comfortable for the remainder of their days—suppose we say $35,000.

Of course the question is a needless one. You would return it to its rightful owner, but you might be forgiven if you indulged in a few short dreams of opulence before you did so.

The little incident of finding on a Chicago street—or, for that matter any street—the small sum of $35,000 is a thing that seldom happens twice in a lifetime; in fact, there are a great many lifetimes in which it does not happen at all. To those to whom it does happen thoughts of socialism, communism, anarchism, are liable to come for just a few minutes. With millions more where that $35,000 came from why should he not keep it? the finder is very liable to ask. Why should the chosen few have all and others nothing? Why are the fates so unkind to the poor? Why was this placed in his way if he was not to keep it? Why should he take the trouble to remedy another's error, or repair another's loss? Does the world expect it? Is it just that he should? Why, why, why without end, but if the circumstances are always the same as they were in the case which I am going to tell of the chances are ten to one, or even more, that the suddenly accumulated fortune will be returned to its rightful owner.

An Honest Man.

I know a man, just the ordinary sort of man, with a very ordinary income, who picked up on the streets of Chicago a few days ago the small sum of $35,000. Literally picked it up off the sidewalk on crowded Adams street, where a dozen people had deliberately stepped over it.

With $35,000 in His Pocket.

For nearly an hour he carried that fortune of $35,000 about the streets of Chicago with him, and during that time he had visions of what it would buy. It was more money than he had ever owned in his lifetime, and he was by no means a boy. It was more money than he would probably earn during the remainder of his lifetime. It would gratify many of his tastes for pleasure. With it he could see the world of which he had dreamed. With it he could give his family many pleasures which would otherwise be denied them. His wife could have the new dress she had wished for, and he would scarcely miss the money it would take to buy it.

He started into the bakery lunchroom where he was in the habit of eating a ten-cent luncheon each noon, and then he stopped. Why should he eat a ten-cent luncheon when he had $35,000 in his pocket? He walked out into the street again and hunted up a more expensive restaurant, one frequented by men of means, by men who had $35,000 to spend. He would have a taste of the good things of life for a time, and he began by ordering a good dinner. I said good, and to some it might have appeared so, but it was not so with him. The beef was tough; he would have a better piece at dinner that evening.

When he had finished he hunted up the owner of that $35,000 and returned it, and received for his trouble a reward of sufficient size to pay for the dinner he had eaten.

The Man Was Not a Fool.

Don't say, dear reader, that the man was a fool. He did just what you would have done under like circumstances. The fortune he had found was a certified and indorsed bank check payable to bearer for $35,000—or, to be more exact, $34,527—and what else could he have done with it?

And It Took to Itself Wings.

Without some one well known to the bank to have identified him he could not have cashed it. He knew people that were well known at the bank, to be sure, but those same people knew that he could not have come by such a check honestly. Even had he have been successful in cashing the check, which would have had to have been done within a few moments after its loss was discovered, for payment on it would have been stopped at the banks as soon as the loss was discovered, he would have had to leave the city and the country and remained a fugitive for the remainder of his life. True, he would not have had to commit forgery, but he would have secured the money by fraud just the same, and the $35,000 was not worth the chances.

I do not say that he thought of these things; I do not even wish to intimate that it was not his sense of duty that impelled the return of that fortune found on the sidewalk, but had he have been in condition to think of such things such would have been the conclusion to which he would have come, and such would be the conclusion to which you would come in like circumstances.

What the result would have been had that fortune been in currency I am not going to even attempt to say, but a $35,000 check, certified and indorsed to bearer though it was, is a hard thing for a poor man to dispose of in Chicago.

History of the Find.

Common courtesy on the part of those to whom that check was returned to compelled them to tell my friend the history of how such a valuable piece of paper had gotten onto the streets of Chicago in the condition in which it was, and the story but illustrates the fact that even the best trained men will sometimes make grievous errors.

Was Pleased to Get It Back.

The check had been made payable to a banking concern in the city, and certified by the cashier of one of the two largest banks in Chicago. The concern in whose favor it had been drawn wished to transfer the money to another of the Chicago banks, and the man whose privilege it is to sign the corporation's name had placed upon the check that necessary part of the indorsement, supposing that the cashier would add the "payable to the order of So and So" above the name for which he had left space.

This is where the cashier failed in his duty. He did not complete the indorsement, but undertook to deliver the check in person, and placed it in his pocket for the purpose of carrying it to the bank to which it was going. He reached the bank in good time, but the check did not; it had dropped from his pocket onto the sidewalk, and my friend was privileged to pick up a fortune of $35,000, which could not possibly do him any good.

But just the same the concern that lost so valuable a bit of paper were very much pleased to have it safely back in their hands again, and it is safe to say that it did not again get out of their office until it was properly indorsed, and that the cashier received a lecture on the results of carelessness.

SPORTING.

GOLF

An error was made in the results of Saturday's play at the Park Golf Club links for the president's cup. Third place was really won by William A. Townsend with a net score of 93. It was announced in Monday's Press, however, that W. J. R. Theirs and H. D. Hibbard were tied for third with 94 net each. Townsend's score was not turned until late but was then properly filed so that he gets the point for the cup and Theirs and Hibbard do not score at all.

The team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club met the team from the Elizabeth Town and Country Club Saturday and were beaten in the contest for the honors in the East Jersey Golf League. By this defeat the two teams are now tie for first place in the tournament. The reasons assigned for defeat are a strange course and the fact that some of the Hillside players were out of form. Dumont and Talmage were the only ones from the visiting team to score, the former being 6 up and the latter 1 up. Of the Hillside team J. H. P. Wharton was was the only one that was acquainted with the Elizabeth course, and he did not score. Glenney, one of the best players, was tie with his opponent, and was unable to bring victory to his club. As the score was 8 to 7 in favor of Elizabeth, this is not considered a bad defeat, when all the circumstances are known. The summary is as follows:

HILLSIDE.		ELIZABETH.
Glenney	0	Conover	0
Talmage	1	Darrach, Jr.	0
Wharton	0	Waterbury	4
Wright	0	Poinier	4
Dumont	6	Seaman	0

CYCLING COMMENT.

A five-mile road race will take place next Saturday between Frank Terry and Walter Layton, of this city, for five dollars a side. The course will be from Fifth and Richmond streets to Scotch Plains and return.

The committee having in charge the 25-mile race which took place on Rahway avenue Saturday afternoon, met Monday evening and after listening to the protests from persons who wanted the first, second and fourth winners in the race disqualified, claiming that they had been paced by a tandem, found no cause to change the decision of the judges and the men will receive the prizes as placed. Mr. Walter Cuttle, of Rahway, received the time prize, an Adlake tandem, valued at $45. The time of the race was 1 hr., and 25 sec.

CAMPAIGN IN HUDSON.

State Committee Decides to Assign a Speaker There in Spite of Robert Davis.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, August 22—The Democratic State committee has decided to carry war into the enemy's country. Hudson county Democrats have declared their intention of ignoring the State committee to show their indignation at the action of the committee in issuing a call for the State convention for the date of the Davis Association's outing. It has been declared positively that no delegate from Hudson county will attend the convention, and that the Hudson county Democratic orators will not take assignments from the State headquarters in the Hotel Washington.

The State committee has retaliated by arranging for opening the campaign in this county independent of the county committee.

A meeting has been arranged for Thursday night. It will be an open-air meeting, and will be held at the triangle at Newark and Jersey avenues. H. B. Weaver, a speaker in the employ of the National Democratic committee, has been assigned. He will show 150 stereopticon views labelled, "Exhibits on Imperialism, Trusts, the Boer War and Miscellaneous Subjects."

VIOLATING EXCISE LAW.

Trouble in Store for Those in Westfield Who Do a Bottling Traffic Illegally.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 22—There is trouble ahead for the hotelkeepers, who, it is claimed, are doing a bottling business on a retail dealer's license, which is for the sale of liquors in quantities less than one quart. For those who do a bottling business a wholesale dealer's license is required. Evidence has been quietly accumulated against the bottlers, and also a half-dozen of "speak easies," whose proprietors have been warned, but without avail.

The evidence against the violators of the excise law has been before the public prosecutor, who, it is said, will take action in the matter, which may result in temporarily closing some hotels and the extinction of the "speak easies," which, it is said, cannot afford to pay the license fee. As there is some danger that Westfield will be "dry" for a short period, the knowing ones have quietly tipped off their friends, who have provided against a drought by filling jugs and other receptacles sufficiently to tide them over, that they may not suffer from an unquenchable thirst.

The reform, it is expected, will net the town treasury the neat sum of $700, and the action of the authorities is expected to create consternation in the camp of the bonifaces.

HUBER IN TROUBLE.

Changed His Beer Dealer and Various Suits in District and Supreme Courts Followed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, August 22.—M. A. Huber, proprietor of the Garwood Hotel, at Garwood, has been having troublesome times. When he started in business, he purchased his beer of George Weidenmayer, of Newark. He also received his equipment of fixtures from the same dealer. Huber's indebtedness was secured by several mortgages on his property and the fixtures.

Some time ago he changed from Weidenmayer's beer to that furnished by that of the Eagle Brewing Company, of Newark. He instructed the former to remove his fixtures and had the promise of a new equipment from the Eagle Company. He also expected the latter company to settle the indebtedness. The matter was neglected during the absence of the manager and Weidenmayer started suit in both district and Supreme Courts and foreclosed one of the mortgages. Huber notified the Eagle Brewing Company but the manager was away and judgment was given by default.

After the foreclosure of the mortgage last Saturday night Huber retained Wm. Newcorn, of Plainfield, as his attorney. Lawyer Newcorn has given notice that he will apply to have the judgment of the District Court set aside. A hearing has been set for tomorrow. A similar application will soon be made in the Supreme Court.

A hasty inventory showed that about $3 belonging to Mrs. Hope was all that was taken.

SEASON'S BOOKINGS AT THE MUSIC HALL

Excellent List of Attractions Which Will be Given in Plainfield This Fall and Winter.

SEASON IS NOW OPEN.

SEVERAL OF THE BIG METROPOLITAN SUCCESSES WILL BE HERE.

"Way Down East" and Jim Jeffries are Coming Next Month—"The Christian" in December and Denman Thompson in February.

Maze Edwards is a happy man. He has regained his health and strength and the Stillman Music Hall, of which he is lessee and manager, was successfully opened for the season Tuesday evening. Furthermore, Manager Edwards has progressed unusually far for so early in the season in booking his attractions for the fall and winter. He has on his list some of the strongest plays now on the road and promises to theatre-going people of Plainfield even a better season than last year.

One of the chief difficulties which confronts Manager Edward and also faced his predecessors, is the impossibility of securing the greatest theatrical stars for one-night stands. Plainfield's nearness to New York has enabled the people of this city to hear and see the best there and they have no desire for second-class performances. Manager Edwards' plan is to cater to that taste, and to that end he has made every effort to book only the best obtainable.

There are three performances booked for this week. Friday night Gus Sun's Minstrels comes here. They have a good show. Next week "A Trip to Chinatown," with new songs and specialities, and "A Rabbit's Foot," a musical comedy by a colored troupe, will be the attractions.

A number of good things are booked for September. Chief among them is "Way Down East," one of William A. Brady's strongest road companies. James Jeffries, the champion pugilist, will appear here in new drama prepared expressly for him and he is bound to be a big attraction. Then there is "The Man-o-war's Man" a naval melodrama. "A Span of Life," one of those effective melodramas, will be produced here again. The Rays in a "A Hot Old Time," who had a good run at the New York Theatre will be here too.

The Boyer brothers in their musical comedy, "Next Door," on the style of "Eight Bells," in which they formerly played, are clever entertainers to be here during September. A rural play, entited "Lawyer Steel From Bangor," is booked for the same month. The Sat Vaudeville Alliance, Jos. J. Dowling, Charles J. Stein, Myra L. Davis and Olive Evans is coming. The English actor, William Hawley, is going to appear in "A Tale of Two Cities," which greatly resembles Henry Miller's "Only Way." Walter Perkins who created the character, "My Friend From India," has something new in "The Man From Mexico" which is said to be equally as good.

During October, the bookings include Bonnie Gilmore in "Kidnapped in New York," "Uncle Sam in the Orient," a melo-drama formed on incidents in the war wtth China, Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, a Southern drama entitled "Human Hearts," by Hal Reid, author of "Knobs o' Tennessee," "Women and Wine," the great success at the Manhattan Theatre in New York last winter, Marion Manola in "Friend Fritz."

Quite a number of attractions are already booked for November. They include the well known "Hogan's Alley"; the late Fanny Davenport's great play, "Fedora," by Sardou; the Broadhurst Brothers in "What Happened to Jones"; a thrilling melodrama entitled "The Bowery After Dark"; Nellie McHenry and Frank Losse in "M'liss," given under the direction of Jacob Litt, of the Broadway Theatre, New York; Amy Stone's Little Tots, a company of children who will produce "Uncle Tom's Cabin"; "King of the Opium Ring," one of the Star Theatre melodramas. The Thanksgiving Day attraction will be "Uncle Josh Spruceby."

December is going to be an important month. During the week beginning December 10th. "The Christian" and "The Village Postmaster" will both be produced by New York companies. Of course, Miss Allen will not appear, but a strong cast is promised for her great success. The New York cast will give "The Village Postmaster." During that month there will also be the

JOHN SCOTT ARRESTED.

WANTED IN ATLANTIC CITY ON CHARGE OF STEALING DIAMONDS.

But the Atlantic City Authorities Decided They Couldn't Act and Scott Was Set Free Again.

John Scott, a colored man living in the borough, was taken into custody Saturday evening by Chief Campbell, of the borough, at the request of Chief Kiely, of the Plainfield police force. Sunday night the prisoner was allowed to depart.

A year ago a letter was received from the chief of police at Atlantic City asking the police to appehend a colored man named John Scott, who was wanted there for stealing $300 worth of diamonds. The police of Atlantic City had chased him into the swamps and lost him there. They expected he would make his way homeward. The diamonds belonged to Miss Katie McCamm, of Philadelphia.

Scott did not show up in this part of the country until Saturday. He was then promptly arrested by Chief Campbell. Three telegrams and a telephone message failed to bring any answer from the Atlantic City authorities and so Scott was released. A telegram and a letter arrived Monday said that the young woman had left Atlantic City and that they had no evidence to hold Scott.

Chief Kiely received a letter last evening from Miss McCamm in which she thanked him for his kindness in the matter and heavily scored the Atlantic City authorities for their negligence in allowing the matter to drop after Scott had been captured.

TREES WILL STAND.

Councilman Dumont Successful in His Efforts to Induce the Central to Preserve Them.

The people of this city will be pleased to learn that through the efforts of John B Dumont, president of the Common Council, the Jersey Central Railroad Company has decided not to cut down any of the handsome trees on the Fourth street side of their property in making the improvements now under way. It was the intention of the company to remove several large shade trees so as to make the necessary room for driveways and walks to the new station.

Mr. Dumont was at once impressed with the fact that it would be a great shame to remove these trees, and he put himself in communication with the officials of the company. He explained the facts to them, and the company instructed the superintendent having in charge the work to investigate and see what could be done. This was done and it was found that the necessary drives and walks could be laid out without removing the trees and the company very gladly decided to allow the trees to remain where they are.

WEDDED AT ST. JOSEPH'S.

Nuptials of Miss Alice Gertrude Kennedy and Heim Paul Greenwood Celebrated Yesterday Afternoon.

The marriage of Alice Gertrude Kennedy, of Harrrison street, to Heim Paul Greenwood, of Park avenue, was celebrated in St. Joseph's R.C. church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. W. H. Miller performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large number of friends of the couple. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Kennedy and the best man was W. W. St. John.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood left for Ocean Grove where they will spend a week. On their return they will take up their residence in a flat in the Eggerding building, which the groom has already furnished.

The groom is a valued employe of the drygoods house of Woodhull & Martin.

A Lively Old Pair.

Constable Peter V. Weaver has received a letter from H. L Moore, of this city, who has been at Norwich, Ontario, Can., for some time past. The letter gives an interesting account of a party in honor of his brother's eighty-fourth birthday at which the latter, in spite of his years, danced a lively jig in company with another relative 98 years old. Mr. Moore states that he will start for Plainfield about the middle of October.

Colored People Go to Florida Grove.

Fully 200 colored people left Plainfield this morning in seven stages and numerous carriages, bicycles and other conveyances for Florida Grove, where they will spend the day. This is colored people's salt water day at the grove and is considered by them the greatest event of the summer season. Thousands gather at this resort from all over the State. Those who left by stage from this city will leave the grove at 8:30 this evening.

THROUGH ROAD PLANNED

SHORTER ROUTE FROM NEW BRUNSWICK TO TRENTON BEING BUILT.

New Macadam Road Follows the Line of the Old Cranbury Turnpike—Line Connects the two Great Cities.

The march of the "good roads" movement steadily continues. While this part of the State has long been famous for its fine thoroughfares, built under county auspices, the various systems throughout the State have been disconnected. There was considerable opposition on the part of the farmers who did not at first appreciate the true value of good roads. In Middlesex, Monmouth and Mercer counties this opposition has disappeared and is now replaced by a strong feeling in favor of good roads.

Under the recent law passed by the New Jersey Legislature the State has general supervision over the various county road systems and gives financial aid for the building of new ones. This has led to the building of the links of roadway connecting the systems of good roads which have been in existence for a number of years. One of the most important of these, which is now being built, is the new macadam road from New Brunswick to Trenton, uniting the State capital with New York and vicinity and ultimately connecting Philadelphia with the big city on the Hudson river.

This new road, now being built, follows the line of the old Cranbury turnpike, used a century ago in the days of the old stage coach lines. It goes from New Brunswick to Cranbury and thence on to Trenton by the way of Hightstown. It does not pass through Princeton but forms a more direct line than the old road, used so much by wheelmen, which went to Princeton and thence to Trenton.

The farmers have haled the building of the new road with joy. Summer fruits and garden truck are raised extensively all through that section and the good roads have, where they have been built, demonstrated a great saving in getting the products to market. Many farmers have to drive miles to the nearest railroad station and they have discovered that time and labor are greatly reduced when a smooth macadam road is to be followed instead of one of the old-style country roads, dusty and full of ruts.

Carriage dealers have also noticed a decided increase in business in sections where these new roads have been built. When good roads make driving a pleasure the people feel a desire for proper vehicles. Of course the wheelmen rejoice at the advent of good roads and the people of that section have discovered that the man awheel is not such a villian as he was first painted in their imagination.

Wheelmen who have had occasion to ride through that section report that they have been very kindly treated by the farmers and say that the orchards and crops are larger than ever this season.

Kept His Promise.

Great Sachem William Newcorn went to Passaic last evening and visited the Passaic tribe of that place. It was not long ago that the Great Sachem visited that very tribe and this call was the result of a promise made at that time. He remarked on the occasion of his first visitation that he would come again when they had ten pale faces to be adopted the same night. A few days ago Mr. Newcorn received a letter stating that there were ten candidates to be adopted at the meeting last night. So he cancelled another engagement and went to Passaic last night according to his promise.

Cranberries Ruined.

Fire, water and insects never caused such damage to cranberry bogs as the storm which passed over the southern portion of the country Saturday afternoon. While returns are slow coming in, it has been learned that the entire crops on many bogs have been totally ruined. Hail fell in some places to a depth of ten inches, which cut berries from the vines and bruised them, and no effort will be made to gather them.

Makes Good Waterway.

The block stone used for the gutters in Park avenue are being covered with a special preparation of asphaltum and then covered with a fine top dressing of stone. This makes a substantial waterway and will be a means of carrying surface water off more readily.

To be Sold at Auction.

The Rushmore property corner of East Fourth street and Watchung avenue will be sold some time next month at public auction by Receiver Edward White who is settling up the affairs under bankruptcy proceedings.

Mrs. J. Block, of New street, has been called to Yonkers, N. Y., on account of the death of her sister.

LONG PAST CENTURY MARK.

Two Persons Living in Middlesex County Whose Combined Ages Are 232 Years.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Aug. 23—Living within the confines of Middlesex county are two persons whose combined ages aggregate 232 years. When they were reported to Chas. S. Tunis, Supervisor of the Census of the Fourth District, he thought a blunder had been made. He made a personal investigation of each case and was convinced of the correctness of the schedules of the enumerators.

The two persons who have attained such a great age are Mrs. Hannah Bartow, of Catherine street, this city, who is 104, and Noah Baby, an inmate of the poor farm at Piscataway, who is 128 years of age

Mrs. Hannah Bartow, New Brunswick's oldest inhabitant, has an interesting history. She is the daughter of Barney Hortwick, who was sexton of Christ church from 1769 to 1820. She worked at the old Bellonia Hotel in Burnet street, kept by Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, where he made the money with which he founded a line of freight boats between New York and New Brunswick. Unlike most centenarians, Mrs. Bartow says she never saw George Washington. However, she remembers distinctly the reception which was given to Gen. Lafayette upon the occasion of his second visit to this country.

JUSTICE TIED THE KNOT.

John Handberry and Mary Faelake Made Husband and Wife by Mr. Mosher.

A ring at the door bell aroused Justice Mosher from a reverie last evening and on going to the door of his home, on East Fourth street, he found a young couple who had sought him out for the purpose of marrying them. The Justice was equal to the occasion and putting on all his dignity, administered the marriage vows to John Handberry and Miss Mary Faelake, both of this city. Every detail of the ceremony was gone through with, including a rig.

It was the intention of the contracting parties to have the marriage performed in secret, but it had leaked out somehow and before the knot was tied about twenty of their friends, who had been lying in wait, stationed themselves at the doors and windows to view the proceedings. At their conclusion Mr. and Mrs. Handberry were heartily congratulated.

They will leave for a short wedding trip and will afterward take up their residence in this city.

BAND CONCERT.

Programme to Be Given on North Avenue Tomorrow Night.

LaVere's Band will give another open-air concert in front of the Hotel Kensington on North avenue tomorrow night. Benjamin LaVere, leader, says that there will be no collection taken up from among the crowd to help defray the expenses of the concert. Several people urged him to do this, but he has decided that it would not be good policy. The programme for the concert tomorrow night is as follows:

PART I.

March—Under the Double Eagle.....Wagner
Selection—Torquato Tasso.....Donizetti
Medley Waltz—
While the Parson Preached the Word. Carl Engel
Selection—The Night Alarm.....Reeves
(by request.)
Galoy—The Belle of Ireland.....DeVille
INTERMISSION.
PART II.
March—A Warm Reception.....Anthony
Medley Overture—Out for a Lark.....DeWitt
Intermezzo—Sinfonico.....Mascagni
(Cavalleria Rusticana.)
Mazurka—Amorosa.....Navarro
March—The Vanguard.....Heed

Messrs. Hibbard and Jones, the new proprietors of McVey's Hotel, have contributed $60 to the band concert fund, and have signified their willingness to assist Leader LaVere in any way possible for the remaining six concerts.

This leaves but $40 of the original amount asked for. Anyone wishing to contribute can do so, but the concerts are now positively assured whether it is received or not.

Disposed of a Big Watermelon.

A merry party of about twelve friends gathered at the home of Wm. Hartpence, of North avenue, last evening, to assist him in disposing of a monstrous watermelon. The melon proved to be a secondary matter, however, as the evening was given up to having a social time. Vocal and instrumental selections were the features, at the conclusion of which the melon was cut and more fun followed during its disposal.

—The great success with which Numan Brothers' special sale of peaches has met has induced them to continue it. They have 200 baskets of the finest Jerseys now on sale.

NO HEARING WAS HELD.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST MARY VILCOVI ON CHARGE OF PERJURY COLLAPSED.

She Appeared at Justice Sedam's Office on Time, But She Was the Only One on Hand.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Aug. 23.—There wasn't any ending at all to the proceedings against Mary Vilcovi in Justice Sedam's court Tuesday morning. The Judge's little son was ill and His Honor was not interested in the future of the case. The complainants were not on hand and the affair apparently collapsed as there was no adjournment or anything else of a formal nature. After Mary Vilcovi got tired waiting she went home to Plainfield.

She figured, it will be remembered, as the alleged victim of a young Polander who made love to her and then fled with all her cash to the amount of $404. Watislorf Vinnepsky was charged with the theft and arrested and held on the charge. Mary Vilcovi was, in turn, arrested on the complaint of Vinnepsky's wife who charged her with perjury. The specific offence alleged was in making false charges against Vinnepsky. She was held by Justice Sedam for examination Tuesday morning. She was on hand but the Justice and the prosecution were otherwise engaged.

TROLLEY SHOULD WAIT.

Cars at the Watchung Avenue Switch Should be Held When Central Train is Coming Into Station.

It is understood that Superintendent Adelmann, of the Street Railway Company, has given orders to have the cars at the Watchung avenue switch held for a few seconds when a train is seen coming into the North Avenue station late at night, but it is a fact that this rule is not always observed. The other evening the writer arrived in Plainfield on a late train. Just as the train came to a stop the trolley cars were given the signal to depart. The result was that a number of passengers on the Central train, who wanted to use the trolley, were compelled to wait twelve minutes or get home in some other way. By holding the trolley cars thirty seconds would have enabled the people to have avoided being left. The superintendent should see to it that his rule about waiting under these circumstances should be observed.

Want to Become Citizens.

There are some eighty men in Plainfield, natives of various countries, who are anxious to become citizens of the United States in time to vote at the coming National election. Plainfield sent a big batch of men to be made into citizens last year, and it was a matter for considerable amusement among the county officials. The special arrangements which have been made with County Clerk Howard and Judge Vail for night sessions for the benefit of these men were made largely at the desire of the Plainfielders who did not want to lose their time from their work and yet wanted to apply for naturalization papers.

Meat Knife Cut Deep Gash.

Frank Vanderhoof, of West Front street, had a deep gash cut in his hand yesterday morning with a meat knife. He was carrying a shoulder of beef out of the refrigerator at Endress' market and had the knife in his hand at the time. He accidentally struck against the side of the entrance, and the knife inflicted a deep wound which was afterwards dressed by a physician.

Crop Reports.

The following is John Naegle's crop report for Plainfield for the past week: "Plowing is progressing; crops looking fair, but the draught has hurt corn—about two-thirds of a crop is indicated; peaches are coming slowly; potatoes a fair yield; rainfall, 0.93, inch."

Thrown From His Bicycle.

David Wolfe, a young lad living on Somerset street, was thrown from his bicycle this morning and sustained several injuries and a laceration about the back. Dr. Pittis, who lives nearby, was called and made the boy comfortable.

Led the Camp Meeting.

L. W. Randolph, superintendent of the Sunday-school of the East Third street chapel, led the meeting at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp last evening. The meeting was well patronized and there were a number of Plainfielders present.

Contret Case.

Justice D. D. Smalley has issued summons in the case of William Howe against Charles Willis, on contract, for $50. The case is returnable on the 30th. Murphy & Blatz, of this city, represent the plaintiff.

TO HEAR THE OBJECTORS

MORE DELAY IN THE PROPOSED WIDENING OF WESTFIELD AVENUE.

Judge Swazee Appoints a Commissioner to Take Evidence to Decide Fate of Commissioners' Report.

Judge Swazee, of the Essex county circuit court, sat at request of Justice VanSyckel in a special session of the court of Union county yesterday to act upon the report of the commissioners on the awards of damages and benefits assessed on property to be taken for the proposed widening of Westfield avenue, from Orchard street in Elizabeth to Cranford.

The awards aggregate about $75,000, and it had been generally believed that there would be little or no objection to the confirmation of the report. There was some surprise yesterday when there appeared a large number of the land owners with their counsel, and it was found that objections had been filed to the number of about 20.

County Attorney Codington, as counsel for the commissioners and the county, and Frank Bergen, in behalf of Senator Kean, were present to argue for the confirmation of the report. Land owners who had grievances were represented by Richard V. Lindabury, ex Judge P. Hamilton Gilhooly, Robert Davidson, C. Addison Swift, J. A. Kiernan, Joseph Hague, Theodore C. English, Surrogate George T. Parrot and other lawyers, some from out of the county.

Judge Swazee decided not to confirm the report, but to refer it to Court Stenographer Knight as a commissioner of the court to hear the testimony in behalf of the objectors, and made an order to hear final argument Wednesday, Sept. 5th.

DEATH OF REV. A. P. PEEKE.

Was Pastor of Millstone Church and Died on Way Coming Home From a Sanitarium.

A great many persons in this city will learn with deep sorrow and regret of the sudden death of Rev. A. Paige Peeke, who for some time past was the pastor of the Reformed church at East Millstone, Somerset county. Mr. Peeke died Monday last while in company with his wife he was returning home from Clifton Springs, N. Y., where he had been for his health. He was taken suddenly ill on the train and died soon afterward.

Mr. Peeke was well-known in this city and vicinity, and he frequently visited here. As a pastor and preacher he was highly esteemed, and he possessed many sterling qualities that endeared him to a large circle of friends. Many years ago he lived at Centreville, Mich., and his remains have been taken to that place, where he leaves a married daughter. Besides this daughter and a wife, he also leaves two sons, Rev. H. A. Peeke, who recently returned with his family to Japan, where he is a missionary, and Rev. Louis Provost Peeke, who was graduated last spring from McCormick Theological Seminary, and who now has a charge in Fon du lac, Wis. Mr. Peeke, as well as his sons, were graduated from Rutgers College.

BOTH MATCHES COUNT

Green Committee Decides That Thiers' Two Victories for Green Committee Trophy Will Stand.

The green committee of the Park Golf Club announced yesterday afternoon that both the matches played for the green committee challenge trophy last Saturday will count. At that time, W. J. R. Thiers, holder, defeated both Edgar I. Serrell and William A. Townsend. It was Townsend's turn but he did not arrive in town until that afternoon and Thiers had already started to play Serrell under the impression that Townsend was going to default the match. He afterwards played the match with Townsend. The green committee has decided to allow both matches to count, the one with Serrell taking the place of the one which should be played Saturday of this week. There will be no play for that trophy this week in consequence. The standing for the trophy is therefore as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	6
Morgan T. Townsend	4
Gustavus W. Faber	2
Fred P. Taylor	1
W. de la R. Anderson	1

The First and Last.

SENATOR KEAN WILL SELL OUT TO RIKERS.

Arrangements for Big Trolley Deal are Completed and Will be Carried Out Soon.

EXTENSION OF THE ROAD.

GREEN LINE STOCK HELD IN TRUST FOR THE RIKERS.

Final Transfer Will be Made in December—In Meantime Senator Kean Expects to Extend His Road to Cranford.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 23—There have been many reports as to the consolidation of the trolley lines of Senator Kean and the lines represented by the Riker Hine syndicate, but the firs authentic statement was made yesterby one interested.

The stock of the Elizabeth Street Railroad Company, which is commonly termed the Green Line, extending from Front street to Broad street, is held in trust under an agreement to be turned over to a syndicate comprising Chandler W. Riker, E. W. Hine, U. A. McCarter and other Newark capitalists, who are the owners of the Elizabeth and Plainfield line. The same syndicate has also an option on the Elizabeth City Horse Railroad, Senator Kean's company, which has its routes on Morris avenue, Orchard street and Westfield avenue.

The final transfer of the stocks will be made in September. In the meantime Senator Kean is operating the Morris avenue line, and it is his purpose to extend the road to the Cranford township line, in accordance with his agreement with the Board of Freeholders, and which contemplates the widening of Westfield avenue to a boulevard of 100 feet wide. Senator Kean abandons his project of going to Plainfield with his trolley line because of the objections of the property owners beyond Cranford.

The Green Line, between Broad street and the Staten Island ferry, is now being operated by Mr. Kean and his associates for the Riker-Hine syndicate.

The new company intends to make extensions of the road. The Morris avenue line will be extended to Springfield and into Morris county. It is also the purpose of Mr. Riker and his associates build a more direct or shorter connection with Rahway. One project is to run through Roselle and Linden, making a turn for Rahway in the vicinity of Wheatsheaf.

There is also under contemplation a belt line from Staten Island ferry over the present Green Line route, through Broad street, West Jersey street, Bayway under the Central Railroad to Westfield avenue, through Orchard street and Morris avenue and to East Grand street.

It is also proposed to make a connection at Broad and East Grand streets, so that the cars can run direct from Plainfield to the Staten Island ferry, at Front street, this city, and to do away with the present system of transfer.

FUN ON A STRAW RIDE.

Jolly Crowd From "Sunset Cottage" Paid a Visit to Miss Della Voehl Last Night.

'Mid jingling bells, a jolly party of people, chaperoned by Dr. Wise, of New York, enjoyed a straw ride to this city last evening. Their destination was the home of Miss Della Voehl, of 65 Somerset street, where the evening was delightfully spent in dancing. Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra furnished the music. A feature of the occasion was the piano playing by Miss Steltman, of Jersey City. Her solos received hearty applause. After dancing for several hours, refreshments were served, and it was in the very early hours of the morning that the sleigh bells were again heard as the happy crowd departed for "Sunset Cottage."

Among those present were: Dr. Epward Wise, Harry Wise, New York; John W. Voehl, Bayonne City; George Jennings, John Thoms, Arthur Austin, Warrenville; Elwood Sebring, Edwin H. Sebring, John H. Carney, Plainfield; Miss Anna Wise, Miss Edith Wise, Mt. Horeb; Miss Libbie Steltman, Jersey City; Miss Agnes Tingley, Miss Ada VanHorn, Miss Addie Carney, Miss Delia Voehl and Miss Tina Voehl, of "Sunset Cottage."

Hand Caught in Machinery.

Joseph Hawkins, of LaGrande avenue, had his hand caught in the machinery at the Scott Press Works yesterday afternoon, and a gash two inches long cut in the back of his hand was the result. The wound was sewed up by a physician.

THE IRON OUTPUT.

Immense Production of a Year In the United States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The production of iron ore in the United States for the year 1899, according to the annual report of the United States geological survey which has just been compiled by Mr. John Birkinbine, amounted to 24,683,173 long tons, an increase of 5,249,997 tons, or 27 per cent, over 1898. The records for 1898 and 1899 represent the largest output of iron ore mined in any country in one year, the nearest approach being a total of 18,062,040 tons mined in 1880 in England. Twenty-four states contributed to this total, Michigan leading, with 9,146,157 tons, and Minnesota taking second place, with 8,161,289 tons. Alabama occupied third place, with 1,009,327 tons.

The iron ores have been subdivided into red hematites, brown hematites, magnetite and carbonate. The red hematite continues to be the most prominent of the classes of iron ore, contributing 20,004,299 long tons, or 81 per cent of the total for 1899. Of the brown hematites 2,869,785 long tons were mined, or 11.63 per cent of the total production, while the magnetite output amounted to 1,727,430 tons and that of the carbonate variety to 81,559 tons. There was a very general increase during the year in the amount of all the different classes of iron ore, due to active demand upon local mines to supplement ore obtained from the large producers. Many iron ore deposits which had not been worked for years resumed operations in 1899, and the official reports indicate a belief that the general improvement in this industry probably will still further encourage the working of deposits which during the business depression were inactive.

The Lake Superior region increased its former maximum of output of 13,779,308 tons in 1898 to 17,802,955 tons in 1899. The amount mined from the several ranges during the latter year were as follows: Marquette, 3,634,596; Menominee, 3,281,421; Gogebic, 2,725,648; Vermilion, 1,643,984; Mesaba, 6,517,305 tons. With the exception of Gogebic all of the ranges mined their maximum product in 1899.

Mr. Bryan's Busy Day.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Aug. 23.—Yesterday was a busy one for Mr. Bryan. It was after 3 a. m. when he reached Auburn, his first stopping place after leaving Lincoln. At 8 o'clock he made an hour's address there. At Tecumseh, the next stopping place, he spoke briefly and after a hasty dinner started upon a 21 mile drive across country to Pawnee. At Pawnee, as at Auburn and Tecumseh, there was a good attendance, as there was also at the night meeting held at this point. The day's meetings were 11, held in the groves of the courthouses of the counties and were all in the First congressional district, Mr. Bryan's old district. At the Tecumseh meeting the most interesting incident was a colloquy between Mr. Bryan and a gentleman in the audience, evidently a Republican, who propounded several questions to the speaker.

The Census Progressing.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The census bureau is making rapid progress in the counting and tabulation of the returns from the 52,600 enumerators who took the population of the country. The count of each enumerator is comprised in a single portfolio, and out of 52,600 all but 600 are in. The returns from 18,000 enumeration districts have been counted by cards, and the population of 14,000 of these districts has been tabulated in detail. Of the army of enumerators over 40,000 have had their accounts paid and closed. Nine hundred and forty-two cards, representing 942,681 people, were counted at the bureau Tuesday, and by Sept. 1 it is expected that over 1,000,000 people will be counted daily.

Farmers Organize Shotgun Brigade.

NYACK, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The farmers of Valley Cottage, three miles north of here, are in a state of excitement over the numerous robberies which have recently been committed on their farms by thieves who come up on trains on the West Shore road. These thieves carry large sacks with them and arrive after dark, when they go to the potato fields and fruit orchards in the vicinity, fill their sacks and steal passage down on freight trains late at night or early in the morning. Hundreds of dollars' worth of vegetables and fruits have been thus stolen this season, and the farmers are organizing a shotgun brigade.

Flier's Engineer Killed.

FITCHBURG, Mass., Aug. 23.—The Montreal flier on the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine railroad ran into three cars of a working train between State Line and Fitzwilliams, N. H. The engine of the flier was derailed. The engineer, Frank Hughes, of this city was fatally injured, dying last evening at Jene, while the passengers were more or less shaken up, and the track was blocked for five hours.

Horses and Stables Burned.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23.—A fire destroyed ten small stables on the Pimlico race track and at one time threatened the handsome and historical grand stand. Six valuable horses were burned, two of which were hunters belonging to Mr. R. Parr of this city.

A SHARP REPLY TO LI

Peace Negotiations Now Impossible.

CHAOTIC CONDITIONS, CONGER SAYS.

No Representatives of Chinese Government Visible In Peking—City Occupied by Allies—Remey Says Americans Were First In City.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—After a long conference at the White House yesterday the reply of the United States to the application of Li Hung Chang for the appointment of peace commissioners was completed and a copy of the reply sent to the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu, to be forwarded to Earl Li. The state department made definite announcement that the reply had been conveyed to Mr. Wu, but added to its official utterance that the correspondence would not be made public until today. A copy of the reply was sent to the other governments represented in China.

The American reply is chiefly characterized by its firm tone and its brevity. Its keynote is the president's attitude as laid down in the American note of July 3, and there is the strictest adherence to the points enunciated at that time. While the document is open to the construction of being a rejection of Li Hung Chang's proposition for immediate negotiation, yet it is stated by those who have read the answer with care and have had a part in its preparation that rejection is probably too strong a term to apply to it.

The United States places itself in the position of being ready at the proper time to take up peace negotiations, but in the present unsettled condition of affairs in the empire, the lack of knowledge as to who are the responsible rulers and what constitutes the actual Chinese government, it is made clear that the time has not arrived for pursuing the negotiation proposed. The formal courtesy of diplomatic procedure is preserved, but at the same time the entire tenor of the document is one of force and firmness.

The government of the United States takes the position that negotiations are impossible with a government which cannot prevent hostilities against the forces of the powers which were sent to the Chinese capital to save their envoys. As long as attacks are made on the troops of this and other governments such as have followed the occupation of Peking and the attacks in the vicinity of Tientsin it is deemed that the Chinese government is either unwilling or unable to prevent these hostilities, and for this reason negotiations must be deferred. It is stated, however, that the reply is a step in the direction of opening negotiations.

No question is raised as to the authority of Li Hung Chang to represent his government, but it is said that his credentials, like those of all others who come together for the purpose of negotiating terms of peace, will be examined by the respective representatives and the validity of the papers of each representative determined by that body. The United States, however, in communicating with Minister Wu recognizes him as the official representative of the Chinese government.

The most important development of the day as to the actual conditions in Peking came late in the afternoon, when the state department made public a dispatch from Minister Conger, dated at Peking only three days ago. It was given out with the following statement:

The state department authorizes the announcement of the receipt at an early hour this (Wednesday) morning through the consul at Chefu of a telegram from Mr. Conger, dated Peking, Aug. 19, in the department cipher to the following effect:

"The entire city, with the exception of the imperial palace, is occupied by Japanese, Russians, British, Americans and French. It is being apportioned into districts for police supervision. The Chinese army fled. The imperial family and the court have gone westward, probably to Sian-fu, in the province of Shensi. No representatives of the Chinese government are in sight in Peking, and the conditions are chaotic. The palace is expected to be taken immediately. Many missionaries have started for home, while others remain in charge of the Christian refugees, numbering about 1,000."

The military situation is of quite as much interest as the diplomatic. Admiral Remey reported, bringing the story of the Peking operations up to the 16th in Peking and confirming the press reports already printed of the death of the gallant Captain Reilly in the final assault on the outer walls of Peking. Almost as important as the Peking news is the statement that the Boxers are again concentrating around Tien-tsin and that last Sunday morning the Sixth cavalry, with about 400 English and Japanese troops, had a lively brush with the Boxers eight miles outside of Tien-tsin, where about 100 of the Chinese were killed and five Americans wounded. It was evident from Admiral Remey's account of this affair that, while the Chinese are in force enough around Tien-tsin to make considerable show, they are evidently not in the humor hotly to contest an engagement. The casualty list in this fight seems to indicate a sudden and total rout. The text of Admiral Remey's dispatch is as follows:

"Chefu, Aug. 21, Taku, 20th.—Dickens' command landing today.

"Peking, 16th.—All except imperial city cleared of Chinese troops.

"American troops first to enter imperial city; have penetrated to gates of palace.

"Captain Reilly, Fifth artillery, killed on 15th.

Morning, 19th.—Sixth cavalry and about 400 English and Japanese dispersed about 1,000 Boxers eight miles outside Tien-tsin. About 100 Chinese killed; 5 Americans wounded.

"Chaffee's losses, 6 killed, 30 wounded; two days' fighting."

The signal office contributes its quota to the news in the following dispatch from Major Scriven, chief signal officer of the expedition, dated Peking, Aug. 17:

"City occupied. All well."

The most important dispatch has not been made public by the war department. It came from General Chaffee and was dated the 18th and therefore was not a reply to the message of inquiry sent to General Chaffee by the war department on Monday night. Still, it answered a number of the inquiries contained in that message. It dealt entirely with military operations and conditions. While it cannot be said to have contained any bad news and recorded the brilliant successes of the American troops who have borne themselves so gallantly in the assault on Peking, it contained enough as to the unsettled conditions in China and the prospect of long and arduous work in restoring peace to form the subject for a consultation of some hours between the president and his advisers.

It was hoped in official circles that when General Chaffee should be heard from he would report that the work of the American expeditionary force had been accomplished by the rescue of the ministers and that the blow struck at the Boxer insurgents by the foreign column had dissipated those revolutionists and left China with hands free to make her peace with the civilized world. Instead of this, however, General Chaffee had to report an utterly chaotic condition of affairs and the capture of a capital whence all the heads of government had fled. There was nothing for the victors to do but to prevent anarchy by administering on this derelict of empire which had fallen into their hands. Therefore the prospect opened up by General Chaffee's dispatch is that the American contingent of necessity will be detained in China for some time to come, probably for the whole winter. This will necessitate the hurried completion of preparations that already have been begun comfortably to subsist our army through the severe winter weather which will soon close in on northern China.

The war department has made public the following message sent to General Chaffee by Secretary Root:

"The president joins me in congratulations to you and the officers and men of your command on the brilliant achievement in which the courage, fortitude and skill of the American forces in China have played so honorable a part. With mourning for your fallen comrades the whole country is proud and grateful for your great success."

The Japanese legation has received a telegram dated Aug. 21 from the foreign office at Tokyo giving the following dispatch from the Japanese acting consul general at Shanghai:

"A dispatch received here from a Chinese official at Paoting-fu says that by the empress dowager's orders Hsui Yung Yi, Li Shan and Lien Yuen were executed on the 11th, and Yung Lu, who was to have shared the same fate, is now in a jail of the judicial department and that the emperor and empress dowager left Peking on the 13th, escorted by Tung Fu Shiang troops, for Wu-taishan, via Chuchow and Tse-ching-kwan. Kang Ye, it is further stated, has been appointed commander in chief of the Wu-wei army, while Princes Tuan and Chawang and Tsong Chi, Kang Yi and Hsui Tung have been ordered to remain at Peking.

"Another telegram, dated the 16th, has been received here from Paoting-fu to the effect that, though the empress dowager has left Peking, the emperor has decided to remain behind."

AMERICANS AHEAD.

They Attacked Imperial Palace and Captured Four Courts.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—"Today 1,500 Americans attacked the imperial palace," says a dispatch to The Morning Post from Peking, dated Aug. 15, "and captured four of the courts. The American flag is flying over the imperial granary, and the imperial bank has been looted."

Describing events prior to the relief, The Morning Post's correspondent cables:

"On Aug. 12 the tsung-li-yamen requested a conference with a view to peace. No armistice was granted, however, and that night we endured the longest fusillade of the whole siege. It lasted 12 hours.

"On Aug. 13 the tsung-li-yamen begged to be excused from any conference, saying that the members were too busy. Later they wrote that they had forbidden firing on us and would court martial any who disobeyed. During the evening many shells fell in the legation compound."

The Daily Chronicle publishes an interview with the Japanese minister in London, Kato Takaaki, which represents him as having said:

"The empress is the heart and soul of China. So long as she lives, so long as she remains in China, whether the supreme power is taken from her or not, she will always be the greatest force, the one above all others to be reckoned with. The difficulty will be to get any one who can speak for her. I fear that the influence of Li Hung Chang is now of extremely little weight.

"The powers must come to a final understanding quickly. Riots, anarchy, bloodshed and misery throughout China will be the inevitable result of a policy that does not immediately disclose itself. The government must be re-established."

Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, according to The Daily Mail's correspondent, expresses the opinion that his labors in China will be of long duration, "as pacification will be a difficult undertaking."

Three hundred and seventy-five thousand Russian troops are already in the far east or on the way there by land and sea or under orders to embark. This statement is made by the Moscow correspondent of The Daily Graphic, who adds that mobilization is in progress all over European Russia and that there are now at Odessa 14 steamers chartered to take troops.

According to a St. Petersburg special, a telegram has been received at the Russian capital from Shanghai announcing the departure of Li Hung Chang for Peking.

American Policy Defended.

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The semiofficial Berliner Post in a long editorial defends the policy of the United States in China against suspicions cast upon it by certain German papers that go upon the theory that Washington is pursuing separate aims. After reciting the history of Secretary Hay's success in getting declarations from the powers in favor of the "open door" the Post says that this is calculated to remove all false interpretations of American policy.

Johnny Wilde's Long Trip.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—Johnny Wilde, 10 years old, has arrived at the Union station direct from Dawson City, Alaska, and left on a later train for Bridgeton, Mo., where he will spend the winter with relatives and attend school. He made the journey alone and unattended. He knew where he was going and was able to take care of himself. He left Dawson City with a party of returning miners, walking with them to the coast and carrying his provisions. He covered the entire distance without accident.

Custom House Officers In Havana Go Free.

NO EVIDENCE FOUND OF FRAUD.

Senor Varona, Refusing to Be a Candidate, Says Americans Have Earned the Eternal Gratitude of Cubans.

HAVANA, Aug. 23.—All the persons accused of complicity in the Havana custom house frauds were acquitted yesterday. The president of the court, consisting of three judges, has inserted in the decision a clause to the effect that he thinks four of the accused are guilty, and these may be taken before the supreme court.

The decision holds with regard to inaccurate appraisements that it is impossible to prove that goods have been wrongly appraised where the goods cannot be brought into court. It also asserts that there is no evidence that the accused intended fraud.

Senor Enrique Varona, secretary of education, was recently asked by the Republican party in Puerto Principe to be a candidate during the forthcoming elections of delegates to the constitutional convention. In his reply he says:

"Intervention came because it had to come sooner or later. Cuba would have been desolated by the Cubans and Spaniards if it had not been for the Americans, who by their intervention have earned the eternal gratitude of the Cubans and the right to be considered in determining the foreign relations of Cuba. It is useless for Cubans to refuse to admit this. Washington will have a voice in the foreign relations of Cuba. Those who say otherwise are poisoners of Cuban conscience.

"There are many who think as I do in this matter, but who do not have the courage of their opinions, but even if the Republican party accepted my views it could do nothing in an assembly consisting of persons resolved to see facts through the prism of passion and their own desires."

For these reasons Senor Varona declines to go to the convention.

Agricultural Interests Reviving.

GUANTANAMO, Cuba, Aug. 23.—There is a vigorous resumption of work upon the part of the agricultural industries in the province of Santiago de Cuba. The Santa Lucia plantation at La Veta has produced 41,000 bags of sugar this season, the United Fruit company at Banes is erecting a $1,500,000 sugar mill with a capacity of 1,100 bags daily, a large amount of English and American capital is being invested at Baracoa for the exportation of cocoanuts to the number of 1,500,000 monthly, the provincial cities are becoming self sustaining, and the military government is gradually withdrawing the municipal and direct financial assistance from the island's funds. Governor General Wood's progress through the island is a continuous reception of gratitude. He reached Santiago today.

Wisconsin Populists.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 23.—The Populist state convention met here yesterday, with about 50 delegates in attendance. The platform adopted maintains that the enactment of the People's party principles into law will bring about a state of government and society which, compared to the present crude and barbarous state, will appear to be paradise on earth. Trusts are denounced and Bryan is pledged undivided support. The national platform adopted at Sioux Falls is indorsed, and the following demands are made: Abolition of monopoly in money, transportation and land, direct legislation known as initiative and referendum and public control of public utilities, national, state and local. The issue of all money by government directly to the people through government banks is advocated. A primary election law is demanded; also the abolition of the arbitrary power assumed by judges in granting injunctions. A legal eight hour workday, municipal home rule, abolition of prison contract and child labor are also demanded.

All For Charity.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—The will of Michael Corr, who had for upward of half a century kept a small grocery store in this city and who died recently, leaving an estate valued at over $125,000, has just been probated. After providing for surviving relatives, the will directs that over $80,000 be distributed among 23 Catholic institutions and churches in and about this city in sums varying from $1,000 to $10,000. Archbishop Ryan and the Rev. J. Fitzmaurice of St. Michael's chuch are each given $10,000, the money to be used for charity as they may see fit. After the death of Corr's relatives the money left in trust for them will revert to charity.

Dawson Booming.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—"Dawson appears to be starting in on a new era of prosperity," says United States Consul McCook, at Dawson City, in a report to the state department. "Supplies are plentiful, and mining machinery in large quantities is coming into the city. Warehouses and wharfs are being built, a new steamship company has started to do business, a new postoffice is in course of erection, and estimates are now in for a new courthouse, a new gold commissioner's office and an executive building for the commissioner of the Yukon territory."

Dolliver For Senator.

DES MOINES, Aug. 23.—Governor Shaw last evening announced the appointment of Congressman J. P. Dolliver of Fort Dodge to be United States senator, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator John H. Gear. The appointment runs to March 4, 1901. The legislature does not meet in regular session until 1902, and Dolliver's appointment is likely to be renewed to run until his successor is named.

Many Duels In Italy.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "During the last few weeks duels have caused a perfect slaughter in Italy. As many as four duelists were killed in different towns last Saturday. During the last year 2,400 duels have been fought in Italy, and 480 deaths have resulted. Most of these combats were between army officers and based on the most trivial pretexts."

Weather Probabilities.

Generally fair; light southwesterly winds.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Never for one moment forget that your constant duty to yourself, to your business, to your family, is a constant watch on your kidneys. As the careful engineer watches each pulsation of his faithfully tended engine, so should you give the closest scrutiny to your kidneys, for are they not the great engines of human life? The kidneys filter the blood, all its impurities are left in the kidneys, to be, in turn, passed to the bladder and so find escape from the human system. Can you not readily see how with improperly working kidneys the blood scatters its poison, and before you know it you are in the clutch of Bright's Disease and death is upon you.

Hundreds of the sudden deaths you hear and read about are due to neglect of the signals nature gives, such as weak back and pains across the small of the back. If you ever have backache, don't hesitate, but seek the best and surest and quickest acting remedy at once

CLOSE TO DE WET.

Hamilton crossed the Crocodile and is marching northeast.

Paget and Baden-Powell, who are moving to Petersburg, were engaged Tuesday with commandoes which are assisting De Wet. The casualties were two killed and seven wounded.

Lieutenant Cordua Found Guilty.

PRETORIA, Aug. 23.—Colonel Godfrey, the judge, in summing up the case of Lieutenant Cordua, charged with being concerned in the plot to kidnap Lord Roberts, caused a sensation by declaring that a violation of parole was punishable with death. His speech, which dilated on the weakness and vagueness of the prisoner's defense, was listened to with profound interest by the audience, which was mostly composed of men of Dutch birth. A period of 45 minutes was occupied in considering the verdict. The prisoner was found guilty of all the counts in the indictment against him, but sentence was deferred until the findings of the court shall have been confirmed by Lord Roberts.

President Kruger's Views.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—President Kruger, according to a dispatch from Lourenco Marques to The Daily Express, has issued a proclamation counter to the latest proclamation issued by Lord Roberts. The Transvaal president says: "It will help you nothing to lay down your arms or to leave the commandoes. Every step homeward means a step nearer St. Helena."

ROCKEFELLER SUMMONED.

Nebraska's Attorney General Serves Papers on the Oil Magnate.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Journal and Advertiser says this morning:

"C. J. Smyth, attorney general of the state of Nebraska, who is now in this city, has summoned John D. Rockefeller to appear before him and give testimony regarding the Standard Oil trust. The attorney general said:

"'The state of Nebraska has an anti-trust law which prohibits foreign corporations which are trusts doing business there. It is my duty to enforce that law. Among the foreign corporations doing business in Nebraska are the Standard Oil company and the American School Furniture company. The latter has a capital of $10,000,000 and has absorbed some 24 leading furniture factories. Its general offices are here. I have just finished taking the testimony of President Boyd, and I believe the result will be suits in Nebraska that will drive the corporations out of the state.

"'In Chicago I summoned the general manager and the secretary of the Standard Oil company to appear and testify. They ignored the summons. Instead of having them subpoenaed I came on here to the concern's headquarters. I will not ask to have Mr. Rockefeller subpœnaed unless he follows the example of his Chicago subordinates and ignores the simple summons. A large number of other witnesses have volunteered their testimony. I hope to go back prepared to attack the Standard Oil trust successfully in the Nebraska courts.'"

OHIO LYNCHERS FAIL

Wild Mob In Akron Seeks a Negro's Life.

ATTACK ON JAIL CAUSES BLOODSHED

Prisoner Confessed to an Attempted Assault of a Six-year-old Girl. Taken Quietly Out of Town For Safety.

AKRON, O., Aug. 23.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning Officer John Duffy arrested a colored man, who during the day confessed to Prison Keeper Washer of having attempted to assault Christina, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Maas, industrious and respectable people, who live on Perkins Hill.

The colored man on Monday night offered to give the child a ride in his buggy. Christina accepted the invitation, and a few hours later she was found on the side of a road west of the city. The prisoner has given his name as Louis Peck. He is about 40 years old, married and recently moved here.

The story of his confession spread like wildfire through the city, and officers learned that an attempt would be made to lynch him. Peck was badly frightened. Officers had been searching for him since Monday night, and he was arrested at the Union depot as he stepped from a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train. In police court yesterday he pleaded guilty and was bound over to the common pleas court. His bail was placed at $5,000.

A large crowd gathered about the city prison last night at 7:30 o'clock and forced in the doors. The prison was soon packed with the mob, and the officers offered no resistance, as Peck earlier in the evening had been quietly taken away to Cleveland.

To satisfy the mob the officers suggested that a committee of six be appointed to search all the cells and go through every part of the building. This was done, and as the negro was not found a yell was made: "Now for the county jail! Give us the nigger, and we will deal with him!"

A mad rush followed for the jail, and soon the jail was in the hands of the mob.

After going through the private apartments of the jail the crowd started to batter down the big iron doors. Deputy Sheriff Stone stood in front of the prison doors and made a speech.

He informed the crowd that Peck could not be found in there, and he told the people in the mob to select a committee and he would allow the committee to search the jail from top to bottom. A committee was quickly selected, and the jail was searched, every cell being examined. Satisfied that the negro was not there, the mob then rushed across the street and forced open the doors of the county courthouse. The old courthouse was soon packed and all rooms searched except the rooms in the treasury department. A start was made to tear off the iron doors of the treasury department, but the mob decided not to tackle the job, and the thousands of men and boys then rushed back to the city prison, crying for the blood of Peck.

At 10 o'clock the mob began for the third time to attack the city prison. Some one in the crowd began shooting at the building. This was followed by several more shots. The officers in the building appeared at the windows and began to shoot over the heads of the people. A man with a shotgun then fired at the officers.

At 10:45 p. m. Prison Keeper John E. Walker came from the city building, and he was knocked down by a brick. He was badly injured about the head and had to receive medical attendance. It is known that two people were instantly killed, and another person is dying at the City hospital. Many more were wounded.

At 1 o'clock the mob suddenly assaulted the city building with rocks. The police began using their clubs and finally fired, the crowd returning the fire. Six were killed and a few badly hurt, many less seriously.

The following are dead: A young son of James McGowan, the little daughter of John Davidson, Fred Vorwick, Glen Wade, aged 80, and an unidentified man and an unidentified baby. None of the police was seriously hurt.

A race war is feared, and the military has been ordered out.

A Monument to Vance.

RALEIGH, Aug. 23.—The monument to Zebulon Vance was unveiled in the Capitol square yesterday. The procession formed shortly after noon in front of the Metropolitan hall and marched two squares to the capitol grounds. The number of visitors to the city was estimated at 5,000. The ceremony was opened by prayer by Rev. Dr. Eugene Daniel, D. D., of the Presbyterian church here, in an impressive invocation. Colonel Thomas Kenan of Raleigh, chief marshal, then introduced Hon. Richard Battle of Raleigh, the orator of the day. Mr. Battle spoke clearly and forcibly, and his address was a masterful summary of Vance's life. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Battle's oration Miss Espy Vance, granddaughter of the late senator, drew the cord, and the statue of the patriot was beheld by the vast crowd. A cheer rent the air.

Forced to Eat the Beans.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 23.—George Phalen, a guest at the Omaha hotel, ordered a dish of beans. When they were brought, he did not like them and told the waiter to take them away. A stranger who sat opposite drew a revolver and commanded Phalen to eat every bean or he would kill him. Phalen complied, while the stranger nervously fingered the trigger of his revolver. When Phalen had swallowed the last bean, the stranger arose and departed. The police were notified and are now hunting for the man with the gun.

A Well-Governed Town.

It has been a matter of much curiosity and comment in this vicinity that in Somerville, where politicians are born, thrive and grow three hundred and sixty-five days in the year in county and State affairs, there is a total absence of partisanship and political manipulation in the management of the affairs of the town. There is not another town in the State where politics figure to a less degree in the local administration than in Somerville. The local elections are absolutely devoid of political clashes, and are conducted on the principle of electing the best men to municipal offices irrespective of whether they be Democrats or Republicans. Partisans may fight one another all the year around—and they do, too—but when it comes time to choose town officials they are veritably a happy family.

"Trenton," the New York Herald's New Jersey correspondent, has noted this condition of affairs, and in today's paper has the following to say about it:

Somerville, in Somerset county, is probably the best and most economically governed town in New Jersey. Although it is a place of about 6,000 population it absolutely has no paid officials except its four policemen. These are under the direction of the chairman of the police committee, who performs his duty with strict fidelity and thoroughness and receives no pay. The town is governed by a board of seven commissioners, of whom former Speaker of the House James J. Bergen is president. This board is strictly non-partisan, divisions on political lines as to any matters of local government being quite unknown. The town has not a dollar of public debt, almost every street in it is handsomely macadamized, there is a good water supply, a complete system of sewers, electric lights, gas, trolleys and all other modern improvements, and the tax rate is $1.30. The commissioners are intelligent, capable, public-spirited citizens, who take pride in performing their duties in a way to commend the public approval—all the pay they ask or receive. All the taxes collected are expended for the public advantage; not a dollar is squandered in the way of "pap." There is no small army of political henchmen billeted upon the public in the guise of office-holders. There is probably not another town of equal size in the State so well and cheaply governed. The government of Somerville is an object lesson which all the cities and towns in New Jersey should study to advantage.

The way in which a gang of reckless characters gather along the banks of Tier's lake every Sunday on the borough side is a positive disgrace. Mingled among the motley assemblage is always a number of youth who are receiving an education in rowdyism that counteracts every good influence under which they come. The amusement of the "gang" consists of crap shooting, poker playing, smoking and chewing tobacco and generally conducting themselves in descoration of the day, the youngsters taking an active part in the whole disgraceful scene. For the good name of the borough and to the credit of themselves the police force of that municipality should take radical steps to break up the "gang."

Col. William Barbour, who sailed away to Europe just at the time when his name was first being boomed as a likely Gubernatorial candidate for the Republicans, came back from his trip yesterday. Col. Barbour is willing to serve his fellow citizens. He says that the nomination may not come his way, but adds that he would feel highly honored to receive it and would do everything in his power to be elected. Unless political indications are decidedly wrong we imagine that Col. Barbour will still be on the waiting list after the convention that nominates a chief executive to succeed Governor Voorhees.

There seems to be an implied agreement among persons engage in certain lines of business to avoid the appearance of competition, and thus escape the expense of advertising, says the Philadelphia Record. Being without experience, they do not know that the wresting of trade from rival establishments is not the only effect of the publication of business announcements. One of the results of advertising is to increase the total volume of trade. Most people have to be frequently reminded of their own needs and duties. The cost of judicious advertising is small compared with the profits.

Following close upon the announcement that Congressman J. Q. Dolliver is to open the campaign in Plainfield, September 13th, comes the news that last evening Governor Shaw, of Iowa, appointed him to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Gear. The wearing of the Senatorial toga will not make him deliver any better speech than if he continued as a plain Representative, but it will add to his prominence and therefore to his ability to attract a large audience.

Among the names being mentioned in connection with the Democratic Assembly nomination in Somerset county this fall is that of Peter Hall, of Neshanic. Mr. Hall has been a vigorous, thorough-going partisan in the upper part of Somerset county, but he says that his business interests are such that it would be impossible for him become a candidate.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The casual visitor to Elizabeth who goes by one of the trolley cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company is not apt to be particularly impressed by the activity and hustle of that city, owing to one significant fact, which he will notice if at all observant. The trolley cars enter Elizabeth by West Jersey street. That thoroughfare is, for the most part, paved with Belgian blocks, and in the interstices between the blocks of stone the grass has grown. There is no grass on the sides of the street where the traffic is, but close to and between the tracks quite a flourishing crop of grass has appeared, and it isn't exactly a desirable testimony for any city.

* * * * *

The fact that Plainfield actually has a copper and iron mine, although it happens to be in the middle of a stone quarry, has attracted many people to Smalley Brothers' quarry on the mountain just west of the Somerset street gap. It is reached by the road which turns to the west at the terminus of the trolley line and is followed for a short distance. Than a private road turns to the right and up the mountain. Quite a number of people have visited the quarry to see the reported vein of copper and iron. Some of their ideas as to what they expected to see have been delightfully vague. When they found that the reddish brown rock which juts out from between two layers of trap rock, was the valuable ore they came to see they went away disappointed. It didn't look a bit like copper, they said. You couldn't see the iorn either. For such a class of visitors, the crusher itself is decidedly more interesting. When it happens to be in operation, it is an exceedingly dusty place but it is quite interesting to watch the crushers chew up the large rocks. To those who have some knowledge of geology, the formation of the mountain, as exposed by the great gaping cut in its side, is worth attention.

It Will be a Costly Excavation.

Street Commissioner Gavett says that hereafter when anyone on Park avenue desires to make an excavation on that avenue they will be forced to hire the city steam roller and put the street back in the same condition it was before opened. No one will be allowed to make an excavation without a permit, and the case will have to be a very urgent one to secure a permit.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.
